MEETING THE CHALLENGE

Vickery Hall

Clemson is proud to provide the best of facilities for all phases of its athletic program, from competition sites, to practice fields, to the strength training and training rooms. Vickery Hall is no exception, as the $3 million structure is as impressive aesthetically as any of the other facilities. But the importance of Vickery Hall to the Clemson University Athletic Department is not found in the structure itself, but in the many programs that the building houses.

The philosophy behind Vickery Hall is to provide the Clemson student-athlete with a program that will meet his or her needs academically, in personal growth and development, and with career assistance. Vickery Hall is tangible evidence that, at Clemson, the athletic department has made a commitment to make the student-athlete's total experience a rewarding one.

The two-story, 27,000-square-foot Vickery Hall is located on Clemson's east campus and is open throughout the day and into the evening to accommodate the extended schedules of student-athletes. It is the first facility in the country originally constructed for the purposes of meeting the comprehensive needs of student-athletes.

The structure has 11 classrooms and 28 tutorial rooms, along with a computer facility that houses 30 personal computers for hands-on computer tutoring, word processing and other general uses. A 175-seat auditorium is used for classes, guest speakers, meetings, and review sessions. It is also the site of many guest lectures the athletic department provides for its athletes on subjects that range from money management to media relations.

The mission of Vickery Hall is to function as a comprehensive support system to address the various transitional needs of student-athletes and in turn, give each individual the opportunity to make the most out of his or her college experience. Vickery Hall operates under the guidelines and policies of the university and the center's staff adheres strictly to the rules and ethical conduct standards of the university. The staff consists of the director, six full-time advisors, two graduate assistants, and 50 tutors.

One member of the 1993 Clemson football squad has already used the facility to help reach his full potential. Warren Forney, a returning starter on the Tigers' defensive line, was named to the Atlantic Coast Conference's All-Academic football squad last season after earning a 3.33 grade point average in industrial education for the fall of 1992. He was one reason the Clemson football team achieved its highest grade-point average in 10 years in the Spring semester of 1993.

Brochure #1 in 1992: The 1992 Clemson Football Guide was named Best in the Nation by the College Sports Information Directors of America.

It was the fifth time in the last eight years the football press guide had been ranked among the top five in the nation, but the first #1 ranking. The Clemson SID office has won over 70 national awards for its publications in the last 15 years. The 1992 press guide was printed by Electric City Printing of Anderson, S.C.

This brochure was edited and designed by Tim Bourret and Annabelle Vaughan of the Clemson SID Office. Special thanks to Bob Bradley, Sam Blackman, Annie Verhoeven, Sanford Rogers, Dr. Harold Vigodsky, Gail Moose, Heather Czczok, Chris Metzler, Brett Sowell, Beth McInnis and Hazel Modica.

Press Information

The Media

ENTRANCE TO STADIUM/PRESS BOX

Enter through Gate 13 which is located on the press box (South) side of the field at the southeast corner. If you need to pick up tickets at our press will-call, they will be at Gate 13. Come through Gate 13, and go straight ahead to the elevator, which will take you to the press box.

Press Box

There are two levels to Clemson's press box, located in the center of the club level of the South stands. The first level contains the photo deck, a dark room, the outside PA, stadium operations & security, along with booths for field telephones, radio networks, and athletic officials for Clemson.

The second level is for the print media, with seating accommodations for 104 members of the working press. This level houses Clemson's famous buffet, and the work room.

WORKING CREDENTIALS

We'll appreciate getting these as early as you know your assignment. Requests for working press and photo passes are honored from SPORTS EDITORS of DAILY newspapers and RADIO & TV SPORTS DIRECTORS ONLY. Make request directly to Tim Match, Clemson Public Relations Director. There is not room for individual radio stations in the press box, only the two networks of the participating schools. Spouses, dates, non-workers, and anyone 16 years of age or younger, are not permitted in the press box.

FAX AND ELECTRONIC SERVICES

Our press box is equipped with eight outside phone lines for your electronic equipment, at no charge to your paper. We will have two

Fax machines at the game, which can be used on a first-come, first-serve basis, and we also have press box assistants who are available to send your copy or stats as necessary. THERE IS NO CHARGE FOR THESE SERVICES.

It is the responsibility of each paper to make prior arrangements for season-long or individual game phone installations, which gives the paper first priority on that phone. Electrical and phone jacks are at each seat. Call the Clemson Telecommunications Center (803) 656-2601 to install a phone at your seat.

There are also three other phones which are reserved for radio voice reports for an hour after the game's conclusion.

LOCKER ROOM INTERVIEWS

The team dressing rooms are located beneath the west end zone stands, to your left from the press box. The two SIDs will escort writers wishing postgame interviews to this area with about three minutes showing on the scoreboard clock. The Clemson dressing room is closed to all media, but Coach Ken Hatfield will be in his interview room (Tiger Lettermen's room) and players chosen by media members will be in their interview area (underneath west stands) for postgame comments following a short team meeting.

1993 ACC FOOTBALL WEEKLY SATELLITE FEED

The Atlantic Coast Conference Office will offer a one-hour satellite highlight feed of conference games and interviews of players and coaches on a weekly basis. The feed will take place on 12 consecutive Wednesdays beginning on September 1st and running through November 17th. The feed will run from 9:00 am-10:00 am. The satellite coordinates were not known at our press time. Call the ACC office (919) 854-8787 for the coordinates.

1993 ACC FOOTBALL TELECONFERENCE

The Atlantic Coast Conference offers a weekly teleconference with the school's head coach on each Wednesday throughout the football season. The teleconferences are scheduled to run from September 1st through November 17th between 11:00 am and 12:30 pm. Listed below are the times for each head coach:

Time	Coach
11:00-11:10	Ken Hatfield, Clemson
11:10-11:20	Barry Wilson, Duke
11:20-11:30	Bobby Bowden, Florida State
11:30-11:40	Bill Lewis, Georgia Tech
11:40-11:50	Mark Duffner, Maryland
11:50-12:00	Mack Brown, North Carolina
12:00-12:10	Mike O'Cain, N.C. State
12:10-12:20	George Welsh, Virginia
12:20-12:30	Jim Caldwell, Wake Forest

To access the teleconference please register with Brian Morrison of the ACC office.

ACC Faxback

The ACC uses a "Faxback" Machine to distribute its conference stats and each school's weekly release and statistics. Members of the media may simply dial a phone number from their fax machine to retrieve the information. To access the faxback service and attain a list of code numbers call Brian Morrison of the ACC office.

Starters Returning:	12

Lettermen Returning:	44

Although there is no substitute for age and experience, there is also a lot to be said for the enthusiasm of youth. The 1993 Clemson football team has the distinction of being able to boast an equal mix of experience and enthusiasm, as the Tigers return six starters on offense and another half-dozen on defense, but at the same time, show 22 freshmen or sophomores on the first two teams of the depth-chart. And of the 12 starters returning for 1993, only half are seniors, including just one on defense.

Head Coach Ken Hatfield is confident that such a unique mix will make for excitement on the football field in 1993. "We have the benefit of having experienced players at some of the key positions, and also having the enthusiasm of a lot of younger players who have a chance to make something happen. We played 13 true freshmen in 1992, and those young players now have the game experience to move right in and play, even though they are young."

The Tigers will also benefit from the experience of two new coordinators, who are enthusiastic about returning to their Alma Mater. Whitey Jordan, who played at Clemson for the legendary Frank Howard in the late 50's, takes over as offensive coordinator, and Bobby Johnson, who was a Tiger letterman in the early 70's, takes over on the defensive side of the ball.

"With the two new coordinators, we concentrated on two things last spring," says Hatfield. "Number-one, we had to get all of our terminology down, and number-two, we had to make sure we had all of the right people in the right positions. It is important that our players know exactly what our coordinators want and expect."

Hatfield feels that the key to the Tigers' success in 1993 will be a strong start, as well as playing well at home, since seven games will be played in Death Valley. "To be successful this year, we have to have some success early. We have good, young talent, and that youth needs positive reinforcement to show them that the things they have been coached to do will win ball games. Three of our first four games will be at home, and doing well in those games will be vital to the development of those young players and will help them believe in themselves."

Because of the importance of the Tigers' home games, Hatfield spent a great deal of time during spring workouts scrimmaging in Death Valley. The Tigers scrimmaged seven times in their 10 days in pads last spring. "To have a home field advantage, it has to feel like home," he continues. "We had five game-like scrimmages last spring, not only so we could put our best against the best, but because success in the spring will translate to the fall. We wanted to get the maximum benefit out of our 10 days in pads."

Although the Tigers lose an equal number of starters on both sides of the ball, there will definitely be more gaps to fill on defense in 1993. Only one senior, Brentson Buckner, is listed as a defensive starter heading into fall drills and 13 of the 22 players on either first or second team defense are either freshmen or sophomores. Hatfield will have to find replacements for three of the four starters in the secondary. Robert O'Neal, the only player in Clemson history to make first or second-team all-conference for four years, has moved on to the professional ranks, while cornerbacks Eric Geter and Norris Brown have also completed their eligibility.

The Tigers will also have big shoes to fill at the position that has become the hallmark of Clemson's defense over the last decade. For the first time since Clemson went to the two outside linebacker set in 1981, there is no starter returning at either OLB position. Wayne Simmons and Ashley Sheppard, both among the Clemson career leaders in sacks and tackles for loss, have also moved on to the pros. Sheppard led the team in sacks last season with 8.5, just 1.5 sacks away from the Clemson single season record, while Simmons was the number-15 pick of the NFL draft (Green Bay Packers). To give some experience to the position, Hatfield has moved starting strong safety Darnell Stephens to an OLB position.

The defense is not without its bright spots, however. The entire starting interior line from last year's unit that ranked 13th in the nation in rushing defense returns. Buckner, who is tied for eighth in Clemson history in career sacks with 15.5 and has been mentioned by some college football experts as an Outland Trophy Candidate, is flanked by Warren Forney, a member of the 1992 Academic All-ACC football team, and Carlos Curry, who started the last half of his true freshman season at noseguard. The Clemson tradition of inside linebackers will be in good hands as Tim Jones, a 1992 sophomore All-American, and Derek Burnette, a 1992 freshman All-American, return. That duo combined for 166 tackles in 1992, as Jones led the team and Burnette was fifth.

The offensive side of the ball will definitely benefit from the most experience, as four of the six returning starters on offense are seniors and three other projected starters are also seniors. These returning starters played key roles on last year's offensive unit that led the ACC in rushing and ranked sixth in the nation in that category. Rodney Blunt, who has led Clemson in rushing each of the last two seasons, will return for his senior year. Also returning is senior wide receiver Terry Smith, who is on pace to break most of the career receiving records at Clemson. That duo has combined for over 4,000 yards in all-purpose running in their careers. Smith and Blunt will become the first 2000-yard, receiving and rushing (respectively), duo in Clemson history.

The biggest offensive gaps that must be filled in 1993 will be on the line. Starting center John Harris, tackle Les Hall, and guard Jeff Fortner will all have to be replaced. Two of the three fullbacks who started for Clemson in 1992, Rudy Harris and Howard Hall, will not be back this season, but all of the other offensive skill positions return experienced players.

It may be Hatfield's boon as well as his curse, that he has three quarterbacks who started at least one game last season returning in 1993. Patrick Sapp is the number-one signal caller entering fall practice, but there are two other returning talents in Louis Solomon and Richard Moncrief. Sapp is the top passer, Solomon the best option-runner, and Moncrief the most experienced.

Terry Smith and Rodney Blunt will soon become the first 2000-yard, receiver and running back combination in Clemson history.

Seegars and LeJeune will be on the same side of the line, and hope to bring Clemson its fourth straight top 10 ranking in rushing offense.

Offense

Returning Starters: 6
Returning Lettermen: 22

With three different starting quarterbacks in 1992, the offense changed looks as the season progressed. More than half of the passing yardage (662) for the season was posted in the last four games with Patrick Sapp at quarterback. The Tigers averaged over 80 yards per game more on the ground for the first seven games of 1992, while the offense was being run by the run-oriented quarterbacks, Louis Solomon and Richard Moncrief. The 1992 offense ranked 11th in Clemson history in total offense with 369 yards per game, but in nine of the 10 seasons ranked ahead of 1992, the starting quarterback started every game. Between 1978-91, Clemson's starting quarterback missed just five games due to injury. But in 1992, the would-be starter missed five games.

QUARTERBACKS

P. Sapp	6-4	225	So.	1VL	385	6-4
L. Solomon	5-10	168	*So.	1VL	151	3-1

Hatfield hopes that 1993 will bring better luck as far as injuries to starting quarterbacks are concerned, although establishing just who that starting quarterback will be may prove to be a difficult task. Moncrief was the Tigers' starting signal caller heading into last season, until a hip injury forced him out of action. The senior from Montgomery, AL, has the advantage of experience, as he started six games for the Tigers and was in for over 300 snaps in 1992, and has played in 27 games for his career. Moncrief gained 554 yards in total offense in 1992 and has over 1,100 yards in total offense for his career.

After the injury to Moncrief, Louis Solomon came on strong, leading the Tigers' to three consecutive wins before being sidelined by a knee injury. Solomon, a red-shirt sophomore, has the rushing advantage among the Tiger field generals, as he ranked fourth on the entire squad in rushing last season with 289 yards although he played in only three games. He is the only Clemson quarterback in history to rush for over 100 yards in back-to-back games. His greatest moment took place in Charlottesville, VA, when he led Clemson to its greatest come-from-behind win in history, a 29-28 victory over #10 Virginia.

Finally, rookie Patrick Sapp was tabbed as the starter for the last four games of the season. Sapp holds the advantage as far as passing is concerned, as his 750 yards passing in 1992 was the second-best mark ever for a Clemson freshman. He led the team in total offense last season, averaged 149.8 yards, and just under 200 yards for the games he started. The Jacksonville, FL, native had 273 yards passing versus Maryland, the third-highest single-game passing total in Clemson history and he tied for the single game mark for completions with 25.

Dexter McCleon is a fourth QB in the mix. A two-sport athlete at Clemson, McCleon hit nearly .300 with Clemson's NCAA baseball team. McCleon might be the best combination passer and runner on the roster, but his all-around abilities might move him to the secondary this fall. The Tigers are young at cornerback and McCleon is too good an athlete to keep on the bench.

"Patrick Sapp is our number-one quarterback heading into the fall, but he still must continue to play well this fall. We have 27 practices before the first game. We have faith in the other quarterbacks on the roster.

"Patrick was the most consistent last spring. Louis battled injuries, but played well when he was in there. I think Richard had a very good spring. We need to get him on the field. He is one of our top team leaders. He might see some time at wide receiver if he is not at #1 quarterback."

In the offensive backfield, Hatfield has the luxury of returning three experienced tailbacks. Starter Rodney Blunt has led the team in rushing each of the past two seasons and if he keeps up his current pace, will move into the top three in Clemson history in career rushing as he now has 1,857 yards. Blunt gained 812 yards in 1992 and posted a 5.4 yards per carry average. He led the Tigers in rushing seven times last season and ranked fifth in the ACC.

Former walk-on Greg Hood was one of the most pleasant surprises in 1992, as he posted the best yards per carry average among Tiger tailbacks at 6.7. The diminutive runner also took over as the Tigers' leading kick returner in the fourth game of the season and led the team in that category with 12 returns for 274 yards. Derrick Witherspoon is a versatile athlete who has not only shown talent at running the ball, but has more career receptions than any returning wide receiver with the exception of Terry Smith. He was Clemson's second-leading receiver in 1992 with 11 grabs for 72 yards. The Sumter, SC, native rushed only 16 times in 1992, but should see more action this season.

"We are solid at tailback," says Hatfield. "All three of our tailbacks have experience and have shown that they can make something happen. Blunt, Hood and Witherspoon have all made big plays and big contributions and I think they will be even better as seniors."

Sophomore Marrio Grier was the Tigers' starting fullback in the first two games of 1992 and scored the first touchdown of the season. After playing behind two seniors for the remainder of 1992, he should have the experience to be the established starter in 1993. Grier has not only shown talent running the ball, but his strength stats, which are among the best on the 1993 squad in several categories, should make him a fine blocker as well.

Emory Smith, whose current claim to fame is that he is the younger brother of NFL rushing leader Emmitt Smith, hopes to make his own name famous as a Clemson fullback. The Tiger coaches worked to have Smith ready to play in 1992, as senior Rudy Harris was faced with a three-game suspension and Howard Hall was battling injuries. Although Smith was not forced into action, he gained experience working with the varsity squad early in the season.

"Marrio Grier gained experience early last season and has a great deal of talent. It is important that Emory Smith continues to improve."

For just the second time in Clemson history, the Tigers have three returning quarterbacks with experience as starters. Moncrief, Solomon and Sapp served as field generals in 1992 and will battle red-shirt freshman Dexter McCleon for the starting spot in 1993.

Hatfield will also take a look at two red-shirt freshmen at both running back positions, Milt Shaw and Tony DeSue. Heading into the fall, Shaw is listed at tailback, while DeSue is at fullback, but Hatfield plans to play both at each position. "We are going to give those two men a hard look. They are outstanding players and hopefully they will give us the depth we need to have."

The Tigers are also blessed at the wide receiver slots, mainly because of the presence of All-ACC wideout Terry Smith, who is well on his way to rewriting the Clemson record books in career receiving categories. Smith currently ranks third in career receptions and reception yardage behind former greats Perry Tuttle and Jerry Butler. The 1991 All-ACC player lacks only 27 catches of becoming Clemson's all-time leader in receptions and needs only 630 yards to become the all-time leader in reception yardage.

Senior Jason Davis, a veteran of 32 games in his career, is listed as the starter at the other wide receiver slot, taking the spot vacated by Larry Ryans. Senior Dwayne Bryant has played more snaps than any other reserve wide receiver in the past two years and is a veteran of 33 games in his career. He was the Tigers' third-leading receiver in 1992 with nine grabs for 93 yards.

Sophomore Marcus Hinton played 78 plays during his freshman season, and showed his ability to make the big catch when he scored on a 51-yard grab in the win over North Carolina last season. Red-shirt sophomore Henry Guess should also figure prominently in Clemson's attack that uses at least four receivers per game.

"We have great experience at all of the skill positions," says Hatfield. "These five receivers are a real plus for our offense because any of the five of them is capable of making the big play."

If Death Valley begins to dip toward the right in 1993, it's because more than 600 pounds will anchor the right side of the offensive line. Stacy Seegars, a first-team All-ACC performer, as well as a second-team Associated Press All-American in 1992, missed all of spring workouts after undergoing an appendectomy, but is firmly established as the Clemson leader on the offensive line from his right guard position. Seegars, who tied the Clemson single season mark in knockdown blocks last season with 103, proved that the majority of his 320 pounds is indeed muscle. When surgeons began looking for the offending appendix during his March surgery, they couldn't find it because of the layers of muscle.

"Stacy Seegars is as diligent and physical as any lineman I've ever been around," says Hatfield. "He is just a massive guy, and he proved that he is mostly muscle when he had his surgery. He can run so well for his size. He is a joy to be around and he will be a good bell cow, a good leader for our team in 1993."

Seegars is a near unanimous first-team preseason All-American and is ranked as the number-one guard in the nation by assorted services.

Brent LeJeune, another returning senior starter, will team up with Seegars to give the Tigers a dominating right side of the line. LeJeune played on the left side in 1992, but will move his 306 pounds to the other side in 1993. LeJeune's average coaches grade of 78 percent last season tied for the best on the offensive line. He ranked third on the team in knockdowns in 1992 with 72. He accumulated 13 knockdown blocks against Florida State, a Clemson single game record for a Tiger tackle.

starter, after he started one game in 1992. Nelson, who transferred from Lennexa Junior College, missed time over the second half of last season with a knee injury, but he is in good health heading into this fall. The left guard slot will be filled by sophomore Will Young, a Clemson native who played in three games last season, but had an outstanding spring.

Three former defensive linemen will move to the other side of the line of scrimmage in 1993, and former middle guard Terrance Abney and Andre Hewitt will battle for the starter's slot at left tackle. Abney played in seven games on defense in 1992, making four tackles in 56 plays. Hewitt played just 24 snaps, but might have been the most improved lineman in spring practice. Robert Jackson, a Gatorade Player-of-the-Year as a prepster, is the largest football player in Clemson history at 6-8, 330 and Clemson coaches are hoping for his continued improvement. Clayton Casteel and Wyatt Wilson will also try their talents at offensive guard this fall. This move has worked well in the past, as Seegars was a defensive lineman during his red-shirt freshman year.

Buckner and Forney hope to force more turnovers. Buckner is a preseason All-American, while Forney was Academic All-ACC in 1992. The interior lineman duo combined for 168 tackles, including 27 behind the line of scrimmage.

Although two of the five offensive line positions will be filled by returning starters and three starting slots should be held by seniors, Hatfield feels that establishing depth on the offensive line will be one of the biggest challenges facing the Tigers in 1993. The backups at the five OL positions boast only 58 plays of experience collectively.

"We have several guys who gained experience in backup roles last season, who will have to step up and be a force as starters," Hatfield continues. "We're moving Brent LeJeune over to right tackle to give us a solid right side of the line, but we are going to have to work some new people and try to find who our best linemen are and what they can do. We really need a center to come through for us. Bryce Nelson and Trevor Putnam will have to step up and improve. Will Young travelled with us, and played some. He didn't get enough snaps in game situations, but has been with us enough so that he's ready to come in and do a good job. He just needs to gain some confidence. Abney has worked as hard in his conditioning as any of the offensive linemen and has a lot of ability. Hewitt was limited last year because of knee surgery the previous year, but he showed improvement in the spring."

Another senior, Franklin Thomas, should get the nod at tight end. The New Orleans, LA, native started six games in 1992 and was in for 245 snaps. Thomas averaged 30 plays per game for the six games that he started. He had only two receptions last season, as he was used mainly for blocking. Stephon Wynn hopes to return after missing the entire 1992 season with an abdominal injury after showing promise in 1992 spring drills.

Six starters return for the defense that ranked 13th in the nation in rushing defense last season and led the ACC in sacks with 46. The Tigers posted an all-time Clemson team record for sacks in a season. The squad posted 10 sacks against Duke, tying the Clemson single game record. That mark was also the most sacks in a game by an ACC team all year.

The players who accounted for more than half of that sack total return for 1992, including second-team all-conference performer Brentson Buckner, whose 18 tackles for loss led the team in 1992, while his eight sacks ranked second among Tigers. Buckner began the season at middle guard but moved to defensive tackle at midseason where he could better utilize his 4.85 speed. He is a second-team preseason All-American by many services and is receiving rave reviews by pro scouts. He has a chance to rank near the Perry brothers (William and Michael Dean) in terms of career tackles for loss and sacks. Marvin Cross, who moved from outside linebacker to tackle in the middle of last season, has added bulk and will man the second-team tackle slot behind Buckner.

The other tackle position will be in the capable hands of junior Warren Forney, a 1992 Academic All-ACC selection. Forney did an outstanding job in his first year as a starter, ranking third on the team in tackles with 83 while playing more snaps (567) than any other down lineman. Voted Lifter-of-the-Year by his teammates for his work in the Tiger strength training room, Forney ranked fourth on the '92 squad in tackles for loss with nine and fourth in sacks with 4.5. Sophomore LaMarick Simpson, who played in all 11 games as a true freshman in 1992, will back Forney up.

Sophomore Carlos Curry is tabbed as the starting middle guard heading into fall workouts, after he started the last five games of the season when Buckner moved to tackle. Curry was in for 335 snaps for the season, 67 percent of that total were in the five games in which he started. The Decatur, GA, native had 22 total stops for the season. Senior Pierre Wilson, who has played in 32 games as a tackle, will move to middle guard for 1993 and should also see a lot of action. He is coming off his best spring practice.

"Warren Forney is a great leader for us," says Hatfield. "He has done a great job on the field, in the classroom and in the weightroom. He gets everything that he possibly can out of his ability. Carlos Curry is going to be a great player and Lamarick Simpson reminds me a lot of Forney because he works hard all the time."

The outside linebacker positions are a questionmark for the first time in recent memory, although Lindy's magazine ranked Clemson's linebacker tradition as the best in the nation. In the last three years, five Clemson linebackers were chosen in the first five rounds of the draft. Junior Mike Barber is a solid performer at one of the positions after he started two games in 1992 and has played in 22 games for his career. The Edgemore, SC, native began last season at inside LB, but moved back to the outside where he had played as a true freshman. Barber had one of the Tigers' most exciting plays of the season when he scooped up a fumble versus UTC and carried it 91 yards for a score. Lewis Usher, a veteran of 23 games for his career, will also battle for playing time.

Stephens will move from safety to outside linebacker.

Burnette was a first-team freshman All-American in 1992.

The most significant position change of the spring was the relocation of Darnell Stephens to outside linebacker. Stephens has started two years at strong safety. He has been chosen a freshman and sophomore All-American each of the last two years.

"The outside linebacker position is very important in our defensive scheme," said Hatfield. "We wanted Darnell's knowledge of the game, ability to make the big play. We also felt we had the young talent available in the secondary."

Sophomore James Sims and red-shirt freshman Bernard Randolph should see a lot of action at OLB. Sims played only 35 snaps in 1992, but one of his two tackles was a six-yard sack. Randolph, who was named the number-one linebacker in the nation as a senior at Pendleton High School in 1991, sat out last season after undergoing knee surgery, but should be back full speed for spring workouts.

"Mike Barber has really come through and done well in the offseason conditioning program," Hatfield says. "The rest of the players at that position, have been around at practice and have been coached at that position. They have learned a lot by watching the other great players. Now it is their turn to step up and play well."

The inside linebacker positions are the brightest spots in the defensive outlook for 1993, as a duo that accounted for 15 percent of the team's total tackles in 1992 return. Tim Jones led the squad last season with 89 stops, even though he missed an entire game and two other starts due to injury. The Rock Hill, SC, native was named a second-team sophomore All-American by Football News as he ranked third on the squad in plays per tackle, he averaged a tackle every 5.79 snaps.

Derek Burnette won freshman All-America honors from Football News in 1992, his true freshman season. Burnette ranked fifth on the squad in tackles with 77, but led the team in fewest plays per tackle at 4.72. His tackle total was the most for a Clemson true freshman in history. Darren Calhoun is another seasoned veteran who is one of only two players on the 1993 squad who has played in every game of the last three seasons. The McCormick, SC, native averaged a tackle every 4.92 plays in 1992, the second-best mark on the team.

"I think we are going to get outstanding leadership from our linebackers," says Hatfield. "They are good, fiery leaders who lead by example."

The defensive secondary will be the youngest area on the team, but Hatfield believes it will also be the most enthusiastic. Heading into the fall, seven of the eight slots on the first two teams of the four defensive back positions are held by freshmen or sophomores who have earned reputations with the Tiger special teams.

Sophomore Brian Dawkins, the 1992 leader in special teams tackles, saw increased action as the season progressed and should be a quality starter at strong safety. Red-shirt sophomore Andy McCrorey will battle for playing time at that position as well. The dean's list student from Rock Hill, SC, ranked third on the team in special teams tackles in 1992 with 13.

First-year sophomore Leomont Evans played in 10 games and 41 snaps as the backup at free safety to second-team all-conference performer Robert O'Neal in 1992. Evans gained experience on special teams as a true freshman and is listed as the starter at that position heading into fall workouts.

The two cornerback positions will be held by two fiery players who made impacts during their rookie seasons. Andre Humphrey gained a reputation as a hard hitter on special teams early in the season and saw increased action in the last three games of the season. The Wilmington, NC, native, who competed with the Tiger wrestling squad this winter, was in for 76 snaps in the last three contests and ranked second on the team in special teams tackles with 18. He also returned kicks and punts over the last half of the season.

Terrance Dixon became the first player in Clemson history to block two field goals in the same season as a true freshman, and should get the starting nod at the other cornerback position. Dixon played only 27 snaps from scrimmage in 1992, but played on special teams in all 11 contests.

"The secondary is going to be exciting to watch this season," says Hatfield. "Several of those young players have the ability to be all-conference performers and I think they will all work hard. Half of the true freshmen who played last season are in the secondary. They played mostly on special teams, which gave them a chance to get in there and hit,

Nelson Welch, who has been either a first or second-team all-conference performer each of the past two seasons and a third-team AP All-American in 1992, will once again hold down the placekicking and punting duties in 1993. Welch, Clemson's scoring leader each of the past two seasons and the ACC leader both years, is on track to become Clemson's all-time scoring leader. He tied for second in the nation in field goals last season with 22, and has had a five field goal game each of his first two seasons, a Clemson record. The Greer, SC, native also averaged just over 40 yards per punt to rank third in the ACC. He became the first player in ACC history to pace the conference in scoring in consecutive seasons.

Seven Home Games in 1993

Clemson will play seven home games this season for just the fourth time in Clemson history. Playing in Death Valley at least seven times usually means the Tigers will have a good season. In 1983 Clemson was 6-0-1 at home and had a 9-1-1 overall record. In 1987 Clemson was 7-1 at home and 10-2 overall, while in 1991 the Tigers were 6-0-1 at home and 9-2-1 overall. Clemson had the best record in the ACC each of the previous three seasons in which it had at least seven home games.

Clemson has a 174-64-7 record in Death Valley over the years, a 73 percent winning percentage. Only two schools, Auburn and Florida State, have a winning record against the Tigers in Death Valley over the years (given a minimum of three games played). Ken Hatfield has a 16-2-1 record in Death Valley for his first three years.

As far as special days are concerned, UNLV on September 4 will be Spirit Blitz Day. The Georgia Tech game on September 25th will be IPTAY Day, while the N.C. State game the following week will be the Textile Bowl. The Wake Forest game on October 16, one of four home games in October, will be Youth Day, while East Tennessee State on October 23rd will be Homecoming. The annual Parents' Day weekend will be the Maryland game on October 30th and the Virginia game will be Hall of Fame Day.

Clemson will have four revenge games at home this year as four schools who beat Clemson in their home stadium last year (Georgia Tech, N.C. State, Wake Forest and Maryland) come to Clemson this year.

Tigers Set Sack Record

Clemson led the ACC in sacks in 1992 with an all-time Tiger record 46 sacks in the 11 games. The squad broke the record of 44 set by the National Championship team (1981). Clemson broke the mark with three sacks against South Carolina in the last game of the season. Individually, Ashley Sheppard had 8.5 sacks to lead the way, while Brentson Buckner was second with 8.

Clemson tied the school's single game sack record with 10 against Duke on October 17. The 10 sacks resulted in 56 negative yards and stand as the main reason Duke did not score a touchdown. The 10 sacks in a game tied the record of 10 recorded against Maryland in 1979. Ironically, Clemson lost that game, 19-0. There was not one player who dominated the game defensively for Clemson. In fact, nine different players were involved in the sacks against Duke. Four players, Brentson Buckner, Tim Jones, Ashley Sheppard and Harom Pringle, had 1.5 sacks in the game.

Clemson Single Game Sack Bests

Buckner Leads the Defense

Brentson Buckner is the only senior listed as a starter on the Clemson defense heading into the fall drills. The native of Columbus, GA has been productive for three years and ranks in the top 10 in Clemson history in both career sacks and tackles for loss. He had eight sacks and a team best 18 tackles for loss last year when he was second-team All-ACC. Buckner has more tackles, sacks and tackles for loss than any other active Tiger.

He is capable of being a dominant player. He showed it in the 40-7 win over North Carolina as he played 34 snaps and had nine stops in those 34 plays. Of those 31 plays there were six incomplete passes. Thus, out of a possible 28 plays in which he could make a tackle, Buckner was in on nine of them.

Among the nine tackles were a pair of sacks, three tackles for loss and a pressure that caused a North Carolina safety. It was the first safety by the Tiger defense since the 1990 Maryland game.

Buckner ranks in the top 10 in sacks and tackles for loss in Clemson history.

Clemson Grads Return to Program

For the first time in Clemson history, the Tigers have Clemson graduates serving as offensive and defensive coordinators. Whitey Jordan (Clemson '59) and Bobby Johnson (Clemson '73) have returned to coordinate the offense and defense, respectively. Jordan returns to Clemson after supervising the North Carolina offense the last three years, while Johnson had been the defensive coordinator at nearby Furman for over a decade.

"We are certainly fortunate to have both of these true Clemson men return home," said Ken Hatfield. "Both have considerable experience and ability in the field. Their technical knowledge of the game is outstanding, but they are also fine examples to recruits of successful Clemson graduates."

Clemson ranked seventh in the nation in attendance in 1992. The home field advantage will be a key to a successful 1993.

Jordan was a three-year letterman for the Tigers between 1955-57 and was a member of Clemson's 1957 Orange Bowl team. He led the Tigers in reception yardage that year (12-369), a yards per reception record that stood for 30 years. He became the Clemson freshman coach in 1959 and was a member of the Clemson staff for 13 years. The 56-year old Jordan is in his 34th season of college coaching.

Johnson had been at Furman for 16 years and had been a coordinator since 1983. He played for the Tigers between 1970-72 and was an All-ACC Academic choice his final two seasons as a defensive back. Johnson guided Furman defenses that helped the Paladins to a 91-31-3 record, five Southern Conference titles, a Division I-AA National Championship, and eight top 20 finishes in the final polls.

Clemson Program Among Nation's Best

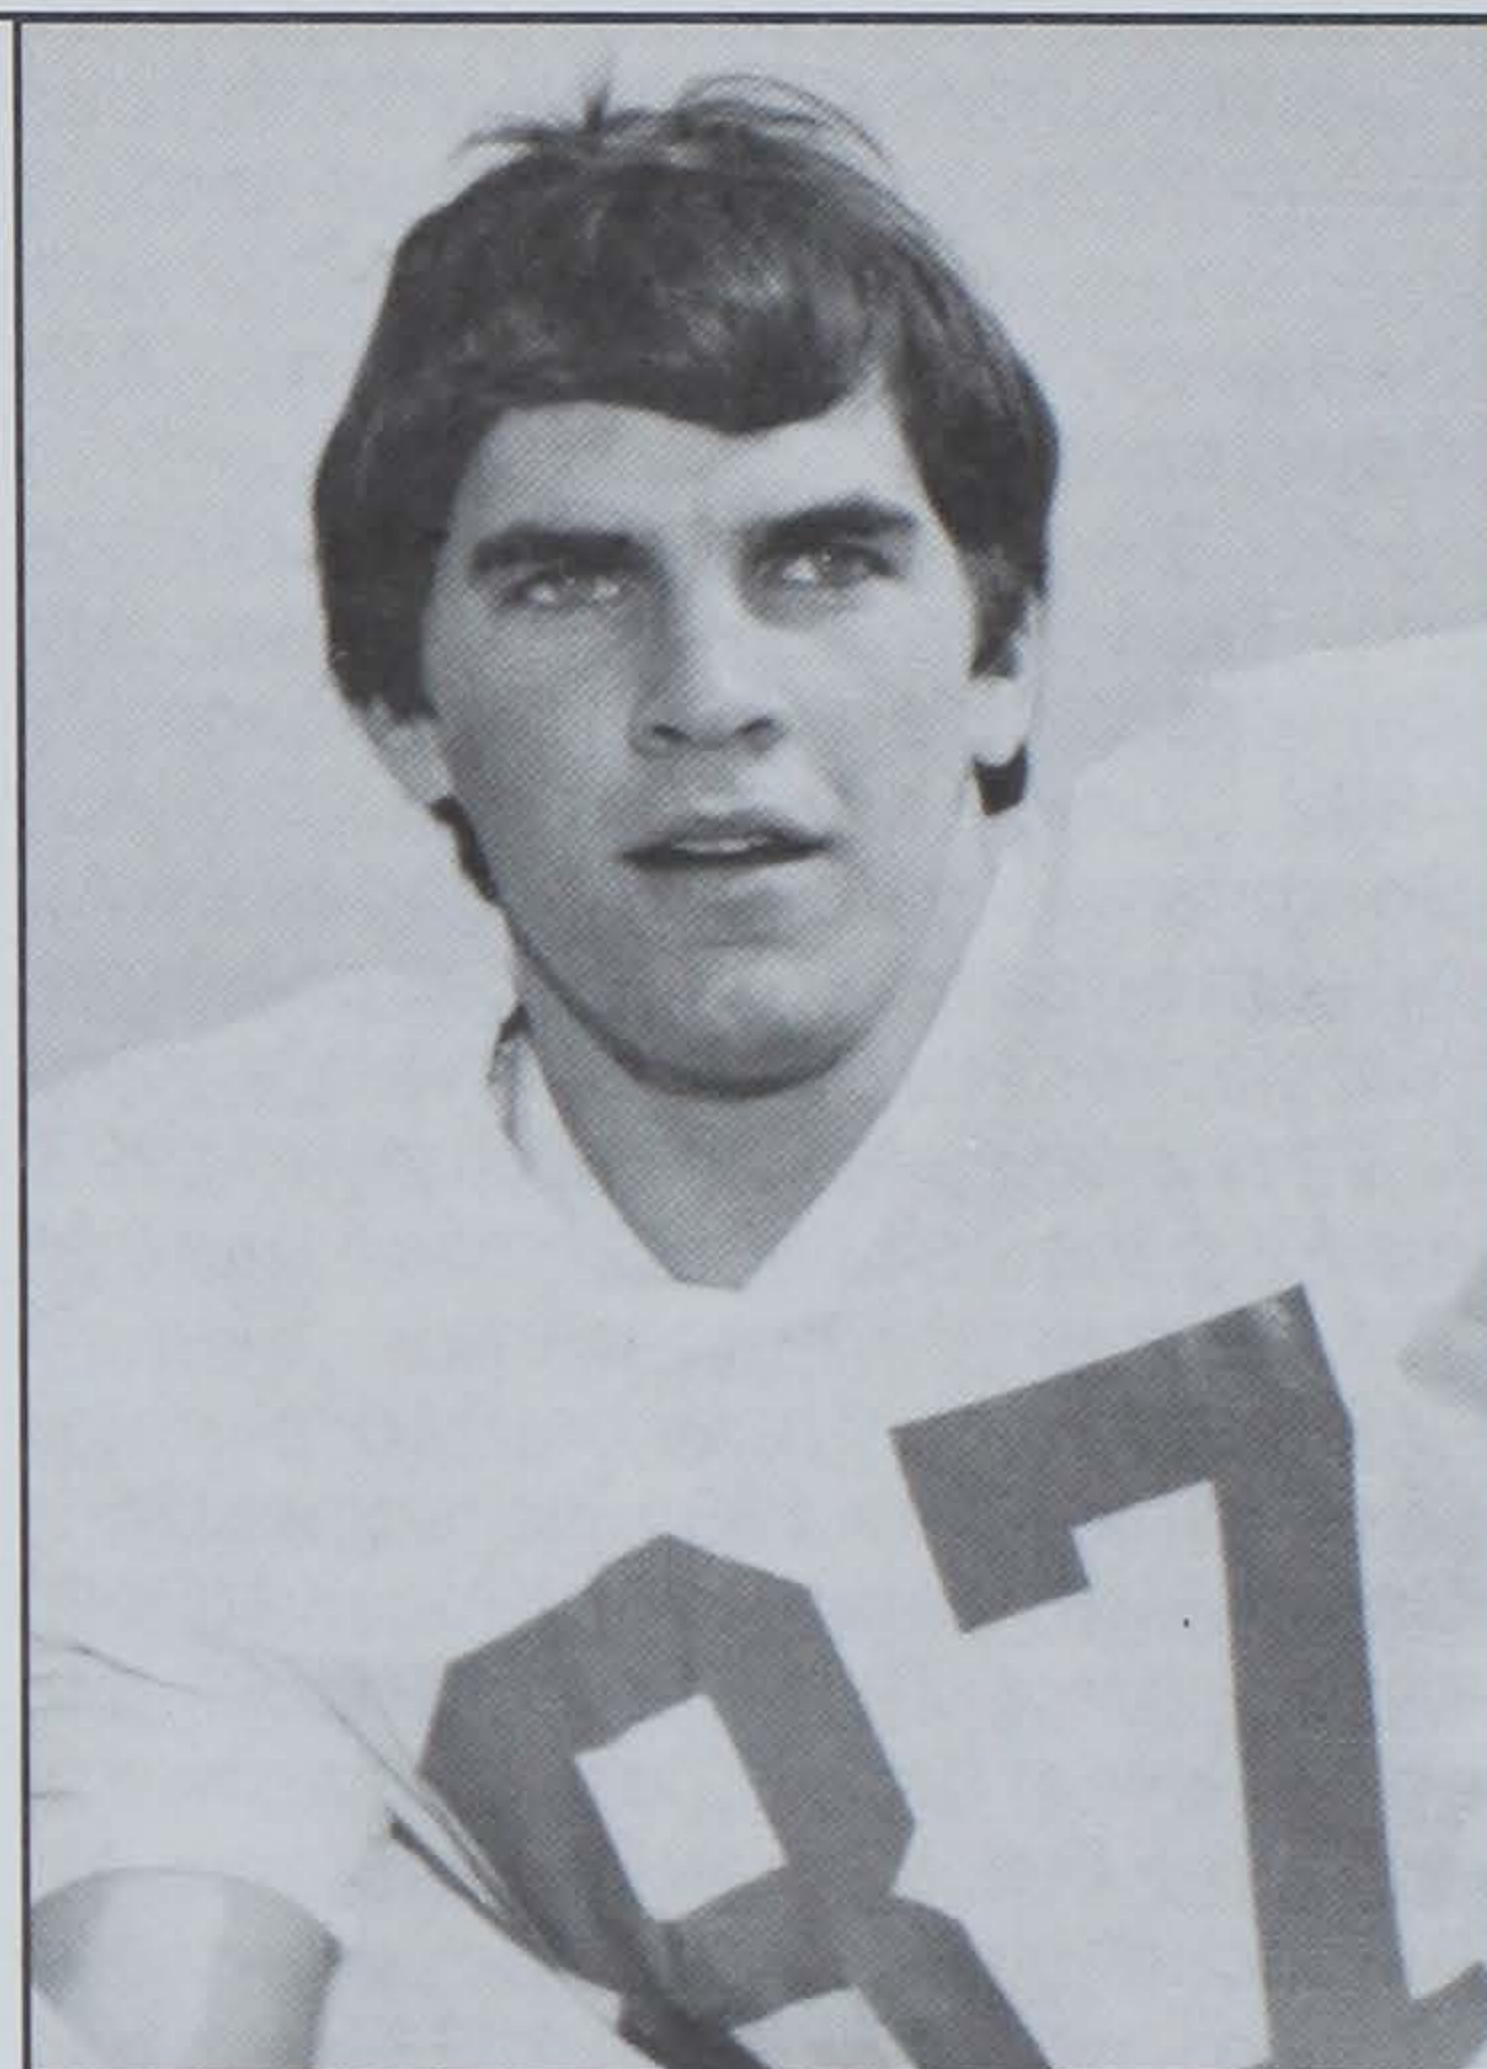

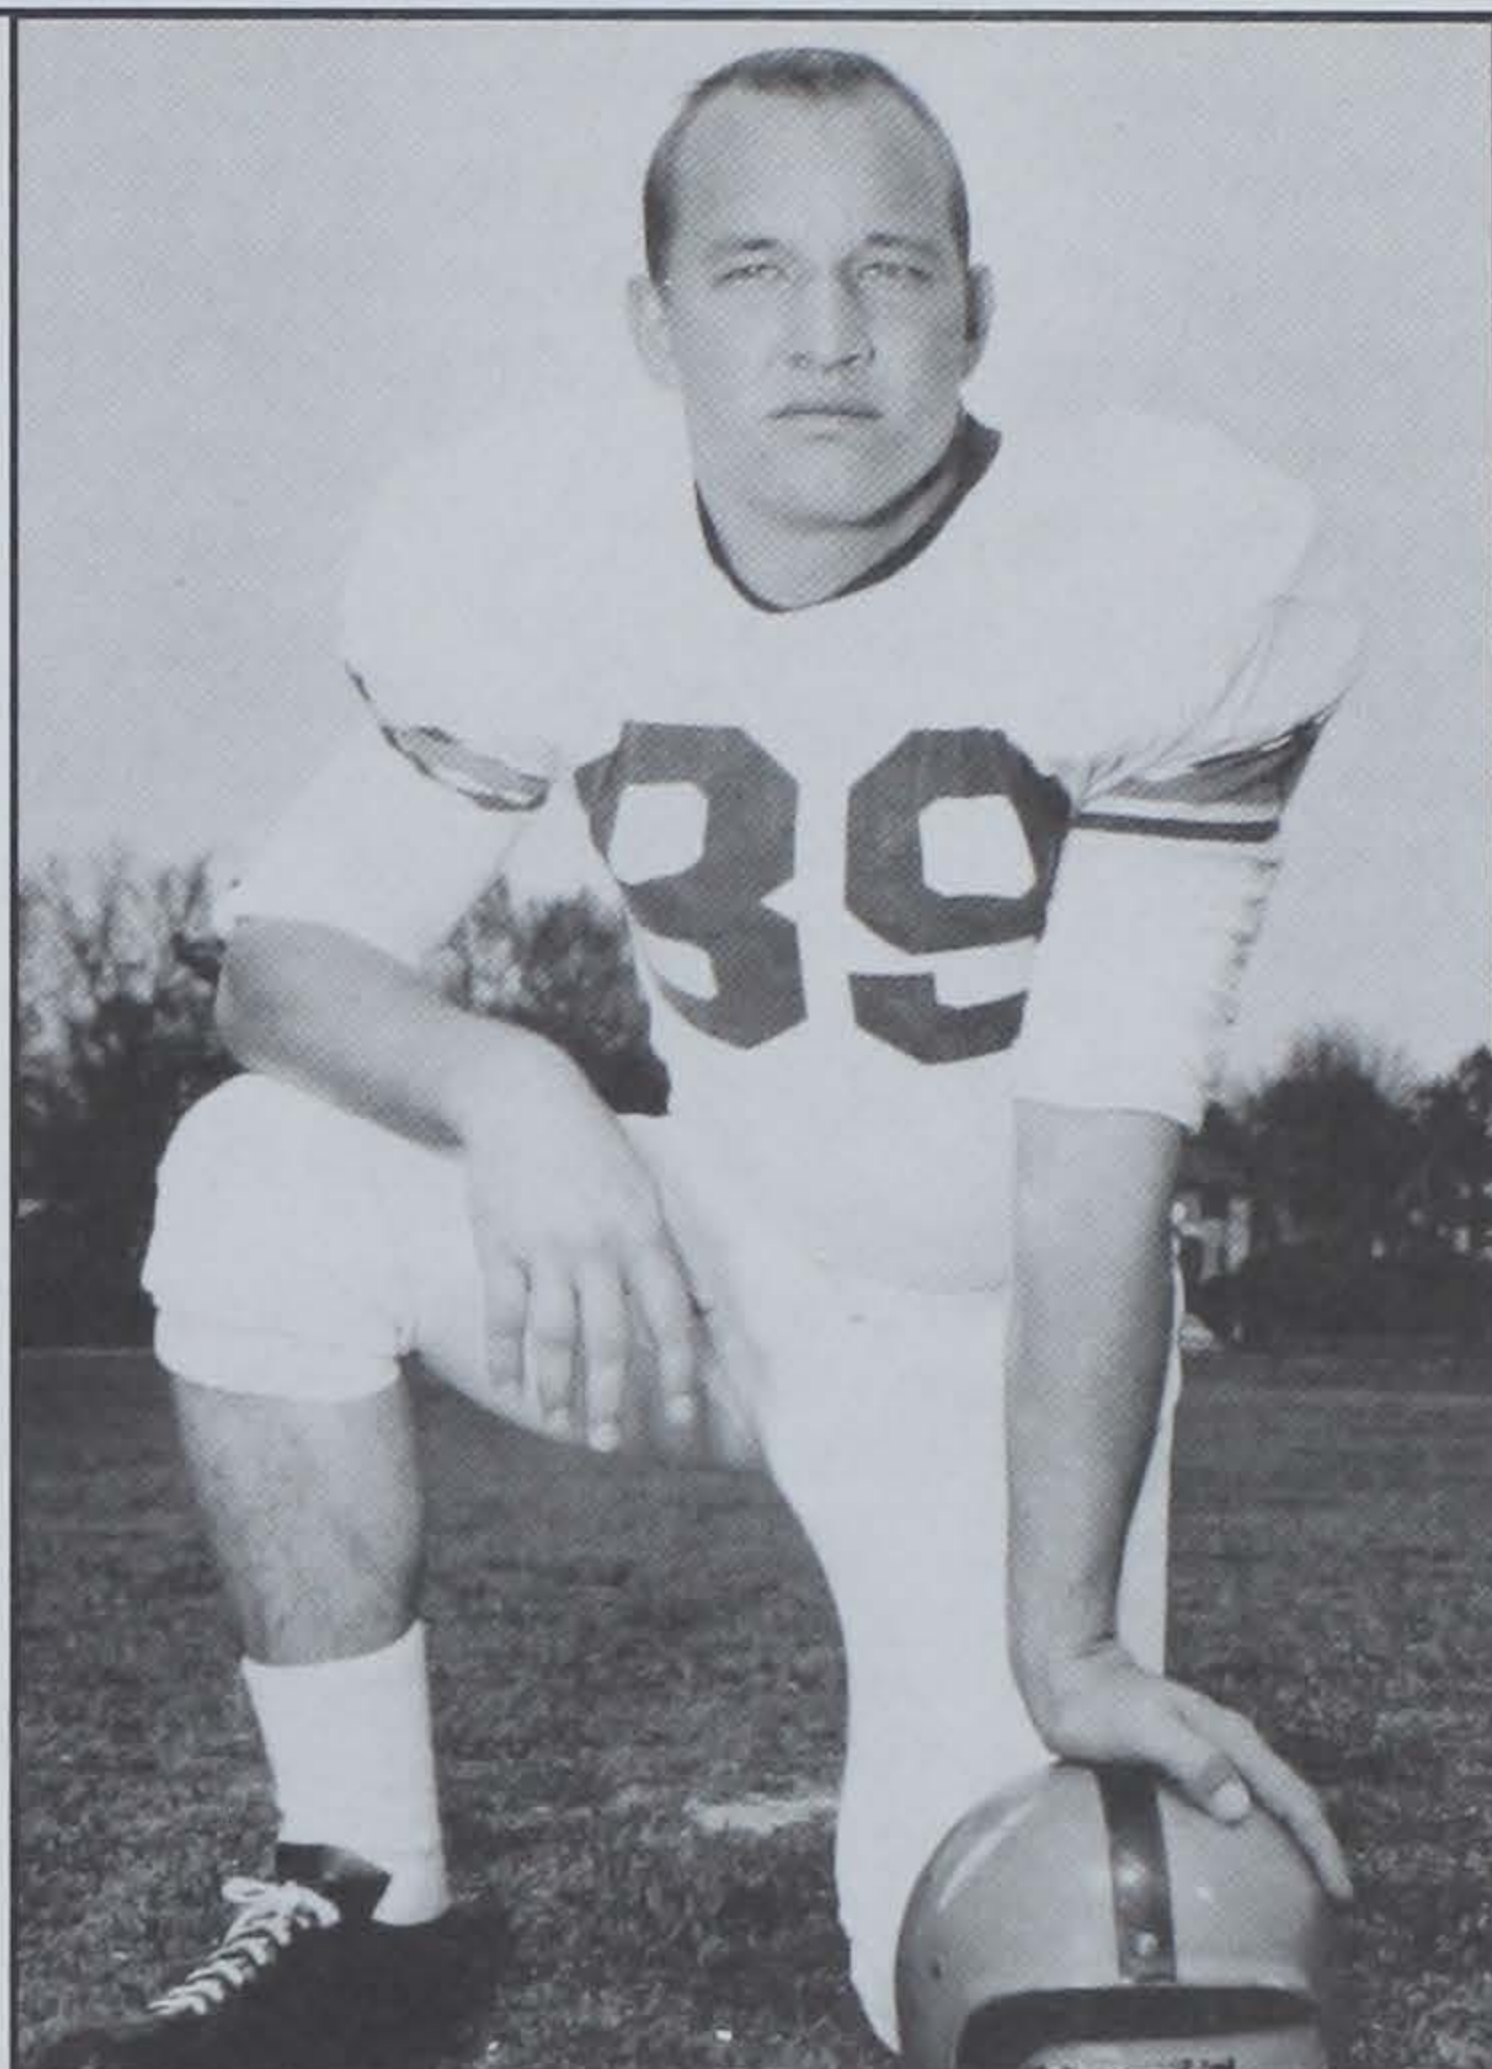

Although Clemson slipped to a 5-6 record in 1992 and was not ranked in the final AP top 25, Clemson still ranks 11th in the nation in terms of AP poll combined ranking over the last 13 years. As far as the history of the poll is concerned (since 1936), Clemson ranks 23rd in the nation. The study, conducted by Harold McConnell of the Tallahassee Democrat, awarded 25 points for a first place finish, 24 for a second place and so on.

Clemson has ranked in the final top 25 of the AP poll nine times in the last 13 years, while the Tigers have had 18 Top 25 seasons in history. Clemson was ranked in the final AP top 20 six straight years (1986-91), one of just three schools to make that claim.

Clemson recently had a streak of 50 straight weeks in the AP top 25, the longest streak of its kind in Clemson history. Clemson was ranked in every poll between October 24, 1989 to October 25, 1992. Clemson was also ranked in the AP Top 25 in 91 of 92 polls between January 3, 1987 and October 25, 1992.

Smith Chasing Records

Clemson senior wide receiver Terry Smith will be pursuing the top receiving records on the Clemson books this year. The native of Clemson, SC needs just 27 receptions to break Perry Tuttle's reception standard that has stood for 12 years. Smith has had over 27 receptions all three of his previous seasons at Clemson. Smith also needs 630 reception yards to become Clemson's all-time leader in that area. Tuttle had 2534 reception yards between 1978-81.

Jordan and Johnson were both starters at Clemson as players. Now they represent the first Clemson alum coordinator combo in Clemson history.

Smith led the Tigers in receptions in 1992 with 38-596. He had a 15.7 average, just above his 15.4 figure for his career. Smith also has 11 touchdown catches for his career, within range of Glenn Smith's record of 18, a mark that has stood for over 40 years. Smith has had at least one catch in 32 of his 35 games at Clemson.

Burnette Freshman All-American

Derek Burnette was named a first-team Freshman All-American by Football News and USA Today in 1992. The Tiger inside linebacker who should be a starter in 1993, had 77 tackles last year, the most ever by a Clemson first-year freshman. He had those 77 stops, fifth best on the entire team, in just 354 plays. That 4.72 plays per tackle figure was the best by a Clemson defender in 1992.

Burnette, a native of Columbus, GA, the same hometown as Clemson defensive line all-star candidate Brentson Buckner, had three double figure tackle games last year. He had 11 stops against Ball State, the most ever by a Clemson first-year freshman in his first game. He had a season high 12 in the win over Duke, the most tackles by a Tiger first-year freshman since Bubba Brown (who also wore number-47) had 14 against Florida State in 1976.

Burnette impressed many opposing coaches in 1992, including retiring Wake Forest mentor Bill Dooley, the winningest coach in ACC history. "Burnette played about as well as I've seen a linebacker play. He is a heckuva football player. I guess you could say you could hear those hits all over the stadium. When he hit Ned (Moultrie) I didn't think he was going to get up. He's going to be one of the best linebackers that has played in the ACC."

Three Clemson Sophomores Honored

Three Clemson sophomores were named among the best second-year players in the nation by Football News last year. Nelson Welch and Darnell Stephens were both named first-team Sophomore All-Americans, while Tim Jones, Clemson's leading tackler, was a second-team Sophomore All-American.

Welch was named a third-team AP All-American as a placekicker in 1992. He has ranked in the top five in the nation in field goals per game in each of his first two years. Welch made 22-28 field goals last year and led the ACC in scoring. Stephens was injured for most of the first half of the season, but ended the year with 39 tackles from his strong safety slot. His fourth-quarter interception allowed the Tigers to beat Virginia, and he had two thefts in the win over #18 North Carolina. Jones had 89 stops to lead the Tigers and also had three interceptions to tie for the team lead.

Seegars, Welch Returning All-Americans

For the first time in Clemson history, the Tigers are returning two All-Americans for an upcoming season. In 1992, junior offensive guard Stacy Seegars was named a second-team AP All-American, and sophomore placekicker Nelson Welch was a third-team choice by AP. Both return for 1993, marking the first time Clemson has had two returning All-Americans.

Clemson could have had two returning All-Americans for 1991, as juniors Chris Gardocki (PK) and Levon Kirkland (OLB) were chosen. But, Gardocki decided to go pro a year early. Clemson has had at least one first, second or third-team All-American by at least one accredited service since 1977. The 1991 team had four first-team All-Americans, the most in Clemson history.

Seegars tied a Clemson record for knockdown blocks in a season with 103. He tied the record of 103 set by John Phillips, also an All-America guard as a junior, in 1986. Seegars was a prime reason Clemson ranked sixth in the nation in rushing last year. Clemson has had a Top 10 rushing attack all three years he has been at Clemson.

Welch ranked in a tie for second in the nation in field goals per game after hitting 22-28 last year. What was most impressive is that he connected on 9-11 from 40 yards or more, just one made field goal away from an all-time NCAA record for field goal percentage on attempts from 40 yards or more. He also led the ACC in scoring for the second straight year, the first football player in ACC history to lead the conference in scoring in consecutive years.

First-year Freshman History

Clemson played 11 first-year scholarship freshmen and 20 total freshmen during the 1992 season. That was the most first-year scholarship freshmen used in a season since 1985 when the Tigers also used 11 first-year freshmen. Thirteen first-year freshmen saw action for the season, two were walk-ons. It is interesting to note that 1985 was also the last time Clemson did not have a winning season (6-6). The following year, 1986, Clemson won the ACC Championship.

Derek Burnette was the leader of the group as the rookie from Columbus, GA had 77 tackles, fifth on the entire team. Carlos Curry also started five games as a first-year freshman at middle guard, while Brian Dawkins and Andre Humphrey saw significant action in the secondary and ranked as the top two special teams tacklers on the team. QB Patrick Sapp led the team in passing yardage and completions, while Marcus Hinton played in all 11 games at wide receiver and caught a 51-yard scoring pass from Sapp against North Carolina.

Here is a rundown of Clemson Scholarship first-year freshmen who have gotten into games since 1982:

1982—(5) Stacy Driver (TB), Terrence Flagler (TB), Steve Griffin (TB), Steve Reese (OG), John Watson (OT).

1984—(2) Henry Carter (FB), James Earle (SS)

1986—(2) Stacy Long (OT), Chip Davis (DB)

1987—(5) Curtis Whitley (C), Jerome Henderson (CB), John Johnson (OLB), Arlington Nunn (SS), Chuck O'Brien (LB)

1988—(4) Dexter Davis (CB), Chris Gardocki (P-PK), Tony Mauney (CB), Ty Mouzon (SS)

1989—(8) Rodney Blunt (TB), Eric Geter (CB), Ty Gibson (TE), Robert O'Neal (FS), Larry Ryans (CB), Ashley Sheppard (OLB), Tyrone Simpson (DT), James Trapp (CB)

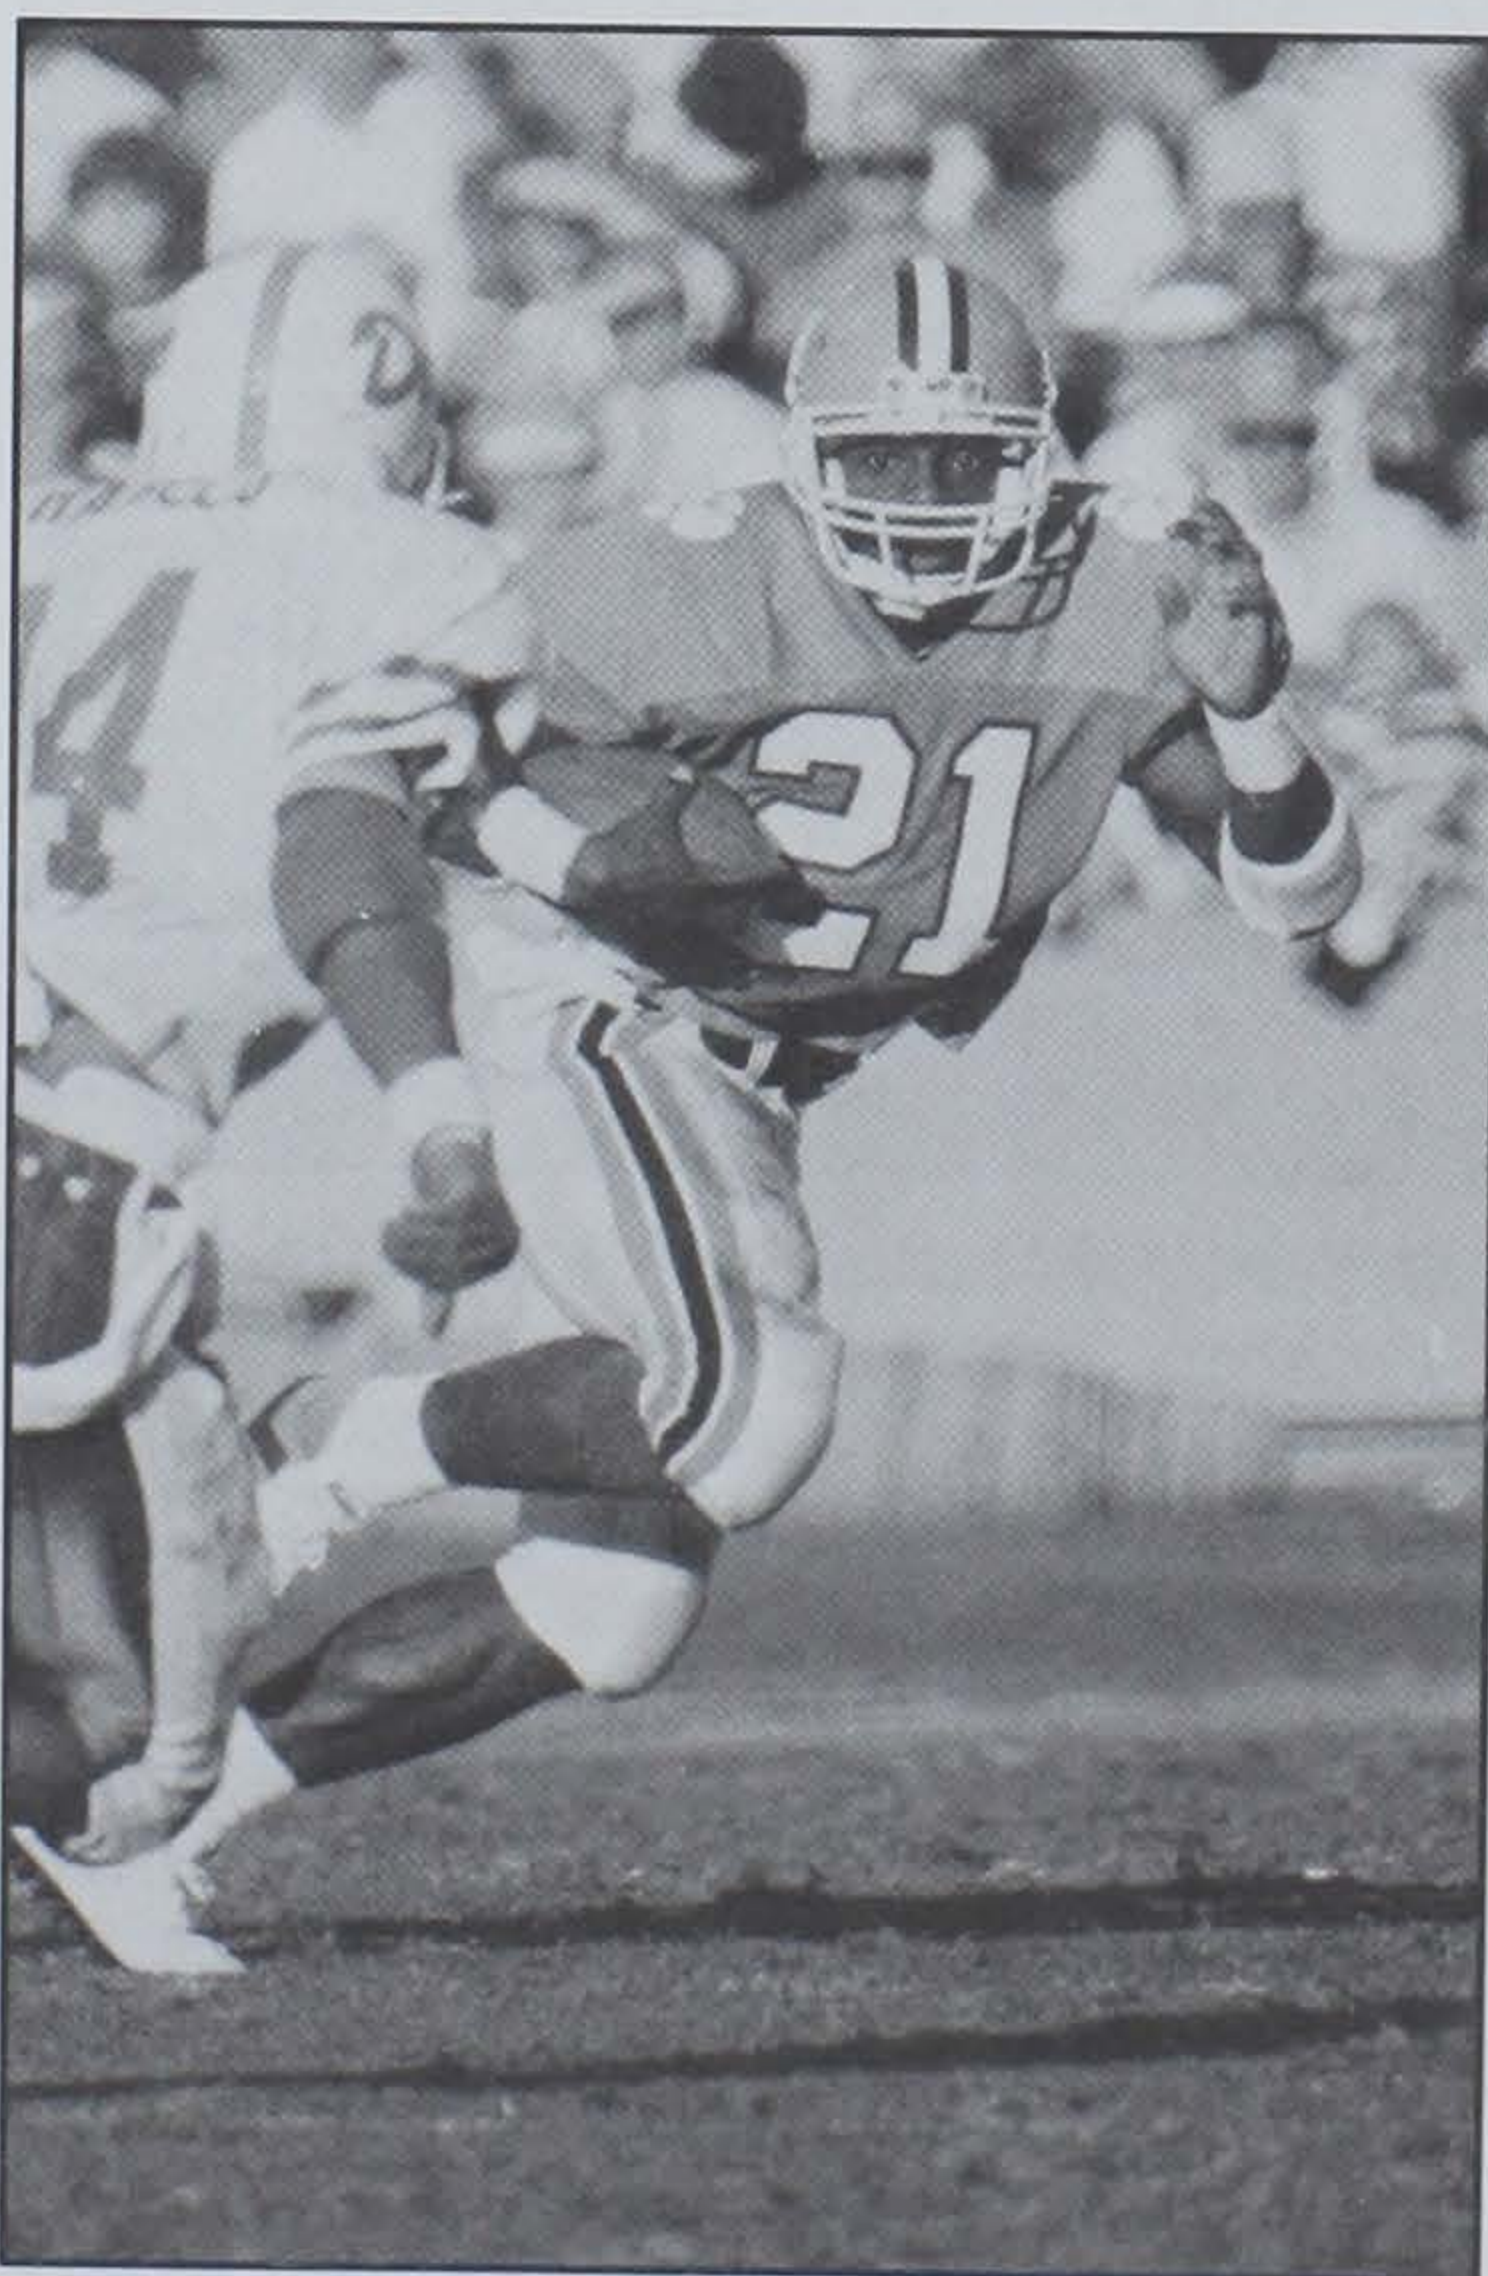

1990—(3) Dwayne Bryant (WR), Ronald Williams (TB), Derrick Witherspoon (TB)

1991—(4) Michael Barber (OLB), Jeff Sauve (PK), Darnell Stephens (SS), Warren Forney (DT)

Tigers in the NFL

Clemson had 22 alums in the NFL

this past season, one of the top 15 totals among college teams. Clemson has had between 17 and 22 players on NFL rosters over the last 10 seasons.

Four players off of the 1991 Clemson team made the NFL as rookies. The list is composed of Levon Kirkland with the Pittsburgh Steelers, Curtis Whitley with the San Diego Chargers, Ed McDaniel of the Minnesota Vikings and Chester McGlockton with the LA Raiders. Eight members of Ken Hatfield's first Clemson team (1990) are now in the NFL.

Three former Tigers are in double digits in terms of experience in the NFL. Jeff Bostic, who has won three Super Bowl Championship rings with the Washington Redskins, is now the dean of former Tigers, as he just completed his 13th season. Jeff Bryant, an All-American on the 1981 Clemson National Champions, finished his 12th season with Seattle. Johnny Rembert, a JC transfer to Clemson who was an All-American in 1982, concluded his 10th season with the New England Patriots. He has since retired.

Four former Tigers were on the opening day roster of the Chicago Bears. This is just the second season in history that Clemson has had that many players on the same NFL team. The record is five, set in 1991 when Chris Gardocki, Keith Jennings, James Coley, William Perry and Donnell Woolford all played for the Chicago Bears.

Clemson Rushing Sixth

Clemson led the ACC and ranked sixth in the nation in rushing offense in 1992, its highest figure nationally since a number-six ranking in 1986. Clemson has now ranked in the top 16 in the nation in rushing eight straight seasons, including a top 10 figure each of the last three years. Clemson averaged 257 yards a game on the ground last year, including a pair of 400-yard games, both among the best in Clemson history.

Clemson has averaged 255.3 to 257.4 yards a game on the ground in Ken Hatfield's three years at Tigertown. The Tigers were eighth in 1991 with a 255.7 average and ninth in 1990 with a 255.3 figure.

Largest Victory Margin over Ranked Team

When Clemson downed 18th-ranked North Carolina 40-7 on November 7, it set a standard for the largest margin of victory by a Clemson team over an AP top 20 club in Tiger history. The previous record was 31 points in a 31-0 win over a 14th ranked Wake Forest team in 1979. Clemson had a 49-17 win over Duke in 1988, but Duke was ranked 22nd in the nation coming into the game.

The 33-point win over North Carolina marked the second 30-point win by the Tigers over a top 20 team under Ken Hatfield. Clemson beat 18th ranked Illinois 30-0 in the 1991 Hall of Fame Bowl.

The Tigers were 2-2 against AP top 20 teams last year. Clemson beat a number-10 ranked Virginia team, 29-28 at Charlottesville in October, and suffered losses to 23rd ranked N.C. State and fifth ranked Florida State earlier in the season.

Clemson now has five wins over AP top 20 teams in the three years Ken Hatfield has been at Clemson. He is already third in Clemson history as far as wins over AP Top 20 teams is concerned.

The Greatest Comeback in Clemson History

Clemson scored the last 29 points of the game in defeating Virginia on October 10, 29-28. It was the greatest comeback in Clemson football history in terms of gaining victory after trailing by the largest deficit at any time in a game. In fact, it was just three points away from tying the national record for the greatest comeback in college football history. Maryland came back to collect a 42-40 victory after trailing 31-0 at Miami in 1985, while Ohio State overcame a 31-point deficit to beat Minnesota 41-37 in 1989.

Louis Solomon was the leader of Clemson's comeback at Virginia. Clemson was 3-0 in games he played in last year.

Cavaliers 28-0. Louis Solomon then scored on a 64-yard rush with just 1:53 to go before halftime to cut the margin to 28-7. The Tigers then got rushing touchdowns from Rudy Harris and Rodney Blunt in the third period to make it 28-20 heading into the final quarter. With just 5:31 left in the contest, Harris, who had 12 carries for 96 yards and two touchdowns in the game, bulled his way for a score from 27 yards out. A two-point conversion failed, but it was now, 28-26.

A Darnell Stephens interception, just the second of his career, gave Clemson possession at the Virginia 35 with 3:53 left. A 45-yard pass from Solomon to Larry Ryans put the ball at the Virginia nine. Three plays later Nelson Welch completed the comeback with a 32-yard field goal and a 29-28 Tiger lead with 52 seconds left. Clemson's defense stiffened on Virginia's last possession, and when Robert O'Neal leaped above a crowd of 12 players in the endzone and deflected a "Hail Mary" pass attempt, Clemson had registered the second greatest comeback in ACC history.

Clemson outgained Virginia 375-93 in the second half and finished the game with 490 yards total offense, including 402 yards rushing. Blunt led the Tigers with 141 yards rushing in just 16 attempts, the second best game of his career. He had 163 yards rushing against Duke in 1992 at the Coca Cola Bowl in Tokyo, Japan.

The previous Clemson record for the greatest point deficit overcome to gain victory also took place against Virginia.

In 1966, Clemson trailed the Cavaliers 35-18 with 18 minutes to go in the game. The Tigers came back to win that season opener, 40-35.

The Clemson victory marked the sixth time under Ken Hatfield that Clemson has scored the last points of the game to erase a fourth-quarter deficit or tie, and win or tie a game.

Tigers Gained Landmark Win at Virginia

Clemson registered a landmark victory at Virginia. In addition to the nature of the victory, the greatest comeback in Clemson history, it was just the third time in Clemson history that the Tigers gained victory over a top 10 team on that top 10 team's home field. Prior to that game in Charlottesville, Clemson had beaten North Carolina in 1981 and 1983 for its only top 10 road wins in history.

Clemson now has eight victories over Top 10 teams in its history. Two have come at Clemson, three have come on the road and three have taken place at neutral sites.

Clemson Seventh in Attendance

Clemson ranked seventh in the nation in average football attendance for 1992, the 10th straight year Clemson has ranked in the top 10 in the country. The Tigers attracted 460,732 fans to their six home games in Death Valley, an average of 76,789. It was the highest average in the Atlantic Coast Conference, the 15th straight year Clemson has led the league in attendance.

Clemson drew over 83,000 fans for the Florida State and South Carolina games last year. The 83,312 figure for the South Carolina game ranks as the fifth largest in Clemson history, while the 83,170 total for the Florida State game stands in seventh place.

Solomon Productive in Limited Time

Louis Solomon was productive in his limited service last season. Clemson was 3-0 in games in which Solomon played at quarterback in 1992, and that included his leadership in the greatest comeback in Clemson history, the 29-28 win at 10th ranked Virginia. A knee injury in the fourth period of the Duke game ended his season.

The native of Somerset, NJ, who was a red-shirt freshman in 1992, quarterbacked the Tigers for 27 possessions in 1992 and he led the team to 13 scores, 11 touchdowns and two field goals. Solomon gained 116 yards rushing in 16 attempts against Virginia, just the second Tiger quarterback in the last 11 years to pick up 100 yards or more on the ground in a game. Included in the 116 yards was a 64-yard touchdown run that turned the game around. That 64-yard run was the second longest touchdown run by a Tiger quarterback in history. Only a 75-yard run by Steve Fuller against Virginia Tech in 1978 is longer.

Solomon followed that with 104 yards rushing in 16 attempts against Duke. He became the first Clemson quarterback in history to rush for at least 100 yards in consecutive games. Despite playing just three games last year, Solomon was fourth on the team in rushing with 289 yards. He had a 7.4 average per rush and had three rushes for 55 yards or more.

Solomon gained 204 yards in total offense at Virginia, the most by a Tiger freshman since Willie Jordan had 259 yards of total offense against Duke on 32 plays in 1975. Jordan also has the freshman record for total offense in a game with 288 yards on 39 plays against Georgia Tech in 1975.

Senior Class Review

Over the last four years the 1992 senior class made a significant impact on the success and tradition of Clemson football. Here are a few items:

- ✓ Had a 34-12-1 record for the four years, a .734 winning percentage, the best among ACC schools who have been in the league for four seasons.
- ✓ Put together the longest streak of consecutive weeks ranked in the AP top 25 in Clemson history. The group was ranked for 50 straight weeks in AP and 51 straight weeks by the Coaches' poll.
- ✓ Played in three bowl games, winning a pair. The 1992 seniors played in the 1989 Gator Bowl victory against West Virginia (27-7) and the 1991 Hall of Fame Bowl victory over Illinois (30-0). The red-shirt seniors were around for four bowl games, winning three.
- ✓ Had three top 20 seasons, including a number-nine final ranking in 1990. The group was ranked as high as sixth in the nation on October 1, 1991.
- ✓ Posted a 21-3-1 record in Death Valley.
- ✓ Won the 1991 ACC championship with a 6-0-1 record, Clemson's first unbeaten record in the ACC since 1982.
- ✓ Gained eight wins over AP top 20 teams over the four years. This includes a victory at Florida State in 1989, a pair of wins over 12th-ranked N.C. State teams in Death Valley, and the victory at #10 Virginia this past year.
- ✓ The 29-28 victory over Virginia was the greatest comeback in Clemson history as the Tigers were 28 points down, then won in the last minute of the game. It was also the third win over a Top 10 team on the opponent's home field in Clemson history.
- ✓ Posted the largest margin of victory over a Top 20 team in Clemson history in the 40-7 win over 18th-ranked North Carolina on November 7.
- ✓ Had a 3-1 record against South Carolina.

O'Neal, Sheppard, Simmons Named 1992 Captains

Robert O'Neal, Ashley Sheppard and Wayne Simmons were named permanent captains for the 1992 season. Clemson traditionally has game captains from week to week, then names permanent captains after the season. All three were senior defensive players who figured prominently in 34 Clemson wins over the last four years. All three were chosen in last April's NFL draft.

O'Neal concluded his career as the first player in Clemson history to be named first or second team All-ACC four years in a row. Sheppard was Clemson's top quarterback sack man last year, while Simmons, who was a first-round pick by the Packers, ranked in the top five in Clemson history in career sacks.

Clemson Records ACC Bests

Clemson players had many of the top individual moments in the ACC in 1992. Outside linebacker Michael Barber was responsible for the longest play of the year in the league with a 91-yard fumble return for a score against UT-Chattanooga. As far as the longest pass is concerned, Patrick Sapp and Terry Smith teamed up for a 77-yard score in that same game. The duo also won the AT&T Long Distance Award as it was the longest pass play in the nation that day.

Clemson kicker Nelson Welch had both the longest punt and the longest field goal in the ACC in 1992. He had a 70-yard punt against N.C. State that stood as the longest boot of the year, while his 53-yard field goal at Maryland was the longest of the year in the league. Welch had five field goals against Maryland, the most field goals in a game in the league all season.

On a team level, Clemson's 440 rushing yards against UT-Chattanooga stood as the most in the league in 1992, while Clemson's 146 yards allowed in total defense against North Carolina was the top team total defense figure in the league. Clemson's 10 sacks also were a league high, while the six first downs allowed against North Carolina was also tops.

Clemson Had 14th Most Players in NFL

According to NFL rosters in 1992 Clemson had 22 former players in the NFL, the 14th highest figure among schools and tied for the best among ACC schools. Florida State also had 22 former players in the NFL in 1992.

Southern Cal led the way nationally with 36 former players in the league, while Notre Dame was second with 35. UCLA was third with 34, followed by Miami with 33 and Washington with 28. Tennessee ranked sixth with 26, while Auburn was seventh with 25. Florida, Penn State and Pittsburgh all had 24 former players in the league.

Former Tiger Now Head Coach

Former Clemson special teams standout Geoff Ciniero (1983-86) is the first Tiger letterman from the decade of the 1980s to land a head coaching position in college football. On February 4th of this year Ciniero was named the head coach at Gallaudet University in Washington, DC. He served as the program's defensive back coach in 1992. Prior to joining the Bison coaching staff he served a five-year tenure as an assistant coach and defensive coordinator at Centennial High in Ellicott City, MD.

Ciniero played on Clemson's ACC Championship team of 1986 and was a two-time All-ACC academic selection. He played in the 1985 Independence Bowl and the 1986 Gator Bowl. The former defensive back was noted for his play on special teams throughout his four-year career.

The resident of Beltsville, MD also works as a civil engineer/project manager in land development at Greenhorne & O'Mara, Inc, a civil engineering firm in Greenbelt, MD. Ciniero has his work cut out for him on the football field this fall. He is inheriting an 0-10 team.

Injuries at Quarterback

Clemson started three different quarterbacks last year, the first year since 1975 this has been the case. Injuries caused Ken Hatfield to juggle his lineup at the signal caller position, as Richard Moncrief, Louis Solomon and Patrick Sapp all were starters at one time or another.

Injuries at quarterback had not been a problem in recent years. In the 15 seasons prior to 1992 Clemson had to leave the normal starting quarterback on the bench due to injury just five games total. Last year Richard Moncrief started the year and was injured at Georgia Tech in the third game of the season. After Louis Solomon had come on against Virginia, he was injured against Duke. That brought on Patrick Sapp, the third stringer at the beginning of the season. When Sapp started at Wake Forest it marked the first time in Clemson history that the Tigers had to start the third string quarterback in a game.

Sapp On Target

Clemson first-year freshman quarterback Patrick Sapp completed 13-23 passes for 205 yards and two touchdowns against North Carolina. After playing just four snaps in the first six games, Sapp was called upon in the N.C. State game to replace injured starter

Richard Moncrief. Previous starter Louis Solomon was also out with a knee injury.

Sapp later set Clemson records for completions (25) and attempts (55) at Maryland in the 10th game of the season. The native of Jacksonville, FL who is the biggest quarterback in Clemson history (6-4, 225), led the team in completions and yardage last year, the first freshman to do that since Rodney Williams in 1985. He had the second most passing yards by a freshman in Clemson history and his total offense of 899 yards was the exact same amount Williams had in 1985.

Blunt Fifth in ACC in Rushing

Tailback Rodney Blunt, Clemson's leading rusher each of the last two years, enters his senior year with 1857 yards. In addition to needing just 143 yards to become Clemson's 12th 2,000-yard rusher, he needs just 1057 yards to become Clemson's career rushing leader. Not bad for a player who has just 20 career starts heading into his last year.

Blunt ranked fifth in the ACC in rushing last year, the second straight year he has ranked at that level. He had three 100-yard games last year and had a solid 5.4 yards per carry average. Blunt tallied three touchdowns against North Carolina when he had 21-105 in the Clemson win. His top effort of 1992 was at Virginia when he had 16-141 and a 53-yard touchdown, the longest run of his career.

Blunt and wide receiver Terry Smith give Clemson a solid one-two punch in terms of rushing and receiving. Blunt needs just 143 yards rushing and Smith just 95 receiving to go over the 2,000-yard mark in each area, respectively. Clemson has never had a 2,000-yard rusher and a 2,000-yard receiver on the same team at the same time, but that should happen early in the 1993 season.

Seegars Averages 23 Yards/Carry, Has 15 Knockdowns

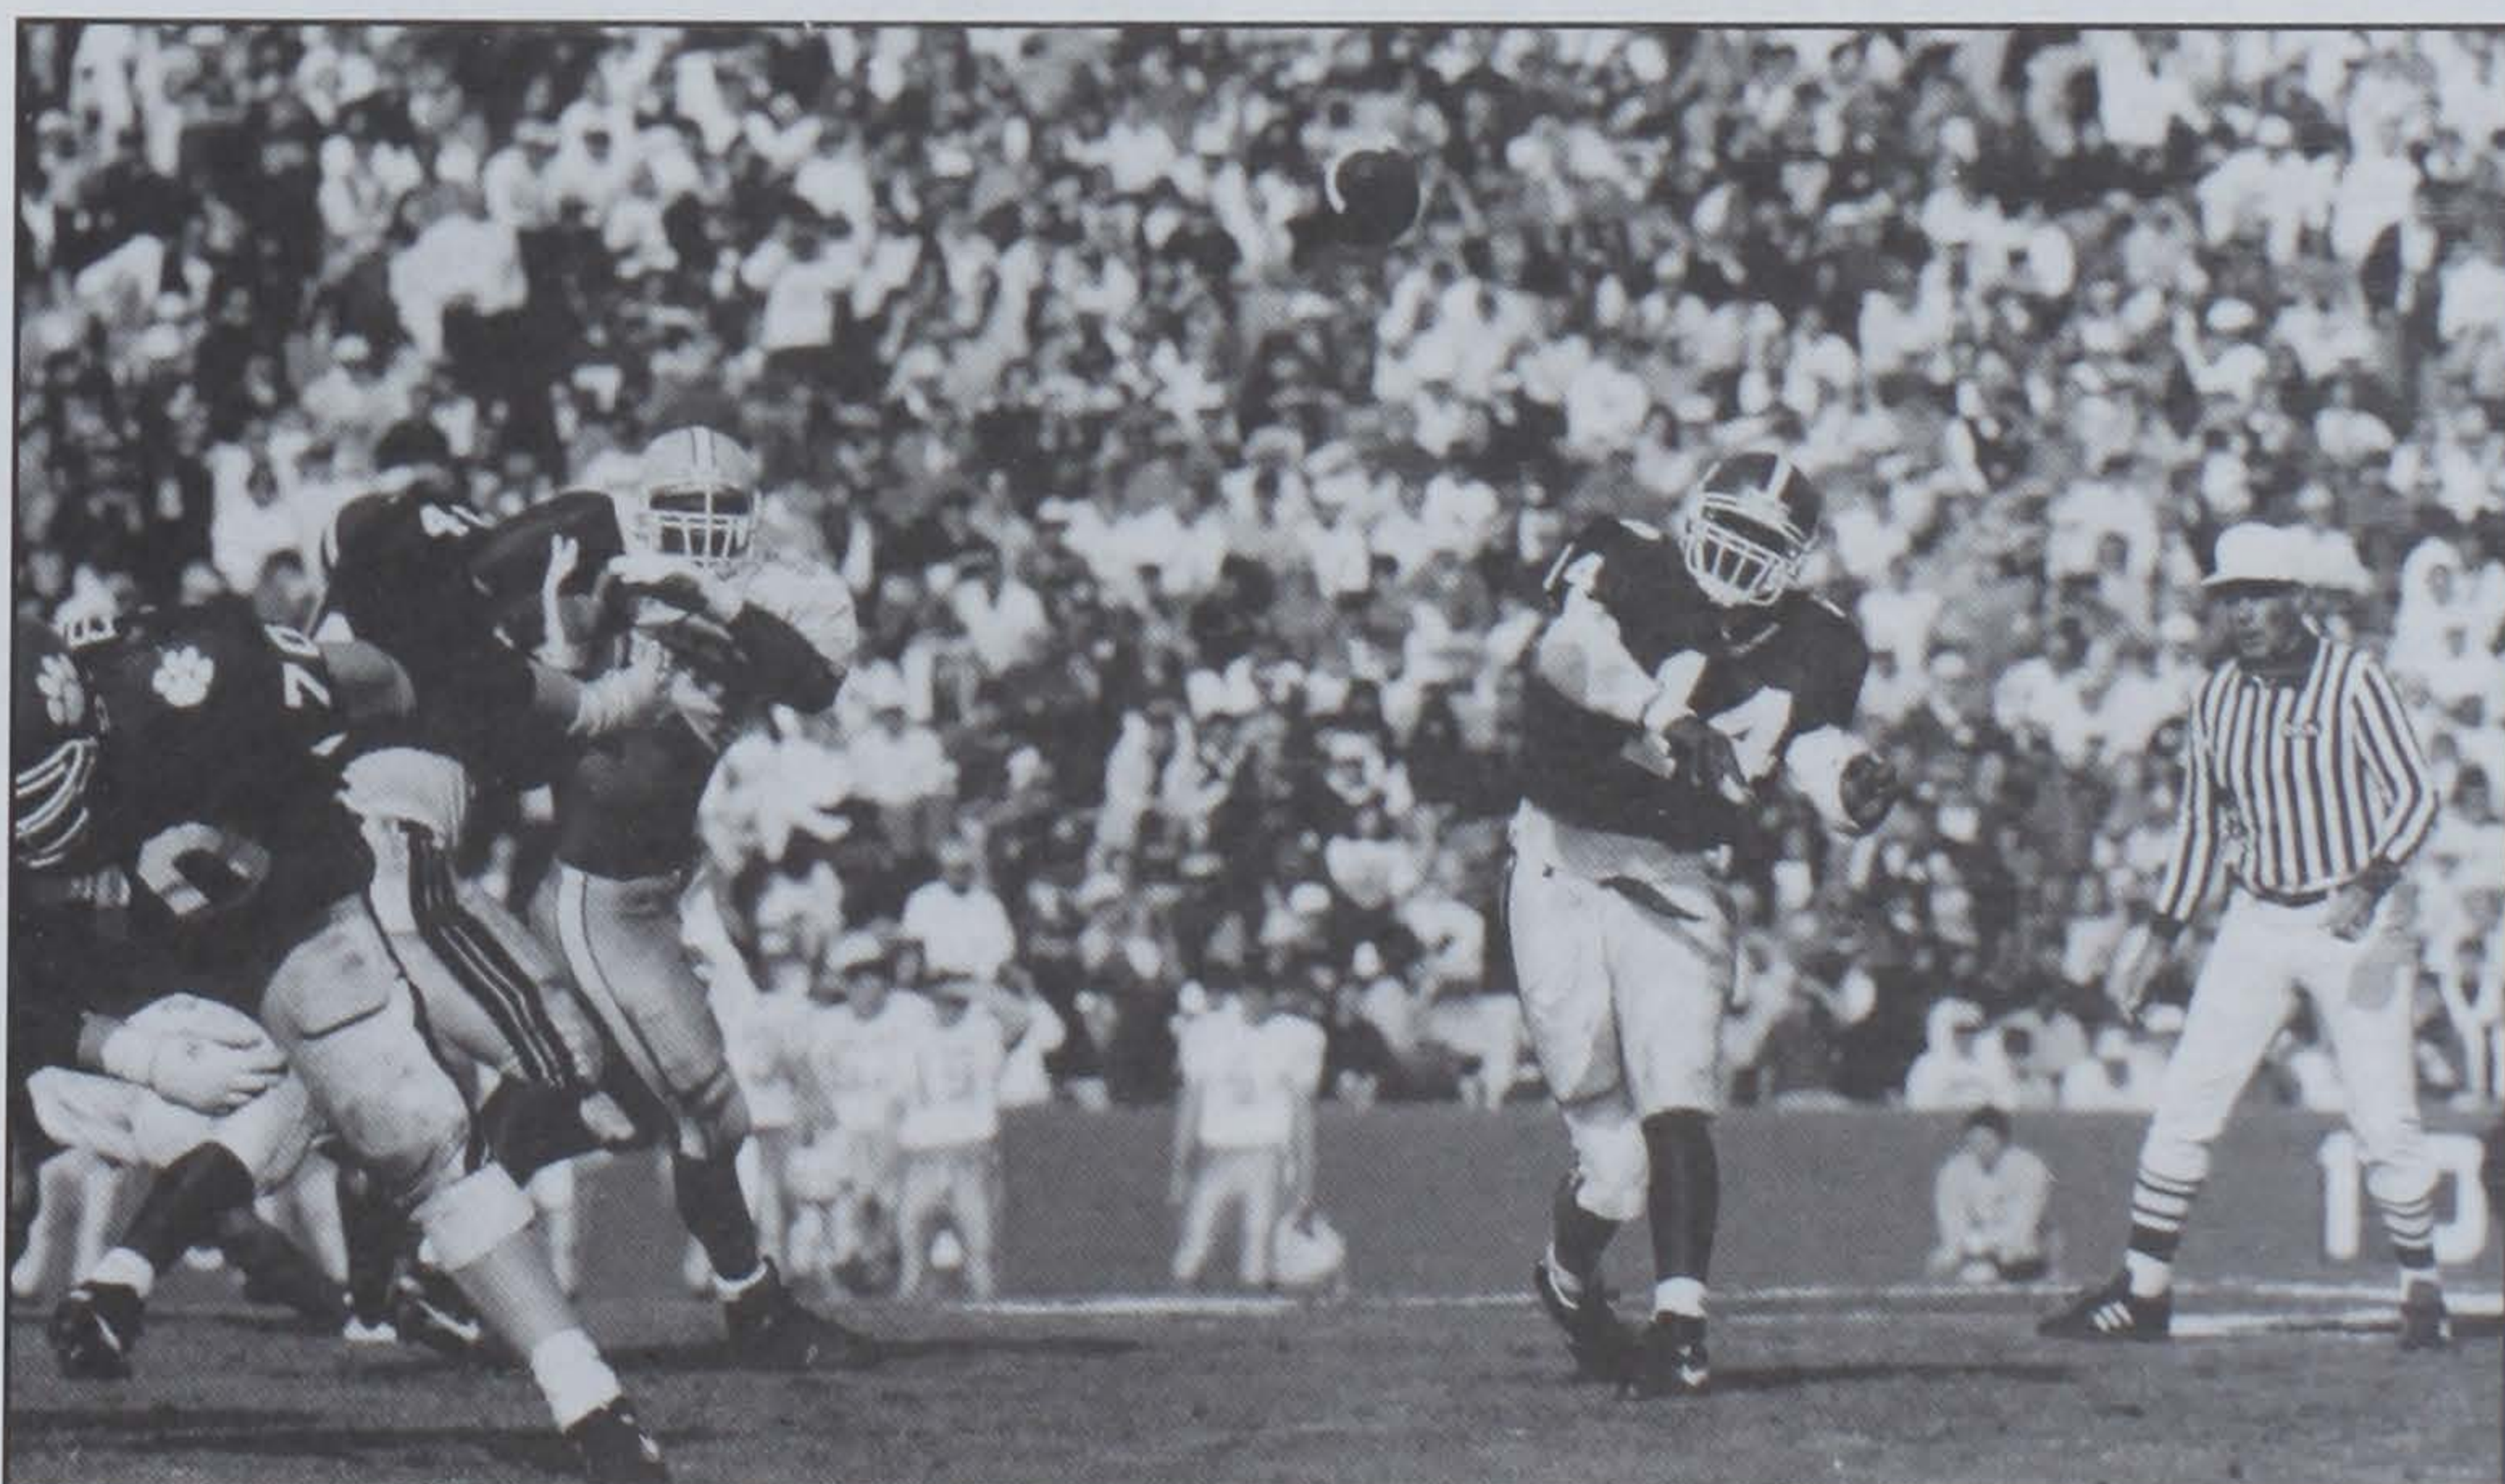

Three-hundred and twenty-pound offensive guard Stacy Seegars was Clemson's third leading rusher against North Carolina last year. The native of Kershaw, SC gained 23 yards on a fumblerooskie play in the first quarter (second Tiger possession) of the game. It was Seegars's first carry as a Tiger.

Seegars gained 23 yards on the play, but could have gotten more according to some observers if he had cut back to the middle of the field. "I didn't want to be the first football player in history to go down at the five yard line without anyone tackling me," said Seegars, Clemson's junior All-American.

Seegars had an outstanding game as a blocker, his normal job in the Clemson offense. In 80 snaps, Seegars graded 80 percent with a career high 15 knockdown blocks. That knockdown block mark was the most by a Tiger last year and the most by a Clemson offensive lineman since John Phillips had 18 against Virginia Tech in 1987. It was the fourth time last year that Seegars had a double figure game in terms of knockdown blocks and it was the sixth time in nine games that he had led the team in knockdowns for a game.

Sapp set some Clemson records as a first-year freshman and equalled Rodney Williams' freshman total offense figure in four less starts.

Address

If you are mailing something to the Clemson SID office, address it to Tim Bourret, Sports Information Director, PO Box 632, Clemson, SC 29633. The Federal express address (they don't like PO Boxes) is 100 Perimeter Road, Clemson, SC 29633. The Address of Clemson Memorial Stadium is Williamston Road, Clemson, SC 29633.

Allen, Terry

Former Clemson running back Terry Allen proved everyone wrong last year. Clemson's leading rusher in 1987 and 1988 had knee problems in 1989, but still decided to turn pro. He was a ninth-round draft choice and few expected him to make it in the NFL because of his knee difficulties.

In 1990 the doom predictors appeared to be correct, as he suffered a knee injury in preseason workouts and required reconstructive surgery. But, one thing Allen had going for him was an outstanding work ethic and he returned for the 1991 season, and gained 563 yards.

But, in 1992 Allen showed his inner strength and abilities. The native of Georgia, who most certainly would have become Clemson's all-time leading rusher had he stayed for his senior year, scored 15 touchdowns last year for the Minnesota Vikings, the second highest total in the NFL. Only Emmitt Smith of the Dallas Cowboys, who almost came to Clemson out of high school, but went to Florida (partly due to Allen's presence at Clemson), had more. Allen gained 1201 yards rushing to set a Minnesota Vikings record and became just the third Viking player to go over 1,000 yards. He was sixth in the entire NFL in rushing and fifth in total yards from scrimmage (1679).

Antonio, John

This man holds a special place in the hearts of Tiger fans and in the pocketbooks of sports marketing entrepreneurs. Antonio invented the Tiger paw, the distinctive logo of the Clemson athletic teams that has become synonymous with this University's athletic success. Antonio was an innovative account executive with Henderson Advertising in Greenville, and prior to the 1970 season, unveiled the Paw as Clemson's new logo. It has shown up all over the country on items owned by Clemson fans. Many institutions with a feline as mascot have used the logo, or an impression of it. The painting of the Tiger Paw on cheeks of Clemson fans has also become popular and imitated at schools all over the country.

Attendance

Clemson ranked seventh in the nation in average football attendance last year with an average of 76,789. It marked the 10th straight year that Clemson ranked in the top 10 in attendance. Clemson has a seating capacity of 81,473, but with standing room we are capable of going over the 84,000 mark. The record crowd stands at 84,867 against South Carolina on Nov. 19, 1988. The largest crowd last year was 83,312 for the South Carolina game. The Florida State game attracted 83,170.

Award Finalists

Clemson has two players capable of contending for prestigious national lineman awards this year. According to one publication, Lindy's (supervised by the inventor of college player ratings John Hadley), Stacy Seegars is the number-one offensive guard in the nation and Brentson Buckner is the number-three defensive lineman in the nation. Seegars was a second-team AP All-American last year, while Buckner was second-team All-ACC and is certainly capable of rising to the All-America level this year.

Clemson has never had a player win a Heisman, Outland, Thorpe, Butkus, etc, but many Tigers have been in the hunt. Terry Kinard is the only winner of an individual national award as he was chosen National Defensive Player-of-the-Year by CBS Sports in 1982.

Here is a list of Clemson players who have been finalists for national position awards:

Year	Award	Rank	Name, Pos
1983	Outland	1 of 9	William Perry, MG
1984	Lombardi	1 of 4	William Perry, MG
1987	Outland	1 of 3	Michael Dean Perry, DT
1988	Thorpe	1 of 16	Donnell Woolford, CB
1990	Outland	1 of 3	Stacy Long, OT
	Butkus	1 of 5	Levon Kirkland, OLB
1991	Butkus	1 of 4	Ed McDaniel, ILB
	Lombardi	1 of 12	Levon Kirkland, OLB
	Thorpe	1 of 20	Robert O'Neal, FS

Bennett, George

This is the year for comebacks for guys named George. George Steinbrenner is back with the Yankees and George Bennett is back with Clemson. Both had big years in 1978, Steinbrenner's Yankees won the World Series and Bennett led IPTAY to another record year in fund-raising. Now, those are the only comparisons between George Steinbrenner and George Bennett that we will draw.

George Bennett was a prime reason IPTAY reached great heights of improvement in the 1970s and he continued his fund-raising expertise at Vanderbilt, Furman (as athletic director), and the hospital industry. He is already in the Clemson Hall of Fame and to say he jumped back into his old job of Executive Director of IPTAY with both feet is an understatement.

Bennett has been a Tiger at heart for many years, dating back to his cheerleading days in the fifties (see photo). He has set an aggressive goal of $6 million for the 1993-94 academic year, which is optimistic in the present uncertainty of the economy. But, if anyone can do it George can.

Bennett is one of three true Tigers to return to Clemson this year. Whitey Jordan is back to serve as offensive coordinator, while Bobby Johnson is back at Clemson as defensive coordinator. See more on them in the coaching bio section of this book.

Blood Rule

Football is following basketball's lead and will have a blood rule for this season. This could add an appreciable amount of time to the length of a game, because one would think there would be 10 times as many opportunities for a bloody injury in football as compared to basketball.

According to the rule, when a player is removed from the game because of bleeding there is no charged time out to the team. The team can take a time out and if the bleeding is stopped, the player can return without missing a play. Otherwise, he must remain out of the game for at least one play. He can only return to the game when a time out is taken. A player whose jersey is saturated with blood must be removed from the game and can only return when he has changed his jersey.

Buckner, Brentson

Truly the Charles Barkley of the Clemson football team. This 6-3, 305-pounder is perhaps the ACC's most quotable grid star, and on occasion he might say something he would like to retract. In general, Brentson's job is to reek havoc on the football field, just like Charles does on the basketball court.

Buckner is the only senior on the starting defense heading into this season, so he obviously holds an important role from a pure ability and leadership position. This is the first time since 1951 that Clemson has had only one senior starting on defense so younger players will look to Buckner for guidance. The SID office will be looking for Buckner to challenge some Clemson records also. The native of Columbus, GA has 15.5 career sacks and 32 career tackles for loss, both figures that rank in the top 10 in Clemson history.

Buckner is used to being a leader of many as he is one of 10 children in his family. The English major who is on track to graduate at the end of the year is one of the top all-around sports fans at Clemson. He can carry on a conversation about everyone from Tiger Woods to Sparky Woods.

Bennett, second from right, is back as IPTAY Director. His days at Clemson go back to the 1950s when he was a Tiger cheerleader.

Howard was a champion checker player in matchups of Hall of Fame coaches.

Calhoun, John

This Senator from the state of South Carolina proposed a bill in the house in 1955 making it a state law that Clemson and South Carolina had to meet in football once a year.

Checkers

Coach Frank Howard is best known for guiding the Clemson football team for 30 years. He won 165 games and is a member of the College Football Hall of Fame. While he is known as a football coach, his best game might have been checkers.

In the 1930s Howard would face Jess Neely, another Hall of Fame coach and at the time Howard's superior, every Friday night before a game. The two would play as relaxation before turning in for the night. "Coach Howard would beat Neely all the time, but Neely kept asking for one more game," says longtime Clemson SID Bob Bradley. "Finally, Frank would be so tired he would let Neely win the last game so he could go to bed. But, that's the only time Frank would lose at checkers. I don't ever recall anyone saying they beat Coach Howard in a series of games of checkers."

Clark, Dwight

One of the great pro football success stories belongs to Dwight Clark. A Clemson Tiger between 1975-78, the wide receiver was a starter in 1977 and 1978, but still caught only 33 passes for his entire career. He was a key contributor on the 1978 ACC Championship team that was 11-1 and ranked sixth in the final poll, but he was never even second-team All-ACC.

The San Francisco 49ers drafted him in the 10th round in 1979 and he was a surprise squad member in that season. Then Clark and Joe Montana started working together and before you knew it Clark was leading the league in receptions and was a pro bowl starter. He concluded his career as the 49ers all-time leader in receptions with 506, reception yards (6750) and touchdowns (48).

Today, Clark is the 49ers' coordinator of football operations/player personnel. Some of his touchdown receptions weren't as long as that title, but his job does allow him to travel to Clemson now and then to scout the talent level of his beloved Tigers.

Clemson, SC

The city of Clemson has a population of about 11,000 fulltime residents. But, on Saturday afternoons in the fall, when over 80,000 fans are in the stands, that population increases significantly. In fact, Clemson moves all the way to the second largest city in the state on home football Saturdays when over 80,500 fans are in the stands.

On those days, only Columbia is larger. Charleston's latest population reading was 80,414, so that is why we have to list the qualifier at 80,500. Perhaps that will change with these base closings, but we will stay with 80,500 until the next census. So, depending on the size of the crowd, Clemson becomes either the second or third largest city in South Carolina on home football Saturdays.

Colors

Clemson's official colors are Northwestern purple (PMS 266) and burnt orange (PMS 165), but many of Clemson's athletic uniforms are predominantly orange and white. Clemson has worn all orange for special games and in 1991 wore purple jerseys with white pants and orange helmets for the N.C. State and California games.

According to legend Clemson used to have a pale purple and gold as the official colors. But, Jess Neely changed that because he wanted uniforms that were more colorfast. It seems that the weather and constant washings were causing the uniforms to fade. So Neely worked with the Clemson school of textiles and developed deeper colors for uniforms, colors that held up under the rays of the sun and the workings of the washing machines.

Conference

Clemson is a member of the Atlantic Coast Conference. The Tigers were charter members in 1953. Prior to that, Clemson was in the Southern Conference from 1921 to 1952. Clemson was in the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association before that, and has been a charter member of every conference with which it has been affiliated.

Country Gentleman

Clemson is famous for its Tiger mascot and pushups after each score. But, the school used to have two mascots. In addition to the Tiger, the school used to have the Country Gentleman, a student dressed in purple tails and top hat, carrying a cane. The Country Gentleman concept came about as a result of references to Clemson made by Greenville News sportswriter Carter Scoop Latimer as the Country Gentlemen. Clemson had the two-mascot system until the early 1970s.

Death Valley

Name synonymous with Clemson Memorial Stadium. The Stadium was dubbed this affectionate title by the late Lonnie McMillian, a former coach at Presbyterian. He used to take his teams to play at Clemson, and they rarely scored, never mind gained a victory. Once he told the writers he was going to play Clemson up at Death Valley because his teams always got killed. It stuck somewhat, but when Frank Howard start calling it that in the fifties, the term really caught on. It is now in its 52nd year.

Many people think the name is derived from the fact that there rests a cemetery outside the fence on the pressbox site of the stadium. But, although the cemetery proximity would make sense, the name was first coined by Lonnie McMillian.

Draft

Clemson had five players drafted last year, plus an additional five players signed free agent contracts. Wayne Simmons led the way when he was chosen in the first round and was the 15th player taken overall. The outside linebacker will be a Green Bay Packer next year. James Trapp was a third-round pick of the LA Raiders, the 72nd player chosen, while fullback Rudy Harris was selected in the fourth round by the Tampa Bay Bucs. Ashley Sheppard, the fourth Clemson OLB taken in the first four rounds over the last three years was taken by Minnesota. Robert O'Neal, the only four-time All-ACC player in Clemson history, went in the sixth round to Miami.

As far as the free agent market is concerned, Larry Ryans signed with Detroit, Norris Brown with Seattle, Ronald Williams with Cincinnati, Les Hall with Atlanta and Eric Geter with the LA Rams.

Clemson had four players drafted within the first five rounds of the NFL draft, giving the Tigers 28 top five selections over the last 10 years. That ranks in a tie for seventh in the nation. Miami has had 41 players chosen in the first five rounds over the last 10 years, while Notre Dame is second with 38.

Emergency Phone

In case of emergency at Clemson Memorial Stadium, call (803) 656-2999. The Clemson University police number is (803) 656-2222. For health care at the stadium first aid is available at Gates 9, 13, 16 and 20.

Enrollment

Clemson had a student enrollment of 17,667 for the 1992-93 academic year. That includes all graduate students. A total of 9,823 of the students are men and 7,844 are female, so there is a 56/44 ratio between men and women at Clemson. There are just 13,305 undergrads, or 75 percent of the total enrollment. Of the 13,305 undergrads, 3,686 are out of state residents.

Fumblerooski

Stacy Seegars received quite a bit of notoriety for his 23-yard run on a fumblerooski play against North Carolina last year. The 320-pounder was quite a sight, rumblin and stumblin his way to a first down. But, Seegars's 23-yard career average is now safe forever because the NCAA has outlawed the fumblerooski play. "It was very difficult to officiate and we had many complaints because it was often exchanged illegally," says John Adams, secretary of the NCAA Rules Committee. Clemson Head Coach Ken Hatfield is one of the members of the Rules Committee.

Goalposts

NCAA regulations stipulate the pipe must be 4" in diameter, must have posts that are 20' or more in height and 18-6 apart. This is the same width as the pros and closer than the 23-4 of previous college years. The crossbar is 10' high. The Clemson student body tore down the goalposts in the end zone with the grass bank after Clemson's emotional 52-27 win over Maryland in 1983, the only time the goalposts have come down at Clemson.

The shortening of the width of the goalposts has not effected Clemson field goal kicking in recent years. Nelson Welch has connected on 41-56 field goals over the last two years, a 73.2 percent mark. Clemson kickers have made 73 percent of their field goals over the last 15 years.

Hash Marks

Along the same lines as the goalposts entry, the NCAA has now changed the configuration of the field, which should have another effect on field goals. First the rule-makers would not allow a kicker to use a Tee. They then shortened the width of the goalpost. Now they are making a rule that should help the kicker by going to the closer hashmarks, thereby reducing the number of severe angle attempts. The old hashmarks were 53' 4" from each sideline. This year they will be an even 60' from each sideline, meaning there will be 6' 8" more area for the running backs to turn the corner and put that much more pressure on the outside linebackers to cover them.

In 1938, the hash marks were moved from 30 feet away from the sidelines to 45 feet. Then in 1947, they were moved to one-third of the field, or 53' 4". And, that has been the distance until this season.

Heisman, John

Yes, the same guy they named the trophy after used to coach at Clemson. You have to go back to the 1900-03 era to find him, but he brought Clemson its first unbeaten season in 1900, a 6-0 ledger. Heisman coached at Clemson for four seasons making an astronomical $1800 a year, the same amount most PGA events pay for a last place finish in an average weekend event.

In 1904 Georgia Tech offered him $2250 plus a percentage of the gate, and he was gone to Atlanta. Clemson should have scraped up the extra money to keep him. With John Heisman as head coach, Clemson beat Georgia Tech 73-0 in 1903, but two years later, with Heisman at Georgia Tech, the Yellow Jackets downed the Tigers, 17-10. Coaching does make a difference.

Hoover, Doc

Assistant Athletic Director and Head Trainer Fred Hoover has quite a streak going. He doesn't let us talk about it that much, but it is worth noting. The 1953 Florida State graduate has now worked 375 consecutive Clemson football games. Someone needs to monitor his eating habits because you would certainly think a trainer, who hangs around sick people all the time, would have gotten ill at least once over the last 35 years. Well, he has been sick at times, but never on Saturday afternoons in the fall. Hoover is number one in the Clemson athletic department in terms of longevity of service.

Hunter, Bill

Dr. Bill Hunter is the man to call if you are doing a story on "Running Down the Hill", the most celebrated entrance in all of sport. Dr. Hunter is still a Clemson resident and was a starter on Clemson's 1942 team, and he was one of the first Tiger players to run down the hill. He still follows the Tigers avidly and rarely misses a home sporting event.

Inflation I

A ticket to the Clemson-South Carolina game in 1896 cost 25 cents. Two thousand people attended the game. This year's ticket for the game in Columbia is $25.

Inflation II

When Clemson first built Memorial Stadium in 1942 the construction cost of the 20,000 seat stadium computed to $7.20 a seat. When Clemson added 15,000 seats with an upper deck over the north stands in 1983 the average cost was $866 a seat.

Interview Policy

Interviews during the week for Clemson players or coaches should be arranged through Assistant Athletic Director Tim Bourret. Call us with your request and we will get the player to call you. Sorry, no home numbers of player will be distributed because too many media have a tendency to call for midnight interviews.

IPTAY

IPTAY, Clemson's athletic scholarship fund-raising foundation is one of the cornerstones of the Clemson Athletic Department. The foundation provides the funds for all athletic scholarships and has also been responsible for the funding of many facilities, including Vickery Hall, Clemson's athletic academic advising building that is featured on the inside front cover of this book. That facility and thus IPTAY have a lot to do with the football team reaching a 10-year high 2.31 cumulative GPA for the second semester last year.

IPTAY stands for "I Pay Ten a Year", the original name with a meaning derived from the minimum contribution of its donors when the organization began in 1934. It changed to "I Pay Twenty a Year," then "I Pay Thirty a Year." Three years ago the minimum donation was increased to $100 a year. There are currently nearly 20,000 members of IPTAY and the organization raises over $5.8 million a year.

IPTAY does a lot more for Clemson and its students than pay tuition for athletes. IPTAY also funds band travel, contributes to the improvement of athletic facilities, both varsity and non-varsity, and has established the IPTAY Academic Scholarship Endowment. This endowment was created to help meet the need for more academic scholarships for non-athletes who are highly qualified academically. The IPTAY Academic Fund is presently the largest scholarship endowment at Clemson.

Legend I

Frank Howard is known as Legend I around Clemson and he has the hat to prove it. He was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame during ceremonies at the Waldorf Astoria in New York City on December 5, 1989. Howard is still a person in demand when it comes to Clemson football history.

Howard won 165 games at Clemson, including 96 victories as an ACC coach 1953-69, the second highest total in league history. He led Clemson to six bowl games, won eight conference titles and had six final AP Top 20 rankings.

He still comes to work every day in the Clemson Athletic Department. His office number in the Jervy Athletic Center is (803) 656-2100. Give him a call for some great quotes, information on Clemson football history, or to take out an advertisement in Kickoff.

He had surgery this past summer to remove a ruptured disk, so he might be onery for a while, but we are sure he will be in the press box for the opener with UNLV.

Legend II

SID at Clemson between 1955-89 football seasons, Bob Bradley has officially retired from his SID slot. He has seen 415 consecutive Clemson football games so he is considered the Lou Gerig (soon to be Cal Ripken) of football SIDs in America. He has been President of CoSIDA, has been in the Clemson and SID Hall of Fame forever, and is a former Recipient of the Arch Ward Award as CoSIDA Man-of-the-Year.

In November of 1988 the press box at Memorial Stadium was named The Bob Bradley Press Box. At his retirement banquet in the summer of 1989 he was presented with an automobile by the Athletic Department (complete with bow at midfield at Memorial Stadium) and the financing for a pontoon boat from his former student workers, the ACC Sportswriters Association, SIDs from around the country and the ACC office.

He still puts in quite a few hours for us (everyday) and actually has scored more baseball games in retirement than he did in his last year as SID. He has also completed two books on Clemson football. Give Bob a call at (803) 656-2114 to purchase an ideal Christmas present.

Lost & Found

At Memorial Stadium, if you can't find it go to the Gate 1 information booth. Hopefully someone else did and it will be there.

Medical Facilities

Available during football games under Section J on the South Side, under Section T on the North Side and Section E under South Top Deck of the stadium. There also is one under the North Top Deck.

Memorial Stadium

Here are some height measurements in Memorial Stadium that were determined by Mark Kistler in a survey he performed for a class in 1991:

Height above the middle of the 50-yard-line to:
 Top of the South Upper Deck: 159 Feet
 Camera Deck on South Side: 92 Feet
 Top of the Hill: 27 Feet
 Mounted Rock on the Hill: 26 Feet
 Top of West End Zone: 47 Feet
 Top of Upper Deck, North Side: 177 Feet

It is also interesting to note that the distance from the Rock to the bottom of the hill, or the path the team takes when it runs down the hill is exactly 100 feet. The middle of the field is a foot higher than the back of the end zone at the bottom of the hill. That explains why Death Valley drains well.

Nickname

Clemson's nickname derivation goes back to the turn of the century. In those days many of the players wore long hair due to lack of helmet strength for more head protection. These long manes might have gained Clemson the name lions had it not been for the orange and purple striped jerseys and stockings the players wore. The stripes resembled Tigers.

John Heisman's 1900 team was called the Tigers and Clemson used an insignia of a Tigers head with bared fangs with the motto 'Eat Em Up Clemson. Another theory on the nickname concerns Clemson's first coach. Walter Merritt Riggs came to Clemson to coach the football team in 1896. His previous school was Auburn, which is also known as the Tigers.

Night Games

Clemson has not had many home night games over the years. There have been just 15 overall dating back to a September 25, 1948 win over Presbyterian. The Tigers are 12-2-1 at night, an outstanding record, so you might expect administrators to schedule more games at night.

But, for most of the history of Clemson football the school's fan base has reached a circumference of over 300 miles. Realizing this fact, Clemson administrators have attempted to schedule the time of home games to allow fans to make it to the game and back home in the same day.

Clemson did not have a home night game between 1956 and 1991. In 1992 tradition was broken when the Florida State game was televised by ESPN. The novelty of the night game in Death Valley, against a Top 10 opponent, certainly did not hurt attendance. Sure, it forced fans from Myrtle Beach and Charleston to spend the night, but most people enjoyed it.

Still, the only way Clemson will have a home night game is when it is forced to by an ACC rule that orders league schools to move at least two games a year for television.

Northport High

High School in Northport, NY that has invoked a Clemson tradition into its pregame regimentation. The Northport Tigers mounted a large (many times larger than Clemson's) rock at the entrance to Tiger Field. The team rubs the rock as it enters the field for each game for supernatural powers, similar to the powers it gives Clemson. The idea came from Northport quarterback David Sumner. "We wanted to do something to jazz up the place. I was watching a Clemson game on television and they have a rock at their entrance. That gave me the idea."

Penn's Thin Natural Leaf

Type of chewing tobacco Frank Howard chewed in the forties. When they were pouring the concrete for the stadium in 1942 Howard put a plug in each corner of the stadium, giving it his form of an artistic signature.

Phillips, Jim

"Voice of the Tigers" in his 26th year providing commentary on Clemson football. Phillips won the Brian Piccolo Award of broadcasting in 1982 when he gave the play-by-play account of the Western Carolina game only five days after back surgery. He recreated most of that game while standing up with a walker. He is also the voice of Clemson basketball and baseball. His voice is in the minds of nearly all contemporary Clemson fans when they recall a memorable Clemson moment. During his Silver Anniversary season (1992-93) Phillips was inducted into the Clemson Hall of Fame.

Press Passes

These can become scarce for big games.

For all photo, press, TV and parking passes contact Tim Match. His number is (803) 656-2101. Please make your requests at least two weeks in advance. Wives and children of media are not allowed in the press box.

Records, Old

Records are made to be broken. That might be the most overused cliché in the sports world, and there are certainly many clichés in sports. But, some Clemson records just might not be broken. Here is a list of the oldest records on the Clemson books, and some recently set records that could stand for a long time.

Clemson's Oldest Records

Recruiting Classes

Ken Hatfield's last two recruiting classes have been ranked among the top 25 in the nation. The group that entered in 1992 was a consensus top 10 class (as high as fifth by one service) and the first-year freshmen backed it up last year as 13 (11 scholarship, 2 walk-on) saw action on the field for the Tigers. Linebacker Derek Burnette was chosen first-team Freshman All-American by Football News and USA Today, while quarterback Patrick Sapp was the top passer for the Tigers and is already Clemson's career leader in interception avoidance.

But, rating recruiting classes is ludicrous until the group has completed its career. Clemson's 1987 class was ranked among the top 5 in the nation, and that group had an outstanding career. But, the players who were not highly regarded at all became the best players at Clemson and led the Tigers to 40 wins in four years. Levon Kirkland, Jeb Flesch, Rob Bodine and Ed McDaniel were all first-team All-Americans as seniors in 1991. But, none of the four players was on any high school All-America team. Kirkland, Flesch and Bodine were not even all-state and McDaniel made just one all-state team.

So, what have been the top recruiting classes in Clemson history? One way would be to evaluate classes according to members who have gone on to make it in the NFL, or who became all-conference players at Clemson. Based on All-ACC players, the freshman class of 1978 would be the best in history as seven members went on to be chosen All-ACC at one time or another in their careers. Based on NFL products we have a tie. That 1978 group and the signee class of 1987 had six apiece.

Clemson's Top Recruiting classes based on NFL Players:

1987	6	Levon Kirkland, Doug Thomas, Ed McDaniel, Curtis Whitley, Jerome Henderson, John Johnson
1978	6	Cliff Austin, Jeff Bryant, Jeff Davis, Terry Kinard, Perry Tuttle, Brian Clark
1982	5	Terrence Flagler, Kenny Flowers, Steve Griffin, Jim Riggs, Terence Mack
1975	5	Joe Bostic, Jonathan Brooks, Jerry Butler, Steve Fuller, Dwight Clark

Clemson's Top Recruiting Classes based on First-Team All-ACC Players:

1978	7	Cliff Austin, Perry Tuttle, Terry Kinard, Jeff Davis, Jeff Bryant, Tony Berryhill, Lee Nanney
1982	6	Terrence Flagler, Kenny Flowers, Henry Walls, Steve Reese, Jim Riggs, Terence Mack
1981	6	Dale Hatcher, William Perry, K.D. Dunn, Johnny Rembert, Steve Berlin, Ronald Watson

Retired Numbers

There have been two numbers retired in Clemson football history, #4 and #66. The number-four is in honor of Steve Fuller, a first-team Academic All-American in 1978 and a third-team on-the-field All-American the same year. He was also a two-time ACC Player-of-the-Year and won a Super Bowl Championship ring with the Chicago Bears.

The number-66 is in honor of Banks McFadden, Clemson's second All-American in 1939. He guided Clemson to the Cotton Bowl that year and generally put Clemson on the football map. He was the third pick of the 1940 NFL draft. He also had his #23 retired in basketball at Clemson and was also an All-American in that sport. He is the only football player in Clemson history to be inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame.

Clemson has some strict rules when it comes to retiring numbers. First, the athlete must be a Clemson graduate, secondly he must have been at least five years removed from his years as a Clemson student. And of course, the athlete must have been an All-American at least first, second or third team.

Riggs Field

Currently the home of Clemson's national championship soccer program (1984 and 1987), but it was the home of Clemson football prior to Memorial Stadium. The field is named after Walter Meritt Riggs, Clemson's first football coach. He coached Clemson in 1896 and 1899. He had an 8-5 record for those two seasons, but ironically, he never coached a game at Clemson. All his 13 contests were played on the road.

Rings

A total of 14 former Clemson players have picked up 21 Super Bowl rings over the years. Jeff Bostic leads the way with three Super Bowl Championship rings. He was the most recent winner, after the 1991 season. Terrence Flagler, Dwight Clark, Bennie Cunningham, Jim Stuckey, and Charlie Waters are the former Tigers with two Super Bowl championship rings. Seven of the last nine years Clemson has had at least one representative on the Super Bowl Championship team.

Rock, Howard's

When the Clemson team gathers to Run Down the Hill (see Running Down the Hill) the players rub Howard's Rock because of the mystical powers it is supposed to give Clemson players. The rock is mounted on a pedestal at the top of the hill and was given to Coach Frank Howard by a friend (S.C. Jones' 19) who picked it up in Death Valley, CA. The Rock was first placed on the pedestal at the top of the hill on September 24, 1966, a game Clemson won 40-35 over Virginia. The team started rubbing the rock for the first game of 1967, a 23-6 win over Wake Forest on September 23, 1967.

Running Down the Hill

One of the most exciting 25 seconds (about 35 seconds when Clemson dresses 120 players for homecoming) in college football from a color and pageantry standpoint. After Clemson's last warmup the team retreats to the home dressing room located under the West Stands. At about 12:50 (for normal 1:00 P.M. game), the team boards two buses and drives around the periphery of the stadium to the east side of the field. After everyone is properly collected, the cannon sounds, Tiger Rag is played and Clemson charges down the hill (exactly 100 feet top to bottom) and onto the field. It is one of the most celebrated entrances in sport. The Tigers have done it for every game since 1942, except for 1970, 1971 and four games of the 1972 season. In all, the Tigers have run down the hill 230 times heading into 1993.

How in the world did the tradition of running down the hill start? There is no long involved explanation, it used to be the quickest way to get to the field. When the stadium was built in 1942 the football lockerrooms were up the street in Fike Fieldhouse.

When the players were finished getting dressed they used to walk out the front door and walk down the street to "The Hill". Coach Howard continued the tradition when lockerrooms were finally built inside the stadium because Clemson fans used to get so fired up when they gathered at the top of the hill. That's when the buses came into use to spend the trip from the lockerroom to the other side of the stadium. Clemson now has a record of 168-55-7, a .745 winning percentage, when they run down the hill. Clemson is 6-9 (40 percent) when it doesn't use the hill as its entrance. Coach Hatfield did not want to change the tradition with stats like that.

Scheduling

We normally provide future schedules listing opponents in the Clemson football guide. But, in an effort to schedule more competitive games late in the season and to enhance the ACC's television package to potential clients, the conference schedule will not be released until after the preceeding season. In other words, the 1994 schedule will not be announced until December of 1993.

We realize people want to plan weddings, reunions and other special events. So, we will provide the dates Clemson is home and away, but we won't know the opponent until December. We will also determine homecoming, Hall of Fame Day and other special days in January.

Scholarships

In 1973 current Pittsburgh Head Coach Johnny Majors signed 70 players. Four years later that senior class won the national championship. The powers that run the NCAA thought there was something wrong with that in terms of scholarship numbers, so they limited programs to 95 scholarships in any one year and set a maximum of 30 signees per year.

For the 1992 season we were at 92 total scholarships and 25 signees in any one year. This year the total number reduces to 88 and by 1995 we will be at 85 total scholarships.

Scoreboard

Clemson has a new scoreboard at the East end of the stadium (top of the hill). The brand new SunSport 100 Series Message Center by Daktronics is 26' X 59'2". It has a message center in the upper middle area that is composed of 1,792 light bulbs. Daktronics is one of the best in the business and supplies the PGA Tour with scoreboards. Sports promotions director John Seketa is in charge of its overall operation.

Don't worry traditionalists, the board will still proclaim Clemson as 1981 National Champions, and it will still feature a Tiger at the top of the scoreboard that wags its tail every time Clemson scores a touchdown.

Singing Tigers

What is the largest church choir group in the nation? We aren't talking numbers, the Mormon Tabernacle still has the right to that claim. But, what about in terms of pounds/ per singer?

A group of Clemson football players performs occasionally during Sunday services at the New Holly Light Church of Pendleton, SC. Because of the demands of football, it has not been an every Sunday performance, but when they perform the church rocks. The leaders of the group are seniors Jason Davis and Rodney Blunt.

The Reverend Curtis Hill and Dora Scott, a member of the church, have organized the practices and the performances over the last five years. "We have really good support," said Davis, a senior from Florida. "Reverend Hill and Mama Scott are there for us 100 percent. If we told them we could only practice at 1:00AM they would be there."

Davis believes that instead of being known as just a "bunch of football players who sing," the group is beginning to be recognized for its talent. "Anytime we are on the program, people from different churches in the area come to New Holly Light. It is a novelty for football players to be singers too. We want to be taken seriously as a Christian Choir. We know who gave us all the ability to play football and this is a way to give something back."

Shuffleboard

In another entry in the "boy times have changed" category, take note of the photo on this page. Below star halfback Fred Cone and assistant coach Bob Jones take part in a game of shuffleboard during a break in preparation for the 1951 Orange Bowl. Please note that both men are wearing ties while taking part in the game.

Guess shuffleboard was the 1950s answer to video games.

Skyboxes

The prime location to watch a Clemson football game. Memorial Stadium is one of just a handful of on-campus college stadiums to have private executive suites. Clemson has more executive suites than any other on-campus stadium in America (100 total, with 74 available for sale to individuals and corporations) and the average cost, including an average of 22 tickets, is $18,000 a year.

The suite is completely furnished with 22 theater seats, has a stereo system, kitchenette, closed circuit TV, maid service, meals, program and is completely temperature controlled. Fans have their choice of piping in crowd noise, the PA system or the Clemson Radio Network.

Tailgate Show

Following Clemson football is an all day event on Saturdays in the fall. For a typical 1:00 PM home game the festivities begin with the Tiger Tailgate Show at 10:00 AM. Hosted by Mike Gallagher and Joey Erwin, the program provides fans with the latest in personnel updates, events happening on campus, features and interviews with players and coaches past and present. In general it is a fun program that gets Clemson fans fired up for the afternoon's game.

Shuffleboard...video games of the 1950s.

Talent

How can you rank the most talented team in Clemson history? Again, a look to players who were good enough to make it in the NFL could be a tangible means of reaching some determination. When looking at the history of Clemson football it makes sense that the most talented teams in terms of NFL products were the 1981 and 1982 Clemson teams. The Tigers were a combined 21-1-1 in those two years, won two ACC titles and the school's only National Championship in 1981.

Both the 1982 and 1981 Clemson rosters had 18 players who went on to play in the NFL. The 1978 club that went 11-1 and finished the season ranked sixth in the nation had 16 players, while the 1980 team that had just a 6-5 record, had 15 players on its roster who made it to the NFL. As far as recent teams are concerned, the 1988 Tigers won the ACC title with a 10-2 mark and have had 14 players who are still playing or who made it to an NFL team. Nine players off Coach Ken Hatfield's first Clemson team have already made it and four or five more should join that group in each of the next couple of seasons.

Every Clemson team between 1977 and 1988 had at least 11 future NFL players on its roster and the 1989, 1990 and 1991 teams should join the double figure totals in the next couple of years when current Tigers move on to the pros.

Most Talented Clemson Teams based on Lettermen who became NFL Players:

Year	#	Players
1982	18	Cliff Austin, Dan Benish, Billy Davis, Ty Davis, K.D. Dunn, Terrence Flagler, Steve Griffin, Dale Hatcher, Andy Headen, Donald Igwebuike, Terry Kinard, Kevin Mack, Jeff McCall, Chuck McSwain, Rod McSwain, William Perry, Reggie Pleasant, Johnny Rembert

Television

While all Clemson fans, especially, those from far reaches of the United States, love to watch those Tigers on TV, the networks do throw a wrench into making weekend plans. But, the ACC schools in general and Clemson in particular certainly gain significant benefits from a financial standpoint and a recruiting and exposure standpoint.

As a result, the ACC has established a policy that commands each institution to move at least two gametimes for television reasons per year if asked. That means Clemson really has no choice but to move a game from a 1:00 PM start to 2:30 PM, 3:30 PM, 4:00 PM, 7:00 PM, 7:36 PM, or whatever ESPN or ABC wish. The networks normally have to give you 10 days notice, but it could be as few as five days. We realize this is an inconvenience to our fans, but if we wish to remain a conference member....

The new television contract with the CFA determines future ACC appearances based on the number of appearances each league has had in recent years. Each conference has a minimum number of appearances a year, but if a team declines to move a game, it counts toward the appearances, even if the game is not televised. Plus, there is a loss of revenue. So, the penalty on the ACC, not just Clemson, has become too great if the ACC strives to continue to improve its football reputation.

Last year Clemson moved the Florida State game in Death Valley to 7:30 PM for ESPN. We had plenty of warning on that one and in general it was well received. But, this year a move could come just a few days prior to kickoff so be prepared.

We receive many questions about lengths of games from fans because they are trying to make their plans for the weekend. How long do you think the game will last? Well, here are some figures that should help. Since 1986 (last 7 years) Clemson has played 83 games, 50 on television and 33 that have not been on any live television. The 50 games on television have averaged 3:13 in length and the 33 non-televised games have lasted 2:46. In other words, a televised Clemson game over the last seven years has lasted 27 minutes longer than a non-televised game.

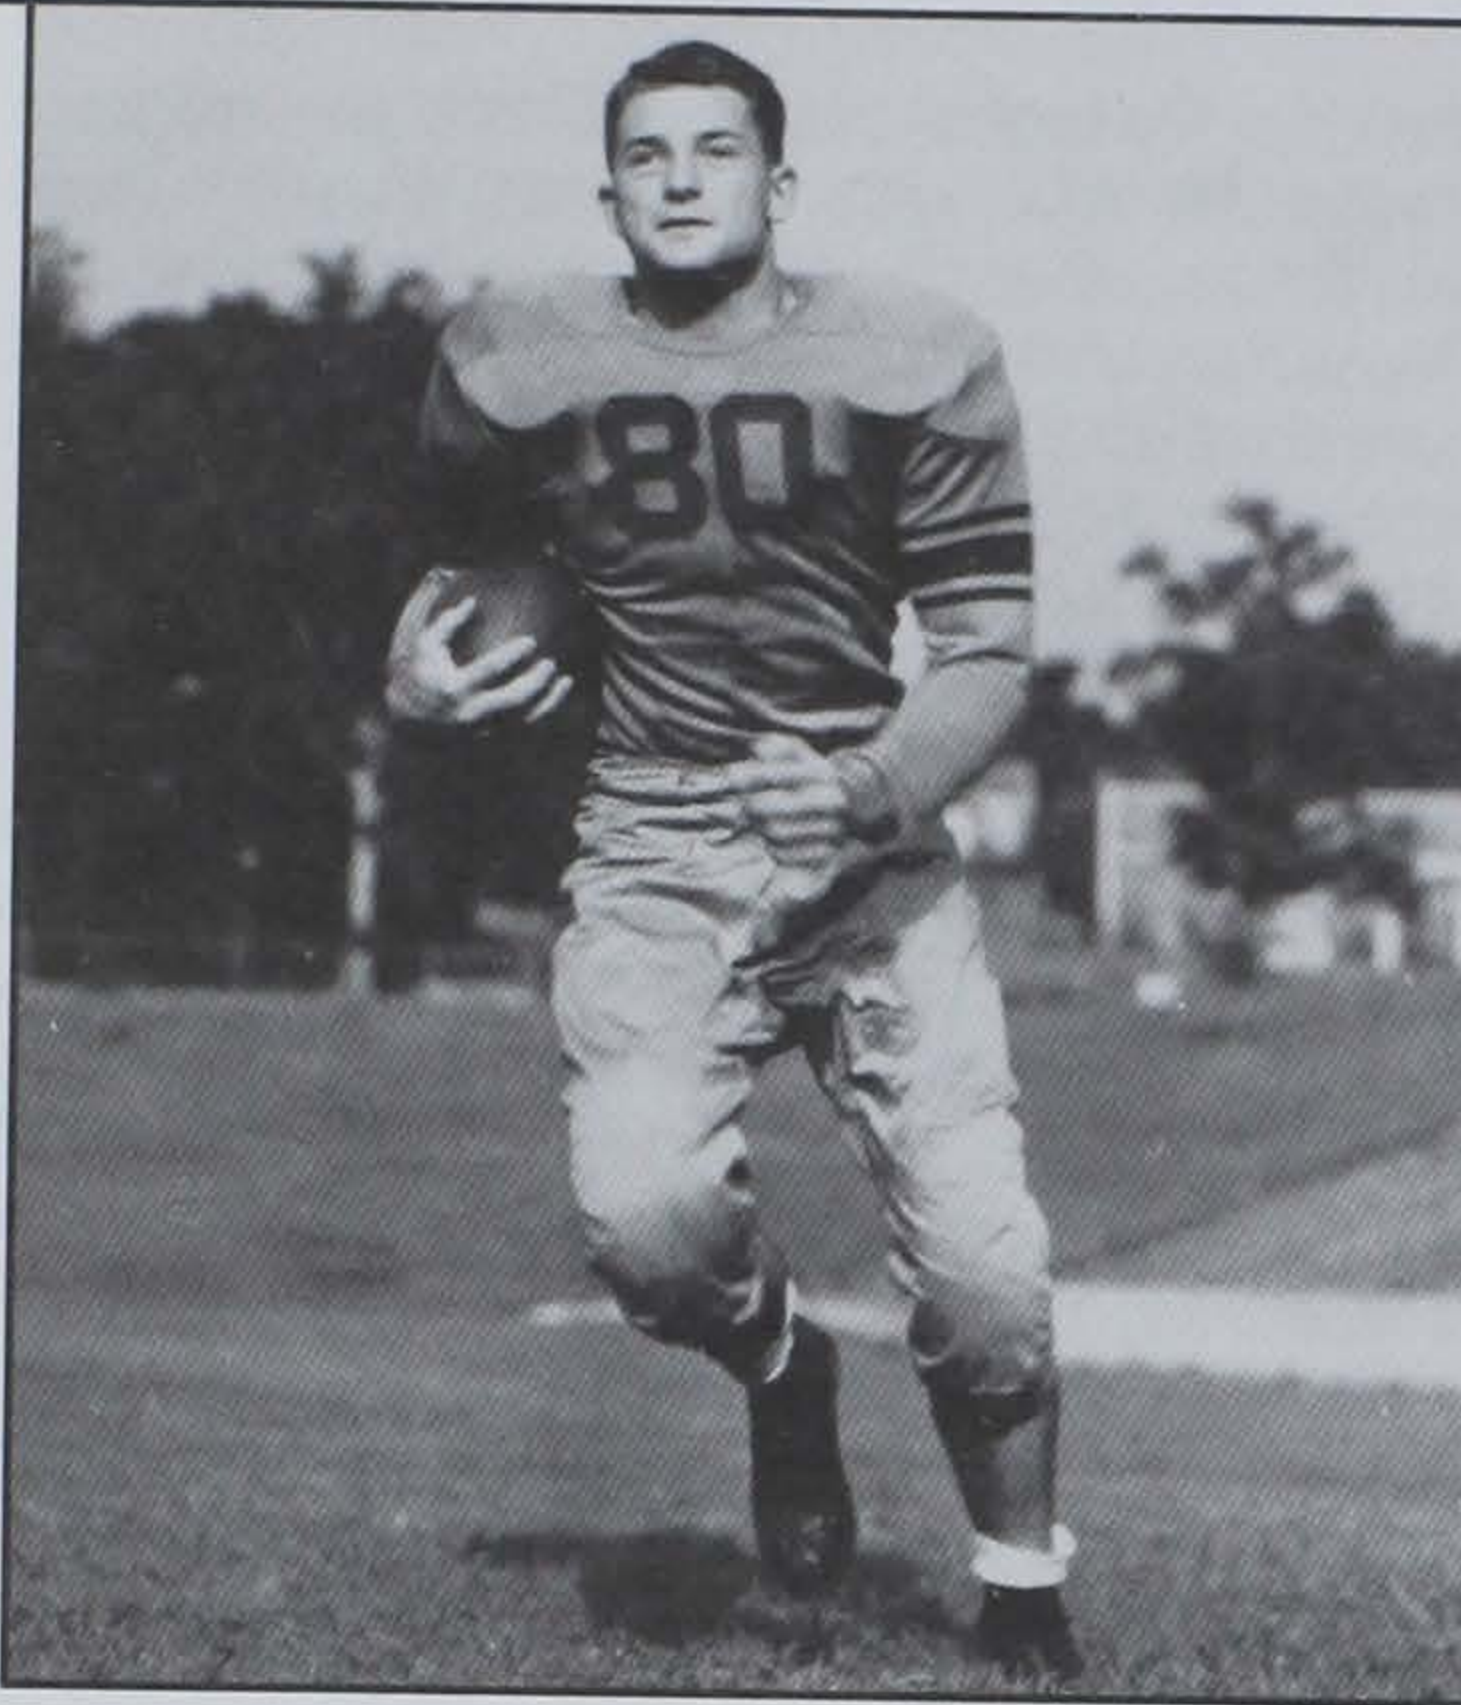

The longest Clemson game over the last seven years and we believe the longest in Clemson history took place last year when Clemson lost at Maryland in a game that took 3:50. The shortest televised game over the last seven years is 2:42. The shortest non-televised game by the Tigers over the last seven years took place at Wake Forest in 1990 when Clemson downed the Deacs in just 2:21. The longest non-televised game the last seven years has been 3:15, the 30-28 loss to N.C. State in 1987 when the Tigers threw 46 second-half passes.

Terry, Perry and Jerry

Clemson's top three receivers in history have first names that rhyme. Perry Tuttle, Jerry Butler and Terry Smith rank 1-2-3 in Clemson history in receptions and reception yardage. Smith, a senior this year, needs 27 catches to become Clemson's career leader and 630 yards to surpass Perry and Jerry in that category. Perry and Jerry were both first-round draft picks after their senior years, 1981 and 1978, respectively, and Terry hopes to continue that trend next April.

Walker started for three different Division I schools and is the only football-swimming combination athlete in Clemson history.

Tickets

Clemson home game tickets cost $18 per game, one of the cheaper tickets in the South. Away games this year will cost $18 at Florida State, $16 for the game at Duke, $20 for the game at North Carolina and $25 for the contest at South Carolina.

Turf

Artificial turf was the rage 20 years ago. It seemed everyone was switching to the stuff cows won't eat because it made for cleaner uniforms on rainy days. But, a 1990 study printed in the American Journal of Sports Medicine concluded that lower extremity injuries increased 35-50 percent during practice and play on artificial turf. Since then, schools seem to be going back to the natural grass as they would rather trade muddy uniforms for torn ACLs anyway. Clemson has always had natural grass since Frank Howard supervised the laying of the turf on Death Valley in 1942.

Clemson will play all 11 of its regular season games on grass surfaces, 10 on natural grass and one on Prescription Athletic Turf. Florida State has PAT for its surface. PAT features sod planted in 12 inches of sand on other filler. Six inches below that are vacuum-pumped drainage pipes. When it rains, water seeps through the sand and is carried away. The grass can be watered from below by reversing the flow in the pipes. Florida State is one of 12 schools that have PAT fields.

There are 108 Division I schools this year. Fifty-seven have grass surfaces and 12 of those have PAT. Fifty-one schools have artificial surfaces. Six, including Georgia Tech, have All-Pro, two (Eastern Michigan and Tulsa) have StadiaTurf, four have OmniTurf (Missouri, Washington State, West Virginia and Oregon), three have SuperTurf (Northwestern, Oklahoma and Wisconsin) and 36 have AstroTurf (including 1993 Clemson opponent UNLV).

Tigerama

World's largest pep rally, this is one of the best examples of Clemson spirit. The Friday night before Homecoming about 40,000 people come to Memorial Stadium for a combination pep rally, beauty pageant, fireworks display and skit presentation. This is not to be confused with Barnyard Burn, which is something special for South Carolina home games. It involves a bon-fire that torches a chicken coop. It is held the Friday night prior to the South Carolina game and takes place in the parking lot outside the stadium.

Twins

The Clemson football team will feature the first identical twins combination in Tiger football history this year. Peter and Andy Ford will be first-year freshmen in 1993 and they are hopefuls in the Clemson secondary. Research has not uncovered any other twin brother combinations in Clemson football history.

The most famous twins in Clemson history are of course the Grants, Horace and Harvey, who collectively make more money in a year than it took to build the South upper deck of Memorial Stadium. Horace and Harvey were teammates on Cliff Ellis's first Tiger team (1984-85). Horace stayed all four years, while Harvey transferred to Oklahoma. Horace has been a common denominator on the Chicago Bulls three-peat.

The only other twin combination in Clemson history involved the Coakley family. Francis and George Coakley were teammates on the Clemson baseball and basketball teams between 1938-41.

Walker, Hank

Hank Walker holds the distinction of being the only football-swimming-tennis athlete in Clemson history. Walker was an outstanding receiver between 1946-47. In a 34-18 win over Auburn in 1947 Walker collected 10 receptions for 148 yards, the first player in Clemson history to have 10 receptions in a game and the 148 receiving yards also established a record at the time.

Walker had a truly fascinating career. He actually played college football for Clemson, South Carolina and Virginia. He enlisted in the Navy in 1943 and they sent him to South Carolina's ROTC program. He played against the Tigers that year. In 1944 he transferred to the Navy's ROTC program at Virginia and lettered in football, baseball and tennis. In 1945 he served in World War II.

When he completed his military commitment in 1946 he entered Clemson to earn degrees in textile engineering and textile management. The honor graduate received the Norris Medal, given annually to the most outstanding Clemson student in 1948. He went on to become president of Dundee Mills, Inc.

Weather

Every one of our major audiences for this press guide (fans, the media, recruits, coaches and administrators) are interest in the weather. We get a lot of calls from people making their first trip to Clemson for a football game and they want to be prepared. Well, if you are playing the percentages, prepare for a sunny day, about 70 degrees.

Over the last 14 years the average temperature for a Clemson home game has been 69 degrees. Of the 88 home games played during this time, the weather has been predominantly sunny 59 times. It has rained just six of the last 88 games at Death Valley, including none since 1988. Last year was probably the worst weather year at Clemson in some time as it was predominantly cloudy for five of the six games and the average temperature was just 62.83 degrees, the coolest since 1981 (62.67).

Overall, Clemson usually plays in good weather. The Tigers have had to play in the rain just 13 times in the last 14 years regardless of site. Only one year in the last 14 has it rained as many as three games. That took place in 1986 when it rained for consecutive Saturday games against N.C. State, Wake Forest and North Carolina.

It has not snowed for a Clemson game since 1936 when the Tigers played Furman. That is also the last time Furman beat Clemson. The most unusual weather for a Clemson game took place at the Georgia game in 1962. The temperature dropped 30 degrees between the beginning of the game and halftime and during intermission a hailstorm sent fans to cover. The second half was delayed 30 minutes to get the ice off the field.

Ken Hatfield

The Head Coach

Ken Hatfield

During his career, Ken Hatfield has shown his ability to win, regardless of the conference, the competition, or the program. He is one of only three active coaches to lead three different programs to top-20 seasons and is the only active Division I coach to gain 10-win seasons at three different schools. He has also ranked among the nation's elite in terms of overall winning percentage over the last decade, as his .750 winning percentage over the last 10 years ranks sixth among active coaches who have coached at Division I schools in each year of that time frame. His last 10 teams have competed in nine bowl games and he has produced seven top 20 clubs in the last decade.

When Hatfield took over the Clemson program prior to the 1990 season, he was faced with the challenge of continuing the tradition of excellence set in the eighties (only Nebraska and Miami had fewer losses in that time frame than Clemson). Hatfield has met the challenge, posting a 24-10-1 mark for the Tigers in his first three seasons, two top-20 finishes and the 1991 ACC Championship. The 1991 team was the first Tiger team since 1982 to have just one loss in regular season play.

The victory over Illinois in the 1991 Hall of Fame Bowl made Hatfield the first Clemson coach to win 10 games in his first year and his .833 winning percentage was the best for a first-year Clemson coach since 1900 when John Heisman was 6-0. The 1990 season included six wins over teams with winning records. Only national champion Georgia Tech had more.

Ken and Sandy Hatfield

Hatfield was just the eighth coach in the last 13 years to take a team to a Top 10 AP final ranking in his first year with the program.

But Hatfield's impressive debut at Clemson was no big surprise to those who have followed his career. He has enjoyed success throughout his involvement with the sport of football, as a player and coach.

As a player, he helped Arkansas face every challenge in 1964, when the Razorbacks had an 11-0 season and won the national title. As an assistant coach at Tennessee and Florida, he molded countless players into top-notch athletes who competed for Southeastern Conference titles, played in seven bowl games in a 10-year period, and ranked in the final top-20 five times. As a head coach, he took a dormant Air Force program to a number-13 national ranking and a pair of bowl wins. He continued to meet the challenges at Arkansas, his alma mater, guiding the Razorbacks to back-to-back Southwest Conference titles, something that had not been done at Arkansas since Hatfield was a player.

Hatfield has had five 10-win seasons in his career and has accomplished that task at three different schools. He is the only active coach and one of just two in the history of the game (Dan Devine is the other) to have taken three different schools to a 10-win season.

Hatfield has an overall record of 105-59-3 (.638), but he has won 75 percent of his games over the last 10 seasons (91-29-2). At Arkansas, he posted a record of 55-17-1 over six seasons, a .760 winning percentage. That percentage is second best in Southwest Conference history as only Darrell Royal (Texas 1957-76) had a better percentage.

The native of Helena, Arkansas, played in two bowl games with the Razorbacks, coached in seven post-season games as an assistant and the 1992 Citrus Bowl marked the 10th in which he has been the head coach. Seven times he has coached a team to a top 20 final ranking in the AP poll, and he played on two other top 15 teams.

Hatfield-coached clubs have excelled offensively and defensively, but they have been particularly successful in rushing offense and defense. Each of his last 11 teams have finished in the top 20 nationally in rushing offense, including eight top 10 finishes. This includes last year's team, which averaged 257 yards a game and ranked sixth nationally.

Two of his last four Arkansas teams

QUICK FACTS ON KEN HATFIELD

Born: June 6, 1943 in Helena, AR
Wife: Married the former Sandy Wright of Kennett, Missouri in 1969.

Coaching Experience: One year assistant at West Helena High School in Arkansas; two years as freshman coach at Army; three years as assistant coach at Tennessee; seven years as assistant coach at Florida; one year as Offensive Coordinator at Air Force; five years as Head Coach at Air Force; six years as Head Coach at Arkansas; 4th year as Head Coach at Clemson.

finished in the top three in the country in turnover margin, including his 1988 team that was first in the nation (Clemson was second that same year). Defensively, his clubs have finished in the top 15 in the nation in rushing defense six of the last seven years. The Tigers were ranked first in the nation in total defense, second in rushing defense, and second in scoring defense at the end of the 1990 regular season.

Clemson ranked first in the nation in rushing defense and fourth in total defense in the 1991 season.

Hatfield has coached in four major conferences and with independent schools, giving him a diverse background in the finer points of the game. It is one reason he was named the third best teaching coach in college football by Inside Sports Magazine in 1990.

Hatfield began his coaching career immediately after graduation. In the fall of 1965, he served as an assistant coach at Helena-West Helena High School in Arkansas. In 1966, he moved to West Point, where he served as freshman coach for two seasons.

After the two-year stint at Army, he served as an assistant coach at Tennessee for three years (1968-70). The Volunteers went to post-season bowls all three seasons (including two major bowls), won a conference title and ranked in the final top 20 of the AP poll all three seasons, including a number-four ranking in 1970.

*Denotes Conference Champion

Note: 1964 Arkansas team named National Champs by Football Writers Association.

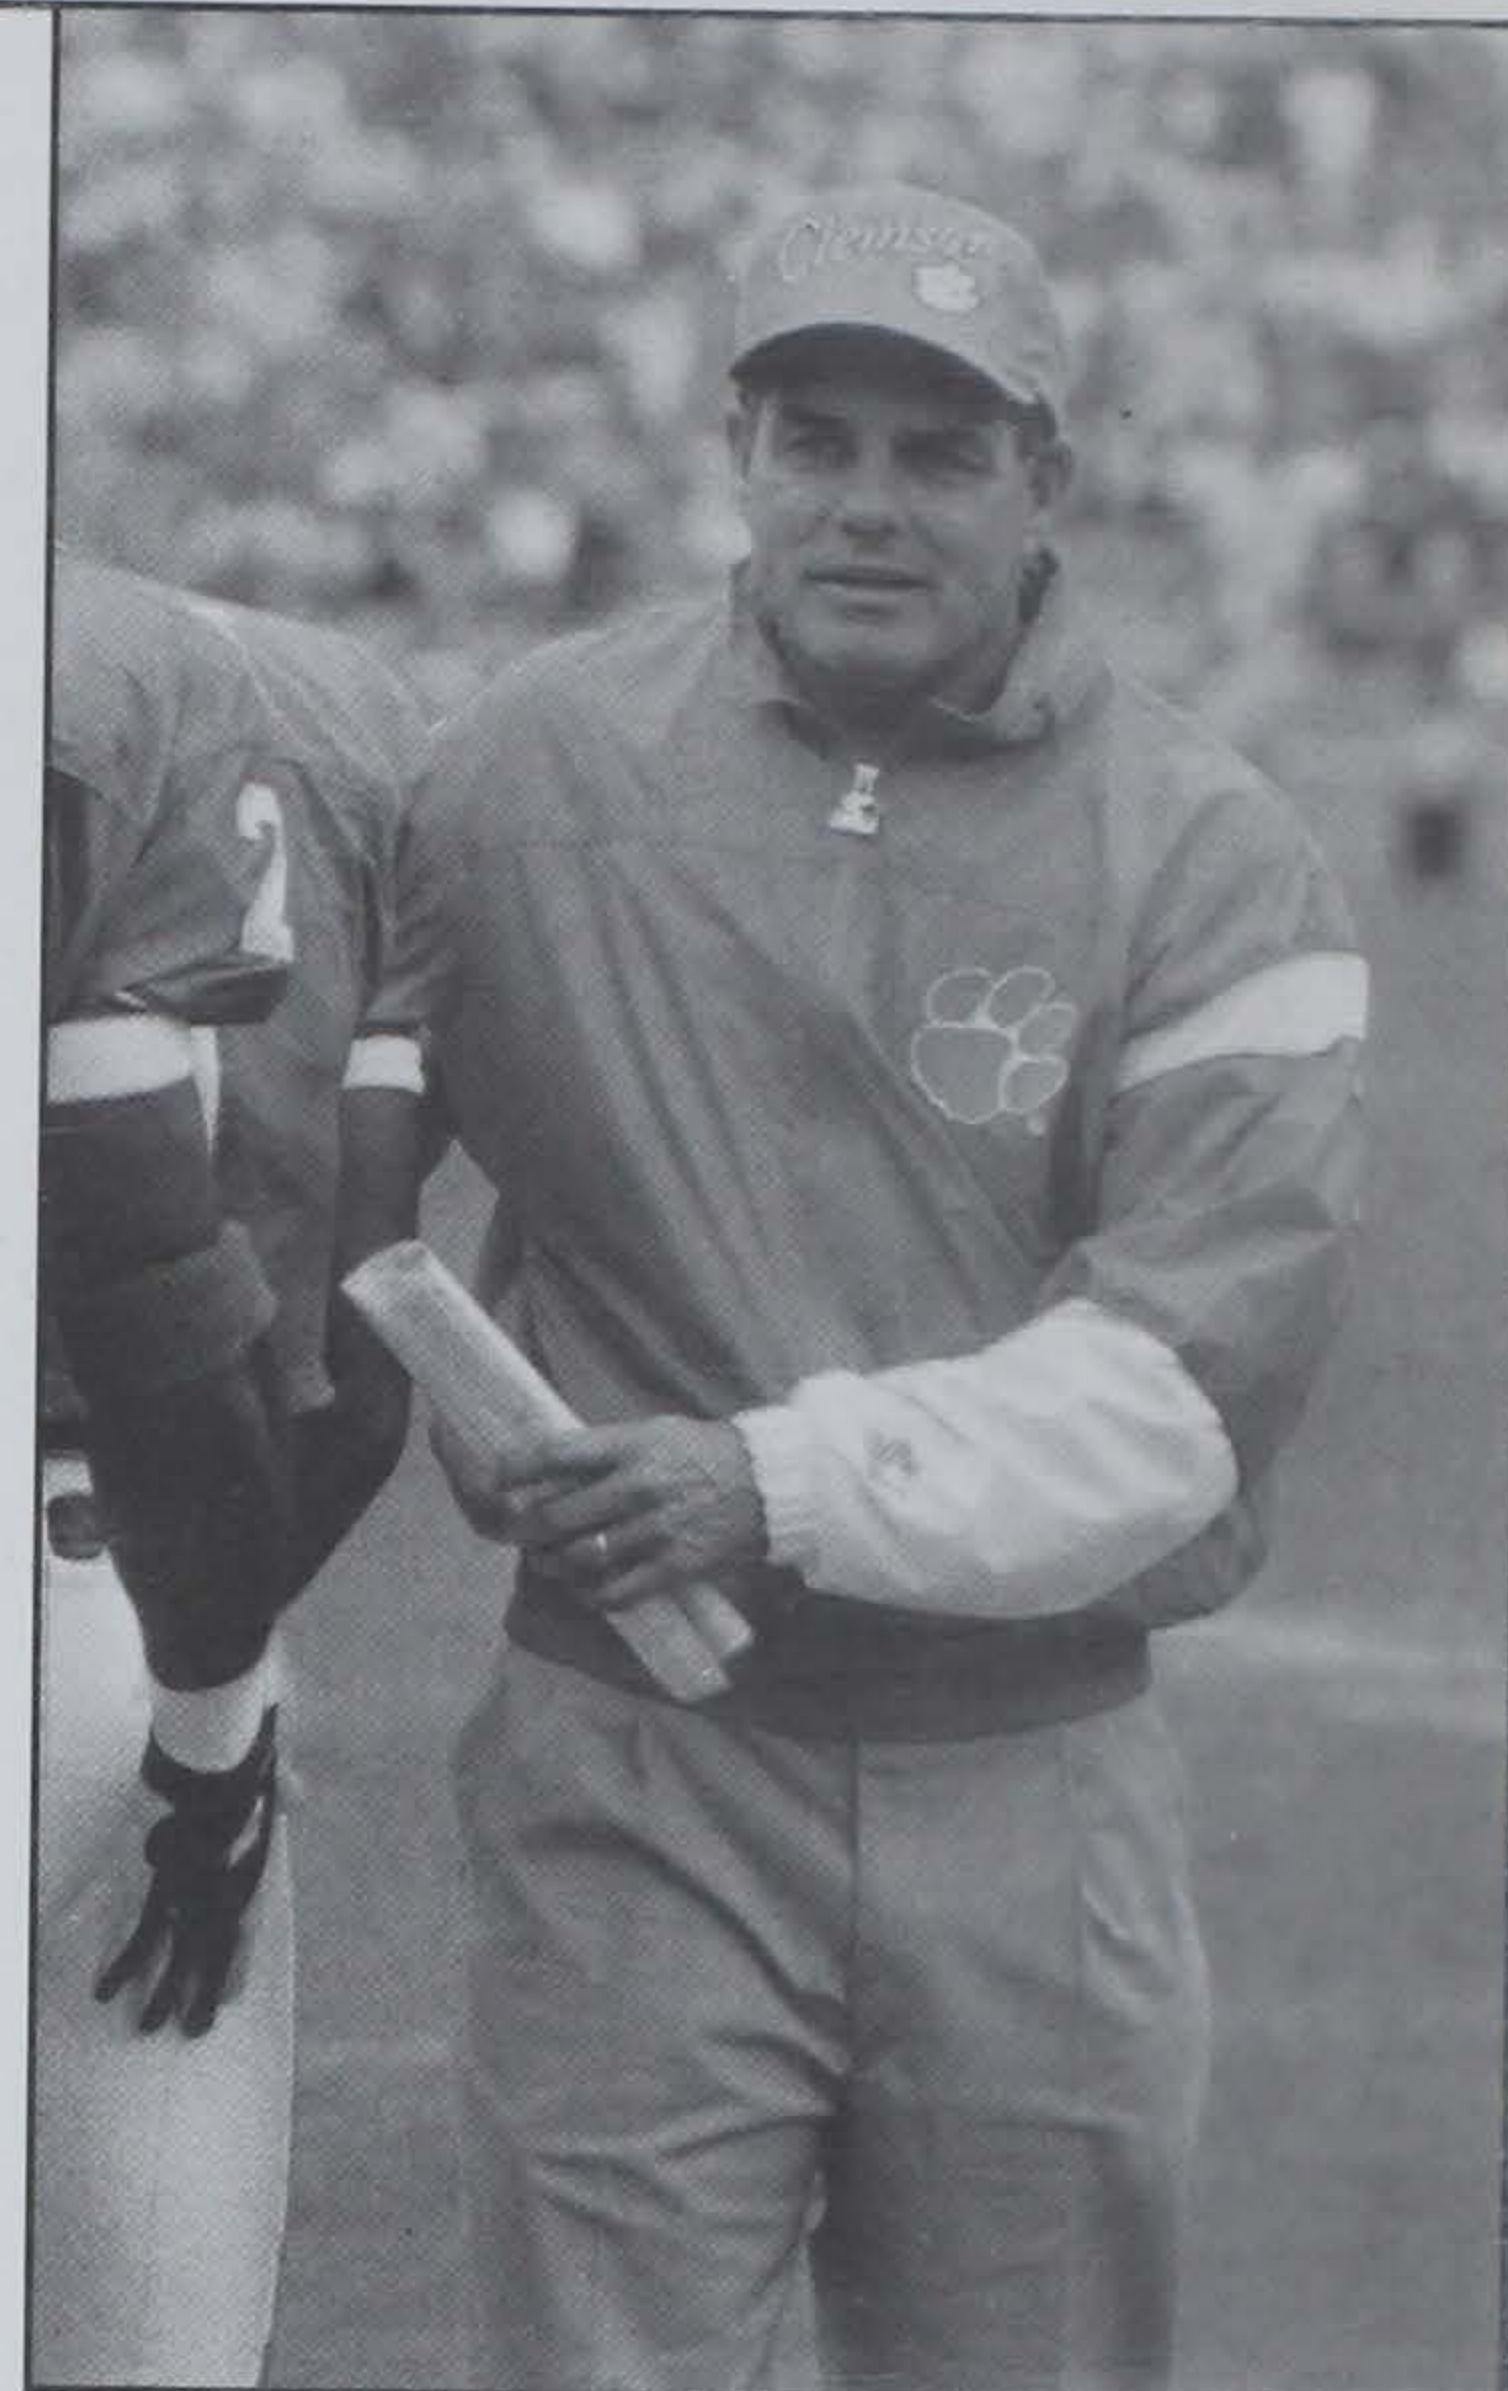

In 1971, Hatfield began a seven-year stint at the University of Florida, spending four seasons as a defensive backfield coach and three as an offensive backfield mentor. Florida played in four bowl games during his career in Gainesville and two more Gator teams finished in the AP top 20, including the 1974 team that played Nebraska in the Sugar Bowl.

Hatfield became offensive coordinator at the Air Force Academy under current New England Patriots Head Coach Bill Parcells in 1978. A year later, Parcells was wooed to the New York Giants and Hatfield became the Falcons' head coach. The Air Force program had not had a winning season since 1973. But by his fourth season, Hatfield had an eight-game winner, led Air Force to its first-ever victory over Notre Dame, and had taken the Falcons to a post-season bowl for the first time since 1971.

In 1983, Hatfield was named national Coach-of-the-Year by the Football Coaches Association (Bobby Dodd Award) after leading Air Force to a 10-2 season that included wins over Notre Dame, Navy and a bowl victory over Mississippi. It was the Academy's first-ever win over Notre Dame in South Bend.

The next year, Hatfield succeeded Lou Holtz at Arkansas, where he would take his alma mater to 55 wins in six seasons, six bowl appearances and four final top-15 rankings. His 1985 club finished with a 10-2 mark and number-12 national ranking, the Razorbacks' first Top 20 finish since 1982. Four times the Razorbacks rallied from fourth quarter deficits to gain victory.

The 1986 campaign was another year of success with highlight victories over a nationally ranked Texas A&M club and the Razorbacks' first win in 20 years at Texas. Arkansas advanced to the Orange Bowl and finished 15th in the final AP poll.

Hatfield is the only active Division I coach and one of just two in the history of the game to take three different programs to a 10-win season.

Arkansas won the 1988 and 1989 Southwest Conference Championship. He was named Southwest Conference Coach-of-the-Year in 1988 as he took the Razorbacks to the league title and a 10-0 start. Miami (FL) defeated Arkansas 18-16 in the Orange Bowl to stop the streak. Seven players off the 1988 club (all recruited by Hatfield) were drafted by the NFL, an Arkansas single draft record.

After the 1989 team's 10-2 ledger and second straight SWC championship, Hatfield was named Southwest Conference Coach-of-the-Decade by the Houston Post. Included in the victories was a triumph over a top-15 Houston team and Heisman Trophy winner Andre Ware.

Hatfield played for three years at Arkansas (1962-64) and he was a starter on the National Championship team of

Hatfield in Exclusive Company

Clemson coach Ken Hatfield has shown over the years that he can lead a program to success in a short period of time. Even though he has been coaching only since 1979, Hatfield has already taken three different schools to final top 20 seasons. The fourth-year Clemson coach is one of just six coaches in NCAA history to take three different programs to a top 20 AP final ranking. He has led Air Force, Arkansas and Clemson to top 15 finishes. Lou Holtz and Bill Mallory, now at Indiana, have also taken three different schools to top 20 finishes.

Hatfield led the nation in punt returns in 1963 and 1964.

1964. A defensive back by trade, he earned his fame as the nation's top punt returner in 1963 and 1964. He also finished as the runner-up as a sophomore and is still the only college football player to finish in the top two in the nation in punt returns three straight seasons.

His most memorable play took place against Texas in 1964 when he raced 81 yards with a punt return for a touchdown in Arkansas' thrilling 14-13 victory. It was the key victory in the Razorbacks' championship season. Altogether, Hatfield scored five TDs via punt returns in his career, including an Arkansas record 95-yard return against Tulsa in 1963.

An accounting major who earned his diploma in the spring of 1965, Hatfield was an Academic All-American in 1964 and was the recipient of the Swartz Award, presented annually to the top student-athlete at Arkansas. The 1964 All-SWC selection was inducted into the Arkansas Sports Hall of Fame in 1989. He is married to the former Sandy Wright of Kennett, Missouri.

The mission of Vickery Hall is to function as a comprehensive support system to address the various transitional needs of student-athletes and in turn, give each individual the opportunity to make the most out of his or her college experience.

Clemson University's commitment to provide its student-athletes with the very best of facilities is evident in many ways. From the soaring upper decks of Memorial Stadium, to the state-of-the-art strength training facility, young men and women from all 18 of Clemson's varsity sports have the very best in facilities for training and competition. Vickery Hall is no exception, as the $3 million structure is as impressive aesthetically as any of the other facilities. But the importance of Vickery Hall to the Clemson University Athletic Department is not found in the structure itself, but in the many programs that the building houses.

Vickery Hall opened in the spring of 1991 and is the first facility in the nation originally constructed for the purposes of meeting the comprehensive needs of student-athletes. The two-story, 27,000-square-foot building is open throughout the day and into the evening to accommodate the extended schedules of student-athletes, and consolidates a variety of academic services for their use.

The philosophy behind Vickery Hall is to provide the Clemson student-athlete with a program that will meet his or her needs academically, in personal growth and development, and with career assistance. Vickery Hall is tangible evidence that, at Clemson, the athletic department has made a commitment to make the student-athlete's total experience a rewarding one, even after he or she enters the professional world.

"Vickery Hall is one of the most important facilities the Clemson University Athletic Department has ever built or will ever build. It makes a philosophical statement about the institutional commitment - giving our student-athletes the same opportunity to achieve their full potential academically that we give them athletically. We're very serious about that," said Athletic Director Bobby Robinson.

Given the time pressures of athletic participation and practice, student athletes face a difficult balancing act in trying to perform well both on the playing field and in the classroom. With respect to this, Clemson's Student-Athletic Enrichment Services (SAES), has provided one of the best academic support and advising programs in the nation over the last several years. The completion of Vickery Hall gives SAES an even greater opportunity to help student-athletes reach the short-term goal of graduation and the long-term goal of success in the world. The facility is open throughout the day and into the evening to accommodate the extended schedules of the student-athlete.

Vickery Hall is located in the mainstream of east campus, behind Jordan Hall at the top of Bryan Mall. The main entrance to the building is a 1,570-square foot reception/office area, comprised of five advisors' offices, two graduate student offices, and a conference room. Also located on the bottom floor is the office of Bill D'Andrea, the director of Clemson's student-athlete enrichment program.

Vickery Hall operates under the guidelines and policies of the university and the center's staff adheres strictly to the rules and ethical conduct standards of the university. In addition to the director, the staff also consists of six full-time advisors, two graduate assistants, and 50 tutors.

The building also boasts a 175-seat auditorium to be used for classes, team meetings, review sessions, and seminars. The various speakers and lecturers who come to work with Clemson student-athletes as part of the student-enrichment program also use this facility. The auditorium is equipped with a projection booth and state-of-the-art audio and video equipment and will be available to other campus groups when not in use by Student-Athletic Enrichment.

Vickery Hall was dedicated in the fall of 1991.

Another area of the main floor, the computer resources area, consists of a general computer tutoring room and a computer science tutoring room. The computer room contains 30 personal computers for hands-on computer tutoring, word processing and other general uses.

The 13,000-square-foot study and tutoring area on the second floor comprises the majority of the center. This area contains 11 classrooms and 28 tutorial rooms, including a large 65-seat study room and nine 20-seat study rooms, which are designed as classrooms with freestanding desks.

Computing Facilities

The Department of Student-Athlete Enrichment Services has recognized the need for students to have access to high-quality computing equipment and has made a commitment to providing the student-athletes at Clemson with such equipment.

Located on the first floor of Vickery Hall is the Department of Student-Athlete Enrichment Services Microcomputer Laboratory. The lab is open six days a week, for 16 hours a day on Monday through Thursday.

The lab staff consists of mostly graduate students, many of whom are pursuing advanced degrees in computer science. Lab staff members are available for tutoring of any Computer Science course as well as the many management, engineering and business courses that deal with personal computers. Student-athletes may also arrange tutoring sessions outside normal lab hours any time during the school year.

Computers in the lab can reach many of the other machines on campus, including the NAS mainframe, and are in turn, connected to a world-wide internetwork, allowing lab machines to access computing resources throughout the world. This also allows access to lab resources from computers throughout the world.

The following is a list of some of the equipment available:

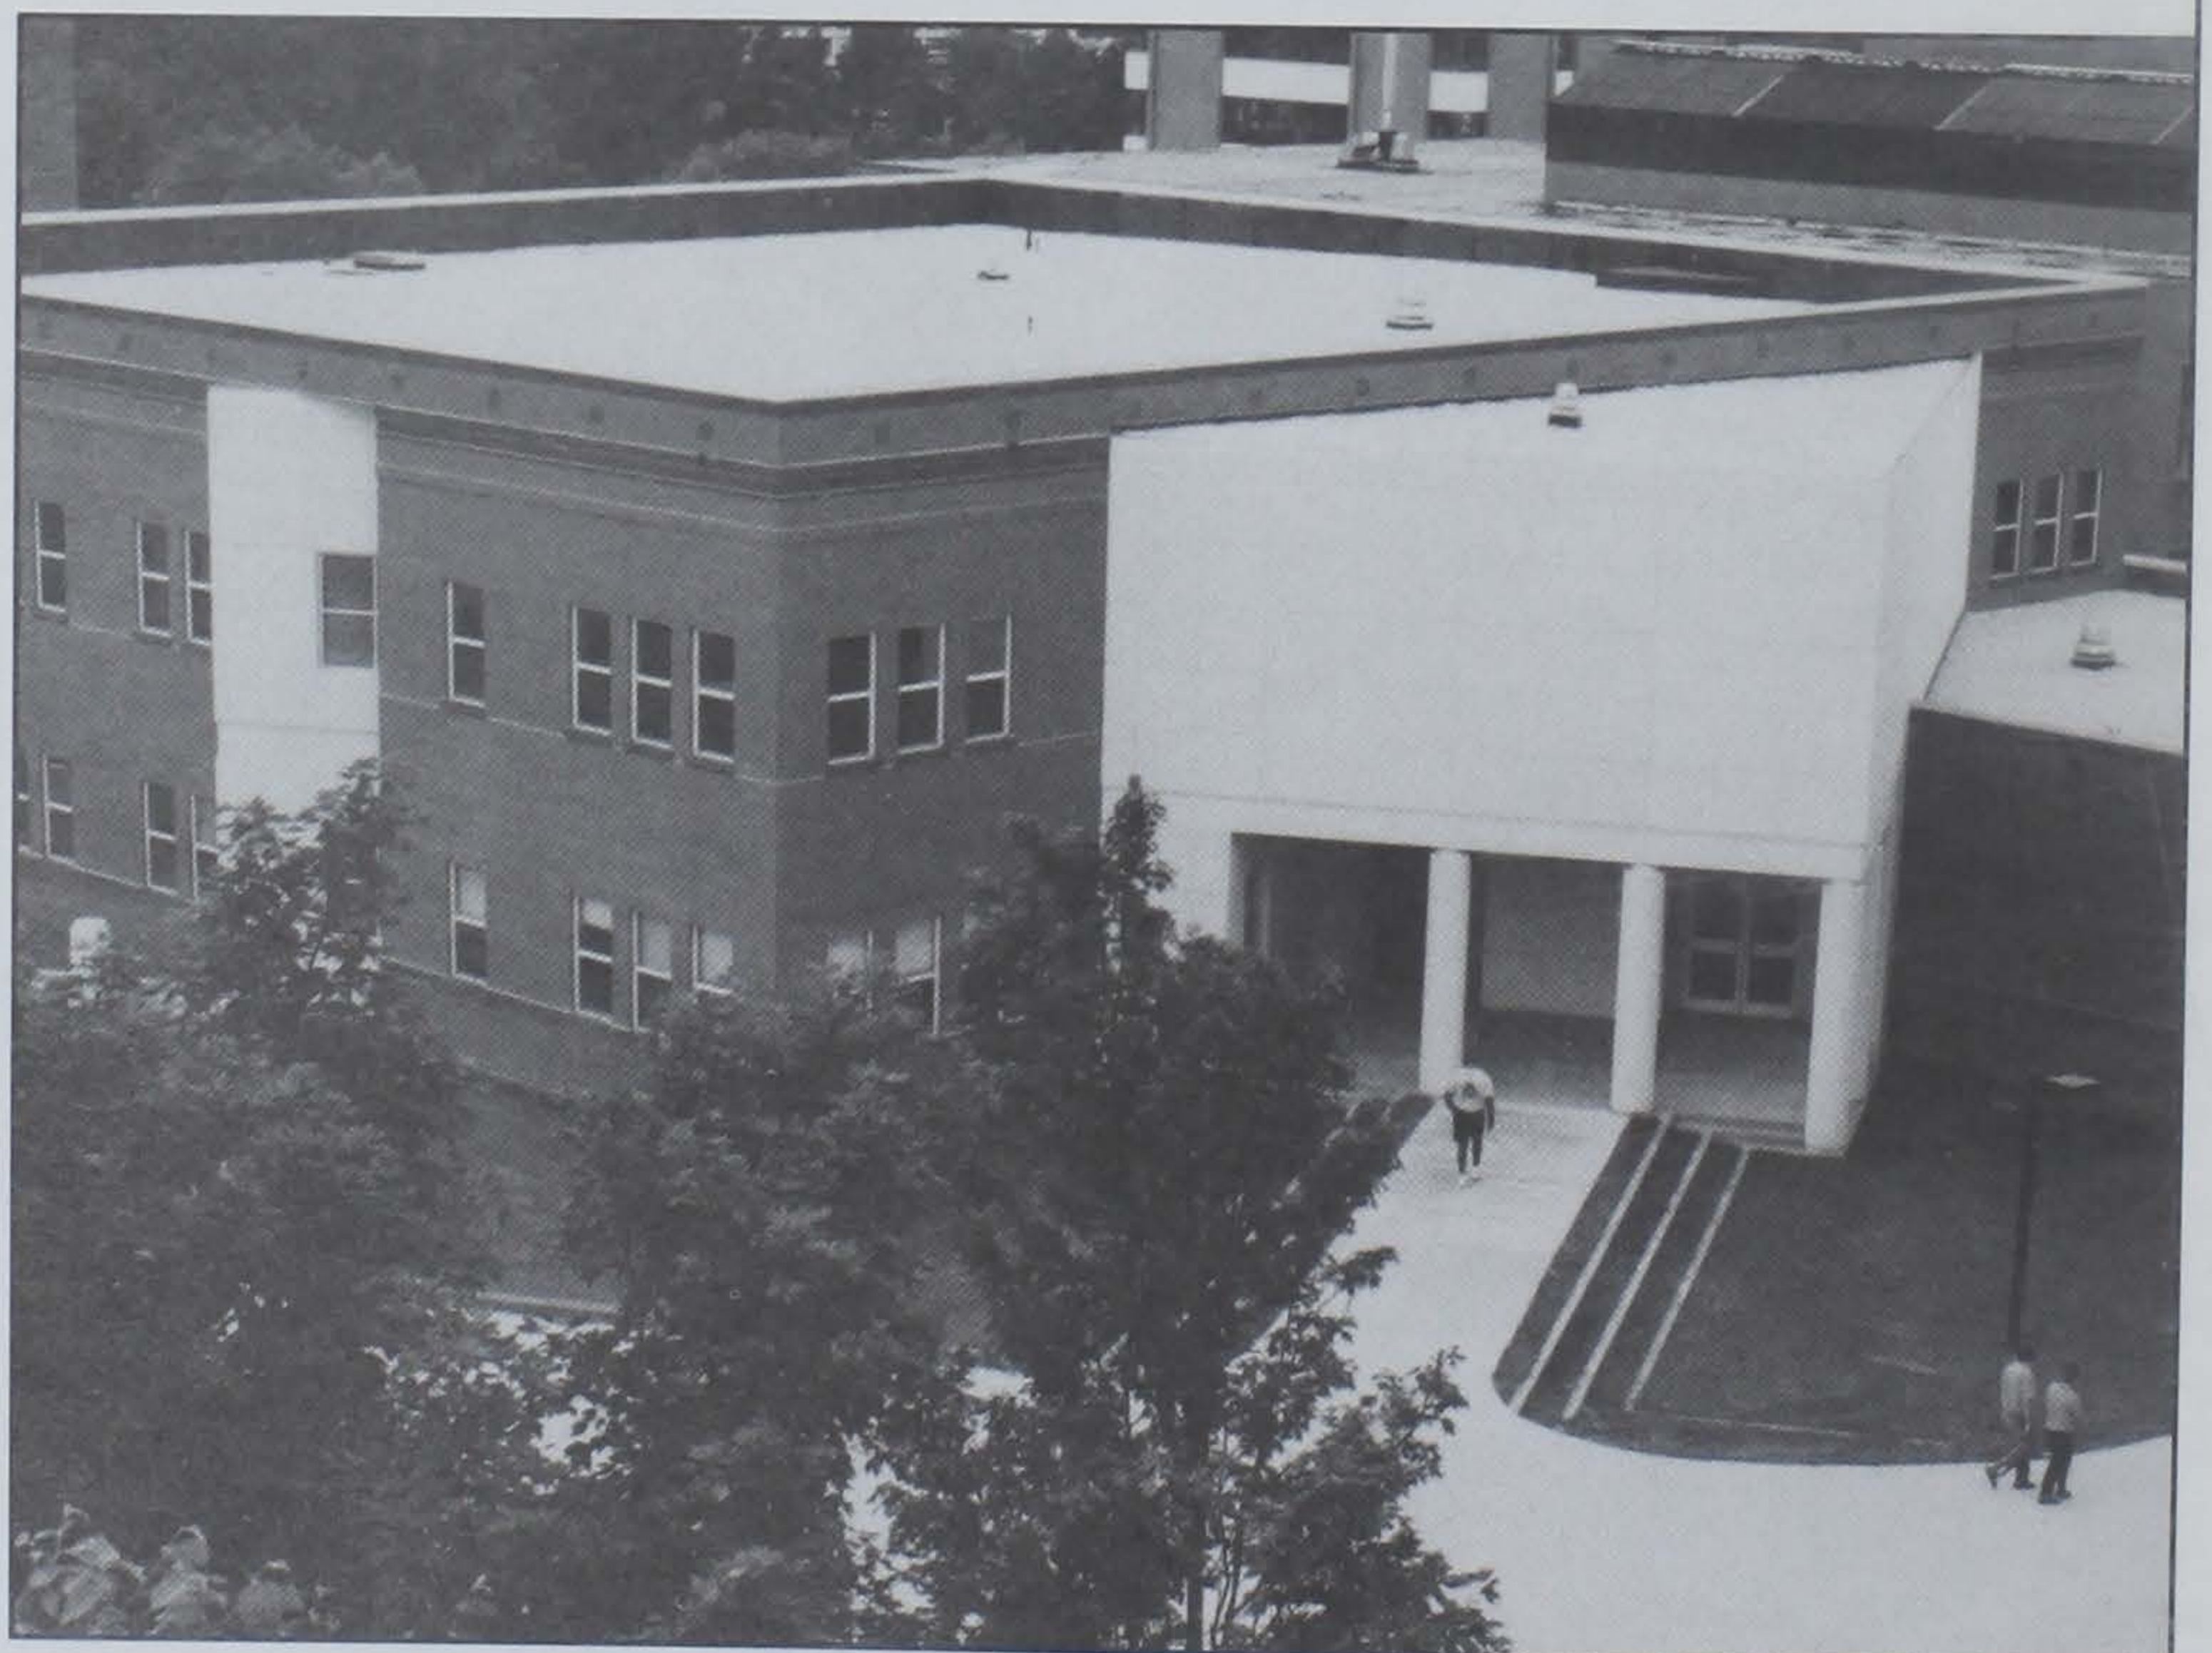

- * 18 Macintosh personal computers
- * 15 IBM personal computers
- * 5 Laser Printers
- * 2 Novell Network Servers

(allows users to access and share files from different computers around campus.)

Student-Athlete Career Assistance Program

The Student-Athlete Career Assistance Program is one of the most important programs provided by the staff of Vickery Hall. The philosophy of this program is to provide help in securing summer employment and to aid in meeting long-term career goals.

By using the resources available to the University, Alumni Center and the Athletic Department, Bill D'Andrea is working to establish a network of businesses, companies, and executives who will help assist with The Summer Employment Assistance Program. The program's main goal is to provide the student-athlete with a job experience and a work history, which he or she can apply to his or her academic discipline.

Vickery Hall has 27,000 square feet and 28 tutorial rooms.

The Long Term Career Assistance Program will be coordinated from the academic colleges, the Placement Center, and through the Athletic Department contacts. This program is designed to better prepare the student-athlete for full-time employment and will focus on resume writing and interview techniques so that each student-athlete will be competitive and aggressive when dealing with companies who visit the Clemson campus.

Personal Growth Program

Another aspect of Clemson University's commitment to help student-athletes reach their potential in all areas of their life - academically, athletically, and socially, is the recently implemented personal growth program. This program is one of the many purposes of the Vickery Hall. This particular area of student development is designed to enhance and support the lives of student-athletes during their enrollment in college as well as in their life experiences after graduation.

Bobby Douglas, the Development Coordinator, and Vickery Hall staff realize that student-athletes have more obligations than a regular college student. The personal growth program seeks to eliminate some of the stresses of adjustment to the higher level of academics and athletics. It is the groups special task to assist the student-athlete by creating a finely tuned balance of all areas to insure success in obtaining a Clemson University degree, by supporting successful athletic practice and competition, enhancing personal growth, and helping with the transition to life after college.

A series of personal growth programs will be offered to student-athletes throughout each semester. Some programs may accomplish their objectives in one session, while others may be ongoing throughout the academic year. Some of the personal growth programs are as follows:

Freshman Success:

This program will seek to make the freshman's adjustment to college life easier by covering many areas of adjustment to university life.

Alcohol and Drug Issues:

The intent of this program is to provide the student-athlete with an overview of the disease of addictions and chemical dependence. Emphasis will be placed on providing basic awareness of how substance abuse effects individuals, families and athletic teams.

Current Topics of Concern:

The idea behind this segment of the Personal Growth Plan is to address issues that effect students such as human sexuality, birth control, date rape, etc.

Career Preparation:

The Career Preparation Plan is to encourage all student-athletes to think about life after sports and after graduation. Many sources of information will be available, from career testing to self-paced computer programs, and even with resume preparation and interview skills.

Nutrition and Eating Disorders:

Eating habits and proper diet are very important in maintaining a sound body and mind. The focus of this program revolves around presenting information so that student-athletes can analyze their own eating habits and carefully choose a balanced diet with enough calories to maintain good health.

Choosing a Major:

This is an important aspect of educational life. This program is designed to help student-athletes make the right choice of major in respect to their career goals.

Personal Finance:

Student-athletes on athletic scholarships are not allowed to have jobs during the academic year. Therefore, it is important to budget personal finances so they do not run out before the semester. This program not only discusses budgeting but also the responsible use of credit.

Stress Management:

All student-athletes face additional concerns during their college days than normal students. Many times these add stress to the everyday lives of student-athletes. The object of this program is to teach the student-athlete ways of identifying and handling personal stress so it does not interfere with the maintenance of good mental and physical health.

Interpersonal Communication:

Communication is necessary in all areas of life to improve happiness, instill contentment and enhance success. Programs dealing with interpersonal communication will involve improvement of listening skills, verbal skills and learning respect for the feelings and emotions of others.

Clemson University was begun because of one man's dream. Thomas Green Clemson, renowned statesman and scientist, believed that education was the key to improving the quality of life for South Carolinians. He was convinced that a college, dedicated to agricultural and scientific instruction, would help his state overcome the economic turmoil caused by the Civil War and Reconstruction. Mr. Clemson left property and money to the state of South Carolina for the college he envisioned.

The doors to Clemson Agricultural College formally opened in 1893 with 446 students, 15 faculty members, one dormitory, and three classroom and administrative buildings. The college quickly became an important member of the national system of state universities and land-grant colleges. In 1955, the college changed from military to civilian status for students and became coeducational. In 1964, because of the college's expanded academic offerings and research pursuits, the Legislature formally changed the college's name to Clemson University.

Today, Clemson's 1,400-acre campus successfully combines modern academic and service structures with glimpses of the University's past. The university represents an insured value of approximately $622 million in academic and administrative buildings; student, staff and faculty housing; athletic and service facilities; and equipment. The campus is situated on what was once Fort Hill Plantation, the homestead of Thomas Green Clemson and before him that of his father-in-law, John C. Calhoun. Landmarks such as Fort Hill, the former home of the Clemsons and Calhouns, Tillman Hall with its clocktower, the statue of Thomas Green Clemson and the outdoor theatre all help retain the air of tradition.

The campus is surrounded by almost 17,000 acres of University Farms and woodlands devoted to research in forestry, agriculture, and agricultural engineering. In addition, 12,390 acres throughout the state are used in Agricultural Experiment Station Research and 4-H Club work, for a total of 30,790 acres. The university also owns overseas acreage for the purpose of teaching and research in Genoa, Italy, at the Charles Daniel Center for Building Research and Urban Studies, and on the Caribbean island of Dominica at the Archbold Tropical Research Center.

The Clemson Student

In a recent survey conducted by the American Council on Education, the majority of Clemson students cited the University's academic reputation as the major influence in their decision to enroll here. That reputation for excellence is reflected in the academic quality of Clemson students.

A little more than 36 percent of Clemson's 1991 freshmen ranked in the top tenth of their high school class. Sixty-one percent were in the top fifth. The average Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) scores for Clemson freshmen are more than 100 points above the national average for college-bound students. This means that a Clemson student's classmates provide stimulation, challenge and excitement.

Employers and professional schools have long been aware of the high quality of a Clemson education, and they actively recruit graduates. The liberal arts education Clemson offers is widely recognized for its emphasis on preparing students to succeed in a world where rapid change transforms every challenge into an opportunity.

A Clemson graduate is prepared for the world of today and tomorrow, with his or her own individual strengths, enhanced by an outstanding education from a nationally respected university. In a world that measures the educational quality of an institution by its instructional programs, distinguished faculty, major research and comprehensive facilities, Clemson measures up by all standards.

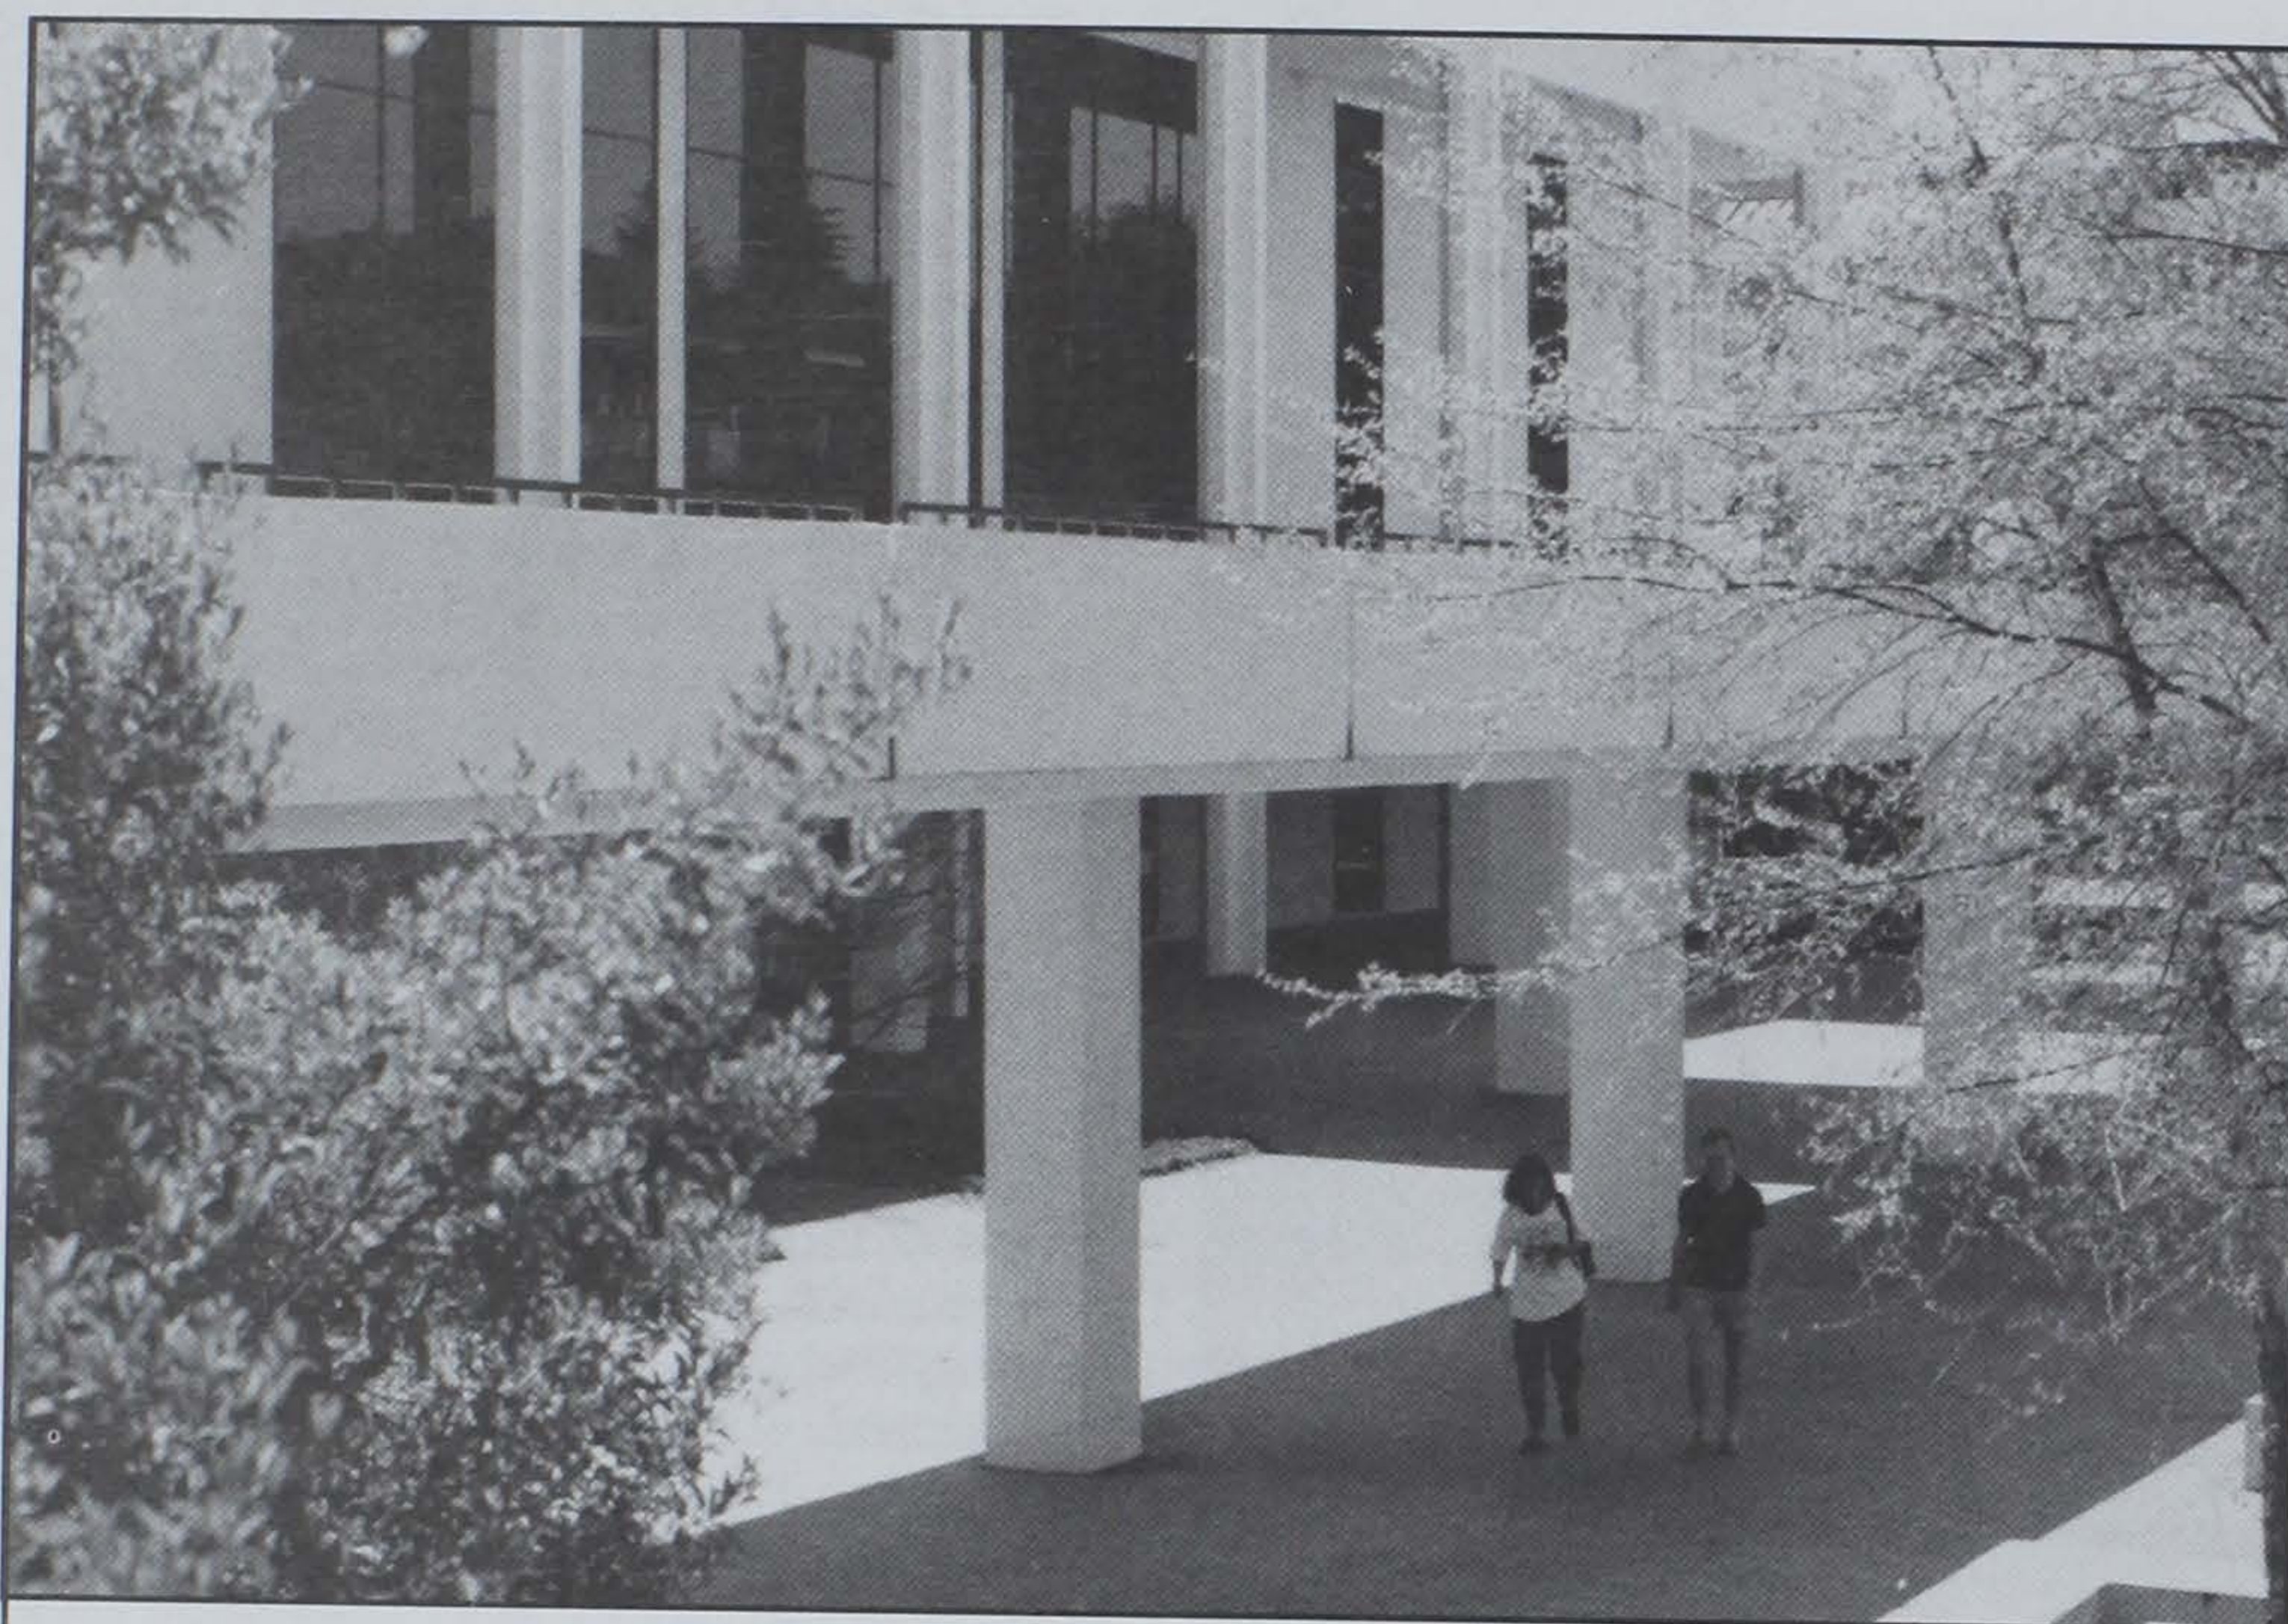

Clemson students represent 49 states and 74 foreign countries. The University has students from many different cultural and ethnic backgrounds. This diversity has enriched the educational opportunities for the entire campus and community. Over 17,000 students are enrolled at Clemson. Of the 13,000-plus undergraduates, 71 percent are South Carolinians. The overall ratio of men to women is about three-to-two.

The Clemson Education

Clemson offers 72 undergraduate programs and 70 graduate programs through nine academic colleges. These colleges include Agricultural Sciences, Architecture, Commerce and Industry, Education, Engineering, Forest and Recreation Resources, Liberal Arts, Nursing, and Sciences. In the land-grant tradition, scientific, technological, business and agricultural courses are predominant at Clemson, balanced by curricula designed to promote an appreciation of the humanities and a familiarity with the economic, political and social environment beyond the classroom.

The Honors Program at Clemson, Calhoun College, was organized in 1962, and is the oldest and largest honors program in the state. Approximately 150 honors courses are offered each semester in all nine colleges.

Classes at Clemson are demanding, with many academic programs receiving national recognition for excellence. A few Clemson programs are not offered anywhere else in the state or region. Clemson is the only institution in South Carolina where you can earn a degree in architecture, ceramic engineering and forest management, and it offers the only university-level programs in textiles and agriculture. In the entire Southeast, only Clemson offers a curriculum in packaging science.

Clemson University is fully accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and holds professional accreditation in many specific areas.

The Clemson Faculty

The faculty at Clemson represents wide academic interests and diverse backgrounds. As a group, however, they share a commitment to teaching and a genuine interest in the success of their students. Clemson's student-to-faculty ratio of 16-to-1 gives the faculty the opportunity to get to know many of their students on a one-to-one basis. They use the classroom and laboratory as environments to cultivate critical thinking, problem solving, creative learning and self-development.

Clemson's faculty is international in composition, representing more than 500 institutions, with a reputation for excellence in teaching, research and scholarship. Eighty-two percent hold earned doctoral degrees, and many have achieved special academic recognition. Many have also been honored by colleagues and students as master teachers for their excellence in the classroom and by the Outstanding Educators of America.

Once a student is enrolled at Clemson, he or she is assigned a faculty adviser in his or her chosen curriculum who will be available to help with class scheduling and academic counseling.

Clemson faculty members are active outside the classroom as well, editing professional journals, chairing international conferences and symposia, sitting on boards of professional and curriculum registration, and serving as active members of national and international learned societies.

Many faculty members are licensed, practicing professionals with years of work experience in their fields. Some of their experience is international, with individuals serving as advisers to the United Nations and foreign governments. At home, Clemson professors are consultants to local, state and national government, business, industry and education.

Clemson employs 4,222 people on a full-time basis. Of these, 1,249 hold academic rank. In addition, the University has 4,805 part-time employees, including 3,354 students and 335 classified employees.

Through the efforts of its faculty, Clemson has become a leader among the nation's research institutions. In research spending, Clemson ranks among the top 100 universities in the country. In 1991-92 expenditures for organized research and sponsored programs at the University totaled $85,106,233 and that figure should increase significantly in 1993-94. The University experienced more than a 43 percent growth in dollars awarded through grants and contracts during the fiscal year 1989-90. Approximately 20 percent of that highly competitive funding was provided from a private sector, an indication of the confidence that American industry places in Clemson researchers.

The Clemson Facilities

Although money alone does not ensure academic excellence, the facilities to support and enhance learning activities can make the difference in the overall quality of a college education.

The Robert Muldrow Cooper Library sits at the heart of the Clemson campus, both physically and symbolically. One of the major learning resource facilities in the Southeast, it houses more than 1,400,000 volumes and 7,000 serial titles. The library also offers computer-based bibliographic search and interlibrary loan services with a professional staff to help answer your questions and enable you to get the most benefit from its materials. Special collections include the papers of such prominent South Carolinians as John C. Calhoun, Thomas Green Clemson, Strom Thurmond, and James F. Byrnes.

A cornerstone of the university is its computer facilities. Clemson's computer center, which supports student course work and research in all disciplines, is also used by government and industry. The center provides general computing services on a network. Remote sites housing more than 1,600 terminals and 600 microcomputers are conveniently located in many different areas of the campus. International and national telephone modem access is also available.

All students are assigned a user identification code when they enroll, which allows them to use the various mainframe applications such as electronic mail, job placement service, library card catalog and information databases, and housing and course registration.

Among other outstanding facilities are the Center for Semiconductor Reliability Research and the Center for Automated Manufacturing, both high technology laboratories housing state-of-the-art equipment. Biological and material research is enhanced by one of the nation's most versatile electron microscope facilities. An outdoor laboratory provides students practical experience in administering camping programs for special populations, and a 17,000-acre Experimental Forest supports environmental research.

By the year 2001, there will be $100 million in new buildings on the Clemson campus that were not there in 1990. The new $3 million Vickery Hall is already operational and the new 600-bed apartment style Lightsey Bridge apartments on East Campus are also open.

Ground has been broken on the $12.8 million Brooks Performing Arts Center. This facility will include offices for the performing arts department, as well as rehearsal and performance space for Tiger Band and the concert band, the Clemson Players and other student performance groups.

The Office of Career Services and Placement can help with planning and finding summer and full-time employment. The office assists in career counseling and planning, searching for a job, preparing resumes and job interview strategies. Resources include staff expertise, books, videotapes and literature provided by companies and agencies. Clemson has developed one of the best automated placement systems in the country, allowing students to research employers and sign up for interviews from any mainframe computer terminals on campus.

The Office of Career Services doesn't focus just on seniors; it serves all students and alumni. Clemson students have access to interest tests and interactive computer programs that help them explore their career interests. Also, if incoming freshmen are unsure about which major to choose, the Career Center can offer information on career choices, testing and interpretation for career direction. Career Counselors will even help students with study techniques and self development.

Recent surveys of Clemson graduates show that about 23 percent find their jobs from interviewing on campus and another 10 percent were working with their employers when they graduated. Six months after graduation, fewer than two percent of Clemson graduates who wanted to work were still looking for a job.

The Clemson Experience

In addition to an outstanding faculty and outstanding facilities, Clemson University also offers its students a wide variety of chances to broaden cultural and social horizons, develop leadership skills and sometimes, just have fun!

More than 260 student organizations are active at Clemson, including 17 social fraternities and 12 social sororities. There are organizations related to every course of study - groups such as the Accounting Club, the Society of Women Engineers and the American Institute of Architects. For students who enjoy writing or photography, the Tiger, the campus newspaper; TAPS, the University yearbook; or the Chronicle, the student variety magazine, are available. There is also a student-operated radio station, WSBF-FM, broadcasting news, information and music 24 hours a day.

For musically inclined students, Clemson offers "The Band That Shakes the Southland" - Tiger Band, the Symphonic Band, Jazz Ensemble, Pep Band, University Chorus, Gospel Choir, CU After Six, and the Chamber Singers. Clemson's award winning theatrical group, the Clemson Players, presents several productions each year.

Student government gives students the opportunity to influence campus policy, while the University Union provides a place for fun and games, including lounges, bowling alleys, video games, billiard tables, and Edgar's, the campus entertainment center.

Clemson students can also enjoy fine recreational facilities at Fike Recreation Center, which includes an eight-lane swimming pool, a diving tank, indoor and outdoor tennis courts, and gyms and equipment for activities such as weightlifting, basketball and aerobics. Clemson also offers an extensive intramural program.

Interesting Facts About Clemson University

✓ Clemson owns its own rain forest "laboratory" - on the Caribbean island of Dominica, the site of the Archbold Tropical Research Center.

✓ Clemson's Science and Technology Entrance Program (STEP) was named one of the top retention programs in the United States at the 1990 National Conference on Student Retention in Washington, D.C. STEP offers conditional enrollment and academic support to students who want to study subjects that are part of Clemson's land-grant mission but who fall just below the requirements for regular admission.

✓ Clemson University has the oldest and largest college honors program in South Carolina (Calhoun College).

✓ Clemson University has the most successful athletic fund-raising organization in the nation (IPTAY).

✓ Clemson is one of just six sites in the U.S. where school teachers can learn the reading intervention system known as reading recovery.

✓ The first robot able to walk like a human was invented by professors at Clemson University.

✓ The only person ever elected to the U.S. Senate by write-in votes (Senator Strom Thurmond) is a graduate of Clemson University.

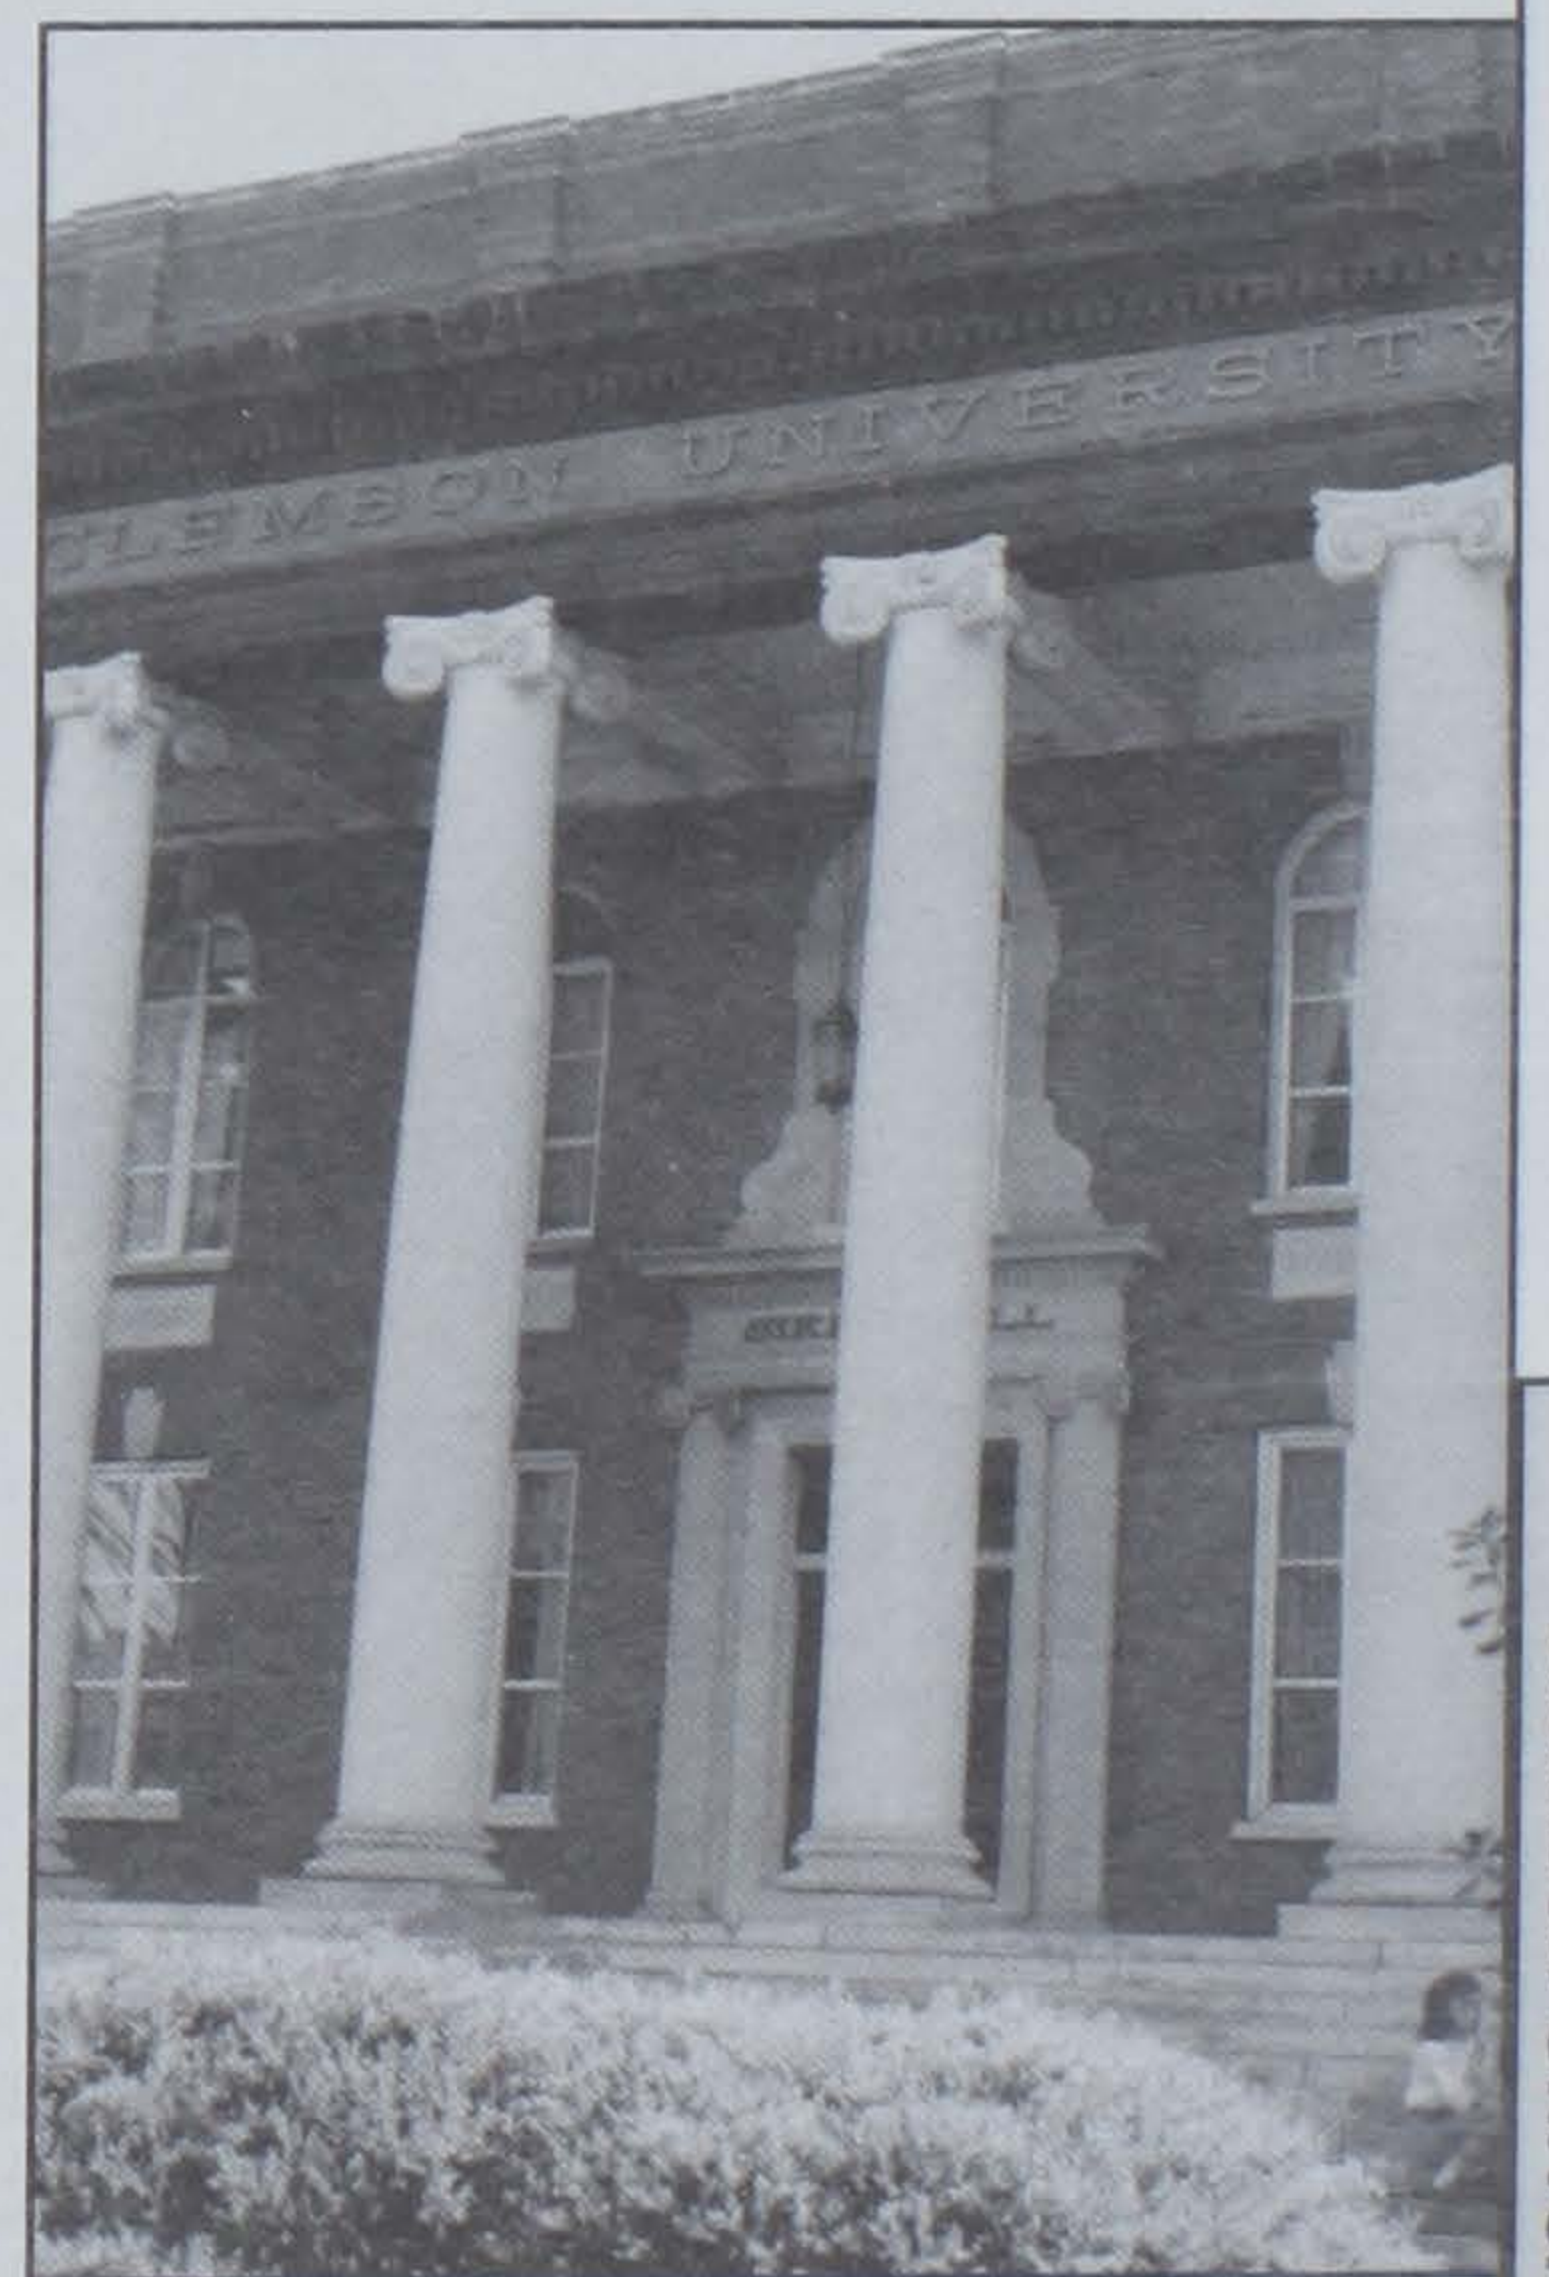

✓ Clemson is a national leader in library automation. LUIS, Clemson's Library User Information Service, replaced the standard card catalog in 1988.

✓ Clemson's Career Placement Center is one of the nation's most automated. From a home computer or any public terminal on campus, students can check to see who's on campus conducting recruiting visits and electronically sign up for an interview.

✓ As part of the Soviet Union's economic reform efforts, Clemson University has entered into negotiations to offer an M.B.A. degree program in U.S.S.R.

✓ Clemson University is headquarters of the National Dropout Prevention Center.

✓ Half of the world's cucumber acreage is planted with varieties developed at Clemson University.

This is Clemson

The signs on the side of the highway as you enter the Clemson city limits say "Clemson: In Season Every Season." From the point of view of most Clemson graduates, the seasons this slogan speaks of are football, basketball, baseball, etc. But a drive through town in the middle of spring, when the azaleas and dogwoods are in full bloom, or a walk through campus in October, when the trees are blazing in the brilliant colors of autumn, will leave little doubt that Clemson is indeed in season, every season.

Nestled in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains and caressed by the shores of the beautiful Lake Hartwell, Clemson is located in the northwestern corner of South Carolina, two hours north of Atlanta, GA, and two hours southwest of Charlotte, NC. The town may not be one of the state's largest most days of the week, but on many autumn Saturdays, it becomes the state's second-largest city, as 81,000 fans come from all directions to watch the Tigers play football. But the friendly residents of Clemson and the surrounding towns welcome the visitors home each year with a true dose of southern hospitality.

Clemson is steeped in history. The university campus is located on what was Fort Hill Plantation, home of John C. Calhoun, one of the great statesmen of the 19th century, and of his son-in-law, Thomas Green Clemson. The house, which was built in 1806, stands in the center of campus and is open to the public. Also on the Clemson campus is a 1716 lowcountry French Huguenot home, Hanover House, which was transported to Clemson in 1941. Just a mile or so down the road, is the Pendleton Historic District, where several other antebellum homes are open to the public. The entire village of Pendleton is on the National Register of Historic Places.

The area boasts a great variety of restaurants, ranging from the downtown barbeque and hamburger spots, to the historic Liberty Hall Inns and Calhoun Corners. Any palate or budget can find something to his or her liking, as over 50 eating establishments are located in the Clemson/Pendleton/Central area.

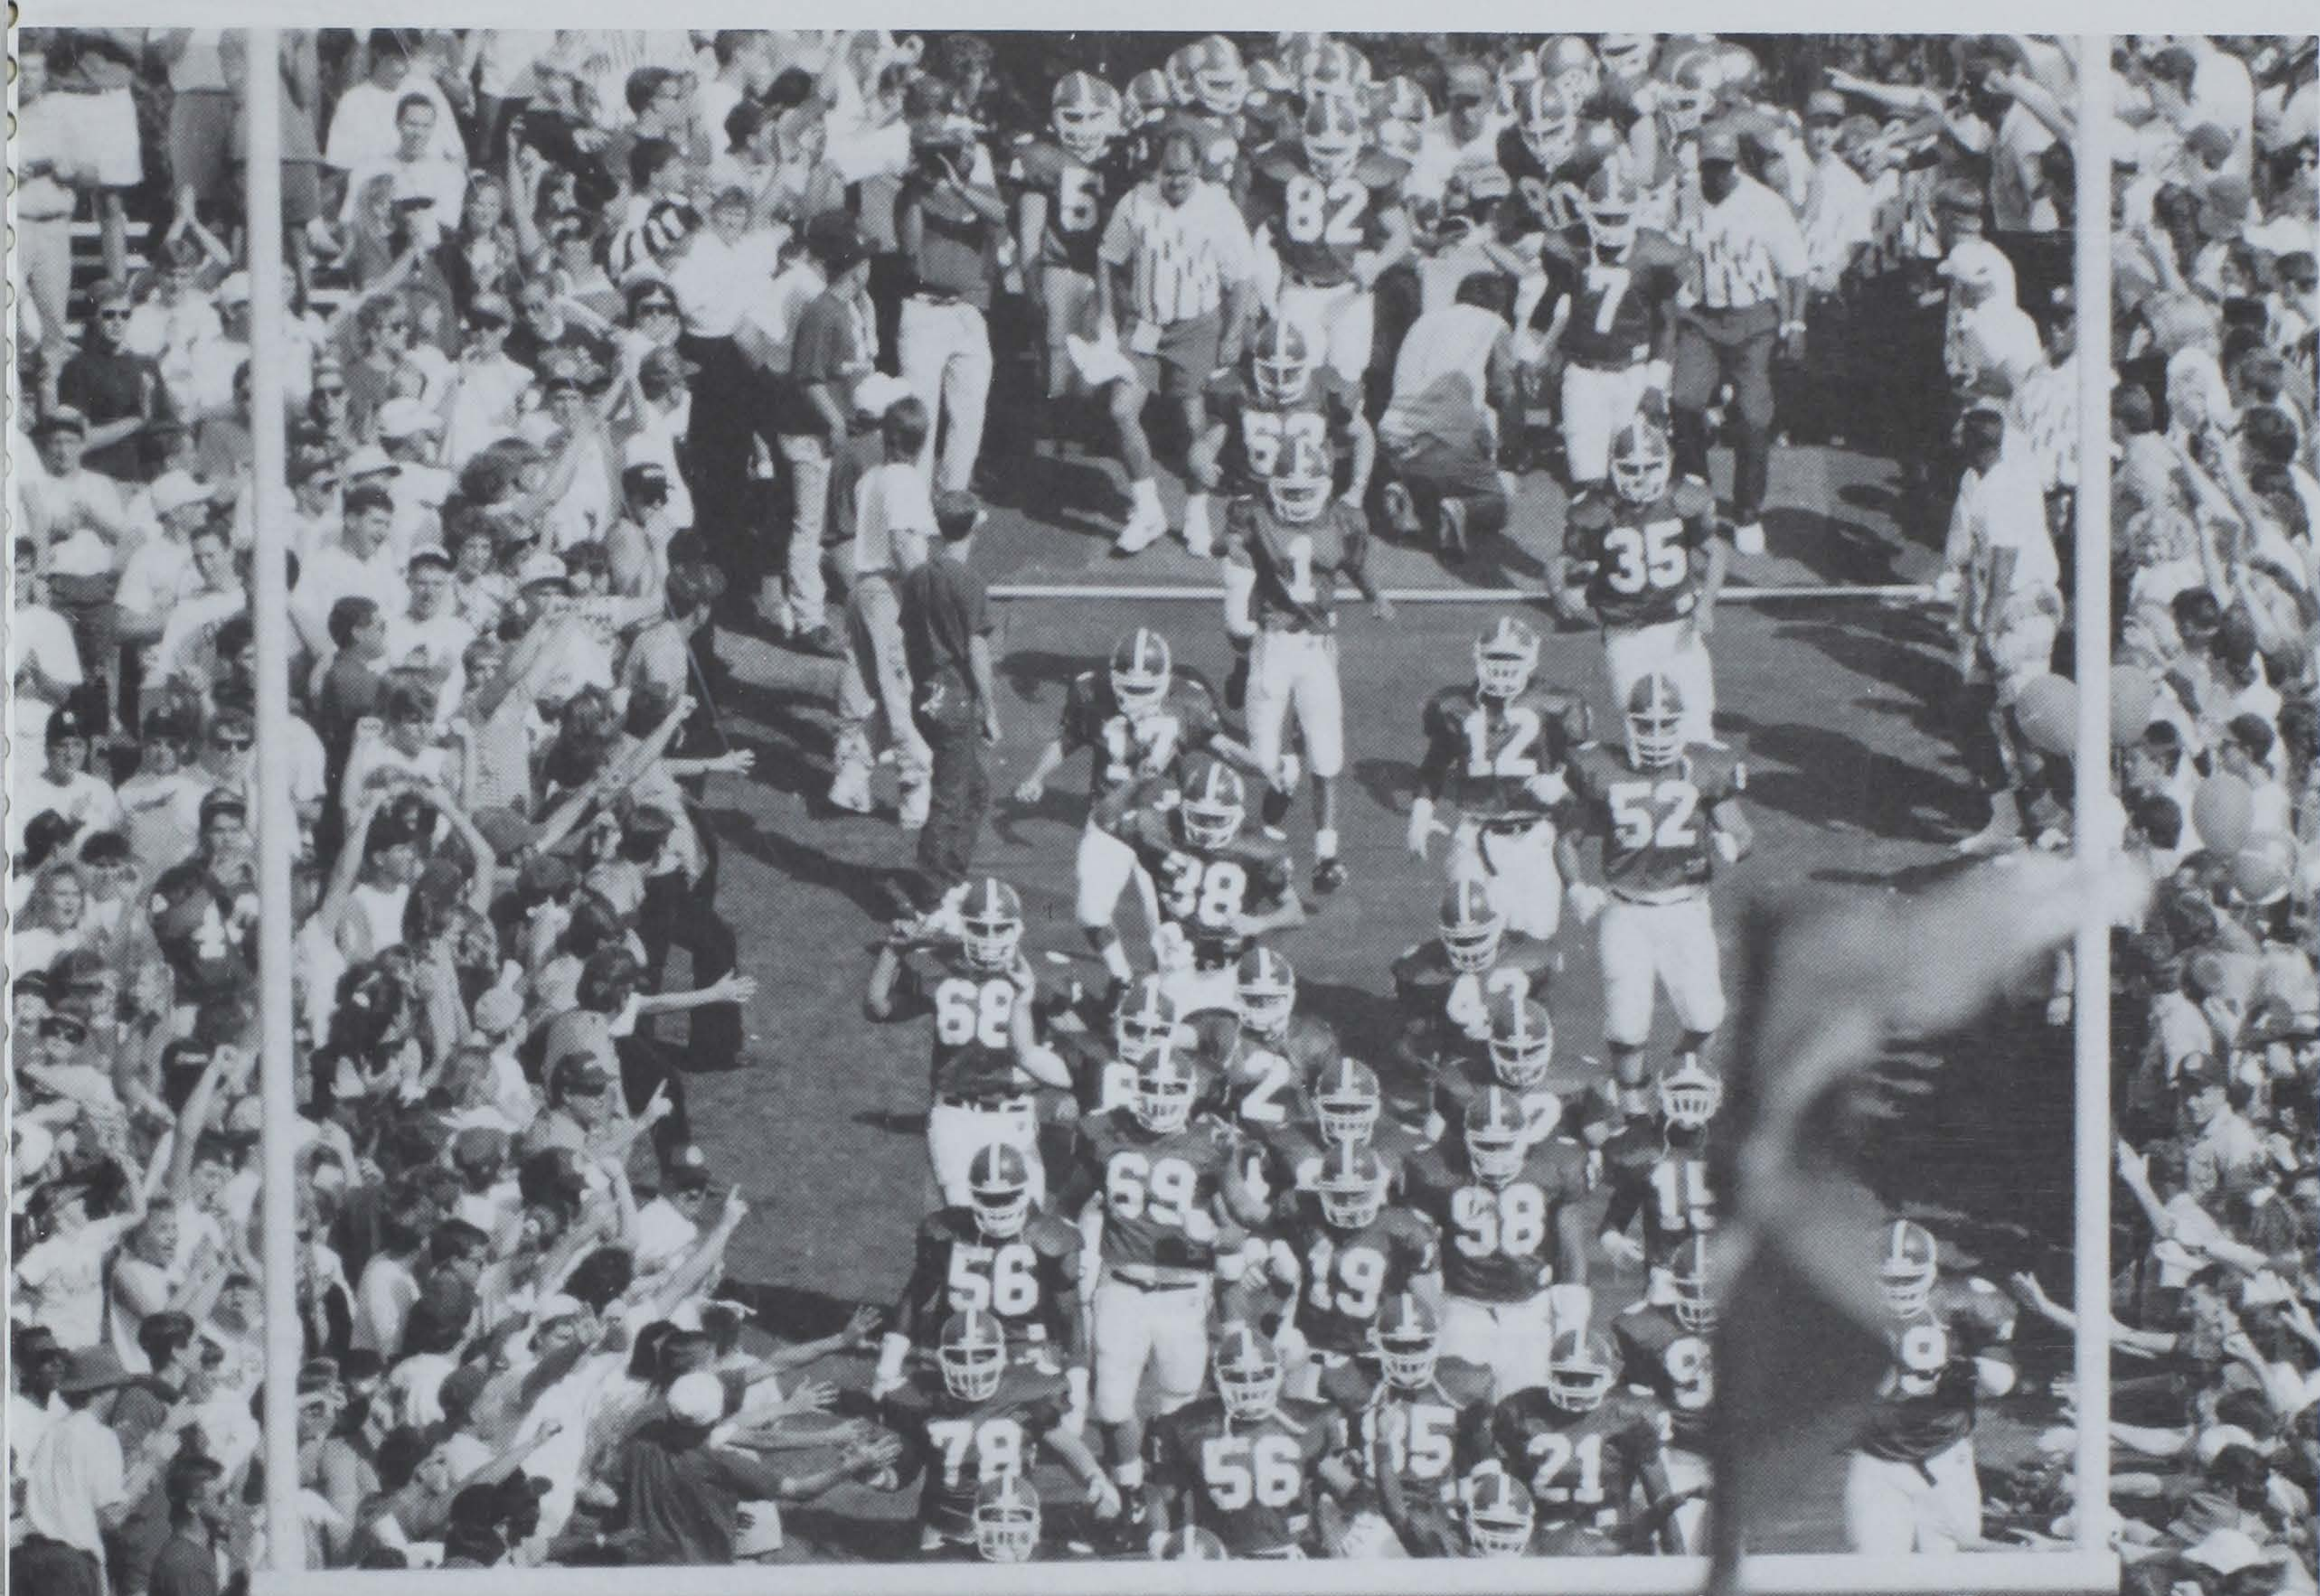

The mild climate of the foothills lends itself to many outdoor activities throughout the year. Clemson has excellent and ample facilities for tennis and golf, fishing, swimming or hiking, horseback riding, white water rafting, and various other pursuits.

And, when one wants to leave Clemson, they don't have far to go to find whatever they are looking for. Professional sports are only a couple of hours away in Atlanta and Charlotte, meaning Clemson residents and students have only a short drive to enjoy major league baseball, NFL football, or their choice of NBA basketball teams.

For sun and fun, it's an easy interstate drive to the coast of South Carolina, to Hilton Head Island, Myrtle Beach, or even historic Charleston. All kinds of water sports are right at the campus' back door, as a 926-mile shoreline borders the edge of campus. And for those who enjoy cooler climates, the mountains of North Carolina are only an hour's drive away. Countless resorts and some of the finest ski slopes in the east are close enough to make a day's outing.

Running Down the Hill

"When you get to the bottom, its like you're in a hole and all around you are nothing but Clemson fans. It's like the crowd is one big voice. You feel like little kings."

Rodney Blunt

"Clemson's record at home is not a coincidence. Running down the hill is a part of that record. You get so inspired, and so much of college football is about emotion. You get out of that bus and you hear the roar of the crowd and it gives you chills up and down your spine."

Clemson players rub Howard's Rock for special power...

...then run down the hill to the thunderous ovation of Clemson fans. Clemson has won nearly 73 percent of its games in Death Valley over the years.

In 1991, two very special anniversaries in the Clemson football tradition were observed. Not only did the 1991 season mark the 10th anniversary of Clemson's National Championship season, but it also marked the 50th birthday of the place where the Tigers won five games that season: Memorial Stadium.

In the first 51 years of Memorial Stadium, Clemson has a record of 174-64-7, including a perfect 16-2-1 ledger over the last three seasons. Clemson had a 16-game unbeaten streak at home between 1990-92 and has a career winning ratio of 72.5 percent.

The stadium has definitely been good to the Tigers who call it home, but the stadium was constructed against the advice of at least one Clemson coach. Just before head coach Jess Neely left for Rice University after the 1939 season, he gave Clemson a message. "Don't ever let them talk you into building a big stadium," he said. "put about 10,000 seats behind the Y.M.C.A. That's all you'll ever need".

Instead of following Coach Neely's advice, however, Clemson officials decided to build the new stadium in a valley on the western part of campus. The place would take some clearing-there were many trees, but luckily there were no hedges.

The crews went to work: clearing, cutting, pouring, and forming. Finally, on September 19, 1942, Clemson Memorial Stadium opened with the Tiger Football team thrashing Presbyterian College, 32-13. Those 20,000 seats installed for Opening Day would soon grow; and grow and grow. This year Clemson celebrates its 52nd year in this outstanding facility.

When the original part of the stadium was built in the early 40's, much of the work was done by scholarship athletes, including many football players. The first staking out of the stadium was done by two members of the football team, A.N. Cameron and Hugh Webb. Webb returned to Clemson years later to be an architecture professor, and Cameron on to become civil engineer in Louisiana.

The building of the stadium did not proceed without a few problems. One day during the clearing of the land, one young football player proudly announced that he was not allergic to poison oak. He then commenced to attack the poison oak with a swing blade, throwing the plants to and fro. The next day, however, the boy was swollen twice his size and had to be put in the hospital.

There are many other stories about the stadium including one stating that Frank Howard put a chew of tobacco in each corner of the stadium as the concrete poured.

Howard says that the seeding of the grass caused a few problems. "About 40 people and I laid sod on the field," he says. "After three weeks, on July 15, we had only gotten halfway through.

I told them that it had taken us three weeks to get that far, and I would give them three more week's pay for however long it took. I also told them we would have 50 gallons of ice cream when we got through. After that it took them three days to do the rest of the field. Then we sat down in the middle of the field and ate up that whole 50 gallons."

Howard says that on the first day of the first game in the stadium, "the gates were hung at 1:00 and we played at 2:00." But that would be all of the construction for a while. Then in 1958, 18,000 sideline seats were added and, in 1960, a total of 5,658 West end zone seats were added in response to increasing attendance. With the large end zone, "Green Grass" section, this expansion increased capacity to about 53,000.

Later, upper decks were added to each side of the stadium as crowds swelled-the first one in 1978 and the second in 1983. This increased capacity to over 80,000 which makes it one of the 10 largest on-campus stadiums in the country.

The effect spiraling inflation has had in this century can be dramatically seen in the differences in stadium construction. The original part of the stadium was built at a cost of $125,000 or at $6.25 a seat. The newest upper deck was finished in 1983 at a cost of $13.5 million, or $866 a seat.

Through the years, Memorial Stadium has become known as "Death Valley." It was tagged this by the late Presbyterian coach, Lonnie McMillan. After bringing his P.C. Teams to Clemson for years and getting whipped, McMillan said the place was like Death Valley. A few years later the name stuck.

On November 16, 1974 the playing surface was named Frank Howard Field for the legendary coach because of his long service and dedication to the University.

Athletic Director Bobby Robinson says that Memorial Stadium has many features which makes it a top facility. "One thing that makes it so good is the number of sideline seats," he says. "We don't think there is a bad seat in the house."

"We also have outstanding dressing rooms, press facilities, and ample parking nearby. Another unique feature of the stadium is the number of private boxes."

If Memorial Stadium is expanded again and the capacity is pushed closer to 100,000, there will be room for construction over the west stands, enclosing that end like a horseshoe.

Luckily, the stadium wasn't built behind the Y.

Clemson has a 72.4 winning percentage in Death Valley dating back to 1942.

Facilities

STRENGTH TRAINING ROOM

It only takes a short drive through the Clemson campus to see that Clemson University's commitment to provide its student-athletes with the very best definitely applies to athletic facilities. Within just a block or two of each other are Riggs Field, the indoor and outdoor tennis facilities, McHugh Natatorium, the Rock Norman Track Complex, Littlejohn Coliseum, Jervy Gym, Tiger Field, and of course the awesome Death Valley, where the Fighting Tiger football squad posted an unbeaten record in 1990 and 1991.

But one of Clemson's most impressive athletic facilities is not quite as visible as the mammoth Death Valley, even though it may be an even more important reason for the Tigers' success. Clemson's strength training facility, located in Jervy Athletic Center, provides Clemson athletes with the very best in equipment, supervision and atmosphere, as the Tiger strength training staff knows that success in the area of strength training will mean success on the football field.

Head Strength Coach Gary Wade and his staff work constantly to ensure that their facility is one of the nation's best. Several renovations made over the last several years have ensured that it is among the best, on the collegiate and professional levels. It is no accident that the Tigers have posted a 68-24-3 record, won four ACC Championships, had 16 first or second-team All-Americans, and 49 first-team all-conference selections since Wade joined the Clemson staff in 1985.

Perhaps the most impressive characteristic of the facility is its size. Several years ago, the facility was enlarged to an astounding 11,000 square feet, making it one of the largest in the nation. The facility boasts two full lines of Nautilus machines and over 12 tons of weights. The large number of machines and free weights allows the weight room to be used by athletes from several different sports at the same time, without anyone having to wait in line at a particular station.

In the middle of winter, when the grass on Frank Howard Field has turned brown and the Tiger Paws have faded in the cold, the Tiger strength training room is bustling with action. When an athlete enters the etched glass doors, he is greeted by plush, wall-to-wall carpeting, walls lined with mirrors, ceiling fans, and music from a 26-speaker sound system - a worthy backdrop for well over $500,000 worth of state-of-the-art equipment.

Four color television monitors are also positioned throughout the facility. These monitors are used for training and instruction, as Tiger strength coaches film the athletes and work with them on form correction. When not in use for this purpose, the televisions, which are hooked into the sound system provide atmosphere, as most Tiger student-athletes enjoy working out to the tune of the latest music videos.

Wade and his assistants, Al Caronia, Jeff

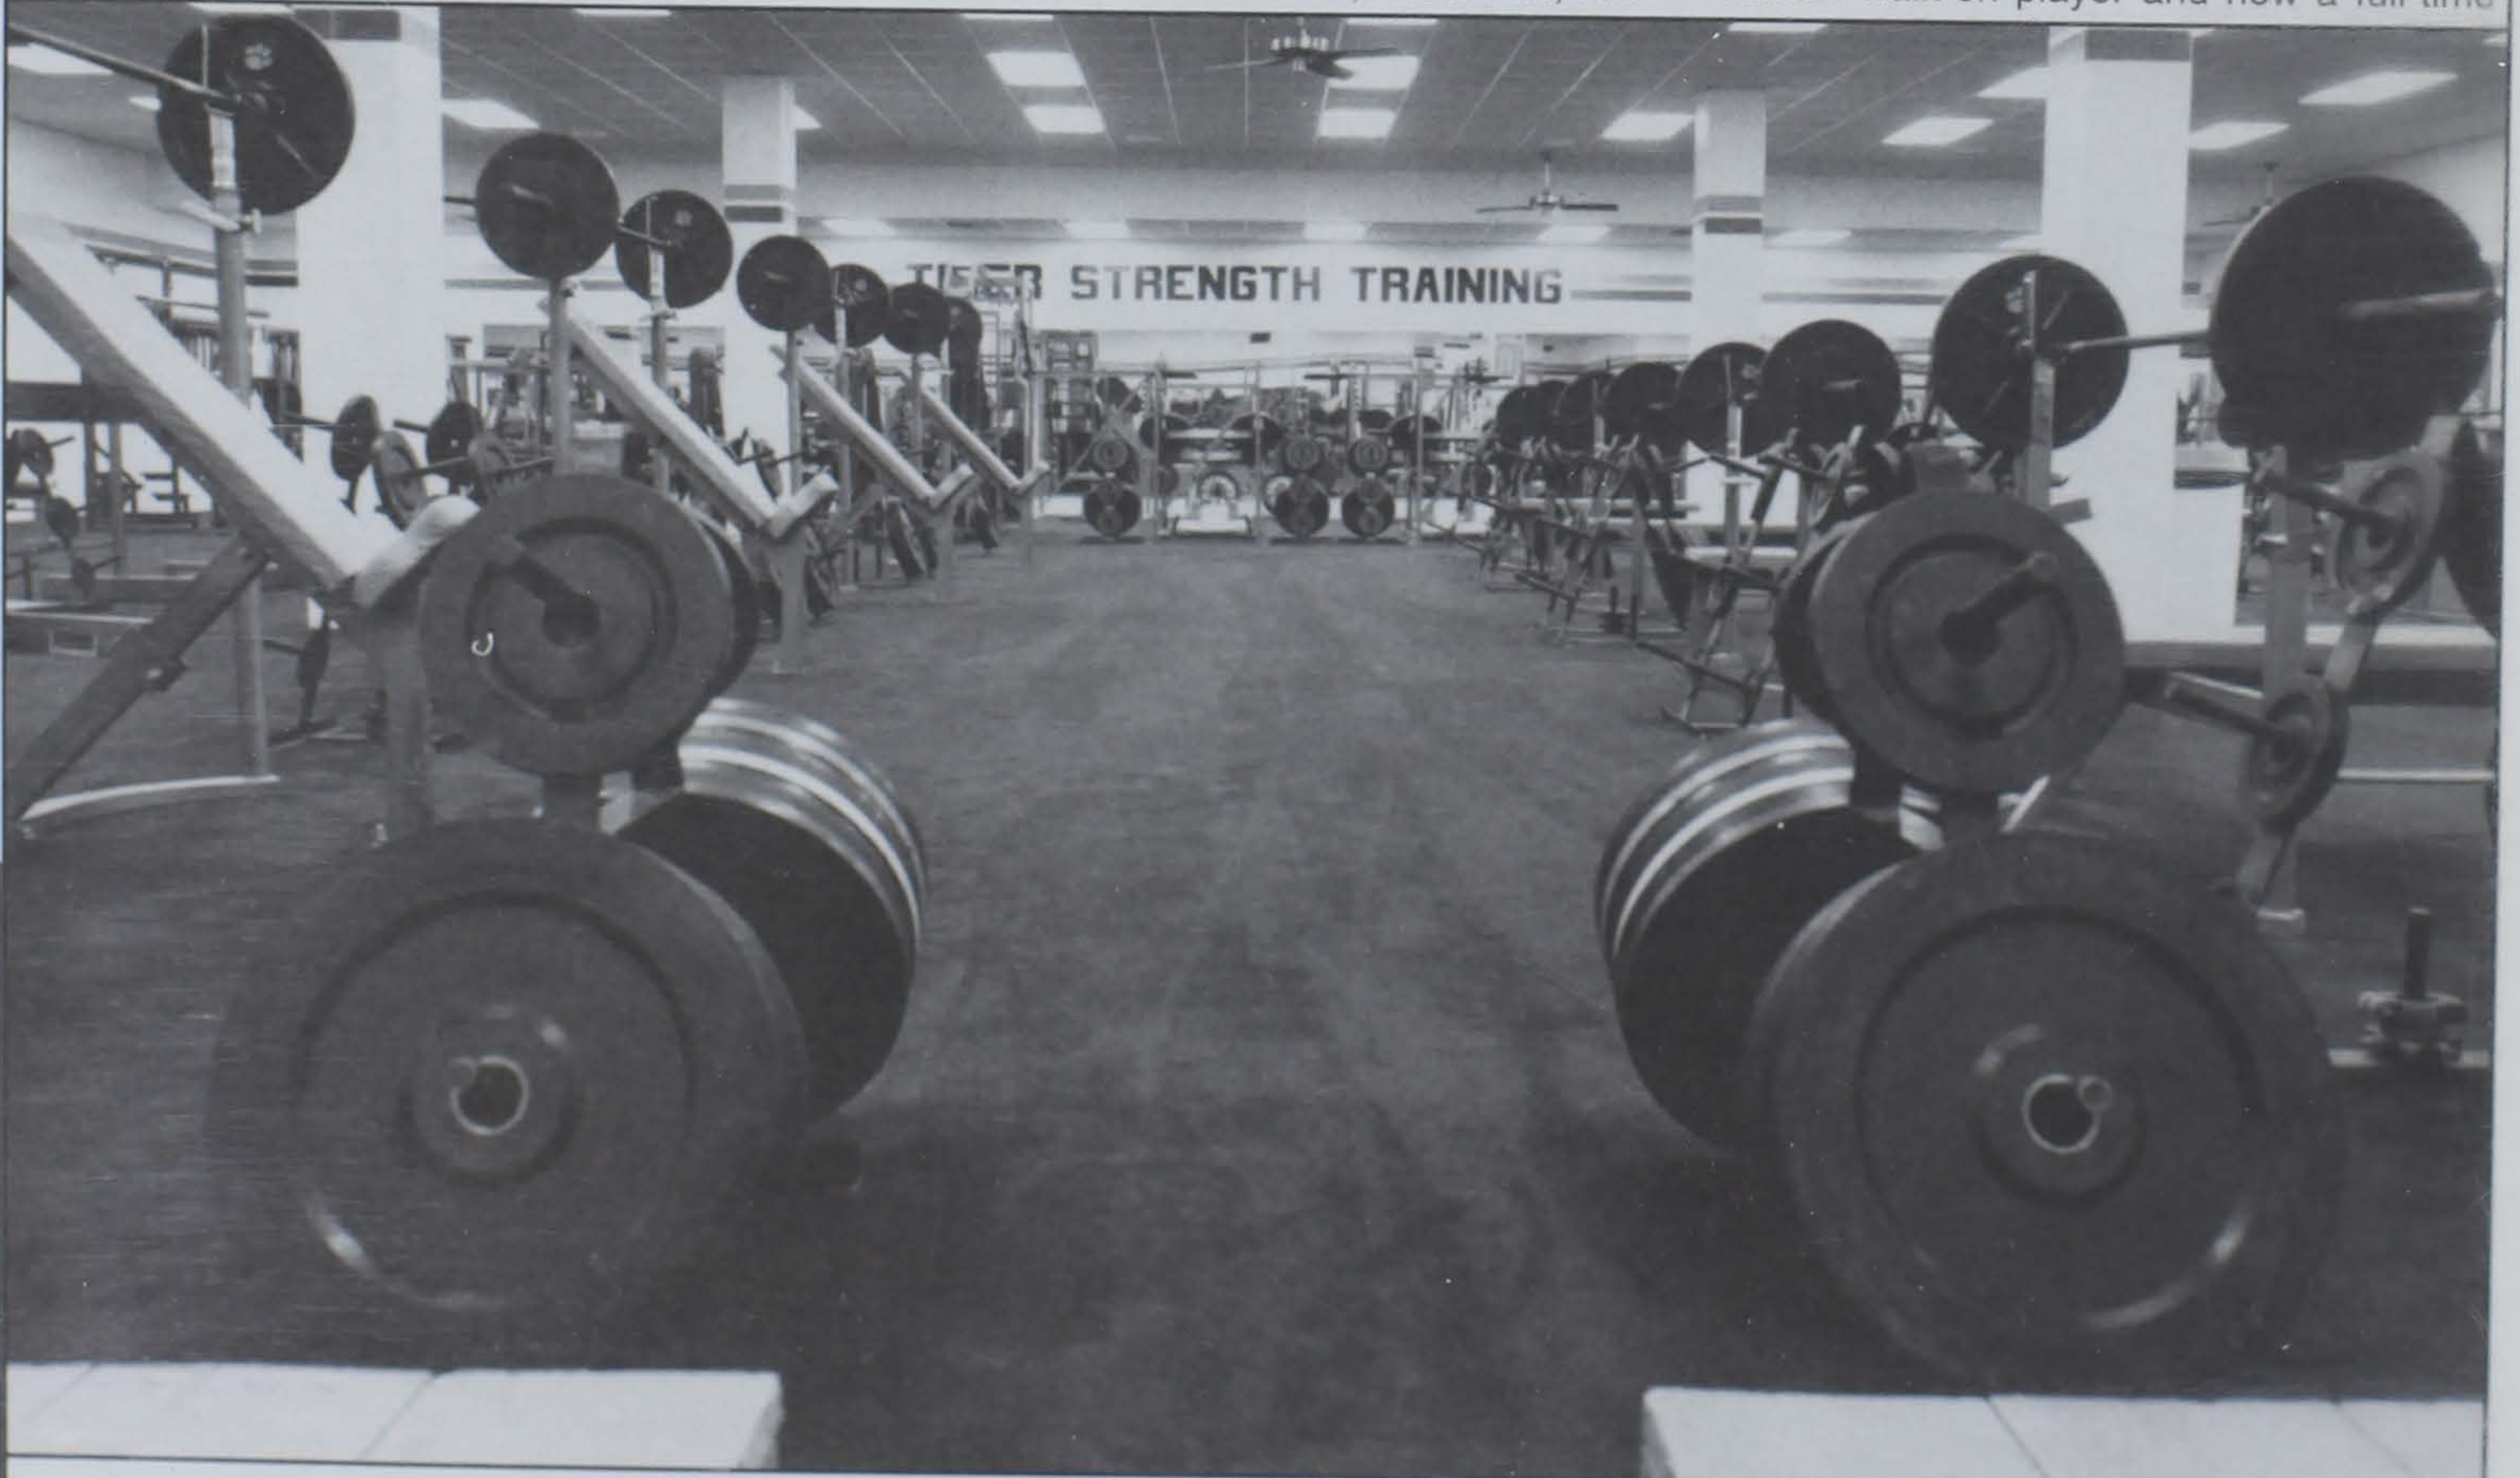

Fish, Jeff Looney, and John Marcotte personally supervise the individual weight programs of hundreds of athletes. The strength training staff spends long hours working around the various schedules of each sport and even takes the facility on the road when the Tiger football team plays in a bowl game. For the past six seasons, Wade and his assistants have set up a temporary weight room at the Tigers' bowl hotel headquarters.

Recently, the operation of the strength training facility was enhanced by the addition of a new computerized program. Tiger strength coaches are now able to enter all the current strength data on an athlete, and the computer will generate a 10-week conditioning program that will help the athlete reach optimum results.

Several Tigers have already achieved those optimum results, as nine members of the Clemson football team have been named to the All-America strength team in the last nine years. This honor is a means of nationally recognizing athletes who have greatly improved their on-field performance through strength and conditioning.

Clemson's all-time leading rusher, Kenny Flowers, won the honor in 1984, while Jim Riggs, an All-ACC tight end who played in the Super Bowl with the Cincinnati Bengals in 1989, was named to the squad in 1985.

Three-time academic All-ACC offensive lineman Ty Granger was a 1986 Strength All-American, while tight end Danny Pearman, a former walk-on player and now a full-time assistant coach at Alabama, was honored in 1987. In 1988, cornerback Donnell Woolfold added a strength All-America certificate to his resume before being chosen in the first round of the NFL draft by the Chicago Bears. Linebacker Vince Taylor was a 1989 strength All-American.

Butkus Award finalist and 1991 All-American Levon Kirkland was named a strength All-American in 1990, and in 1991, center Mike Brown's hard work was rewarded with a strength All-America certificate. Brown, a first-team All-ACC performer in 1991, increased his bench press by 150 pounds during his years in a Tiger uniform and his 450-pound mark was one of the best on the team in 1991.

Brentson Buckner is the Tigers' most recent recipient of the Strength and Conditioning All-America honor. Buckner posts the second-highest leg sled mark in Clemson history with a 1,120 pound push, and is the 1993 team leader in the bench press at 455 pounds.

Another honor that Clemson players can strive for through hard work in the weight room is that of Lifter-of-the-Year. This honor is unique in that the recipient is voted on by his teammates. Defensive tackle Warren Forney, who was also a member of the All-ACC Academic team in 1992, was named the 1992 Lifter-of-the-Year.

TRAINING ROOM

Athletes at Clemson have the opportunity to be the best they can be because few universities have better facilities. The dedicated athlete can excel at Clemson because the facilities make him a better player.

The Jervey Athletic Center is the focal point of Clemson athletics as it houses the strength training room, the varsity locker rooms and all administrative offices. It is right across the street from Littlejohn Coliseum. Everything is within walking distance and easily accessible from all other facilities.

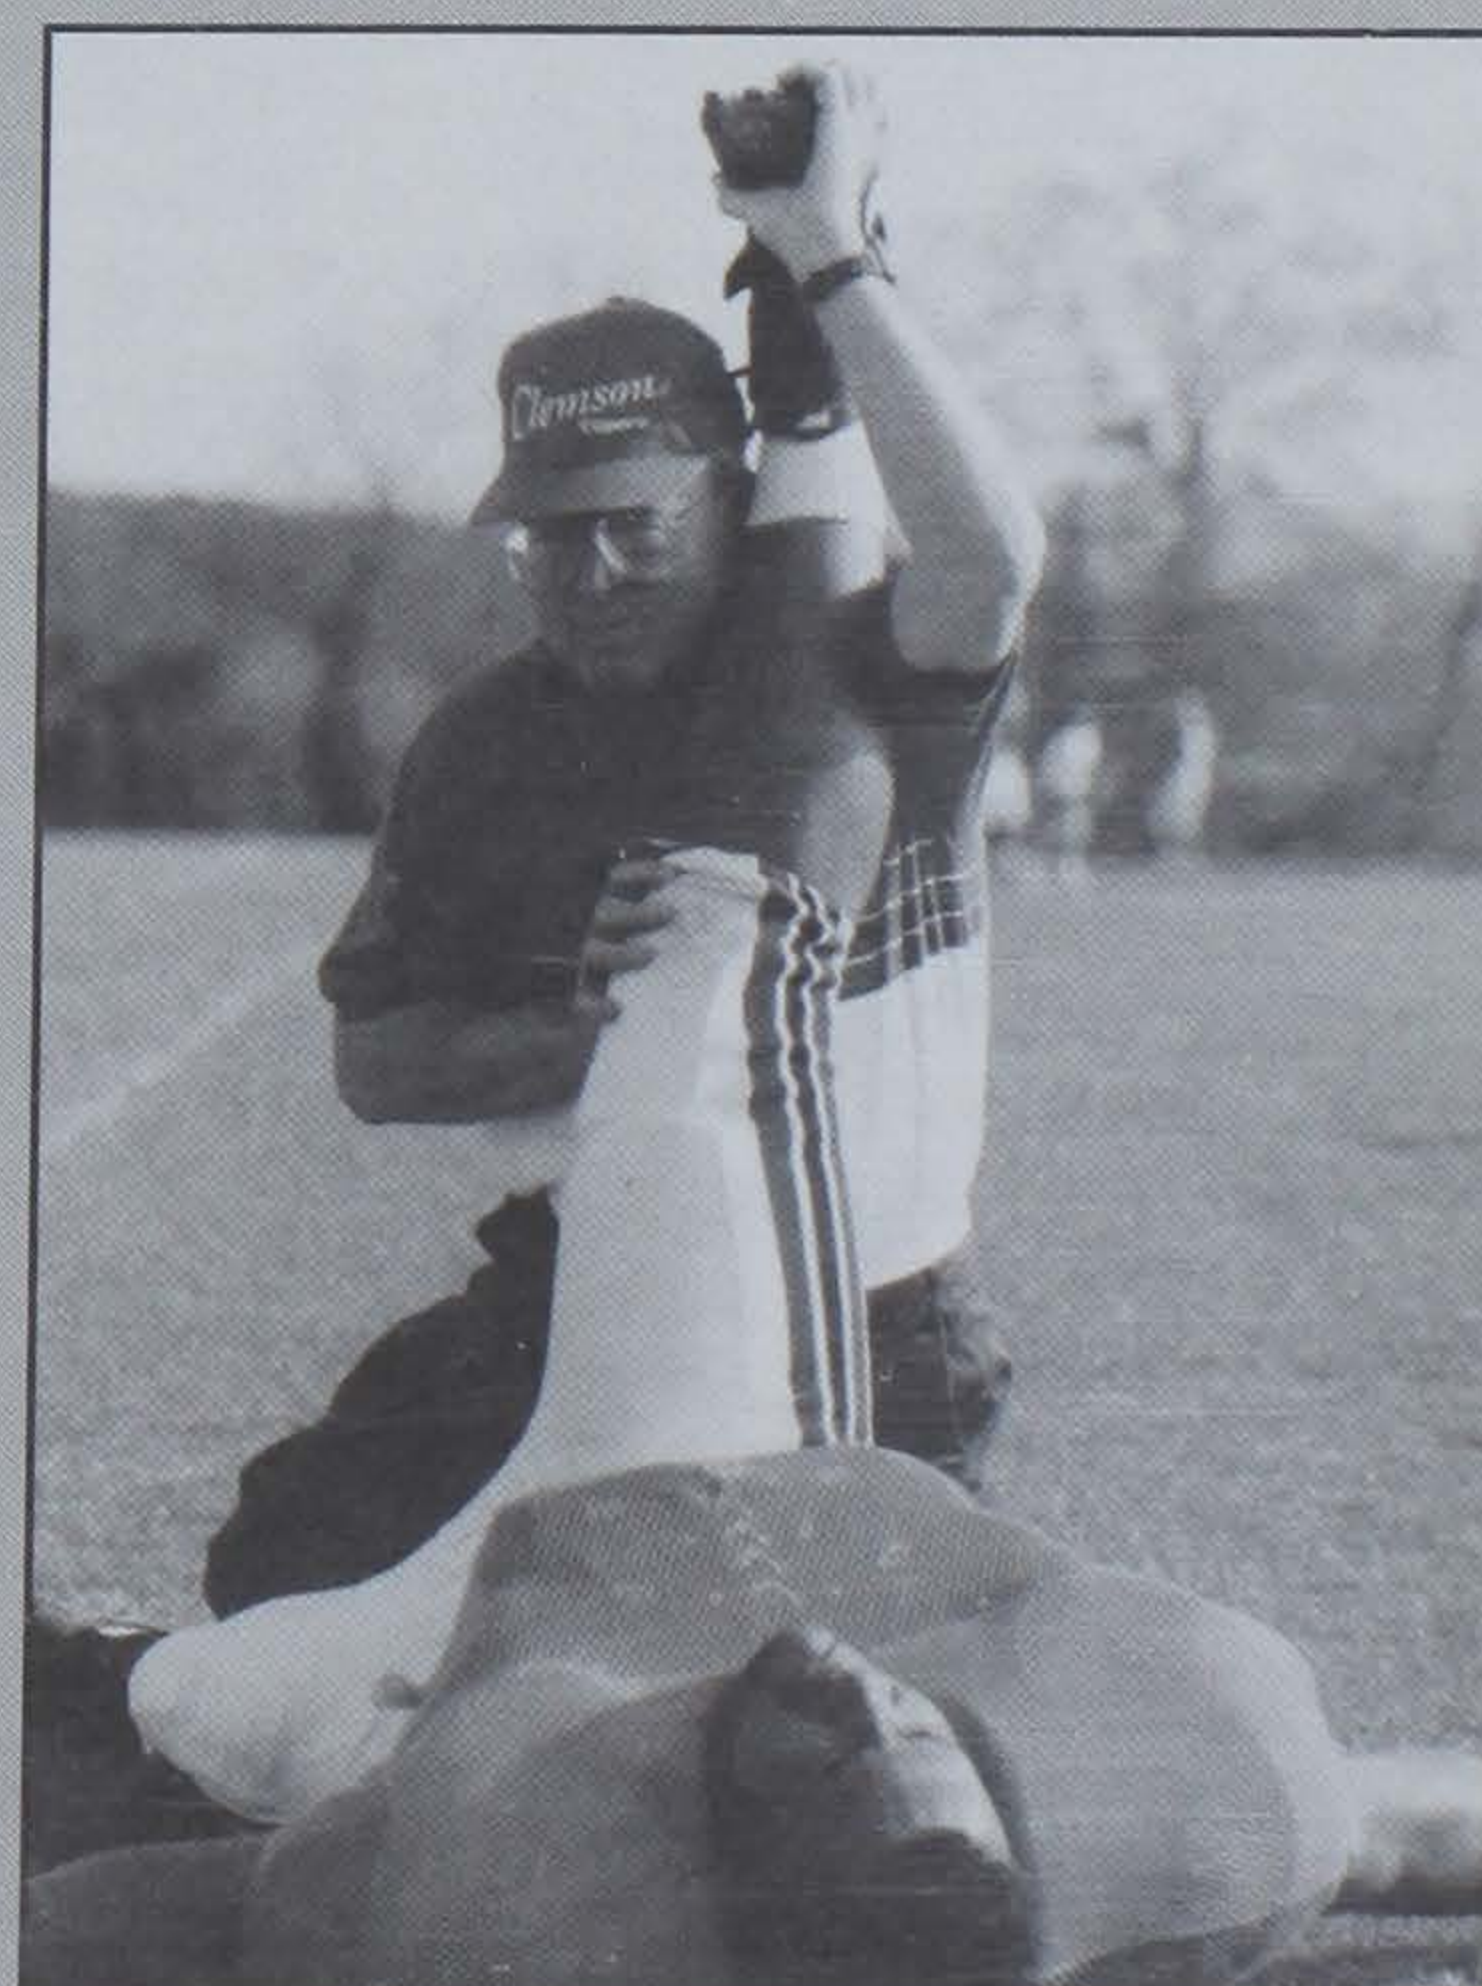

The training room is one of the fine facilities in the Jervey Athletic Center. It is run by Fred Hoover, a national Hall of Fame trainer, and it houses all of the latest training equipment. Hoover heads up a staff of four full-time individuals with over 50 years of experience. This professional staff and 17 student and graduate student trainers give an athlete the best possible care.

The training room has six whirlpools, a cybex machine, numerous stationary bikes, an upper-body exerciser, a Stairmaster, and all the latest devices for all kinds of treatment. The large sauna and steam bath are also welcome sites after a tough practice. A doctor has an office in the training room itself. He is in the training room from 2:00 p.m. until closing and is of course available at all hours for special situations.

The training staff is also responsible for the dietary plans of the Clemson athlete. Clemson's training table serves the Clemson football and basketball team in all-you-can-eat fashion every day during the academic year and it provides the athlete with a well balanced meal planned by dietary experts. These are special dining facilities designed to accommodate the unusual hours of the athlete when he is in season.

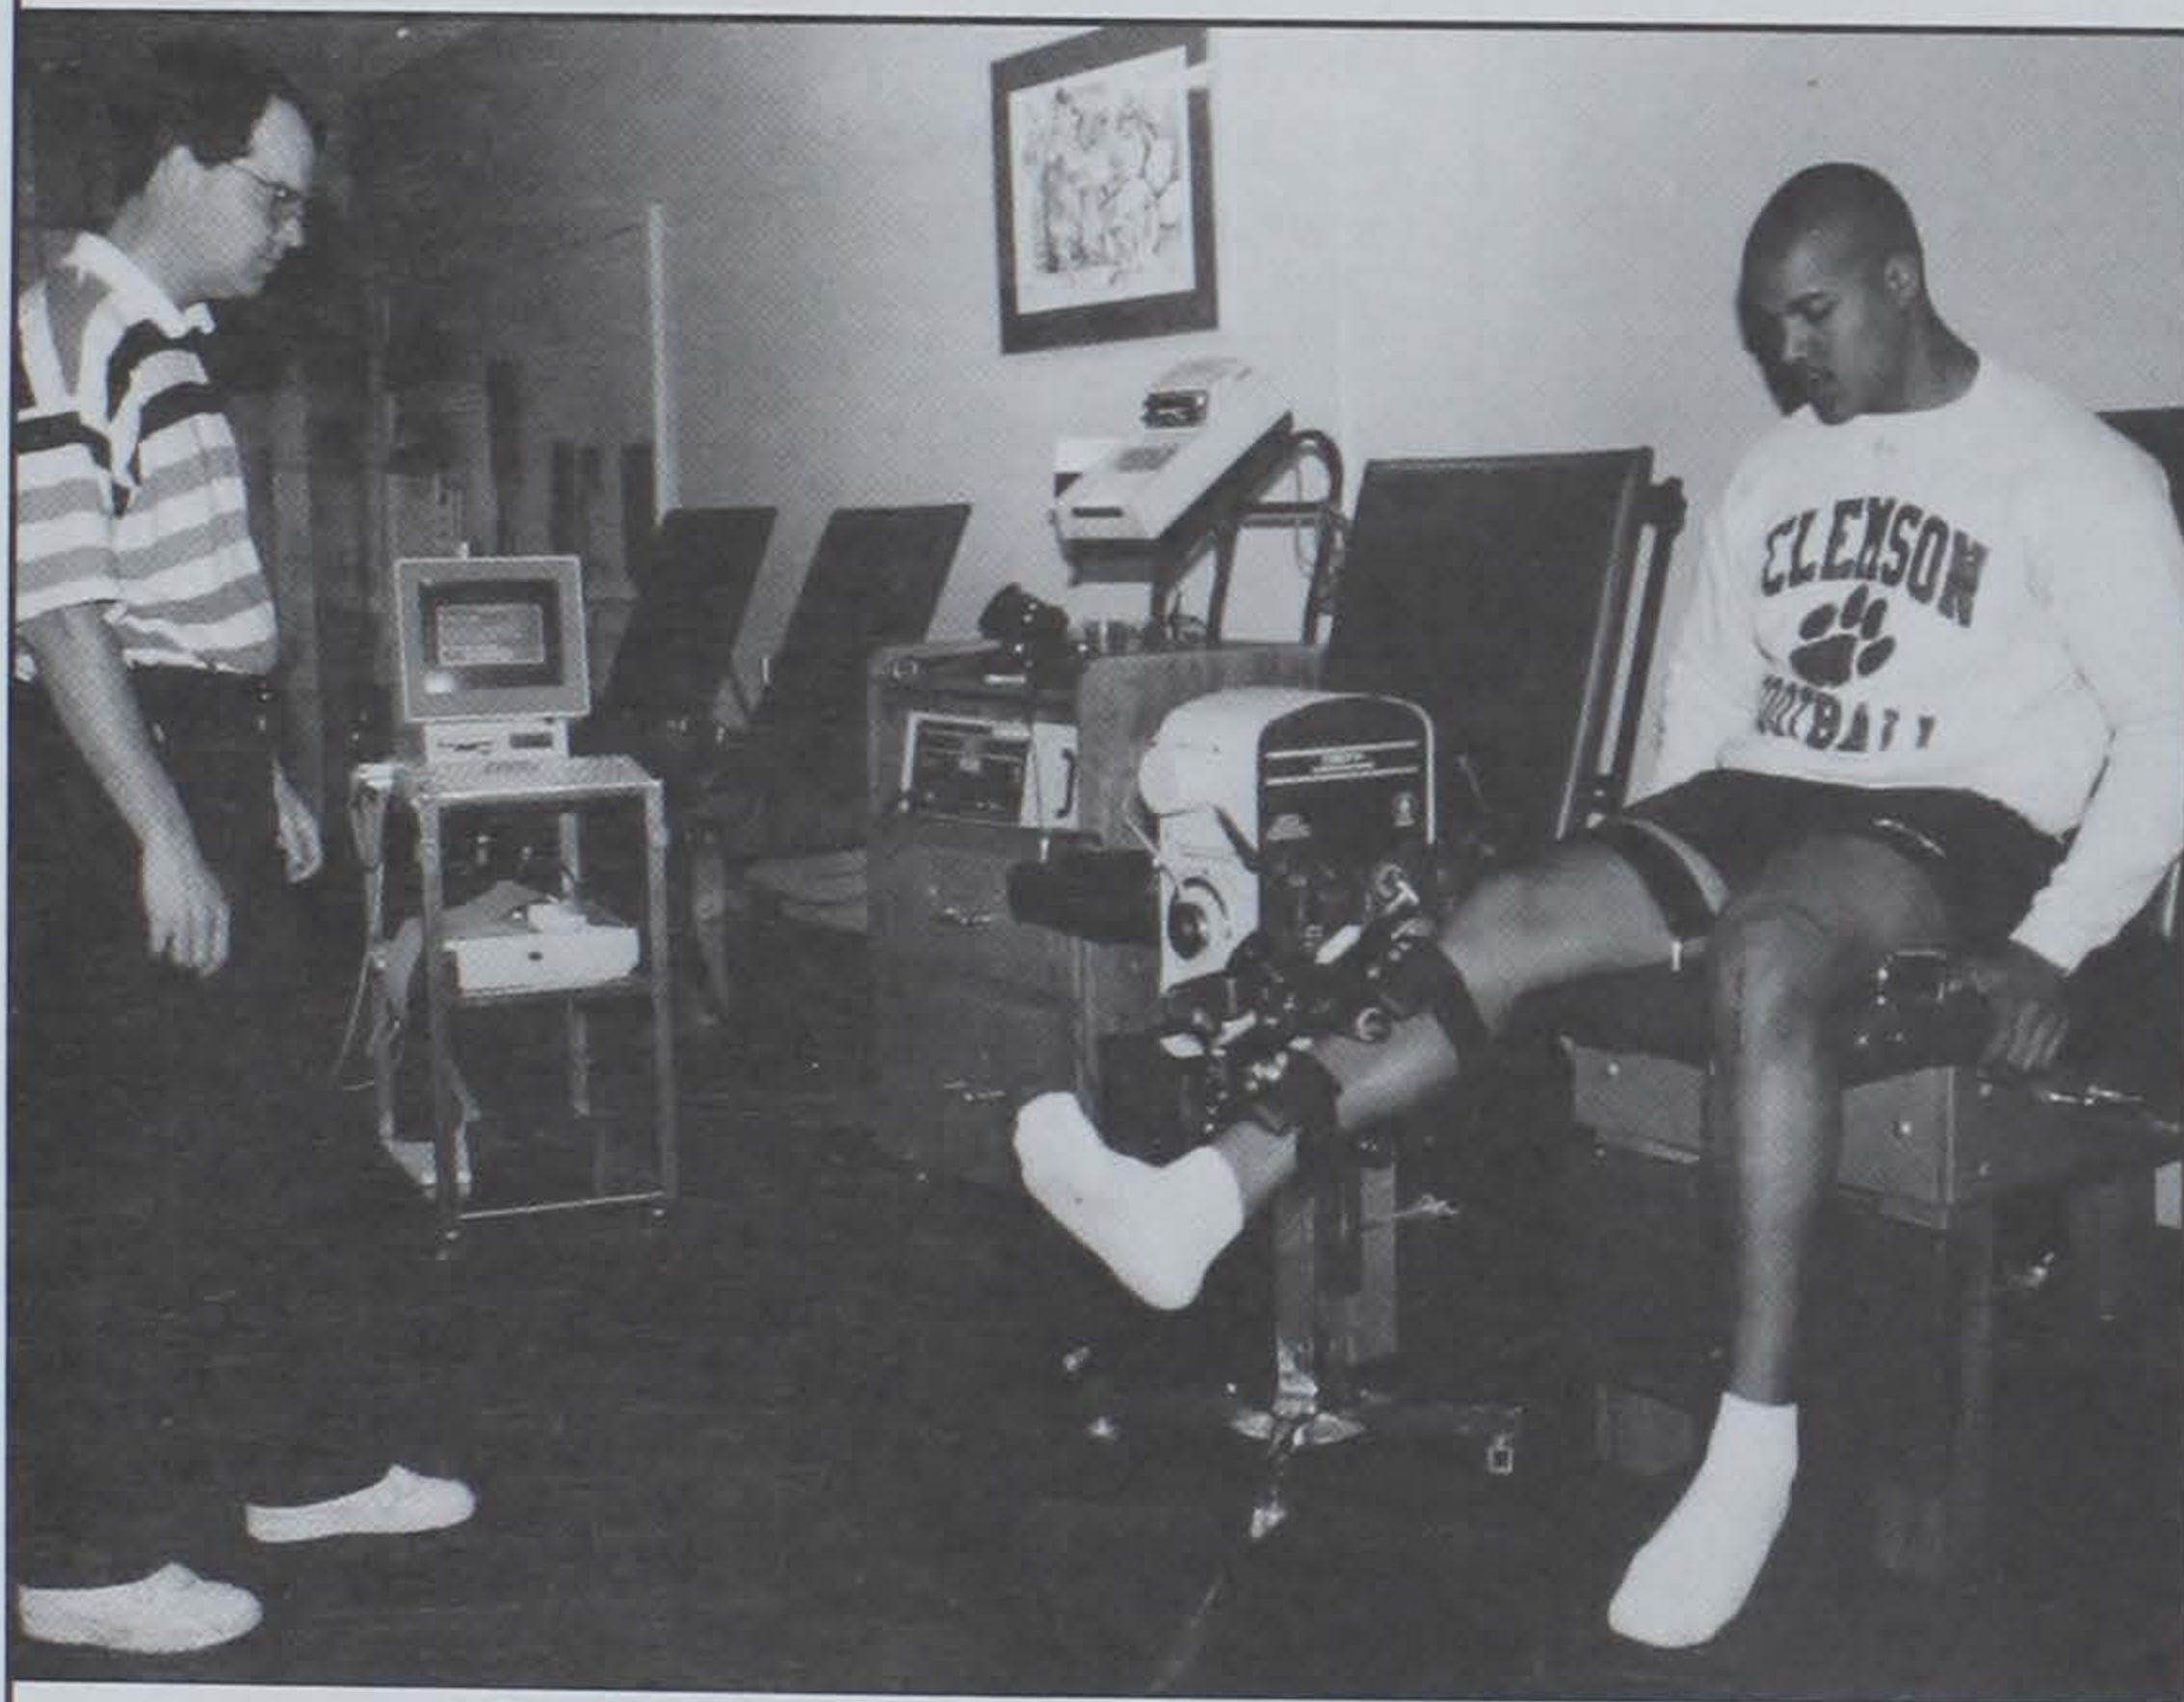

The meals are truly luscious, especially after a Clemson victory. A win means "Super Meal" night, as chefs prepare carved roast beef, steak, lobster, shrimp and many other delicacies.

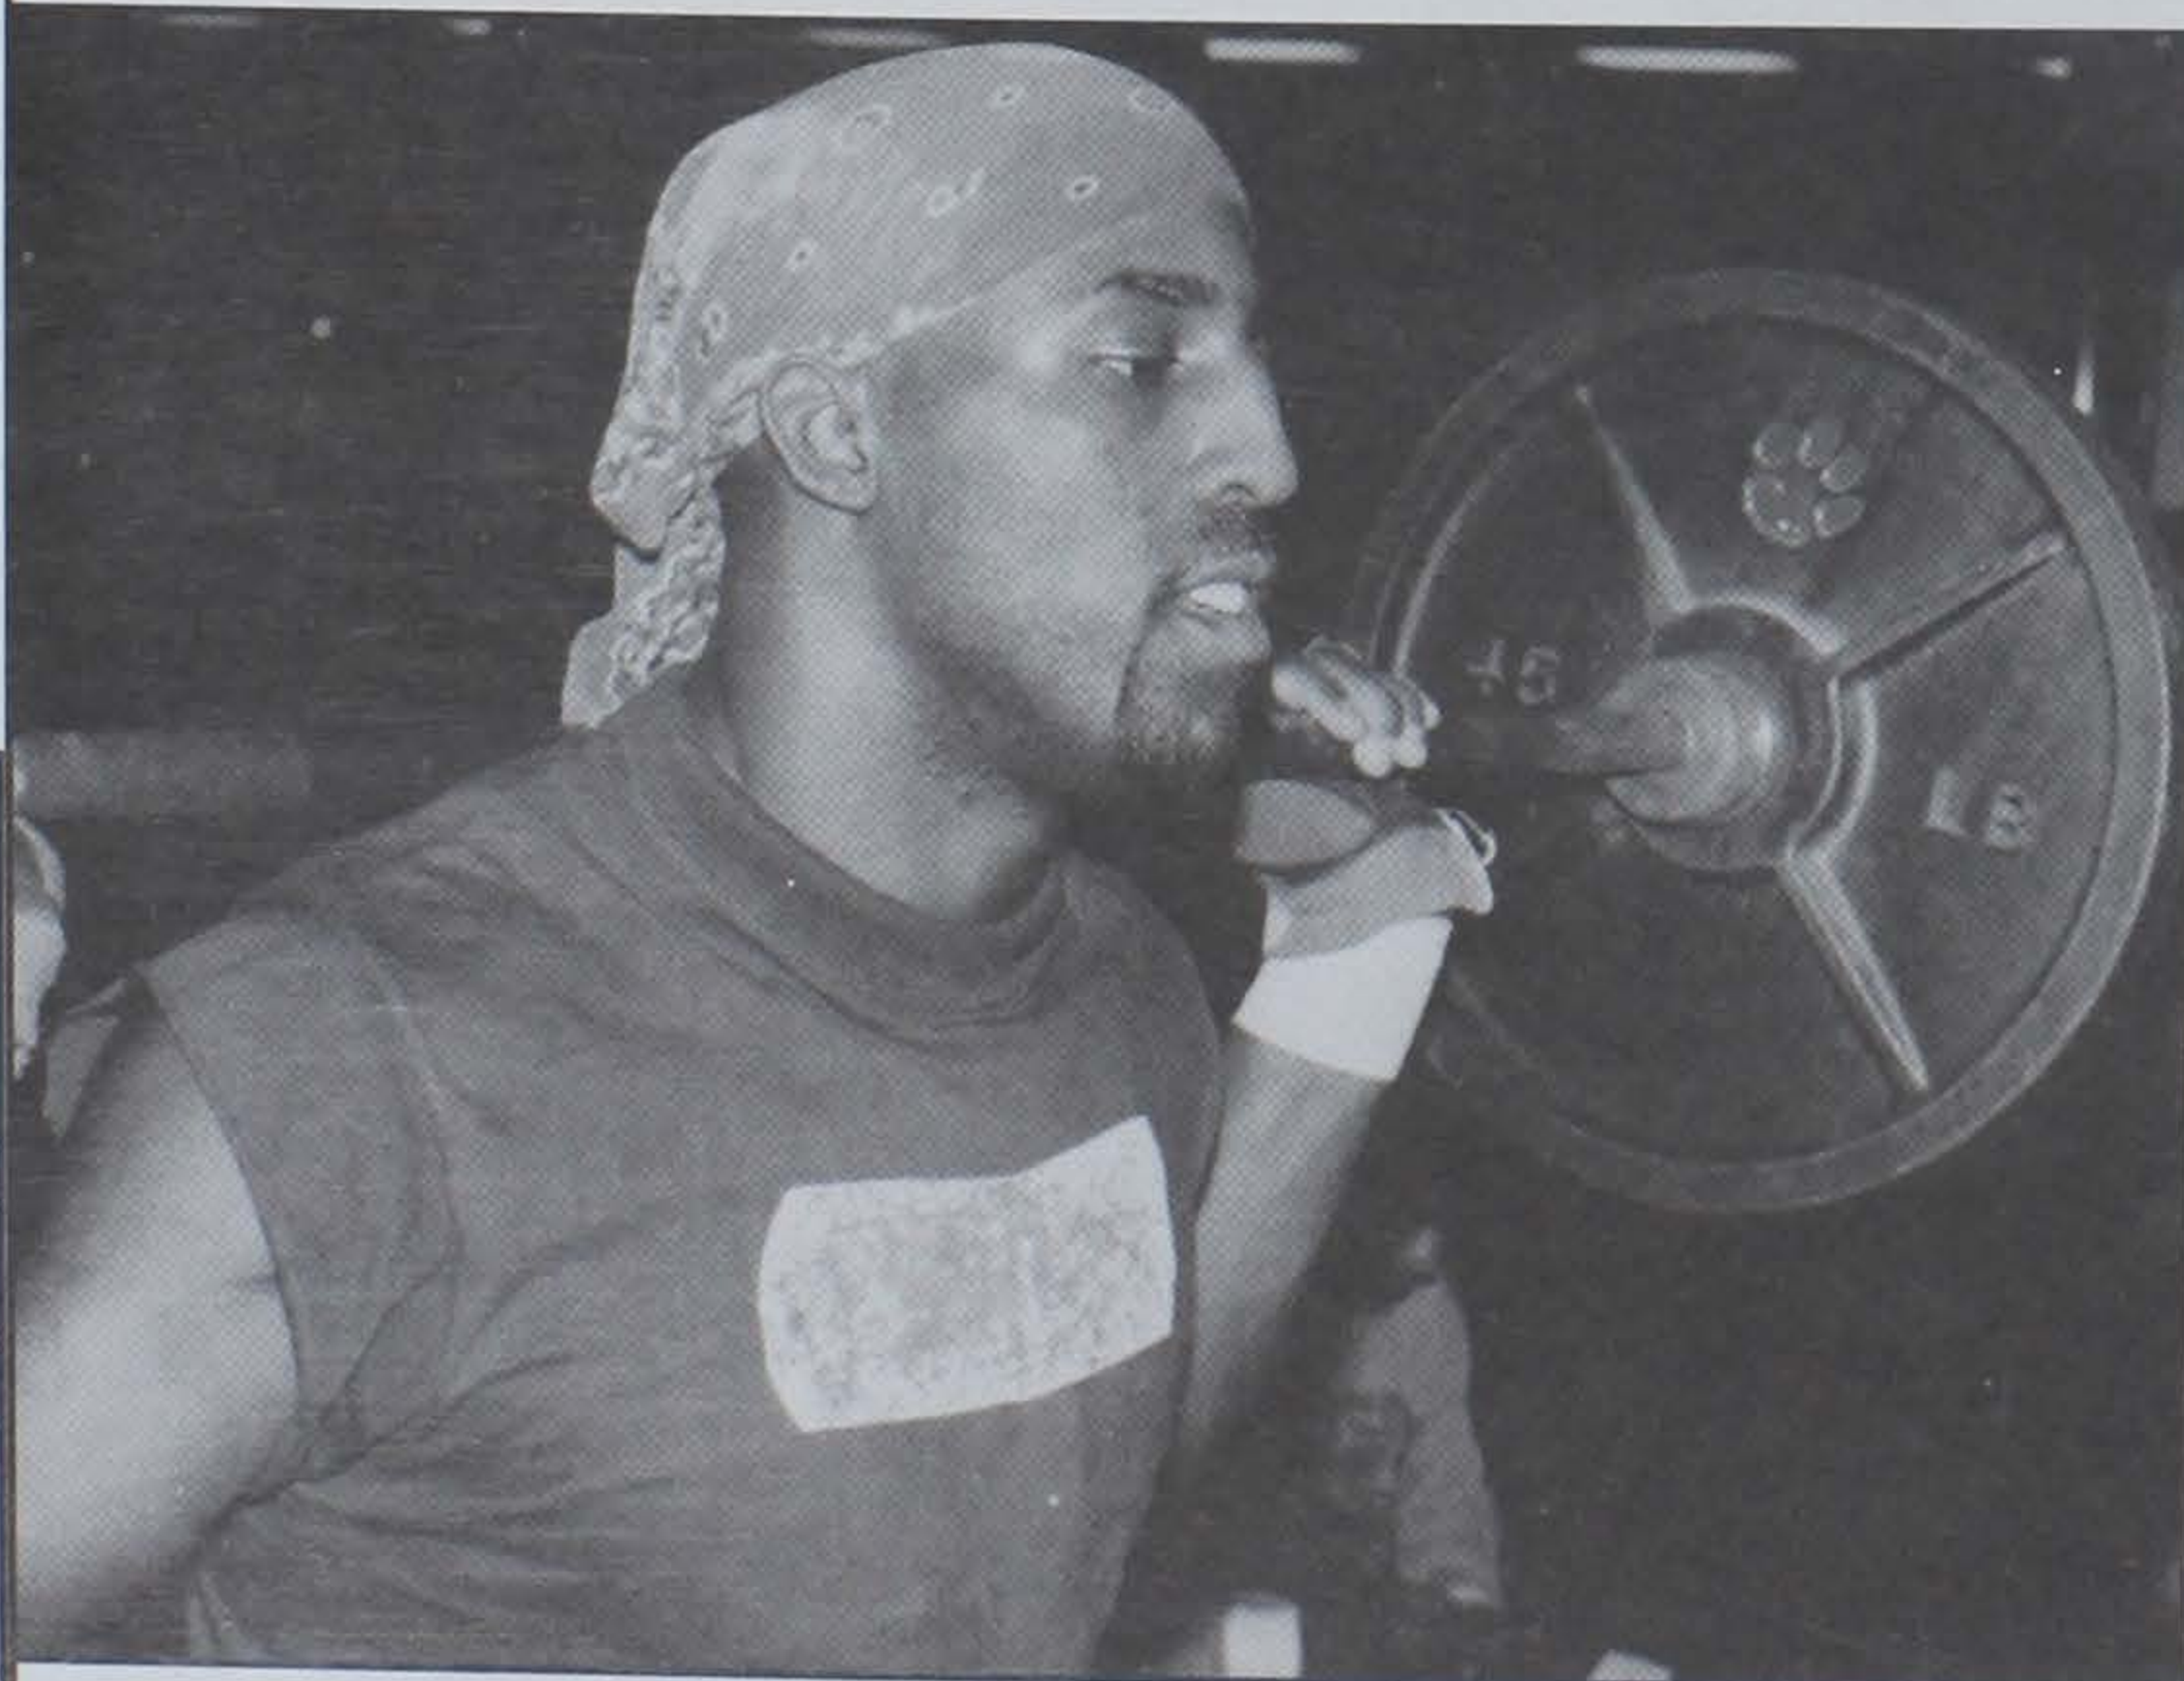

Fred Hoover has been directing the training aspect of Clemson football players' lives since 1958.

The Jervy Athletic Center is the home of all Clemson training and strength facilities, in addition to the offices for all coaches and administrators.

Clemson athletes benefit from a training staff that has over 50 years of experience, and uses the most modern rehabilitation equipment.

There is rarely any waiting for a work station in the Clemson strength facility.

Clemson gridders eat in their own dining room in the middle of campus.

NFL Standouts

The fans that follow Clemson football are rabid, that is for sure. This fan interest leads to considerable media attention. Year in and year out Clemson is among the top 20 teams in the nation and this leads to a media contingent that is regional and national.

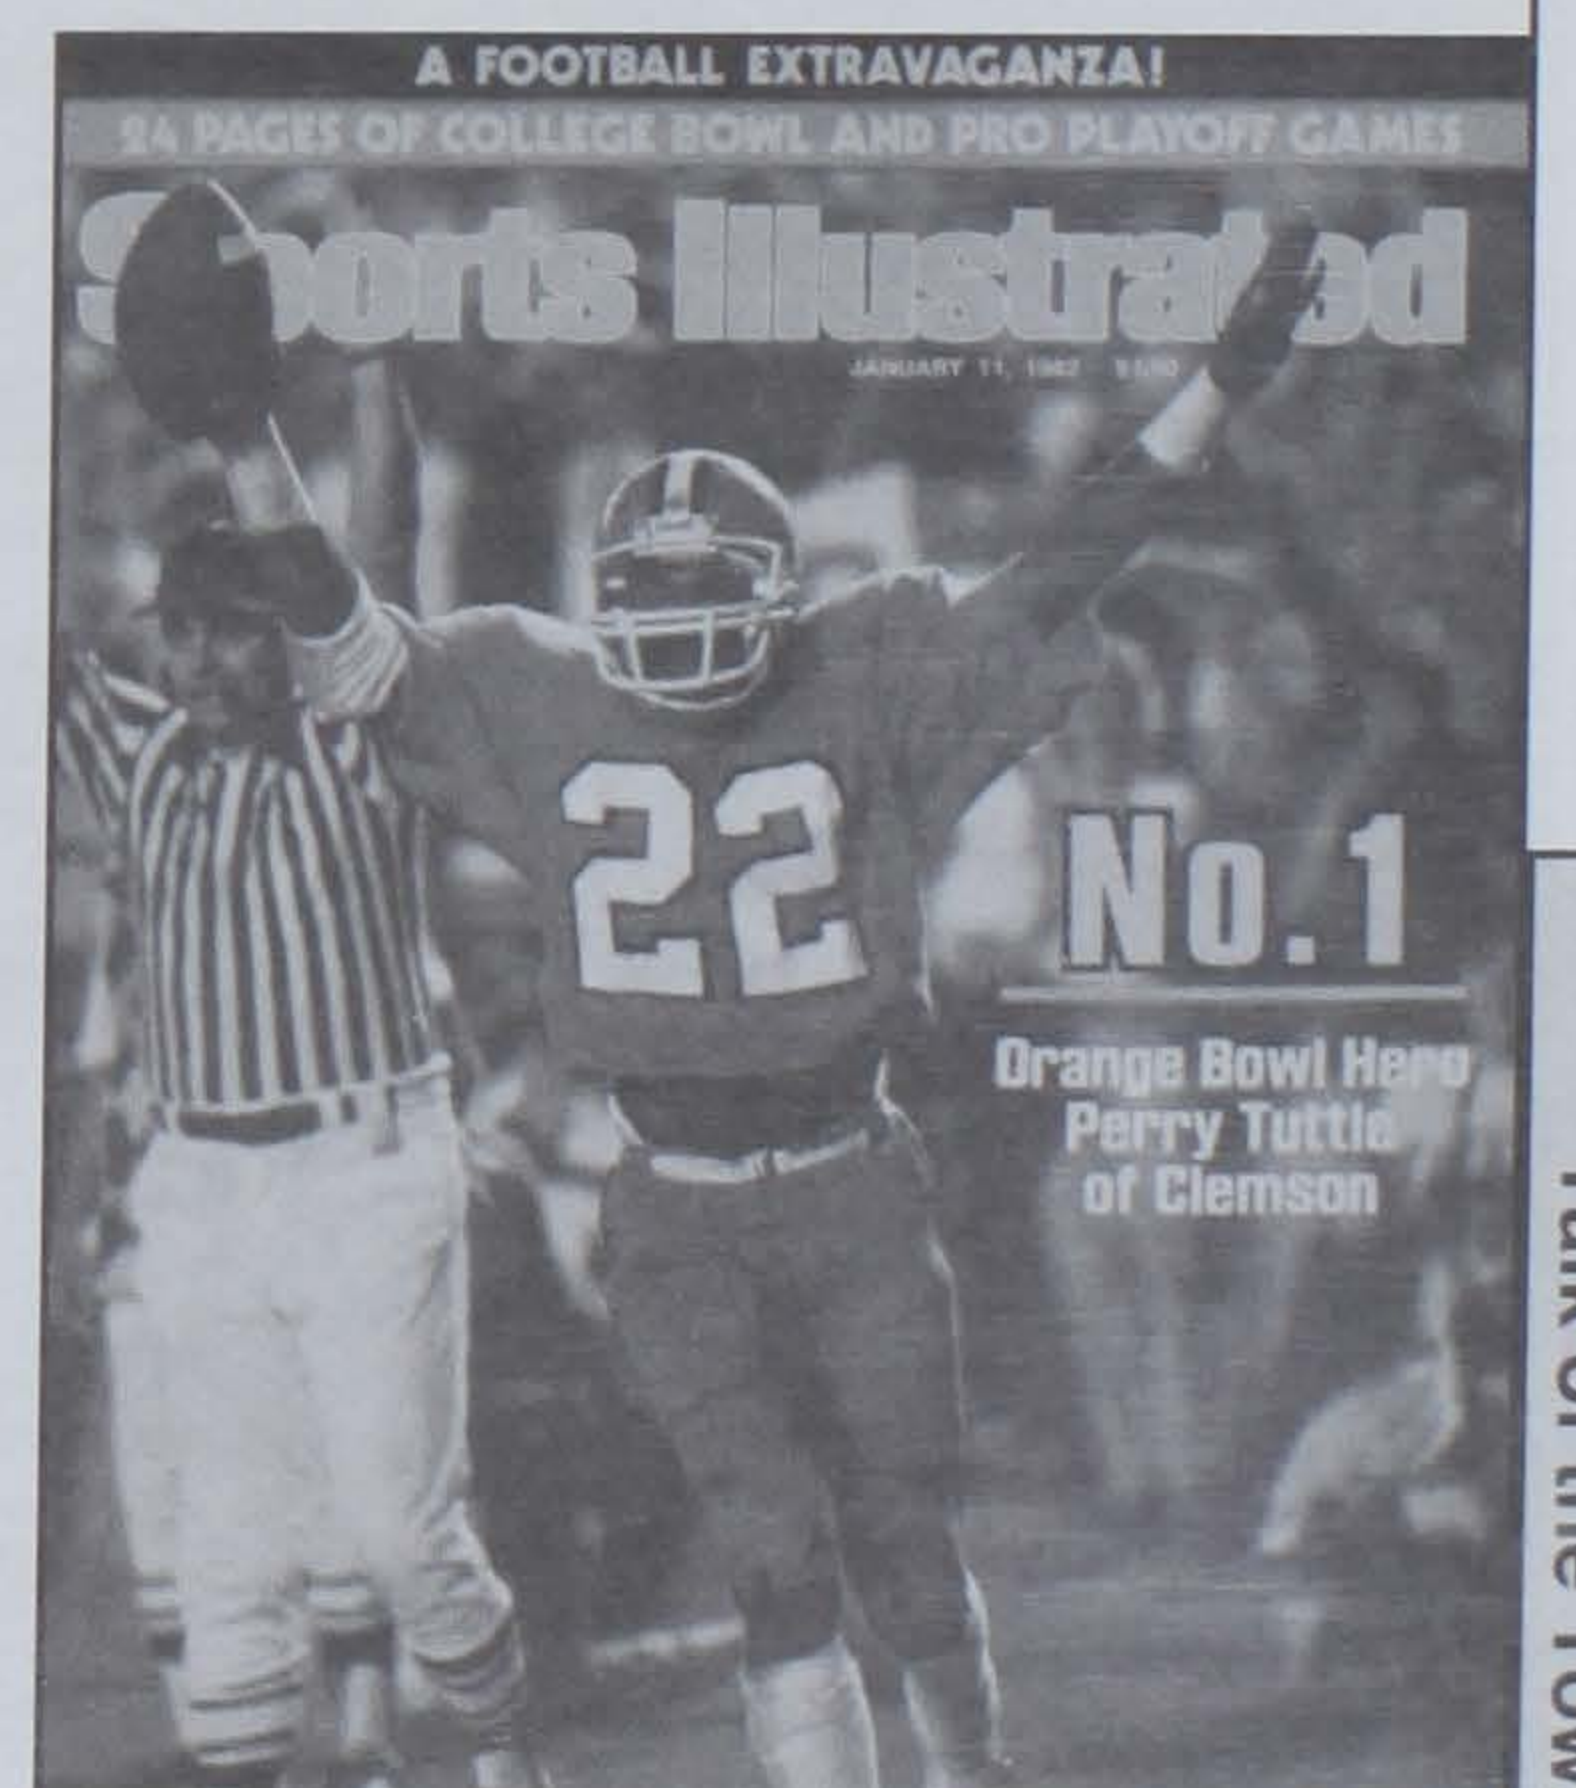

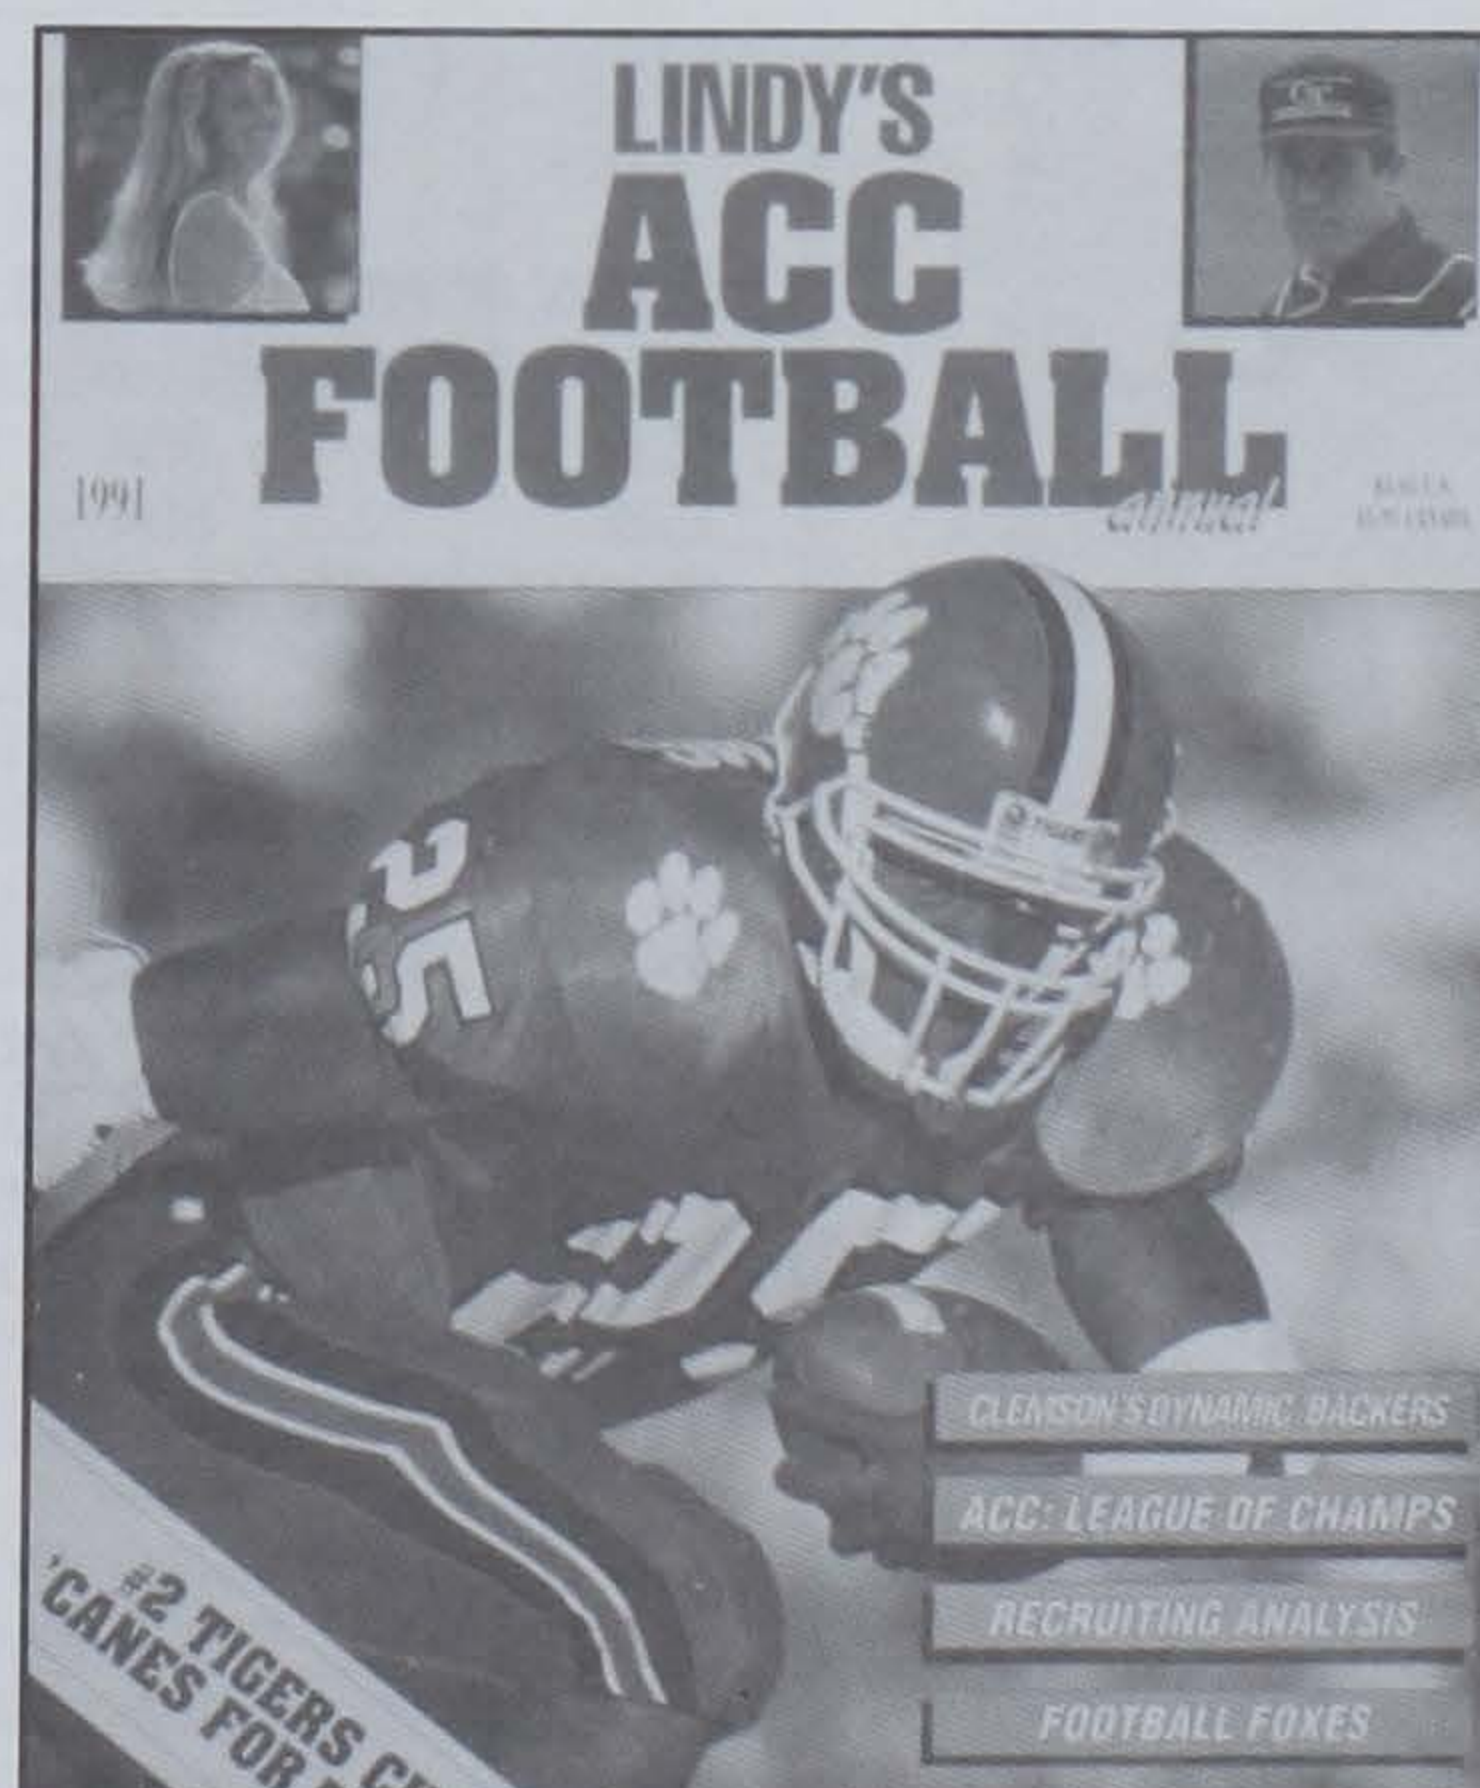

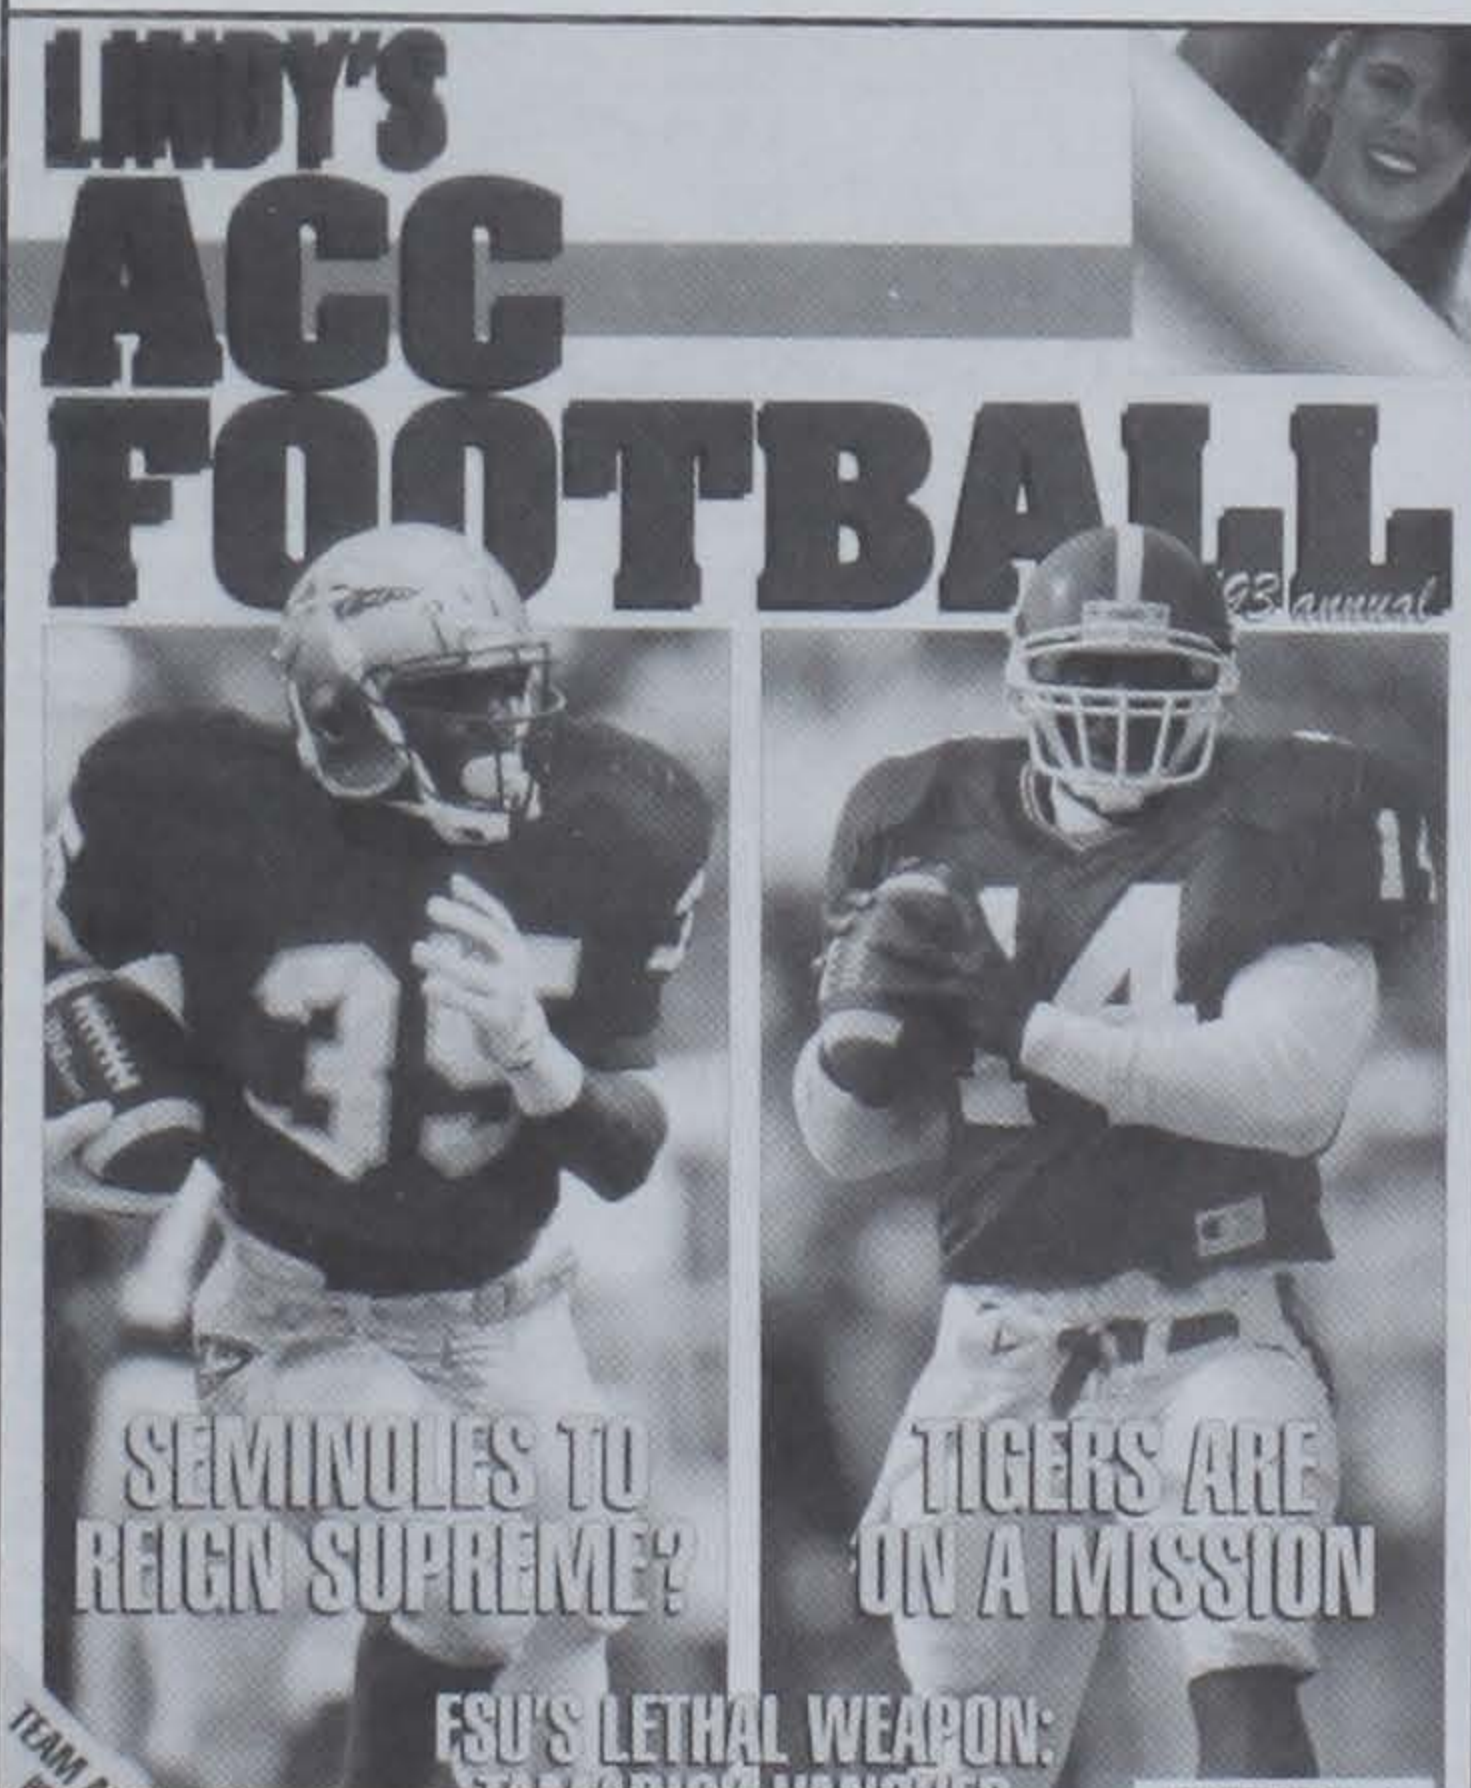

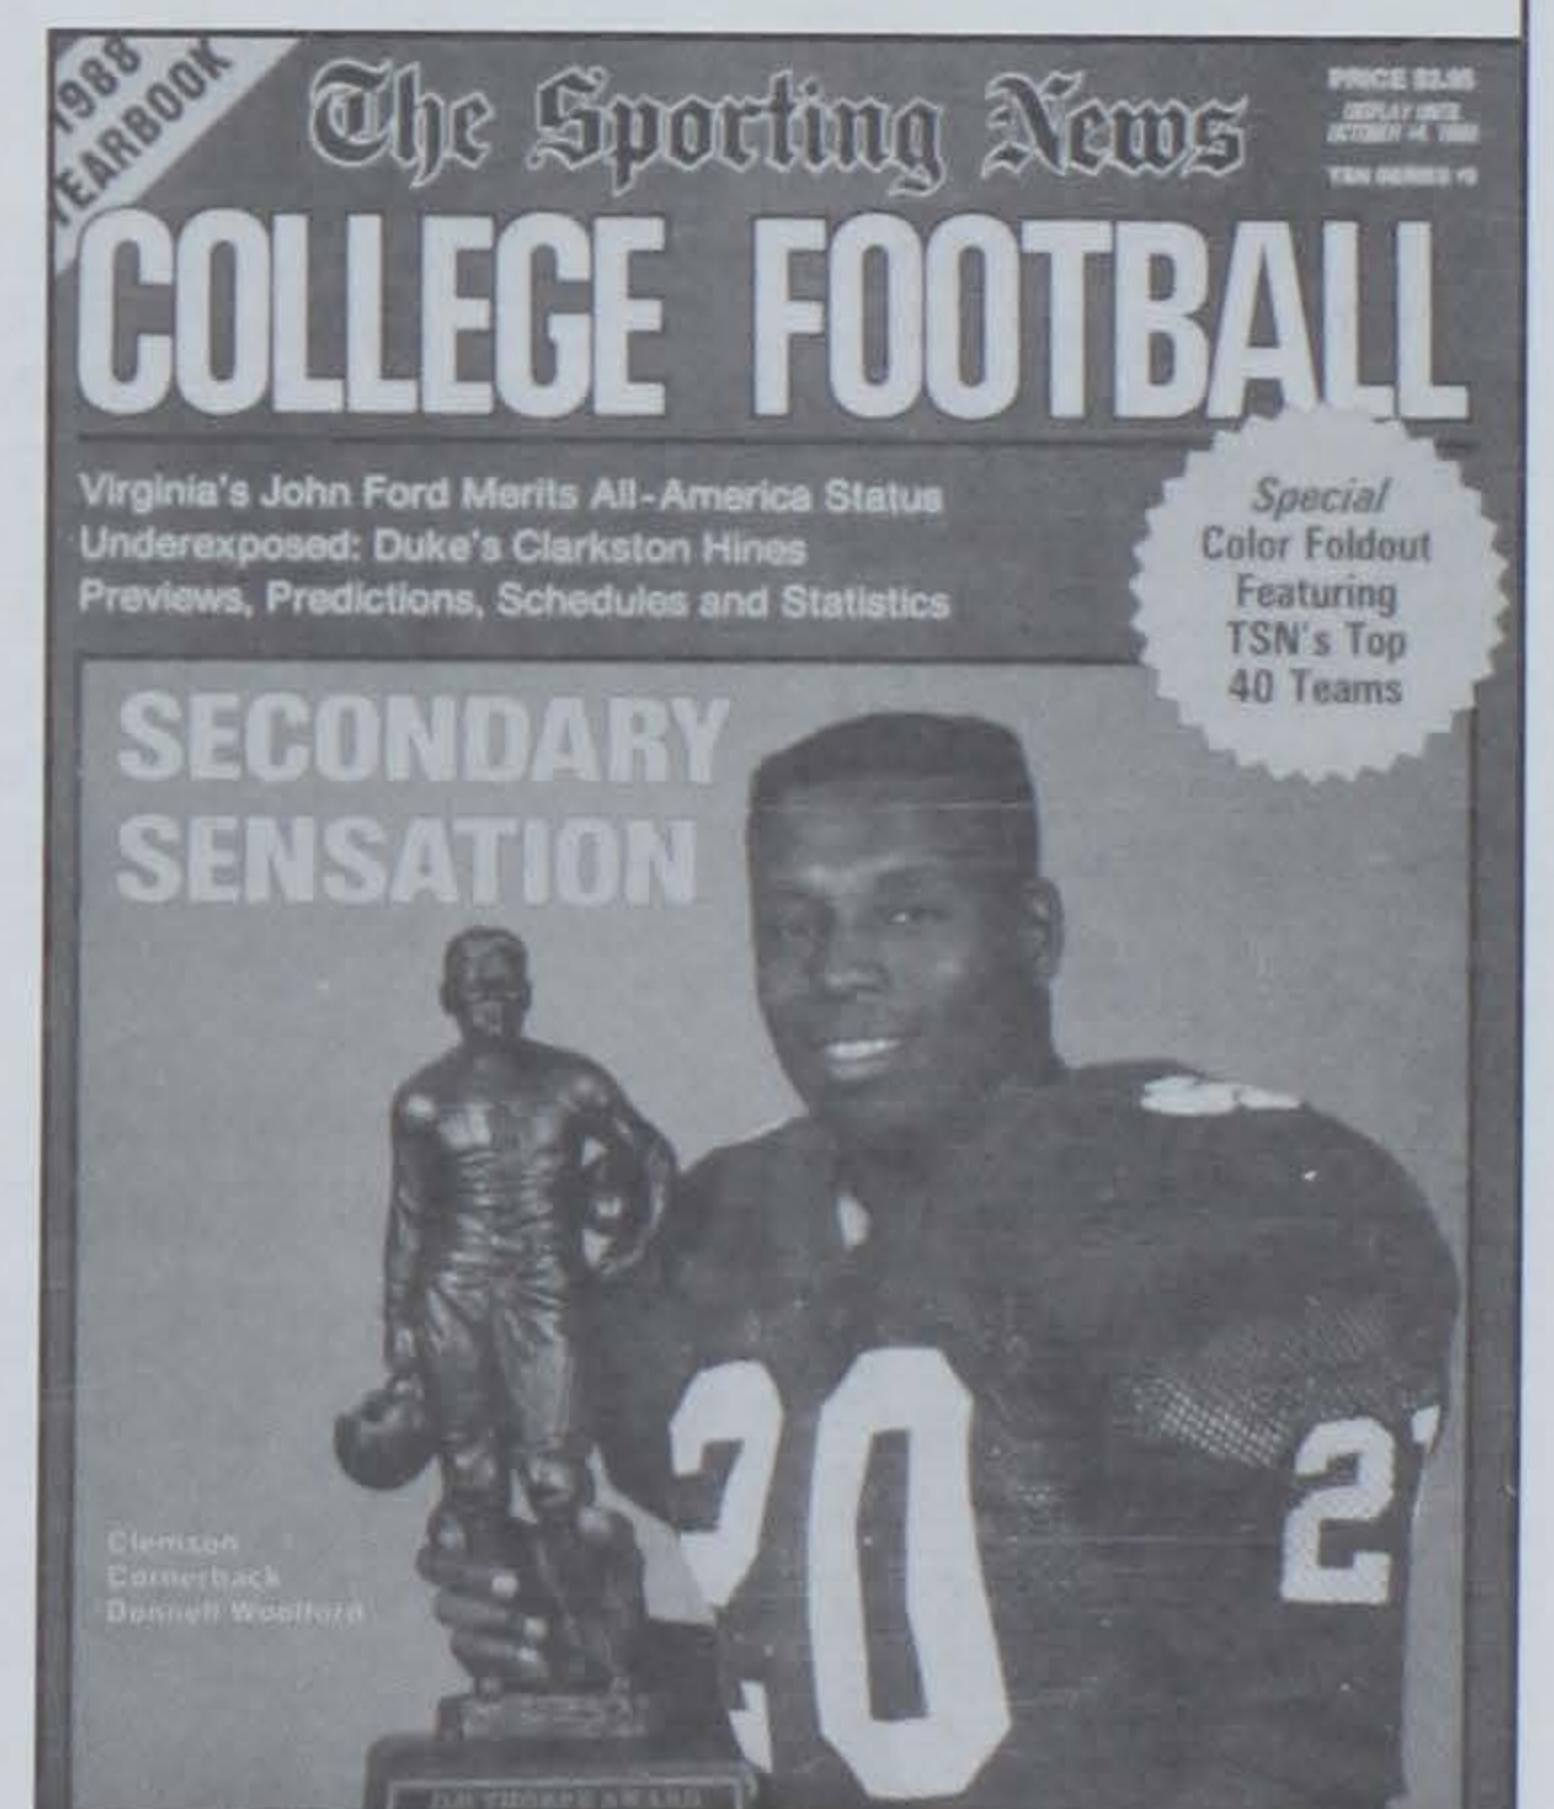

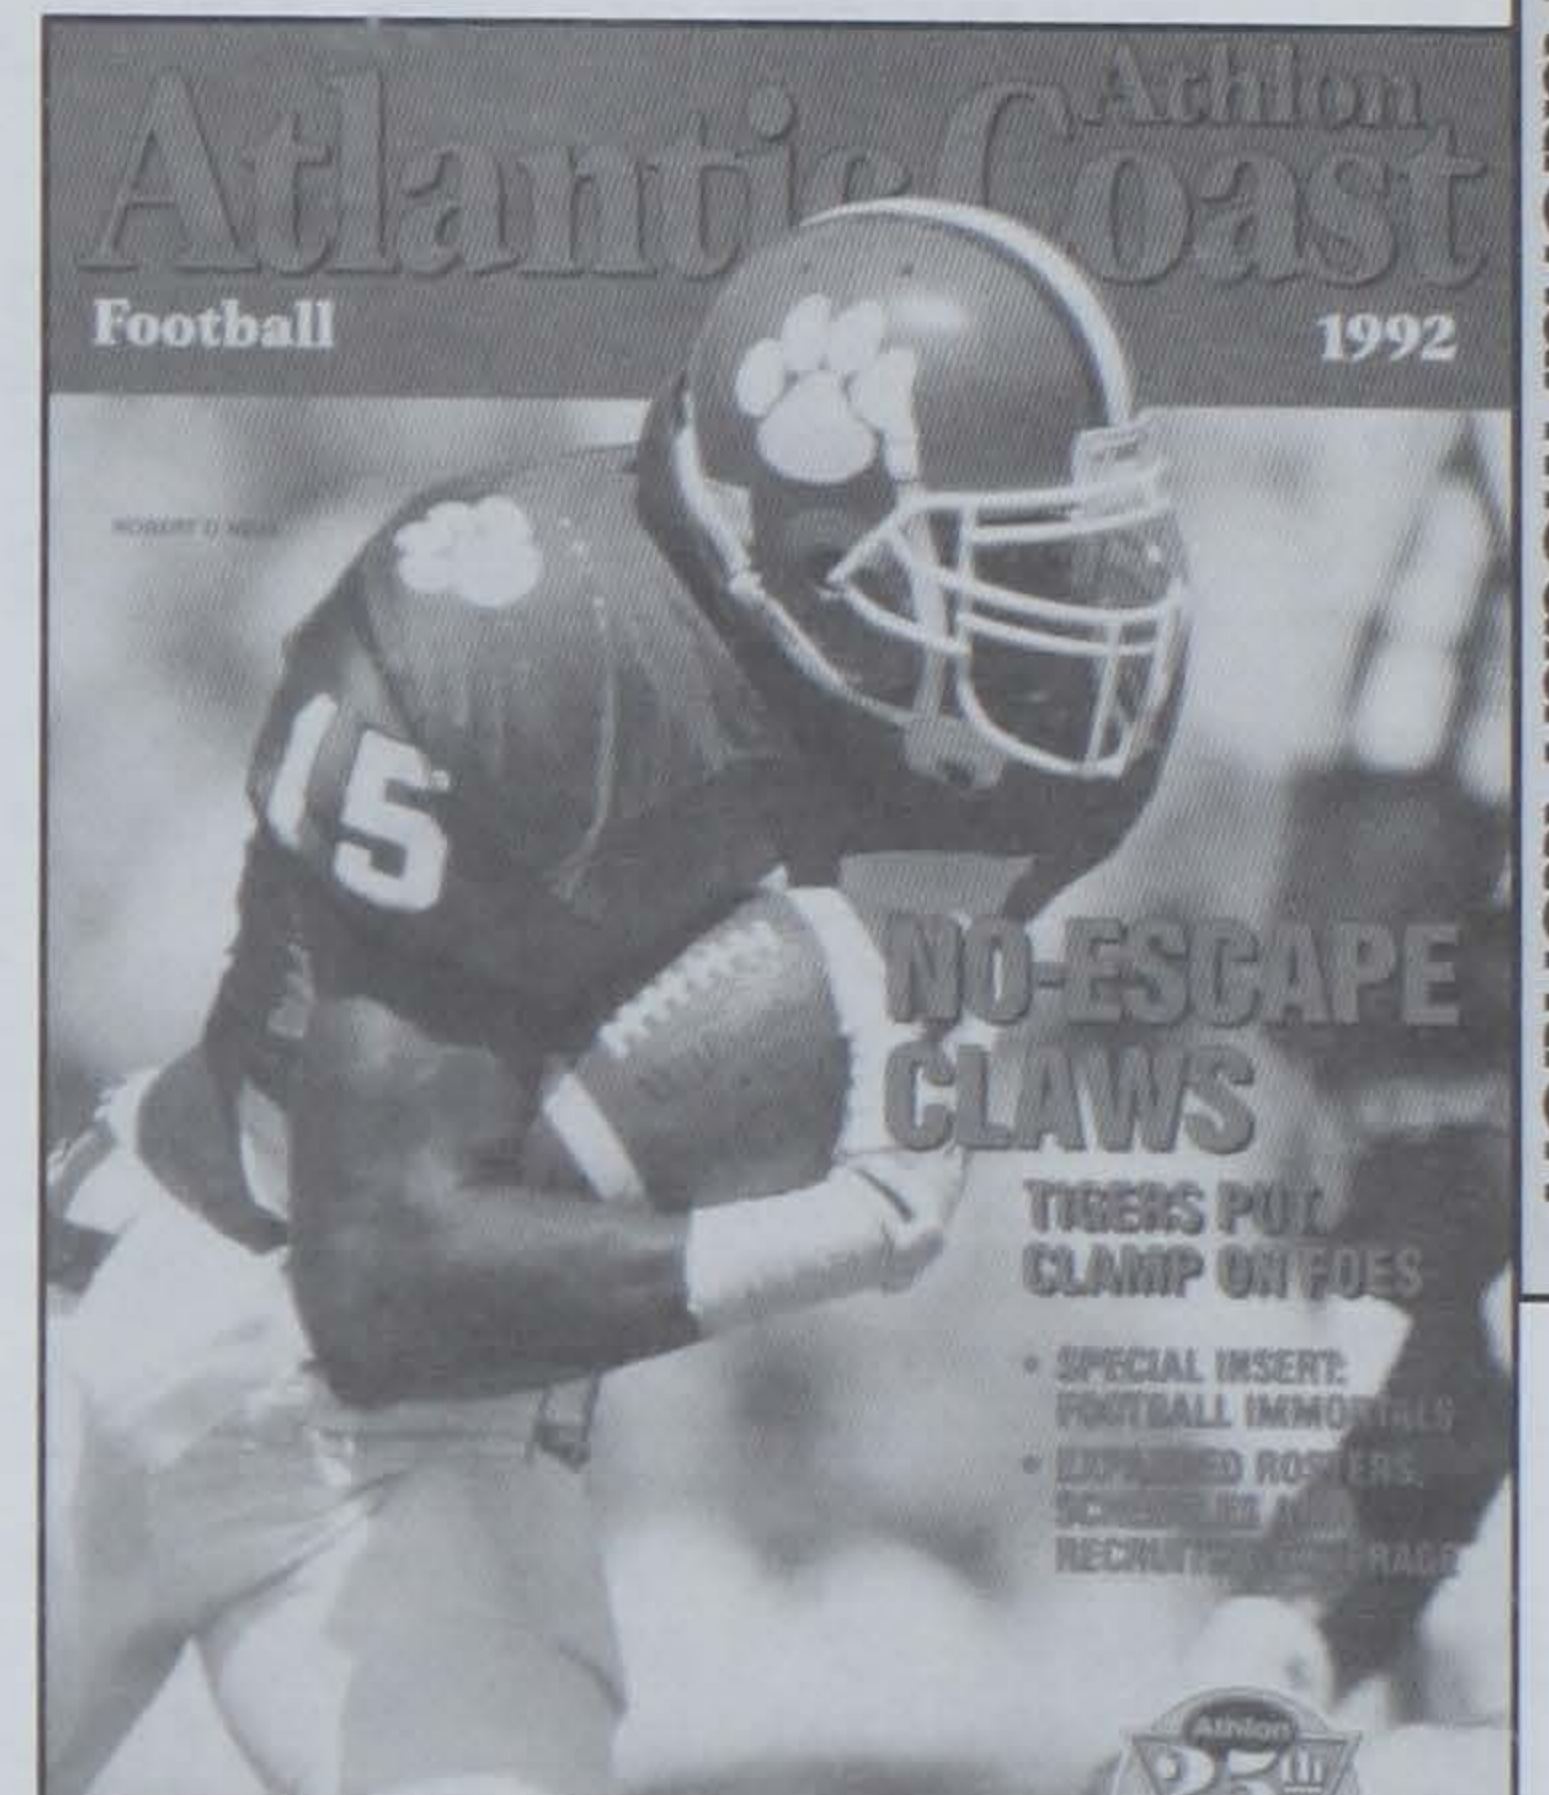

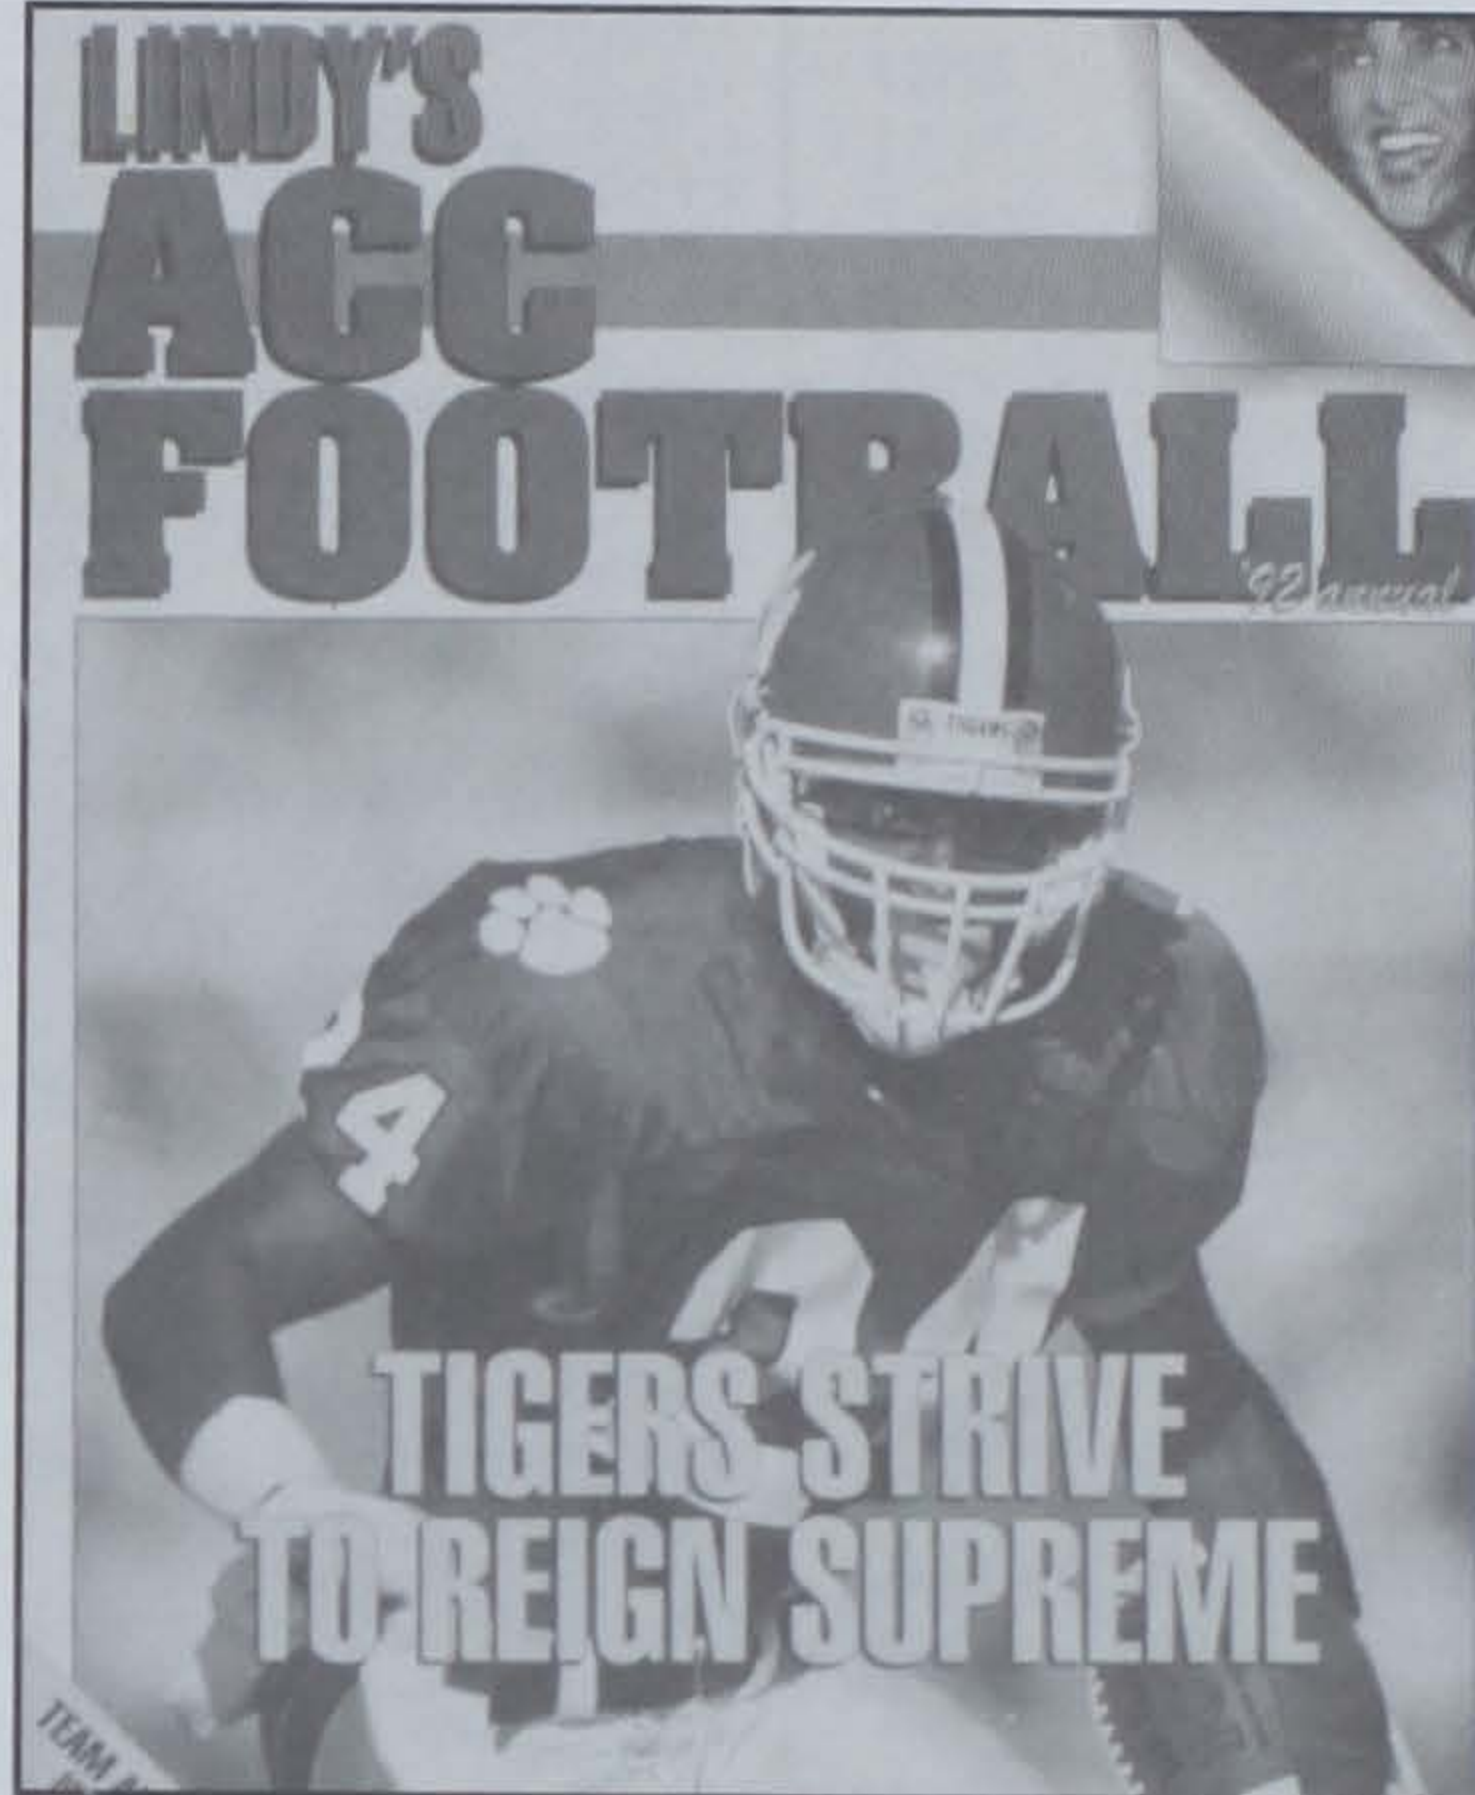

Clemson has been on live network or regional television 51 times over the last seven seasons, more than any other team in the ACC. This includes 27 appearances on ABC, CBS, NBC or ESPN since 1986.

The Clemson radio network penetrates South Carolina, North Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Virginia and Tennessee. The network is on the air for eight hours on the typical Saturday with pregame and postgame shows.

An average televised Clemson home game brings over 200 members of the media to Death Valley. Over the last two years representatives from Dallas, Los Angeles, New York, Chicago and other non-Southern cities have covered Clemson games.

This media attention has contributed to considerable acclaim for many Tiger football players. Clemson has had at least one All-American every year since 1977, including 1991 when four Tigers were named first-team All-American by various services.

In 1991 the attention on Clemson football went international, as the Tigers played in the Coca Cola Bowl in Tokyo, Japan for the second time in 10 years.

Homer Jordan was the offensive MVP for Clemson in its Orange Bowl win over Nebraska

- ✓ Clemson defeated Georgia 13-3 in the third week of the season. The Bulldogs were the defending national champions and ranked fourth in the nation entering the game.
- ✓ The Tigers defeated Wake Forest 82-24 on Halloween and broke 21 school, conference or stadium records in the process. Included in the records was a 756 figure for total offense, 536 in rushing yards.
- ✓ Clemson ranked second in the nation in scoring defense, seventh in total defense, eighth in rushing defense and sixth in turnover margin. Homer Jordan was 12th in passing efficiency, Dale Hatcher was 19th in punting, and Terry Kinard was 15th in interceptions.
- ✓ Clemson won the ACC Game-of-the-Century over North Carolina in Chapel Hill. The Tigers and Tar Heels met in the only meeting of Top 10 teams in ACC history, and Clemson came out on top 10-8. Clemson moved up to number-two in the nation with the victory.
- ✓ The Tigers won their first national title in any sport with the 22-15 victory over Nebraska in the 1982 Orange Bowl. Homer Jordan hit 11-22 passes and had 180 yards in total offense in leading Clemson to the victory. The Clemson defense allowed just one Nebraska completion in the second half. Clemson was named National Champion by every postseason poll.

Clemson Sports Program

The 1992-93 academic year was one that had many successes for Clemson, on both team and individual levels. Clemson had seven of its athletic teams finish in the Top 20, while three Clemson athletes won four National Championships.

Clemson had 24 first, second or third-team All-Americans in 1992-93, just three away from the most in Clemson history. The men's track program led the way with 11 All-Americans, four during the indoor season and seven during the outdoor season. The men's track program produced three national champions during the year, Michael Green (55 meters indoors, 100 meters outdoors), and Wesley Russell (400 meters indoors).

Ten teams advanced to post-season play during the 1992-93 academic year. NCAA post-season team bids were received in women's basketball, women's tennis, golf, and baseball.

There were three ACC Championship teams in 1992-93 with the men's track program claiming two of those championships. Coach Bob Pollock's outdoor team finished 10th at the NCAA Championships, the highest finish ever by the men's outdoor track program. It was the third consecutive year that the outdoor team had finished in the top 15. The indoor team was no less of a success, finishing second at the NCAA Indoor Championships, the highest finish by a Clemson team during the year. The Tigers have won the conference indoor track championship six times since 1987, five consecutively. Pollock was named the ACC Coach-of-the-Year for indoor and outdoor track, an honor he has won 10 times at Clemson. Michael Green was named the MVP of the ACC Outdoor Meet.

The Tiger Golf team finished fourth at the NCAA Championships in Lexington, KY, while all five of Larry Penley's golfers who competed were named honorable mention All-American or better. Clemson advanced to NCAA play for the 11th straight year, one of only four programs in the nation with that distinction.

The wrestling team, led by rookie head coach Gil Sanchez, had its highest finish ever with a number 13 national ranking. Junior Sam Henson defeated Chad Zaputil of Iowa to capture the National Championship at the 118 pound weight class. The Tigers had three ACC Champions, Sam Henson (118), Troy Bouzakis (126), and Tim Morrissey (177). Gil Sanchez was rewarded for his rookie season, being named the national runner-up for the Rookie Coach-of-the-Year by Amateur Wrestling News. He became just the third coach in Clemson history to lead a team to a top 20 finish in his first year at the helm, regardless of sport.

The men's basketball squad made its first post-season appearance since the 1989-90 season, advancing to the second round of the National Invitation Tournament. Clemson also advanced to the second round of the ACC Tournament by defeating 12th ranked Florida State in the first round. Head Coach Cliff Ellis became winningest coach in Clemson history with a 92-82 win over N.C. State on March 3rd. He now has 159 wins in his nine years as head coach. For the third time (all under Cliff Ellis) in just 15 years Clemson had two All-ACC players. Chris Whitney and Sharone Wright were both third team selections, while both were also second-team All-ACC Tournament.

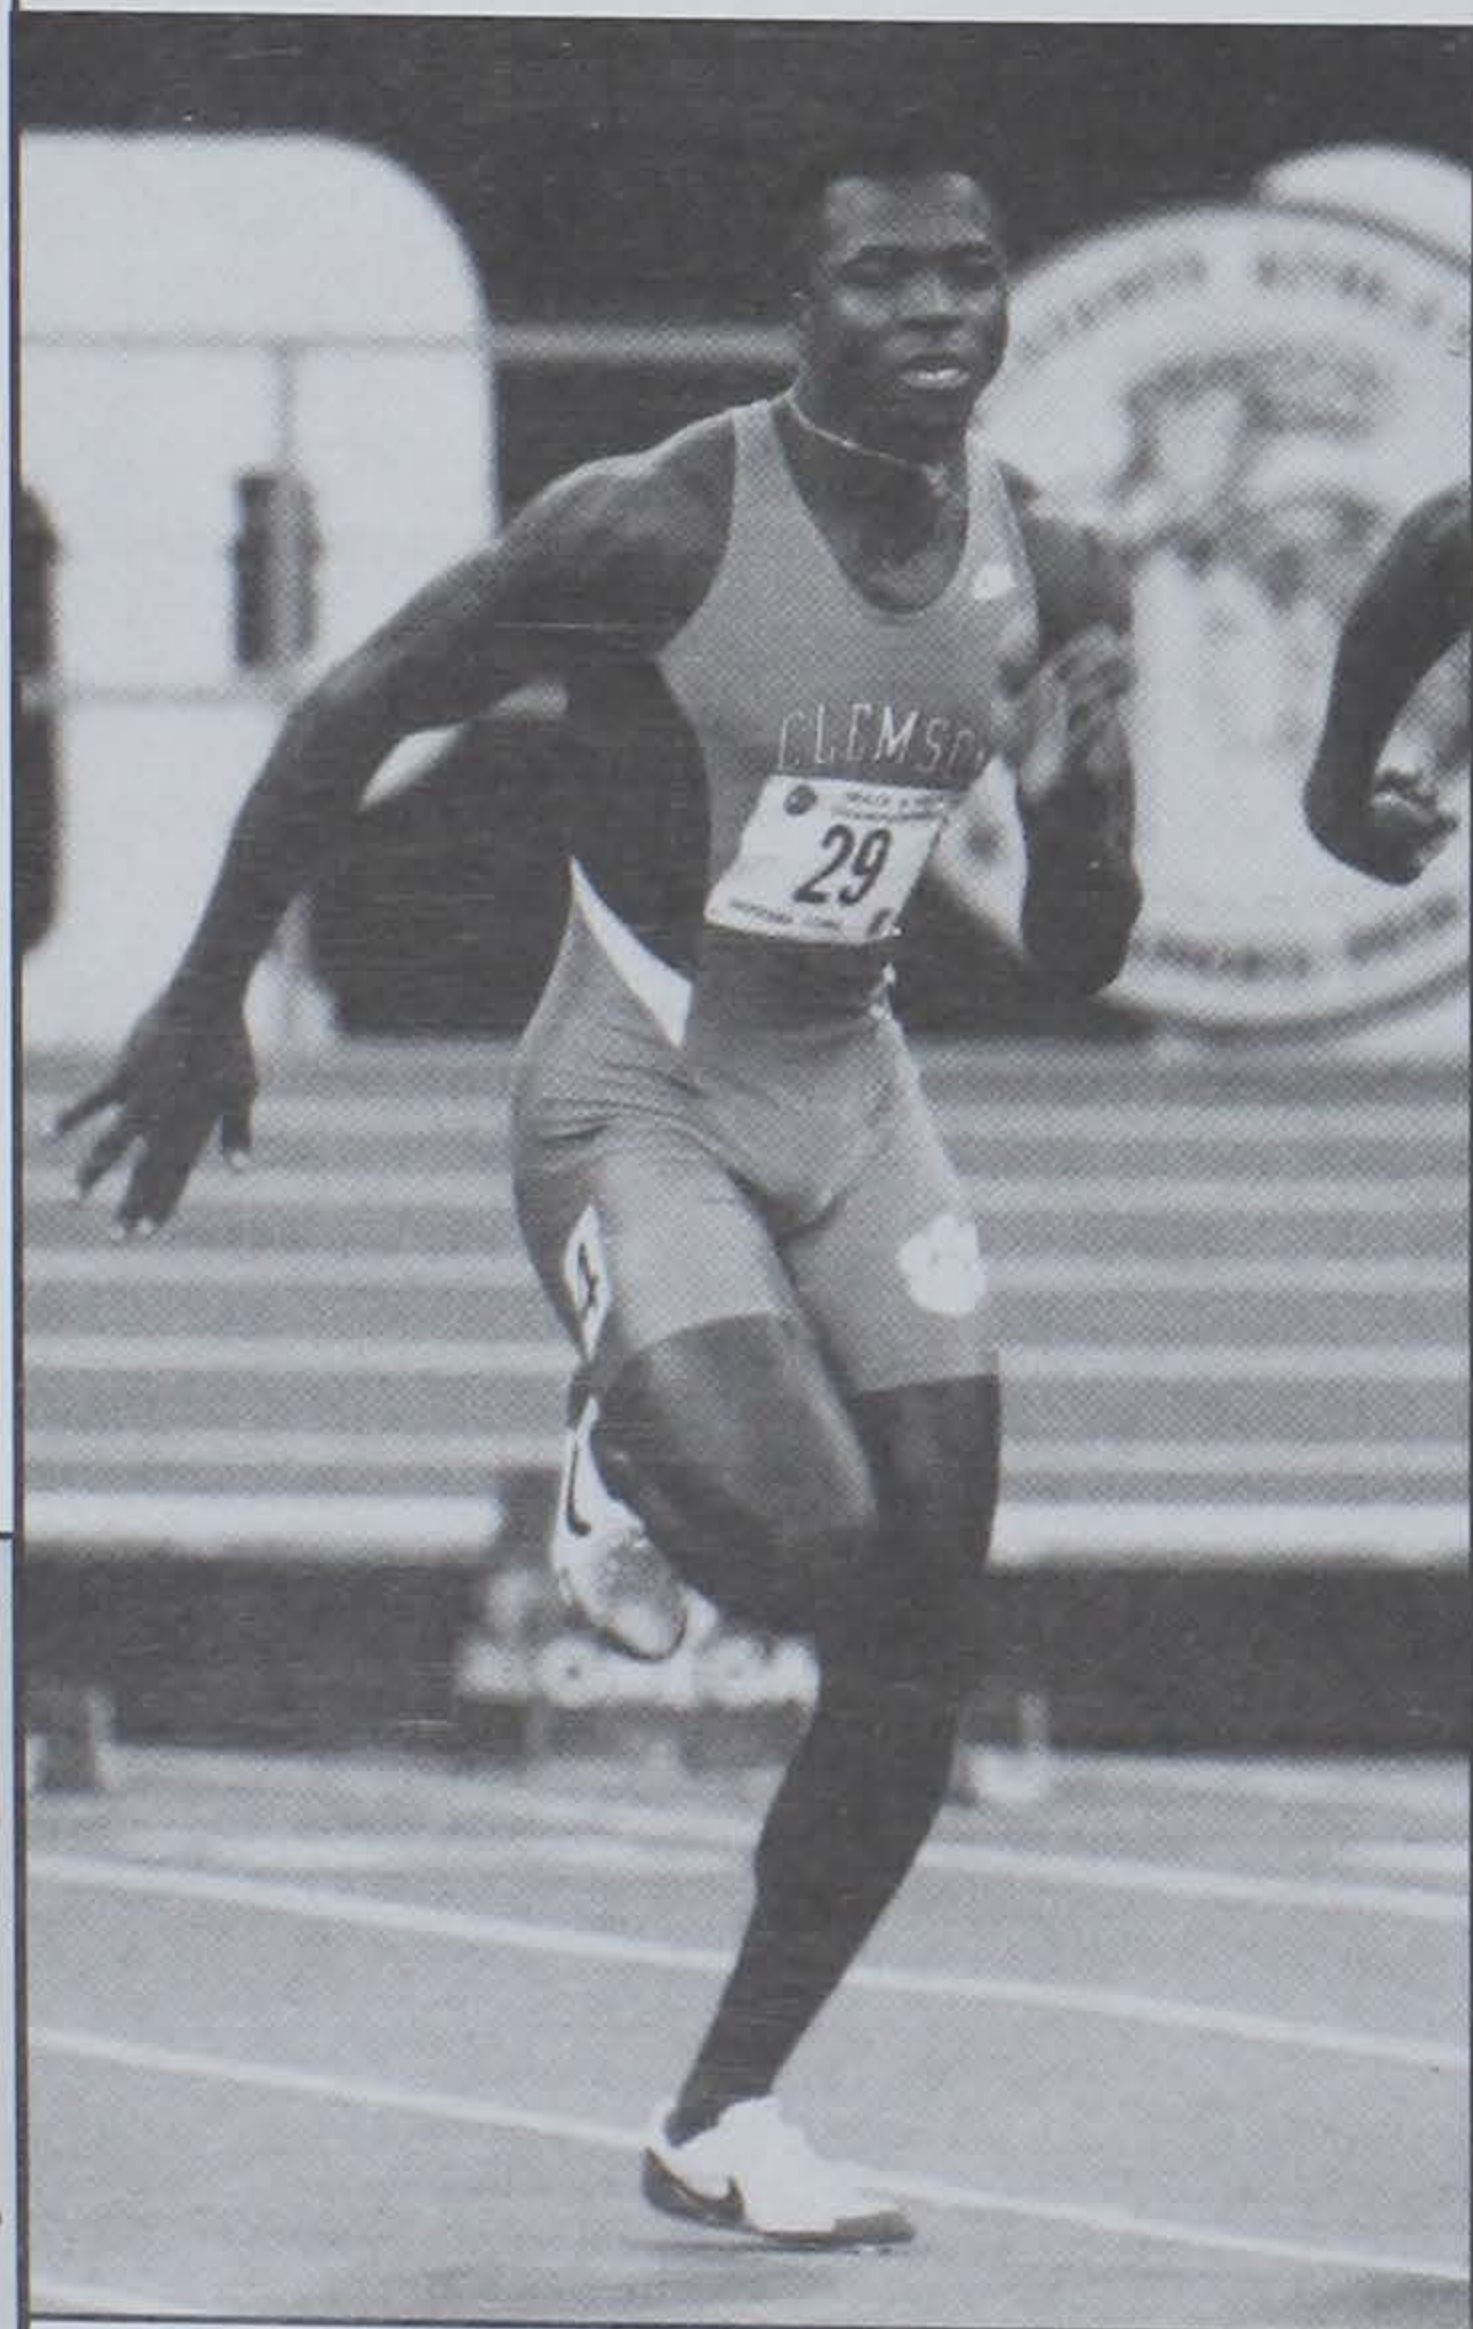

Head soccer coach Dr. I.M. Ibrahim won his 350th career game in 1993. The Tigers advanced to the finals of the ACC tournament. Unranked and unseeded, Clemson upset second-ranked Duke in the first round and N.C. State in the second round, before falling to Virginia in the finals.

Baseball claimed Clemson's third ACC Championship of the 1992-93 academic year. Coach Bill Wilhelm's team, which was only 11-11 in the ACC Regular season, became just the second number-five seed to win the ACC Tournament. In the ACC Championship game graduate-student Jeff Morris hit the second home run of his career (both grand slams coming against N.C. State pitcher David Allen) to give the Tigers a come from behind 11-7 victory. Clemson advanced to the NCAA Mideast Regional as the number-two seed, the sixth consecutive year that the Tigers have been a one or two seed in NCAA Regional play.

In football, the Tigers ranked sixth in the nation in rushing offense with 257.1 yards per game and led the ACC in that category. Clemson also ranked 13th in the nation in rushing defense, allowing 120.1 yards per game. Ken Hatfield's Tigers ranked in the top-25 in the AP poll for the first seven weeks of the season, running Clemson's school record streak to 50 straight weeks in the AP top 25.

The Tigers defeated 10th-ranked Virginia, 29-28, after trailing 28-0. Stacy Seegars was named a second-team AP

Michael Green became the first athlete in Clemson history to win two national titles in the same academic year, as he was an NCAA indoor champion in the 55 meters and won outdoor honors in the 100 meters.

Sam Henson led the Tiger wrestling team to a number-13 national finish, its highest ever, by winning the national championship in the 118-pound weight class.

All-American, while placekicker Nelson Welch was a third-team choice

Women's sports had another solid year in 1992-93, with three teams advancing to post-season play. The women's basketball team made its sixth consecutive NCAA Tournament appearance. Women's outdoor track had three All-Americans. Kim Graham, was an All-American in the 200 Meters was the ACC Outdoor MVP, winning the 100 meters, 200 meters, and anchoring the 4x100 meter relay.

The Clemson Volleyball team finished the year with a 24-9 mark. They set the school record for the longest match winning streak at 15. Robin Kibben, an All-ACC selection.

Coach Andy Johnston's Lady Tiger tennis team finished the season ranked 12th nationally. That was the highest finish for the ladies since 1986. Johnston was named the ACC Women's Tennis Coach-of-the-Year, while Amy Young, Emma Peetz, and Shannon Young were All-ACC selections.

The women's basketball team made its sixth straight trip to the NAAs, Shandy Bryan was a first-team All-ACC choice. It marked the sixth straight year Jim Davis's team had won at least 19 games.

Clemson teams were also a rousing success in the classroom in 1992-93, with a record 122 student-athletes making a 3.0 or better. Of those, 28 were named to the Dean's List (a 3.5 or better) and 14 were named to the President's List (a perfect 4.0). Among those athletes on the Dean's List were NCAA Champion Michael Green (3.60), and Cormac Finnerty (3.50), who was an All-American in Indoor and Outdoor Track. Soccer goalie Jaro Zawislak, a second-team All-South selection in soccer, was named a second-team ISAA All-America Academic selection. He also won the Clemson University Rand-McNally Prize in Geography.

The Clemson Golf team was also well represented on the Clemson Athletic Honor Roll. Bobby Doolittle (3.33), Mark Swygert (3.25), and Nick Goetz (3.00), who were All-Americans and All-ACC selections on the course, performed well in the classroom.

Anthony Knight was Clemson's top all-around student-athlete in 1992-93. The hurdler on the 10th-ranked Clemson track team won the ACC's Jim Weaver Award and received an NCAA postgraduate scholarship. A dean's list student most of his career, Knight had a perfect 4.0 GPA in the fall of 1992. Athletically, Knight was a two-time All-American and was a member of the 1992 Jamaican Olympic team.

Kim Graham won her fourth ACC MVP honor at the 1993 Outdoor Meet, she won 15 ACC titles in her career.

Clemson	11-7	.611

- ✓ The ACC is the only conference in the country to have each of its schools play in at least one bowl game in the last four years. The ACC has had 18 total bowl invitations over the last four years.
- ✓ Georgia Tech, with a 17-8 (.680) postseason mark, is number-one among Division I-A teams in bowl winning percentage. The Yellow Jackets lead a list of three ACC teams that rank in the top seven all-time bowl teams. Florida State is sixth with a 12-7-2 (.619) record and Clemson is seventh at 11-7 (.611).
- ✓ Two ACC Schools, Clemson and Florida State, rank among the top 11 teams in the nation as far as winning percentage over the last 10 years. The same two schools are also ranked in the top 11 in the nation in terms of years ranked in the final AP Top 20 over the last 13 years.

- ✓ The nine ACC schools who take the field this fall under the ACC banner have produced 288 first or second-team gridiron All-Americans and 45 first-team academic All-Americans. ACC schools have had 1,233 players selected in the annual professional draft, including 75 first-round selections.
- ✓ Seven times in the past 13 years an ACC member school has claimed the CFA Academic Achievement Award, which is awarded to a CFA member institution with the highest graduation rate among members of its football team.
- ✓ The ACC had 29 players selected in the 1992 NFL draft, including four first-round selections. The first-round picks were Marvin Jones of Florida State by the New York Jets, Dave Brown of Duke by the New York Giants, Wayne Simmons of Clemson by the Green Bay Packers and Thomas Smith of North Carolina by the Buffalo Bills. The 29 selections ranked as the fourth highest total in ACC history.
- ✓ Florida State led all ACC schools with six players drafted, while Clemson was second with 5.
- ✓ Four ACC teams are guaranteed of appearing in postseason bowls this year. Two ACC teams are committed to the 1993 Football Bowl Coalition. The league champion is guaranteed a spot in one of four Tier One Bowls, the Orange, Sugar, Cotton and Fiesta, and a second team will be available for the Tier Two Bowls, the Gator and the John Hancock. For the second year of a three-year contract, the ACC is committed to sending a third team to the Peach Bowl. The ACC begins a two-year deal to have a fourth league team compete against a Big Ten team, also a number-four team, in the Hall of Fame Bowl.

- ✓ The 1992 season marked the fourth straight year that the ACC had at least four teams in bowl games and the 21st straight year that at least two teams have appeared in postseason play.
- ✓ The 1992 season was the fifth time in six years that at least one ACC team was ranked in the Top 10 of the wire services. At least two ACC teams have been listed in the Final AP poll every year since 1985.
- ✓ The ACC was a balanced league in 1992, as for the first time in the 40-year history of the league, six teams had at least four league wins. Seven of the nine ACC teams were ranked in either the AP or USA Today polls during the course of the season and seven of the nine teams had at least one win over a top 25 team. Eight of the nine ACC schools were represented on the first-team all-conference team.
- ✓ The ACC boasted an all-time high 11 players who were named first or second-team All-American in 1992. Clemson is second in the ACC as far as all-time All-America selections with 45.
- ✓ The ACC was 23-8-1 (.735) against outside competition in 1992, the second best mark in league history. The record is .770 in 1990. In the decade of the 1990s the ACC is 85-31-3 for a .727 non-conference record. The ACC is 13-13 against AP Top 25 non-conference teams in the decade of the 1990s.
- ✓ For the second year in a row the ACC drew more than 2.3 million fans. Clemson led the way with a 76,789 figure, the 17th straight year Clemson has led the league in attendance.
- ✓ The ACC was one of the top scoring and total offense leagues in the nation in 1992. Six of the nine schools ranked in the top 50 in total offense and seven ranked in the top 50 in scoring offense.
- ✓ Defensively, the ACC had six of the top 45 teams in the nation in scoring defense. Six of the nine schools had at least 30 sacks in 1992.

Clemson and Florida State both rank among the most successful football programs in the nation over the last 10 years.

Clemson University President Max Lennon's ambition is to be president of the nation's top technologically-oriented land grant university. And he doesn't plan to leave campus to achieve that goal. Because that's the vision Lennon has for Clemson: not to be "one of the best," but to be better at what it does than any other school.

To achieve the vision, Lennon has brought the business world's concepts of total quality management and strategic planning to the academic arena. He hopes these concepts will help reduce bureaucracy, increase involvement of students, faculty and staff in the management of the university, increase diversity, and create an atmosphere of a community of scholars.

"The vision statement that has emerged from the strategic planning process — to become the nation's leading technologically-oriented land-grant university — sets a challenging course for this institution's development: to become the best in our league," he has said.

It is this commitment to excellence that has enabled Lennon to lead Clemson to new heights during his seven years as president. The Lennon presidency has seen the completion of the most successful campaign in the university's, and the state's, history; unprecedented growth in research, topping $100 million in annual expenditures last year; and an ongoing program of campus revitalization that balances the university's desire for technological excellence, cultural awareness, and historic preservation.

Lennon came to Clemson from Ohio State University, where he had been president for agriculture administration and executive dean for agriculture, home economics and natural resources. He also served on the Ohio State Faculty Senate and co-chaired the Governor's Commission on Agriculture.

Previously, he had served as dean of the College of Agriculture at Ohio State, director of the Agricultural Experiment Station at the University of Missouri, and as associate dean and director of research in the College of Agricultural Sciences at Texas Tech University.

Lennon is a native of Columbus County, NC, and earned his bachelor's degree and doctorate from N.C. State University, where he began his teaching career.

The Clemson president has been active in a number of state and national organizations. He is one of 13 university presidents and chancellors appointed to a nationwide committee to study the role of public service at land-grant and other public institutions.

The Outreach Futures Committee, a product of the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, is charged with rethinking the concept of Extension-type activities at public colleges and universities.

"The traditional Extension model has been enormously effective at increasing agricultural productivity and rural development in this country, and now we need to modernize traditional programs and to look at harnessing that same type of energy to focus on other community and educational needs, such as health, natural resource management, and K-12 education," Lennon said. "Clemson is recognized as a national leader in developing a new outreach model through programs in local leadership development, community-based education and creative programming for young people and their families."

In addition to the Outreach committee post, Lennon serves on the organization's Commission on Veterinary Medicine and is a member of the Congressional Office of Technology Assessment's Advisory Council. He is also a member of the Council of Presidents, the S.C. Research Authority Board, the Chamber of Commerce Board, the National Dropout Prevention Fund Board, the Farm Foundation Board, the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS) Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics and the SACS Executive Council. Other Board appointments include First Union, Delta Woodside and Duke Power.

In 1991, he received the Thomas Green Clemson Medallion, the highest public honor given by the university.

Lennon is married to Ruth Carter Lennon. This past year, they joined an elite group of people who can call themselves "Clemson Parents" when both children, Daniel Ray and Robin, received degrees from the university.

Administration

Bobby Robinson

Athletic Director

The Clemson athletic program's commitment to excellence begins with Athletic Director Bobby Robinson. The program has been on the rise in just about all forms of athletics in recent years. Robinson's commitment to success in competition, academics and facilities has been the key to the level of distinction that the program has maintained during his years at the helm of the program.

In 1992-93, seven of Clemson's 18 athletic programs finished the year ranked in the top 20 of their respective sports. There were four NCAA individual national championships won in 1993, the most ever for Clemson in a single year.

Clemson's indoor track program posted the highest national ranking of the year. Bob Pollock's club won second place honors at the NCAA's for the second consecutive year. The Tiger golf squad finished fourth nationally.

Clemson athletes had a record spring semester in the classroom as well. A total of 122 athletes earned at least a 3.0 in the classroom in that semester, a school record for one semester. Additionally, 28 athletes made the Dean's List and 13 made the President's List, a perfect 4.0.

Under the direction of Robinson, the athletic department continues to support the university. Over $1.9 million has been contributed to the athletic academic scholarship fund; and band travel equipment and uniforms are funded by athletic dollars. An educational enhancement fund has been coordinated through the efforts of the athletic department and the Athletic Council.

Robinson graduated from Furman with a B.S. degree in business and political science in 1968. He was the president of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity chapter at Furman. Robinson came to Clemson in 1970 and after three years in housing administration, he moved across campus to serve as an administrative assistant in the athletic department.

After serving the athletic department in various capacities, he became business manager in 1975. Two years later he was named assistant athletic director, and in 1980 he became associate AD. He held that title for six years, and his area of responsibility moved to primarily football and basketball. The native of Columbia, SC, became Athletic Director in March of 1985.

While serving his administrative duties, Robinson found time to coach the Clemson golf team between 1975 and 1983. During his time as the head coach, Clemson won its first ACC title and three times the Tigers participated in the NCAA Tournament. In 1983, his final season as the head coach, he guided Clemson to a number-five National finish.

Robinson has served on the NCAA golf committee, the CFA Board of Directors, the Division I-A Certification Committee, ACC Television Committee, ACC Long Range Planning Committee, ACC Booking Office Committee, ACC Committee on Infractions and Penalties, ACC Gender Equity Committee, ACC Golf Committee, and ACC Committee to Study Football in the 1990's.

Dwight Rainey

Senior Associate Athletic Director

When there is success in college athletics, experience in almost always a key factor. Senior Associate Athletic Director Dwight Rainey is an example of success gained from a wide variety of experience.

Rainey is entering his 18th academic year with the Clemson University Athletic Department. For the past nine years, he has overseen scheduling and administered other duties involving the football and men's basketball programs. He is also in charge of the Clemson weight and equipment rooms.

While football and basketball may be the two highest profile sports at Clemson, the 16 non-revenue sports have also enjoyed enormous success. Rainey is the point man for those sports and oversees their day-to-day operation. The 1992-93 sports year was quite a success for those in the non-revenue sports. There were seven top-20 finishes, three ACC Championships (Baseball, Men's Indoor Track, Men's Outdoor Track), 56 All-ACC selections, and four individual national champions from the non-revenue sports. Of the 16 non-revenue sports, nine participated in NCAA post-season play.

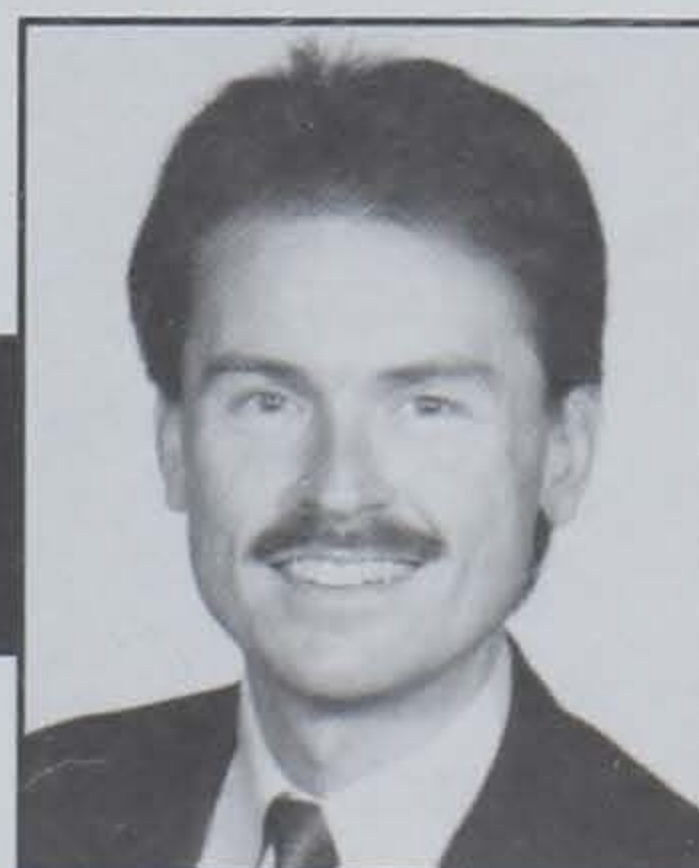

The success of the 1992-93 academic year should come as no surprise. In his nine years overseeing the Clemson non-revenue sports program, Clemson has been in the top-25 in the nation in the Knoxville Journal All-Sports Poll six times.

Prior to moving into administration at Clemson, Rainey served as Bill Foster's top assistant in the men's basketball program for 13 years, five at UNC Charlotte and eight at Clemson. One of Rainey's coaching highlights was the 1979-80 Clemson team that finished with a 23-9 mark. That squad advanced to the Final 8 of the NCAA Tournament, the furthest a Clemson men's basketball team ever advanced in the NCAA tournament.

Rainey has also had experience outside of college athletics. Between 1967 and August of 1970, he worked with a division of the Chrysler Corporation in Atlanta, GA.

The 47-year-old Rainey earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in business administration from Shorter College in 1967 and a Master's degree from UNC Charlotte in 1972.

Rainey is married to the former Cheryl Dye, a native of Paris, MO. Cheryl has a daughter, Jenna (9).

Len Gough

Associate Athletic Director

Len Gough enters his eighth year as associate athletic director for public affairs, which includes all marketing. The 1974 Clemson graduate is into his 23rd year of service to Clemson, as he began his relationship with the Clemson University Athletic Department as an undergraduate. The Chester, SC, native came to Clemson as a freshman in 1970, serving as an undergraduate football manager, and since that time has worked with almost every aspect of the athletic program.

After receiving his undergraduate degree, Gough was named assistant equipment manager, and in August of 1976 was named the head equipment supervisor. In that role, he directed the purchase, maintenance, and issue of $1.5 million inventory. He also was in charge of arranging the travel itinerary for the football and basketball trips, including Clemson's two trips to Tokyo, Japan for football games in 1982 and 1991. In that position of head equipment supervisor, Gough oversaw the letterman award program, and designed the national championship football ring.

Gough showed his versatility when he moved into the role of assistant executive secretary of IPTAY in July of 1982. Among his responsibilities were assisting in the total fundraising efforts of IPTAY, supervision of executive suites in Clemson's Memorial Stadium, serving as game manager for basketball games, and coordinating all tournaments hosted by Clemson. Gough was part of the staff when IPTAY raised over five million dollars.

Just two year later in 1984, Gough earned yet another promotion, when he was named assistant athletic director in charge of promotions and media relations. He continued to serve as the game manager for football and basketball, as well as coordinating all event promotions. In March of 1985, Gough was elevated to his current position of Associate Athletic Director.

Gough's duties also include the athletic department's marketing program, sales and supervision of the executive suites in Memorial Stadium that create over $1.3 million in revenue a year, the courtesy vehicle program, cultivating major corporate sponsors, the administration of television and radio operations, and special events. Essentially, Gough is the salesman for the athletic department.

Gough, who is a graduate of Chester High School in Chester, SC, is married to the former Jane Price of Greenwood, SC (Clemson Class of 1975, Master's in 1976). The couple celebrated their ninth anniversary this past year. In his spare time, which is certainly limited, Gough is an avid NASCAR racing fan.

Van Hilderbrand

Associate Athletic Director

Any Tiger fan who has ever needed tickets or parking for a Clemson athletic event will recognize the name of Van Hilderbrand. He has served the Clemson athletic department for 16 years and is in his ninth year as an associate/assistant athletic director. He is in charge of the ticket office and supervises all parking administration and also works with game day operations and security.

Hilderbrand is certainly familiar with the athletic department. He started his association there as a student employee in the office during his college career, 1970-74. In 1976 he filled the newly created position of assistant ticket manager, and in 1980 he was named Athletic Department Ticket Manager. In 1985 he was made an assistant athletic director.

Demand for tickets to Clemson athletic events is at an all-time high and it is Hilderbrand's responsibility to distribute the tickets to the thousands who attend the games. Hilderbrand and his staff sell more football season tickets than any other school in the ACC. In 1992, Clemson ranked seventh in the nation in attendance and has been in the top 10 in the nation every year since 1983.

In the 12 years since Hilderbrand took the job as ticket manager, he has distributed more season tickets than ever before for football and basketball. He has met the challenge by keeping up with the technology of the profession. Clemson has utilized a computerized ticket system since 1986.

Hilderbrand worked as athletic supervisor for the Greenwood Recreation Department for two years after graduation, and in 1976, he returned to Clemson.

Hilderbrand graduated from Clover (SC) High School in 1970, and earned his degree in parks and recreation administration from Clemson in 1974. The 41-year old is married to the former Diane Harris of Clover and they have two children, Van Jr., who was born December 31, 1979, the day Clemson met Baylor in the Peach Bowl, and Lee Elizabeth, who was born October, 1985.

In his spare time, Hilderbrand enjoys golf and working with the Boy Scouts.

Robert Ricketts

Associate Athletic Director

Keeping the expense accounts of such a vast operation as the Clemson athletic department in order is no easy task, but Associate Athletic Director Robert Ricketts is well qualified for the job. Ricketts is in his seventh year in the department and his 17th year with the university.

As associate athletic director in charge of business operations, Ricketts handles all purchasing and expense accounts. This job is old hat to Ricketts as he spent nine years working for Clemson in auditing and accounting departments. During these nine years, one of his main duties was the audit for the athletic department. He worked in the University's financial management division in accounting control and payroll benefits between 1976 and 1977, then worked in the internal auditing division and as an auditor between 1977 and 1980. In 1980, he was named an audit supervisor, a position he held until February of 1985. Thus, he has seen all sides of his job.

Ricketts earned an associate arts degree from Anderson College in 1969, and a business administration degree from Erskine College in 1971. He is also a 1967 graduate of T. L. Hanna High School in Anderson. After his graduation from Erskine, he entered merchandise management with the J.C. Penney Company of Greenville and Anderson. He worked for that company between 1972 and 1976, until he began his career with the University on May 28, 1976.

The native of Anderson has also completed the College Business Management Institute at the University of Kentucky. He is a member of the College Athletic Business Managers' Association and the Institute of Internal Auditors. Ricketts has previously served as secretary of the Clemson Recreation Advisory Committee for six years.

Ricketts and his wife, Kathey, have two children, Chesley (15) and Lindsey (11). His wife is employed in the Payroll/Benefits Office at Clemson University.

Paul Aaron ✓

Dir. of Institutional Compliance/ Assoc. AD

Paul Aaron has served as Clemson University's Director of Compliance since 1990. As director of compliance, he assumes day-to-day oversight responsibilities for all aspects of the athletic program regulated by NCAA rules, including certification of athlete eligibility, administration of financial aid to student-athletes, and recruitment. Aaron reports directly to Clemson University President Max Lennon for compliance-related matters and Athletics Director Bobby Robinson for administrative matters.

Aaron coordinates education and monitoring programs for the university aimed at preventing violations. He also conducts inquiries when the university suspects rules violations or is notified of a potential violation and reports any findings to the ACC and NCAA. His other compliance duties include serving as the university's liaison with the ACC and NCAA for legislation and interpretations.

As an Associate Athletic Director, he prepares and reviews contracts and acts as a legal counsel for the department. He also maintains the administrative structure of the department and conducts new employee orientation.

Aaron graduated from Clemson in 1976 with a degree in psychology and worked as an administrative manager with Guilford Mills, Inc. of Greensboro, NC. He obtained his law degree from the University of South Carolina in 1982. Before coming to Clemson, he served several years as an assistant solicitor for the seventh and 13th judicial circuit.

Aaron came to Clemson in 1987 and initially served as university counsel for Agriculture and Natural Resources before joining the athletic department.

Aaron is married to the former Cheryl Green, the Pickens County Public Defender. They have two children Jessica (6) and Stephanie (4).

Linda White

Associate Ath. Dir. Women's Administrator

On July 9, 1992, the Clemson Athletic Department lost a fine coach, but gained an administrator when Linda White, the winningest volleyball coach in Clemson history with a 138-81 career mark, assumed her current position of Senior Women's Administrator.

White fulfills the obligations of the athletic prospect academic credentials coordinator and serves as the primary contact within the athletic department for communication with the admissions and registrar's offices for all matters. She also assists in providing many of the routine support functions now part of the Clemson compliance program, as well as serving as Clemson's Senior Women's Administrator.

White came to Clemson in 1986 as the head volleyball coach. She led the Clemson squad to six consecutive 20-win seasons. White coached at least one All-ACC player five of her six years at the helm of the Clemson program, while two of her former players were named Academic All-Americans.

Prior to her stint as volleyball coach at Clemson, White was a successful basketball and volleyball coach at Wando High School in Mount Pleasant, SC for 14 years. In 1982, she was named National Volleyball Coach-of-the-Year by the National High School Coaches Association.

White earned her undergraduate degree from Winthrop College. She earned a master's degree in secondary education from Clemson in August of 1988. She is married to Roger White and they have one daughter, Lucia (14).

Fred Hoover ✓

Assistant Athletic Director/ Head Trainer

Much of the credit for getting the Tigers on the field should go to Fred Hoover, who has completed 34 years as head trainer for the Tigers. The 62-year-old Hoover is responsible for the prevention, treatment and rehabilitation of injuries to Clemson's athletes. In addition, Hoover, who was named assistant athletic director in the summer of 1983, is a consultant for purchasing athletic equipment, supervising the medical staff, making travel arrangements, supervising the athletic training room and directing the training table.

A native of Jacksonville, FL, Hoover graduated with a BS degree in physical education from Florida State in 1953. He served as trainer at his alma mater for two stints, 1952-53 and 1957-58, before coming to Clemson in 1959.

Professionally, "Doc" Hoover has held just about every administrative post with the National Athletic Trainers Association, including national president, and he is an affiliate member of the American Orthopedic Society for Sports Medicine.

In 1981, Hoover was enshrined in the Citizens Savings-Helms Athletic Foundation Hall of Fame for his work.

In the spring of 1982, he was named a consultant to the South Carolina Medical Association— Medical Aspects of Sports Committee. He is also past chairman of the NATA National Symposium Committee and is currently chairman of the South Carolina Board of Certification for Athletic Trainers. Hoover is also a member of the Clemson Hall of Fame and is past president of the South Carolina Trainers Association. In October of 1990, Hoover was named an Honorary Member of the Clemson Alumni Physicians society.

In 1983, Hoover was the recipient of the Distinguished Service to Sports Medicine Award given by the American Orthopedic Society for Sports Medicine. In 1987, he was awarded the South Carolina Hall of Fame Distinguished Service to Sports Award. He has never missed a football game in his 34 years at Clemson.

Hoover is married to the former Elva Cook of Mt. Vernon, IL, and the Hoover have two children, Catherine, a 1980 Clemson graduate who is married, and Bryan who also attended Clemson. He has one grandchild, Andrew Cole.

Doug Gordan

Head Equipment Manager

Many fans think their Tigers are one of the best dressed teams in the nation. If this is true, thanks should go to Equipment Manager Doug Gordan. He takes great pride in the appearance of the Tigers on game days, and also strives to insure the players' safety by keeping the equipment in good working order. Gordon is also responsible for the associated athletic equipment for all 18 sports at Clemson.

Gordon took his present position in March of 1991. He had served as assistant equipment manager at Clemson since 1984.

Gordon, born on April 25, 1958, is a 1976 graduate of Washington Irvin High School. He lettered in football, track, golf and diving while at Washington Irvin High School. Gordon received his undergraduate degree in physical and health education from West Virginia University. Gordon lettered for the Mountaineers' in diving and golf.

The native of Clarksburg, West Virginia married the former Debra McCauley in July of 1983. They have two sons, D.J. (7), and Daniel (2).

Gary Wade

Head Strength and Conditioning Coach

Gary Wade, the Tiger strength and conditioning coach, brings a wide range of experience into the Clemson weight room. This experience comes in handy as Wade, who is in his ninth full season with the Clemson program, is in charge of all 18 sports at Clemson.

Wade served as an assistant strength coach at Nebraska for three years as an undergraduate and graduate student. He earned his undergraduate degree in education in 1978 and worked on his master's in exercise physiology.

In 1980, he became the Detroit Lions' first strength and conditioning coach. The 37-year old received much credit for the Lions' immediate improvement as Head Coach Monte Clark took pride in Wade's work and the results on the field.

During his five years with the Lions, the club finished second three times in the Central Division and won the NFC Central Championship in 1983. The Lions made the playoffs twice during this period.

In his eight seasons at Clemson, the basketball and football teams' overall strength figures have grown significantly. Wade, who was Born in Nebraska City, NE, earned 10 varsity letters at Weeping Water High School. He was All-Conference in football for three seasons and was second-team All-State his senior year.

Wade is married to the former Andree Langlais.

Tim Bourret

Assistant Athletic Director/ Sports Information

Tim Bourret is in his fifth year supervising the SID office, his first as an Assistant Athletic Director, and his 16th with the Clemson University Athletic Department. He first came to Clemson as assistant SID under Bob Bradley in September of 1978 and was elevated to an associate SID position in July of 1980.

The 37-year old Bourret has edited 75 award-winning brochures in his career, including 24 that have dealt with Clemson football. Clemson received eight national awards for its programs and press guides for the 1990-91 academic year, the third highest total in the nation. Only Tennessee and Notre Dame produced more national award winning guides.

Last year, the Clemson football guide and football program were both ranked in the top-five in the nation, making Clemson the only school in the nation that could make that claim. The press guide was ranked first, while the program series was fifth.

Bourret also has considerable radio experience, play-by-play and color. He has been the color voice of Clemson basketball since the 1980-81 season and served in the same capacity for Clemson football between 1982 and 1988. He gave up his football radio work last year to supervise the Clemson pressbox. He was also the play-by-play voice of Clemson postseason baseball between 1980-89.

Bourret is a native of West Hartford, CT and 1973 graduate of Northwest Catholic High School. He was an all-conference baseball player in high school and played in the 1973 American Legion World Series.

Following in his father's footsteps, Bourret earned his undergraduate degree from the University of Notre Dame in business administration in 1977. He also earned his master's degree in communication arts from Notre Dame in August of 1978.

Bourret worked as an undergraduate and graduate assistant under Roger Valdiserri in Notre Dame's office for three years, where he was assistant editor of Notre Dame's 1977 football programs. The program series won Best in the Nation that year. He also served as commissioner of the school's famed "Bookstore Basketball Tournament" for three years, including the year it was featured in Sports Illustrated.

Tim Match

Assistant Athletic Director Public Relations Director

Tim Match enters his second year as the director of public relations at Clemson. Match was named an Assistant Athletic Director for Pubic Relations on July 1, 1993.

Match, a native of Arlington, Ohio, is responsible for implementing the athletic department's public relations policies, as well as establishing and maintaining relationships with local, state and national media representatives. He also directs the operation of the football press box and basketball press row, including the issuance of media credentials, parking passes and complimentary tickets. He also works with the Athletic Director and the University Public Relation Offices on releases of a newsworthy nature.

The 1985 graduate of Bowling Green State University is also responsible for all post season football games and is the liaison for the athletic department with the Clemson Radio Network and the Clemson Coaches Television Show Network.

Prior to his return to Clemson, Match participated in an internship at the University of West Florida in the athletic department. He then moved on to Clemson where he worked in the sports information office.

After receiving his master's degree in PRTM with an emphasis in micro-computer management, he became the assistant sports information director at the University of Virginia. While at UVa, Match worked with the men's soccer, women's basketball, football and men's basketball programs. He returned to Clemson in 1989 as an associate sports information director, working directly with the men's basketball program, as well as editing the football and men's basketball programs for the three seasons.

In 1988, the 29-year old Match married the former Sharon Yoder of State College, PA. She is a 1984 graduate of Penn State and received her master's from Clemson in 1987.

John Seketa

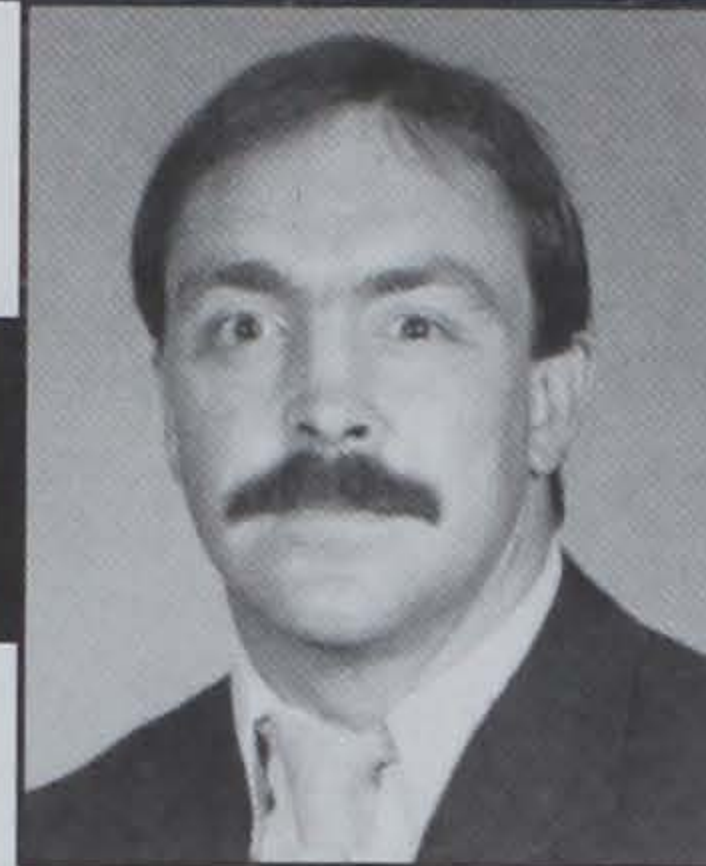

Sports Promotions Director

Responsible for coordinating all game promotions at Clemson, Seketa is busy setting up birthday parties to arranging music at events to the throwing out the ceremonial first pitch at baseball games. Each year, new promotions are planned at the various events and this year is no exception as Tigers fans will have several opportunities to win a wide variety of prizes during halftime.

Information is a key to keeping the fans involved which is Seketa's duties and this year two new message boards have been installed to add to the $1 million dollars already in electronic message boards located at the football, basketball, baseball, and soccer venues. The East football scoreboard has been re-designed and is now equipped with a 16x112 SunSpot 100 Series message board. To go along with Clemson's nationally ranked men's and women's track programs, a new 10-lane track scoreboard which features a 7x80 SunSpot 100 Series message board has been constructed. In addition to his game management responsibilities, Seketa is also the advisor to the cheerleaders, The Tiger and the Rally Cats.

Prior to arriving in Clemson, Seketa was the promotions director at Eastern Illinois University where he promoted all sports. In 1985, he staged a Make-Believe TV Football Game between Eastern Illinois and Western Illinois with ESPN which was cited in the New York Times. After one year at Eastern Illinois, Seketa headed to the sunny south and Clemson for the 1986-87 academic year.

Seketa is a March 1981 graduate of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. After receiving his Bachelor's degree in business administration, Seketa worked as a computer operator for three years for the Shell Oil Company in Wood River, Illinois. His work in athletics began at Western Illinois where he attended graduate school followed by an internship at the University of Illinois.

Barney Farrar

Assistant Recruiting Coordinator

Barney Farrar is in his second year as Clemson's Assistant Recruiting Coordinator for all sports. Farrar's responsibilities include on campus recruiting for all 18 varsity sports. Farrar served as a graduate assistant coach in the Tigers' strength training room in 1989 and 1990 and was assistant coach in 1991, assisting with on-campus recruiting and on-field coaching.

Prior to his stint in the Tiger strength training program, Farrar served as graduate assistant football coach in 1987 and 1988, working with defensive backs, outside linebackers, and the defensive line.

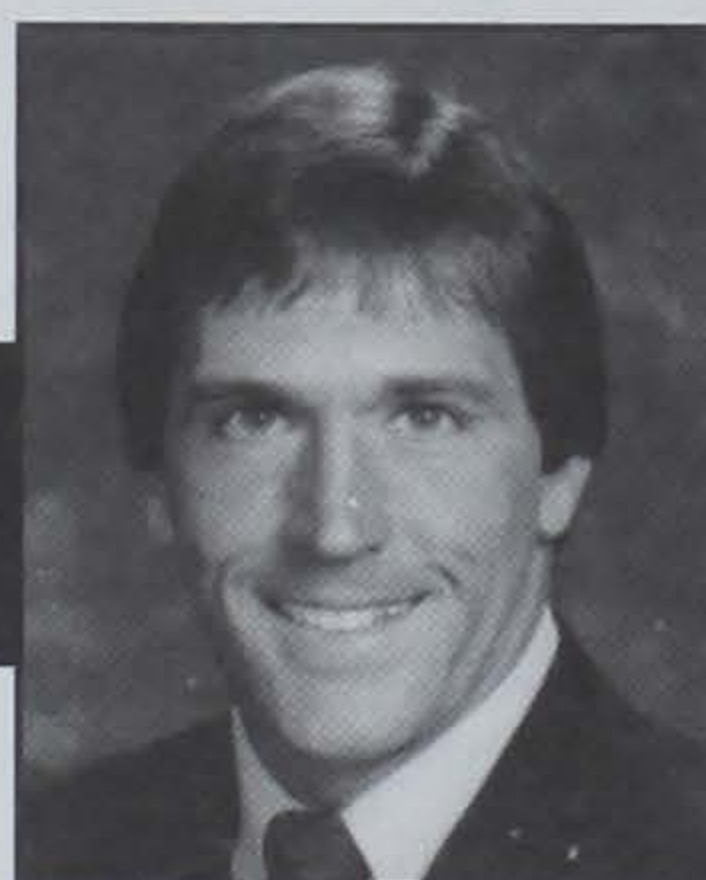

Farrar began his college career at Northeast Junior College, was a two-year football letterwinner in 1979 and 1980. In 1980, Northeast was ranked fifth in the final junior college poll. During his career he also ran track, participating in the mile relay and the 800 meter run.

In 1981 and 1982, Farrar played defensive back at Delta State for former Clemson Head Football Coach Red Parker. A two-year letterwinner at Delta State, Farrar was the team captain in 1982.

After his playing days, he served as a graduate assistant coach at Delta State (1983-1985) before coming to Clemson.

Farrar earned a B.S. degree in education from Delta State and later earned a master's degree in Physical Education.

Farrar, 32, is married to the former Caroline Hinton and they have a son, Clint (4) and a daughter, Cari (2).

Bill D'Andrea

Director of Student-Athlete Enrichment

Bill D'Andrea is entering his fourth year as the Director of Student-Athlete Enrichment, but D'Andrea is no stranger to the Clemson family.

Prior to being named as the Director of Student-Athlete Enrichment D'Andrea, 42, served as the Tiger offensive tackles coach from 1986 to 1989. He also served as the Clemson football recruiting coordinator in the spring of 1991. D'Andrea's ties to Clemson go back even further as he served as a graduate assistant for the Tiger football program in 1982 and 1983. He continues to serve as Executive Secretary of the Tiger Letterman's Association.

As Director of Student-Athlete Enrichment, D'Andrea oversees the day to day operations of Vickery Hall, Clemson's academic learning center. This position covers three areas: academic progress of the student athlete, personal growth of the student athlete, and student-athlete career assistance. It would be hard to argue with the success of Vickery Hall under D'Andrea. In the spring semester of 1993, Clemson athletes enjoyed tremendous semester in the classroom with 122 athletes earning a 3.0 or better, a school record for one semester.

D'Andrea, a Morgan, PA native, received his undergraduate degree in criminal justice from Indiana State in 1973, and earned a master's degree in education from East Carolina in 1975.

Traditions are something that don't happen overnight, they evolve over a number of years. One tradition at Clemson that is going strong and heading into its 60th year is IPTAY. The IPTAY Scholarship Foundation, is known throughout the country for its faithful and generous contributions by its supporters. A recent USA Today article called IPTAY the best-known organization of its kind in the nation. The article noted that at a time when college athletic costs are rising IPTAY continues to lead the way in supporting athletic scholarships at Clemson. IPTAY plays a major role in insuring that all 18 of the varsity sports at Clemson are given the maximum amount of scholarships allowed by the NCAA.

Thanks in part to IPTAY's contributions, the 1992-93 academic year proved to be another banner one for Clemson athletics. Seven of the 18 athletic teams finished the year in the top 20 of their respective sports. Twenty-four Clemson student-athletes were named All-Americans. There were three ACC Championship teams during the year from Clemson (Men's indoor track, men's outdoor track and baseball) with 56 Tiger athletes earning All-ACC honors. Three Tigers also won four individual national championships during the year, as Michael Green won the 55 and 100 meters and Wesley Russell won the 400 meters indoors for the men's track program, and Sam Henson won the 118-pound wrestling championship. That total marked the most ever in a single sports year at Clemson.

Tiger athletes also excelled in the classroom during the 1992-93 academic year, with 122 student-athletes earning a 3.0 or better for the spring semester. Clemson's Anthony Knight, a hurdler for the track squad, was named a recipient of a $5,000 NCAA Post-Graduate scholarship, one of the highest academic honors given by the NCAA. He also received the ACC's Jim Weaver Award earlier in the year, another post-graduate scholarship that is one of the conference's highest academic accolades.

The success of the Clemson athletic program comes during a time when the integrity and accountability of the academic progress of student-athletes are receiving national attention. IPTAY has been a large part of that success by being committed to the student-athlete.

IPTAY is recognized as one of the oldest, largest and most successful athletic fundraising organizations in America. IPTAY was the first athletic fundraising organizations in the country to top the two, three, four, and five-million dollar marks in annual donations.

In 1934, Dr. Rupert Fike founded IPTAY with a very simple purpose in mind: IPTAY provides funds for athletic scholarships. Since 1934 IPTAY has certainly met Fike's goal, providing scholarships for over 5,000 student-athletes, trainers, and managers.

IPTAY currently provides the funds for tutorial programs staffed by trained academic advisors, assisted by graduate and undergraduate students. This support is intended to insure that all student-athletes are given the opportunity to earn their degree while participating in athletics.

IPTAY donors have also played an intricate role in the "Campaign for Clemson", a long range fund-raising project of the University. The University's original goal of 62 million dollars was surpassed with the next goal of 78 million also being surpassed in the campaign that ended on June 30, 1992. IPTAY provided three million dollars with ongoing opportunities for donors to be part of the Vickery Hall Academic Learning Center.

Vickery Hall, located on East Campus is a 27,000 square foot facility that houses the tutoring and advising programs for student-athletes. The building contains various-sized study and tutoring rooms used for individual study as well as small group instruction. Computer facilities, an office/reception area for the advising staff and an auditorium, also are contained in Vickery Hall.

The generous support of 16,274 loyal donors to IPTAY has allowed the organization to go beyond the funding of athletic scholarships by providing the financial basis for many of the unparalleled athletic facilities at Clemson.

Since 1978, IPTAY has provided the funding for $34 million of capital improvements in the area of athletics. These improvements include the expansion of the football stadium, the renovated baseball facility (Tiger Field), the outdoor track, the indoor tennis facility, the soccer stadium, the weight room, the golf practice area, a new cross country course, and the IPTAY/Ticket office facility.

IPTAY is also proud to provide the funding for Tiger Band. Each year IPTAY establishes financial support for travel, uniforms and equipment for this integral part of the Clemson athletic program.

While IPTAY is primarily concerned with athletic fundraising, the mission of Clemson University has not been overlooked. The IPTAY Academic Scholarship Endowment was created to help meet the need for more academic scholarships for non-athletes who are highly qualified academically. This scholarship endowment is funded by certain company gifts that are made as a result of employee contributions to IPTAY. In addition, the athletic department has made generous contributions to the endowment from athletic revenues.

The IPTAY Academic Fund is presently the largest scholarship endowment of its kind at Clemson providing $1.9 million in funds, currently benefitting more than 50 students. IPTAY's support extends to all of the student body.

The tremendous support of IPTAY is due, in large part, to the organizational makeup that allows donors to be as close to IPTAY as they are to their local IPTAY leadership. Each of South Carolina's 46 counties has an IPTAY County chairman, and every county is allotted an IPTAY representative for every 35 donors.

One important way IPTAY keeps in touch with its membership is the annual Clemson Club meeting held in April and May of each year. These meetings, which feature different coaches and administrators are just one of the ways of making the local IPTAY members feel close to Clemson.

Clemson University will continue to be recognized and respected on the national level athletically and academically with the full support of IPTAY. IPTAY will continue to be successful because a loyal commitment to Clemson University is a way of life in the hearts of Clemson alumni and friends.

George Bennett

Executive Director

George Bennett returned home to Clemson on February 14, 1993 when he was named Executive Director of IPTAY.

No, Bennett is not a native of Clemson, but he has spent a great deal of his life in Tigertown.

A 1955 Clemson graduate, Bennett was an assistant athletic director for business for eight years (1971-79), and in his final two years, he was the Executive Secretary of IPTAY. Under his leadership, annual contributions to IPTAY doubled to more than 2.3 million from one million dollars and memberships topped 15,000 from 8,800.

Bennett left Clemson in 1979 to become associate athletic director of financial development at Vanderbilt University. At Vanderbilt he helped the Commodore Club grow from 650 members to more than 6,000. At the same time funds generated by the Commodore Club increased tenfold, going from $275,000 in 1979 to over $2.2 million in 1986. In 1984 Bennett was named the National Athletic Fundraiser-of-the-Year at the National Conference for Athletic Fundraisers.

In April, 1986 Bennett was named the Athletic Director at Furman University in Greenville, SC. During his time in Greenville Bennett oversaw the 20-sport program while also being active in the community. During his three years at Furman he was active in numerous civic organizations ranging from the Greenville Chamber of Commerce to the Sertoma Club. After a year at the Furman campus Bennett was named "Rookie-of-the-Year", voted on by the Furman students. Bennett left Furman in 1989, returning to Nashville, TN as he served as the Vice President of for Development at the Baptist Hospital.

In 1987 Bennett was honored by winning the Clemson Distinguished Service Award. In 1989, he was inducted into the Clemson University Athletic Department Hall of Fame for his outstanding service and dedication to Clemson.

Bennett's ties to athletics at Clemson date back to his undergraduate days, as he was a varsity cheerleader for three years, and served as head cheerleader during his senior year. During his college years Bennett was President of Blue Key, while also being a member of Tiger Brotherhood.

Bennett, a Columbia, SC native, and his wife, Nancy, have been married for 33 years. They have two children, Jeff, and Bonnie Beth, and three grandchildren, Megan (6), Bennett (3), and Brooks (1).

Bert Henderson

Associate Executive Director

Bert Henderson is in his eighth year with the IPTAY Scholarship Fund. His diverse background with Clemson University dates back to 1978 when he began work as a trainer with the Athletic Department.

He began full-time employment under Fred Hoover in 1980 and served as basketball trainer from 1982 -84. He handled all travel and a majority of administrative tasks for the Clemson basketball program.

After leaving the athletic department for a year to work with the Clemson Alumni Association where he was instrumental in setting up Clemson Clubs and away game headquarters, he returned to Jervy Athletic Center as Clemson's first Associate Executive Secretary of IPTAY in April of 1985.

Henderson demands excellence and his record shows that he does not settle for less in fundraising. His pursuit of superiority has shown as he has rapidly established planned endowments for IPTAY. To date, over 165 Life Memberships have been part of the endowment as well as the future plans for real estate, securities.

Some of Henderson's central duties as the Associate Executive Director of IPTAY concern the preparation of the Orange and White, which is the official publication of IPTAY, evaluation of Life Endowments, as well as Tiger Life donors for the future of IPTAY. He is also the advisor for the IPTAY Student Advisory Board, an on campus student group which serves as a liaison between students and the athletic department. Henderson is also involved with the organization of Clemson Club programs and other administrative duties of IPTAY.

Henderson is a 1978 graduate of Mars Hill College. He earned a master's degree from Clemson in administration and supervision. He is married to the former Lee Ann Hudson, and the couple has two children, Amy Lee (9-23-86) and Kimberly Ann (6-13-89).

Bob Mahony

Associate Executive Director

Bob Mahony started with IPTAY as an associate executive secretary in February of 1989. He is a 1976 graduate of Clemson with a bachelor of science degree in building construction. He had been involved in commercial and residential construction in Columbia and the upstate since graduation.

In the summer of 1977, he began a career in construction with Bagnal Builders, a residential builder in Columbia. From 1981-1985 he was employed by McCrory Construction, also in Columbia, where he gained experience in commercial construction. Following a return to Bagnal Builders from 1985-87, he moved to the upstate where he worked with Trehel Corp. of Clemson and Hudson Construction of Seneca.

Mahony lettered in baseball at Clemson from 1974-76. He was a walk-on pitcher for coach Bill Wilhelm's baseball team in 1974. He later earned a full scholarship and was co-captain of the 1976 team that participated in the College World Series in Omaha, Nebraska. That team also won the ACC regular season and tournament. Following his career at Clemson, Mahony spent a short time with the Baltimore Orioles organization. For the past four seasons, he has provided the color commentary on the Clemson baseball radio network.

His duties with IPTAY include the coordination of the IPTAY County Chairman and representative appointment and award program. He is also involved in coordination of IPTAY's involvement in the spring Clemson Club meetings.

Mahony is married to the former Robin Ann Lawrimore, a 1976 graduate of Clemson. The couple has two children, Robin Allison (9-1-80) and Marion Leigh (9-3-85). Bob has two brothers, Glenn and David, who are also graduates of Clemson and his mother was Clemson's Mother-of-the-year in 1981.

Speaking Bluntly

On being one of Clemson's Career Rushing Leaders:

"It surprised me when I found out that I was that close to the Clemson record. I don't live for statistics, I just play to win. I don't really pay attention to my stats, so it was a shock when someone told me I had that many career yards. I'm the same way about my classwork. I just try to do my best in every class. When I found out I only had nine more hours to take this fall in order to graduate, I was surprised."

On the Potential 4,000-yard Rushing-Receiving Combination of Blunt and Terry Smith:

"Terry and I were roommates for our first three years at Clemson and we have been real good friends. It is really ironic that we are in position to set this sort of record, because when we were red-shirt freshmen, we used to sit around and talk about what we wanted to do while we were at Clemson. We have always worked out together and worked toward the same goals. We both take advantage of any opportunity that comes our way. Obviously when I am running the ball, Terry can't be catching it, and when he is catching a pass, I can't be running it, so it's great that we both have reached this level. When I do something good, he's the first one to meet me in the endzone and vice versa."

On Whether He Wants More Attention:

"I think leading the team in rushing is enough attention for me. I don't need attention from the media. I get as much publicity as I want. Too much attention can ruin a ballplayer, because they can get to where they don't think they're human any more. My family gives me all the attention I need. They have been with me for the whole ride and they like me whether I hold any records or not. That is what keeps me pumped up."

Blunt Fact: Has a chance to move into the top three in Clemson history in rushing with another 800-yard season, he currently ranks 14th.

Fall 1993 Depth Chart Position: First-team tailback

Best All-Around Game: Gained 163 yards on 24 carries for a 6.8 yard average against Duke in the 1991 Coca-Cola Bowl contest in Tokyo, Japan. Also had a seven-yard reception in that Clemson win.

Career Bests: Attempts - 26 vs. NCS, '91; Yards - 163 Duke, '91; Touchdowns - 2 vs. many; Receptions - 6 vs. NCS, '91; Rec. Yards - 45 vs. NCS, '91

Longest Plays: Rush - 53 yds. vs UVa, '92; Reception - 25 yds. vs. App. St., '91

Bowl Experience: Gained 41 yards on 15 carries in 65 plays of action as a starter against California in the 1992 Citrus Bowl, he also had three receptions for 28 yards in that contest. Against Illinois in the 1991 Hall of Fame Bowl, gained 10 yards on four rushes and caught a pass for 16 yards in 15 plays of action.

ACC Stat Rankings: Fifth in the ACC in rushing in 1992 (75.1 yards/gm). Fifth in the ACC in rushing in 1991 (64.2 yards/gm)

Overview: Clemson's leading rusher each of the past two years, he has 1,857 yards for his career to rank 14th in Clemson history...has a shot at becoming Clemson's career rushing leader...another 800-yard season would move him to third...also ranks 13th in career carries with 411...averages 4.5 yards per carry for his career, his 5.4 yards per carry last season was his best season average...gained 812 yards in 1992, he ranked fifth in the ACC in rushing yards per game (75.1)...his yardage total for the season ranks sixth among juniors in Clemson history.

In 1992: led the team in rushing in seven games...had his highest rushing total of the season in the Tigers' win at Virginia, when he gained 141 yards on 16 carries for an 8.8 average...averaged over five yards per carry in eight games in 1992...also had six receptions for the season...had three 100+ yard rushing games, versus Virginia (141), Wake Forest (118), and North Carolina (105)...led the team in rushing in the last four games of the season, he had 371 yards over those four games...rushed for three touchdowns in the Tigers' win over the Tar Heels, he is one of only three Clemson players to accomplish that feat in the last five years (Ronald Williams and Terry Allen are the other two)...had the longest run of his career, a 53-yarder for a score, in Clemson's win over Virginia...in for 435 plays for the 1992 season, more than any other offensive player at the skill positions except for Terry Smith...third on the team in total offense on a per game basis at 75.1 yards per contest and was second on a total yardage basis...second on the team in all-purpose rushing per game with a 76.4 mark and led the team in that category in terms of yardage...named the Exxon Tiger-of-the-Game by the Clemson radio network versus Ball State and South Carolina...one of the squad's top performers in the strength training room, his bench press mark of 420 pounds is the best by a Clemson tailback since strength coaches began keeping records seven years ago and ranks fifth on the entire 1993 squad...he has upped his bench press by 80 pounds since August of 1989...pushes 710 pounds

Williams...took over the starter's role once again versus N.C. State after Williams injured his knee, he was a workhorse the rest of the year, averaging almost 20 attempts for each of those last seven games and gaining 602 yards (86 yards per game)...led the team in rushing in three of the last six regular season games, he gained 103 yards versus Wake Forest, 79 against Maryland, and a career-high 163 versus Duke...also led the team in receiving two consecutive games with six grabs for 45 yards in the win over N.C. State and four receptions for 29 yards in the Wake Forest contest...he was named the Exxon Supreme Player-of-the-Game in that win over the Demon Deacons as he scored two touchdowns, one on a 25-yard romp...the Tigers' third-leading receiver for the season with 20 catches for 178 yards, that was the most receptions for a Clemson back since Ray Yauger had 21 grabs for 130 yards in 1969, two years before Blunt was born...ranked third on the team in total offense with a 62.3 yards per game average...second among 1991 Tigers in all-purpose running at 77.1 yards per game...fifth on the 1991 squad in scoring with 24 points...in for 72 plays from scrimmage in the first five games of 1991 and then was in for a career-high 70 plays in the sixth game versus N.C. State...that is the most for a Tiger tailback in at least the last five years...the second-team tailback for the Tigers in 1990, he won the starter's role heading into the 1991 season with hard work in spring and pre-fall drills...did well in 1992 spring drills, even though he saw limited action in scrimmages as Tiger coaches were trying to get a look at less-experienced players...the second-leading rusher for the Tigers during the spring, he carried the ball 29 times and gained 217 yards, a 7.5 yard average.

In 1990: Second-team tailback who finished the regular season with his best performance, rushing for 65 yards on 12 carries and catching a key nine-yard pass against South Carolina...named the ACC Newcomer-of-the-Year by the Sporting News preseason book, but an injury slowed his progress early in the season...started the first three games before injuring an ankle in the third game versus Maryland...sat out the next two games, the Appalachian State and Duke contests, then played sparingly over the next few games...fourth on the team in rushing with 274 total yards on 77 carries, he also had five receptions for a pickup of 38 yards...fifth on the team in total offense and eighth in all-purpose running despite missing two complete games...scored two touchdowns in his first career start, the season opener versus Long Beach State...gained 56 yards the next week versus Virginia...carried the ball 35 times in the first three games, sat out the next two games, then rushed only 16 times in the next four contests...had 10 carries for 44 yards in the win over North Carolina...had his longest scoring run and longest run overall against Georgia when he scored on a 26-yard carry in the fourth period.

In 1989: Saw considerable action in the first game of 1989, but injured his thumb at Virginia Tech and was forced to red-shirt the season with a medical hardship...forced into action early when starter Terry Allen (now with the Minnesota Vikings) did not play in the season opener with Furman, he turned heads with 24 hard-earned yards on 10 carries...did not play the next week versus Florida State, he came in for only three plays and did not carry the ball versus Virginia Tech...had more carries and more yardage than any other rusher during spring scrimmages of 1990...leading rusher for the Orange team in the Orange and White Game, he picked up 62 yards on nine attempts and scored the Orange team's only offensive touchdown (the other came on a blocked punt).

In High School: A highly touted athlete who led his team to a 13-0 record and the high school national championship...played for USA Today National Coach-of-the-Year, Carl Madison, at Pine Forest High School in Pensacola...his team's most valuable offensive player for three straight years...named to the Florida Super Seniors 24 team...also named to the Orlando Sentinel's Super Series...one of the top 20 running backs in the nation according to Joe Terranova...rushed for 1,682 yards and 20 touchdowns as a senior...rushed for 1,300 yards as a junior...led Pine Forest to a 13-0 record as a senior and a 26-1 mark over his last two years, his team also won two state championships during that time...an honorable mention All-America choice according to USA Today...Max Emfinger's National High School Recruiting Service rated him as the ninth best speed running back in the nation...participated on the school's weightlifting team and finished second in the state weightlifting meet...participated in the Georgia-Florida All-Star Football game...voted offensive MVP in this all-star game...played with Emmitt Smith (former Florida RB, now an All-Pro with the Dallas Cowboys) in junior high school...came to Clemson with high school teammate Jason Davis, now a Tiger wide receiver...majoring in sociology...born 3-27-71 in Pensacola, FL.

#89 Brentson Buckner

Meet the Tigers

Defensive Tackle 6-2...300...Sr Columbus, GA Carver HS

On Being the Only Senior Starter on the 1993 Tiger Defense:

"I feel that it puts a whole lot of responsibility on me that I plan to fulfill. I think my main function should be to help the younger players feel comfortable and let them know that if they listen to the coaches and do what they are told to do, it will pay off on the football field. I also think it will be one of my duties to keep morale up and let the other guys know that if we work together as a team, there is nothing we can't do. I want the younger players to learn from mistakes I made."

On Clemson's Defensive Tradition:

"The Clemson defense has always been 11 people playing together as one, with enthusiasm. The Clemson defense has always kept the crowd in the game. Whenever someone on the defense gets down, there is always somebody ready to pick them up. The tradition I want to pass down to the younger players is that we believe that our defense is the best in the nation. I want to instill in them the pride that nobody that lines up in front of them better than them. The other players taught me that."

On His Goals for 1993:

"I want to become best all-around player I can be. I want to be more consistent. I want everybody that watches me play to say that Brentson Buckner gave 110 percent every second he was out there on field. If I can do that, I know I can dominate every single play. I have the physical ability. I just have to get the mental part right. I worked extra hard this summer on conditioning, to make my last year my best year."

On His Love of All Sports:

"I'm a sports fan...period. Since I've been at Clemson, I've learned to appreciate a lot more sports. The only sports that most people hear about are football and basketball and the sports that make money. But the athletes in the other sports work just as hard as we do and they need fans to. I have become a fan of the non-revenue sports and try to attend as many of them as I can."

Brentson Buckner

Buckner Fact: Ranked first among returning ACC players in tackles for loss (18) in 1992.

Fall 1993 Depth Chart Position: First-team defensive tackle

Best All-Around Game: Had nine tackles, including three sacks for a loss of 16 yards, and broke up three passes in 34 plays versus North Carolina in 1992.

Career Highs: Tackles - 11 vs. Virginia, '92; TFL - 3 vs. many teams, '92; Sacks - 3 vs. UNC, '92

Bowl Experience: In for 16 plays and had one tackle as a starter at middle guard in the 1992 Citrus Bowl contest with California. Had five tackles in 30 plays as a reserve middle guard in the 1991 Hall of Fame Bowl win over Illinois.

ACC Stat Rankings: Ranked fifth in the ACC in tackles for loss with 18 in 1992. Tied for seventh in quarterback sacks with eight.

Overview: Listed as the leading candidate for the Outland Trophy heading into 1993 by ESPN's Mel Kiper...Kiper also calls Buckner the #2 pro prospect in college football...Mike Gottfried of ESPN ranks Buckner among the top five candidates for the Outland and Lee Corso rates him as a second-team All-American...the second-leading tackler on the 1992 squad with 85 total stops, he led the team in tackles for loss with 18, costing opponents 72 yards...ranked ninth in Clemson history in career tackles for loss with 32...tied with 1992 teammate Ashley Sheppard in career sacks with 15.5, Buckner has another season left to play...he needs just five sacks to move into third-place behind the Perry brothers...his 18 tackles for loss ranked fifth in the ACC for 1992 and tied the Clemson record for a junior...a second-team all-conference performer according to the ACC Sportswriters...named to The Charlotte Observers' All-Carolinas' team...has been in for 1,142 snaps for his career, more than any other returning defensive player...that total ranks fourth among all returning players...averages a tackle every 6.75 plays for his career...will miss the UNLV contest due to a suspension.

In 1992: Started the first six games of the season at middle guard, but moved to defensive tackle versus N.C. State, where he would start for the remainder of the season...the only returning full-time starter on the defensive downline heading into 1992...only senior starter on Clemson's 1993 defense...had seven tackles for loss from the middle guard spot in six games, and 11 stops behind the line of scrimmage over five games while playing defensive tackle where he can use his 4.85 speed...had 10 tackles in each of the last two games of the season and had five tackles for loss for the two games combined...also had three quarterback pressures in the season finale with South Carolina...had nine tackles in 54 plays in the season opener with Ball State, he also broke up three passes in that Tiger win...had three tackles for loss in four games last season, versus Duke, N.C. State, North Carolina, and South Carolina...led the team in tackles in the Tigers' ACC wins over Virginia (11) and North Carolina (9)...his total at Virginia was a career high...had nine stops in just 34 plays versus UNC, six of those plays were incomplete passes...thus, out of a possible 28 plays in which he could have plays...named to the all-state team...rated the second-best middle guard in the nation by NCAA Preview heading into the 1992 season...he is ranked as the third-best defensive tackle by Lindy's entering 1993...noted for his quickness coming off the line of scrimmage, he clocked in at 4.85 in the 40-yard dash last spring...one of the Tigers' top performers in the strength training room, he pushed 1,120 pounds on the leg sled during winter conditioning, that was a Clemson record until Stacy Seegars upped that by 20 pounds several days later...Buckner's leg sled mark is still an all-time record among defensive players and is an incredible 320-pound increase since 1989...leads the 1993 squad in the bench press, his 455-pound bench-press mark is a 90-pound increase...has a 30-inch vertical jump and a 105-inch standing broad jump.

In 1991: Started at defensive tackle for the 1991 season, where he did a fine job in his first year as a starter...one of five Tigers with double figures in tackles for loss with 10 from his middle guard position...tied for third on the team in sacks with 5.5, he ranked seventh on the team in total tackles with 56...named the Exxon Supreme Player-of-the-Game versus Temple when he had seven tackles, two tackles for loss, an eight-yard sack, registered a quarterback pressure, and caused a fumble...also had seven tackles and 1.5 sacks in the season opener with Appalachian State, that was his first career start...registered five tackles for loss in the last five games, including two in the win at North Carolina...posted a career-high eight tackles in that contest, six were first hits...had five or more tackles in six games last season...registered seven quarterback pressures for the season, two came in the Tigers' ACC title-clinching win over Maryland...had a sack in three of the last five regular season games in 1991...in for a career high of 51 snaps in the loss to Georgia, he had six tackles in that contest.

In 1990: Second-team nose guard who saw action in 10 games and 137 snaps behind all-conference player Rob Bodine...second leading tackler in spring scrimmages of 1991 with 24, he had two tackles for loss...saw considerable action due to the injury to starter Rob Bodine...led the Orange squad in tackles in the Orange and White game with eight...moved to the backup slot at middle guard in the middle of the 1990 season...had a fine performance while seeing limited action versus Georgia, he had three tackles and another four-yard sack in only 11 plays...had 28 total tackles for the season and four tackles for loss, even though he did not play in the last two regular season games due to an ankle injury...had three first hits and a two-yard tackle for loss in his first collegiate game, the season opener with Long Beach State...competed in one track meet at Clemson, winning the shot put competition while throwing unattached at the Tiger Opener indoor meet on December 1, 1990.

In 1989: Red-shirted the 1989 season at nose guard but saw considerable action in the spring of 1990 despite missing time due to a torn ligament in his left ankle...had 11 tackles including a five-yard stop for loss in spring drills.

In High School: Recruiting analyst Max Emfinger called him "One of the biggest diamonds in the rough in the nation"...Emfinger's National High School Recruiting Service rated him as the fourth-best player in the south heading into his senior season...that service made him a second-team All-American in its preseason magazine...an honorable mention All-America selection according to Street & Smith ...SuperPrep Magazine All-Dixie choice...named to the All-Georgia team by Tom Lemming...an all-state performer according to The Atlanta Constitution...the 23rd-best player in Georgia according to that publication...had 85 tackles as a junior and 112 with 16 sacks as a senior...had an incredible 15 caused fumbles during his senior season...also had eight sacks and 28 tackles in one game for school records...even played fullback, where he rushed for 395 yards, and kicked off...earned 12 letters in high school, four in football, three in basketball, three in track and two in baseball...an outstanding track performer, he threw the shot put 58'3-1/2" and posted a 161' mark in the discus...won the state shot put competition and finished seventh in the discus...played for an outstanding Carver High School team...coached by Wallace Davis...has seven sisters and two brothers...majoring in English...born 9-30-71.

Fall 1993 Depth Chart Position: First-team inside linebacker

Best All-Around Game: Had 11 tackles, including a four-yard sack, against Ball State in his first collegiate game, in 55 plays.

Years Lettered: 1992

Overview: Had an outstanding freshman campaign, he was named a first-team freshman All-American by Football News...also chosen to USA Today's freshman All-America team...ranked fifth on the team in tackles, even though he was not a full-time starter...led the team in plays per tackle, he averaged a stop every 4.72 plays...his 77 total tackles was the most ever for a Clemson true freshman, he broke the mark set by Bubba Brown, who had 75 stops in 1976...also had eight tackles behind the line of scrimmage in 1992 to rank in a tie for sixth on the team in that category...his presence is one reason Lindy's magazine rates Clemson as the top program for producing linebackers...top freshman tackler in the ACC in 1992...tied for second on the team in double figure tackle games with three.

In 1992: One of only three true freshmen to start a game for Clemson in 1992, he got the nod in the N.C. State and Wake Forest contests when Tim Jones was out with an injury...led the team in tackles in three games, his season high was 12 stops to lead the team versus Duke...10 of those tackles were first hits...that was the second-highest single game total by a first-year freshman, Bubba Brown had 14 vs. Florida State in 1976...also led the Tigers versus UTC with seven tackles and in the Maryland game with 11 tackles...was named the state of South Carolina's Freshman-of-the-Week for the UTC game... in for only 20 plays in the Wake Forest contest, he started that game but was injured in the first half...that game was perhaps his best of the season as he had a tackle every 2.8 plays with seven total stops, including two tackles for loss...had 11 tackles in his first collegiate game, the season opener with Ball State...that was the highest total ever for a Clemson first-year freshman in his first game...also had a four-yard sack in that contest...had a pair of tackles for loss in the Duke and Wake Forest games, he was named the ACC's Rookie-of-the-Week for his performance versus Duke.

In High School: ranked as the number-one inside linebacker in the nation by Max Emfinger...SuperPrep All-American...rated the fifth-best player in Georgia by SuperPrep...member of the Georgia Sweet 16 team...the Exchange Club of Columbus Defensive Player and Linebacker-of-the-Year...All Bi-City first-team selection...received the Carver High School "Golden Helmet" award, he had 147 tackles as a senior...first-team all-state selection at linebacker according to the Atlanta Journal-Constitution...attended the same high school as Clemson defensive tackle Brentson Buckner...had a career total of 527 tackles...majoring in textile management...born 8-20-73.

Derek's Dissertations

On His Early Success:

"I just wanted a chance to show my talent to the coaches and I would have accepted being red-shirted if I knew the coaches saw that I had potential. I didn't really realize that my season was going to go so well until the Georgia Tech game, when I hit the running back and knocked his helmet off. After that, I realized that I was being accepted as a good player, so I relaxed and began to really learn the game, not just run to the ball.

"The same thing happened to me when I was a freshman in high school. I was just coming out of junior high school and I went to varsity. During a one-on-one drill, I was going against an upper-classman and I laid a knockout blow on him and knocked his tooth out and broke his facemask."

Brentson Buckner on Burnette:

"Last year was like deja vu with Derek. When he was a freshman in high school, he came in and made a big impact as a starter. Last year was just history repeating himself. He is a tremendous football player, I knew that before he ever put on a Clemson uniform. He has the mentality that whatever is between him and the ball is going to get punished. Whether he has to run over somebody or jump through them, he is going to get to the ball."

Bill Dooley, 1992 Wake Forest Head Coach, on Burnette's Performance:

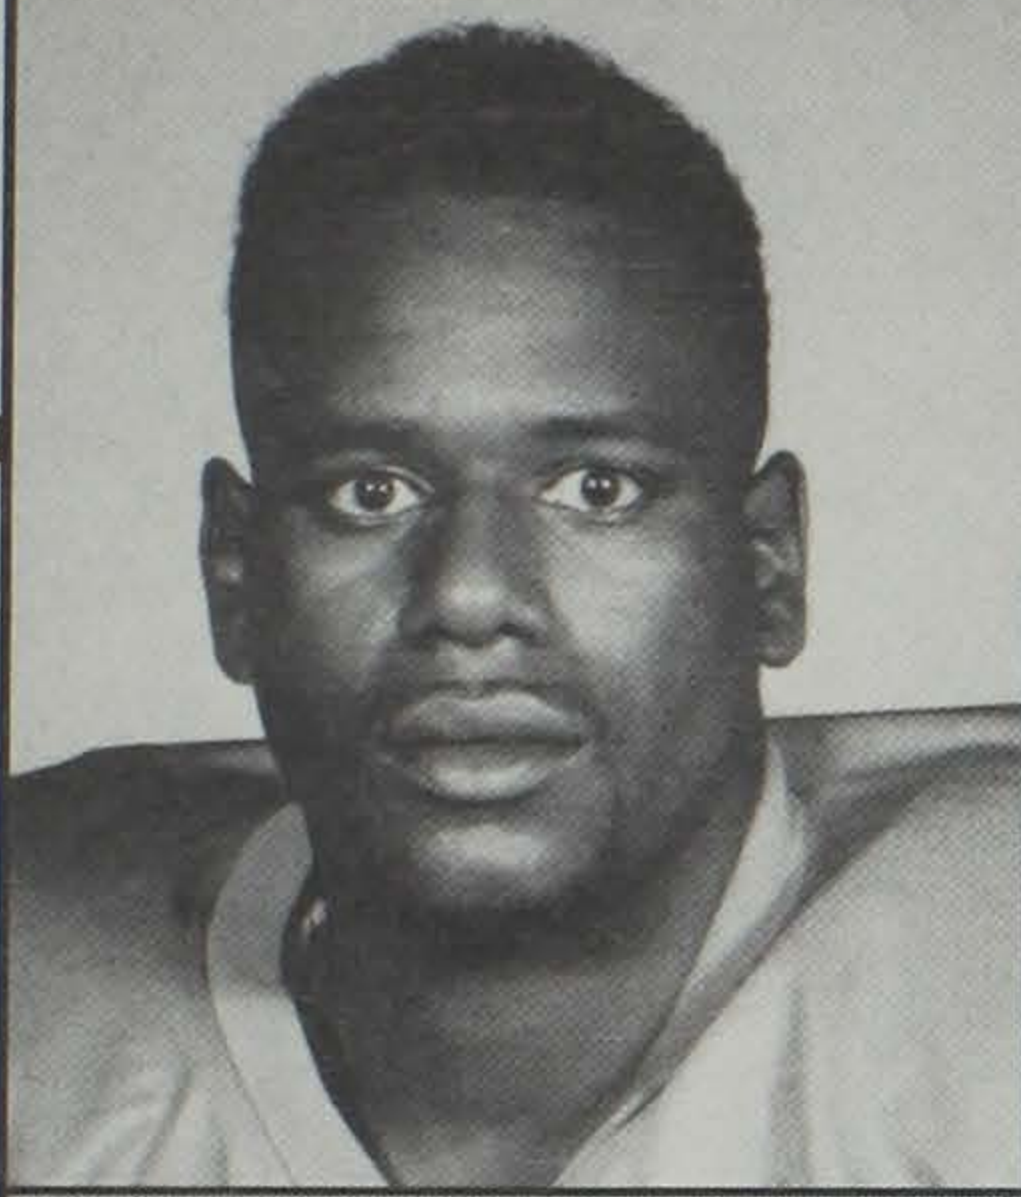

"Burnette played about as well as I've seen a linebacker play. He is a heckuva football player. I guess you could say you could hear those hits all over the stadium. When he hit Ned (Moultrie), I didn't think he was going to get up. He's going to be one of the best linebackers that has played in the ACC."

FORNEY'S FACTS

On Balancing Athletics and Academics:

"The biggest secret to athletic and academic success for me has been time management. I have to budget my time. I try not to procrastinate - when I have something to do, I try to do it right then. Whether its a class assignment or a workout or whatever. Then when it's completed, I completely put it out of my mind and go on to the next thing."

On Being a Returning Starter:

"I think it makes a lot of difference because people will look at me differently. They will expect things from me and that gives me extra motivation. Last year, I think I was the only person who knew that I could help the team, but hopefully now that is just what is expected of me. I just want to keep getting better. If I can improve every year, I will be satisfied. I have worked really hard for the past two years, and I'm going to keep working hard. But I think I can also let some of my natural talents and instincts take over now."

On His Reputation for Playing to the Best of His Ability:

"I take pride in having a reputation for using every thing I've got. I may not have the most athletic talent out there, but I would rather be known for giving my best. I think that just shows my love of the game. I try to use that same attitude in life, to use everything I've got."

On His Reputation for Being Such a Nice Guy:

"People say that I'm nice but I think I'm just a person who is real. I'm going to treat everyone with respect and I guess some people say that's nice. I try to be a professional about what I do and try to take everybody serious and treat everybody equal. But footballwise I don't want to be Mr. Nice Guy. I want to be tough on the field."

Forney Fact: First-team Academic All-ACC in 1992.

Fall 1993 Depth Chart Position: First-team defensive tackle

Best All-Around Game: Had 11 tackles, including a five-yard sack, and two quarterback pressures versus South Carolina in 1992 while in for 62 plays. Also had 11 stops, including a six yard sack and one quarterback pressure in 61 plays of action in the win at Virginia.

#56 Tim Jones

Meet the Tigers

KEEPING UP WITH THE JONES

On a Tim Jones Tackle:

"I'm definitely not the biggest guy out there, but I think I make up for it with a lot of strength and speed. When I make a tackle, it's like everything exploding at the same time. It's all physical. Knowing the game mentally gets you to the ball, but your physical abilities have to take over when it's time to stop the ball."

On a Clemson Linebacker:

"A Clemson linebacker has to be a little crazy because he has to sacrifice his body on every play. I compare us to a panther. We sneak up on our opponents and destroy them with quickness and strength. We also have to have cat-eyes, so we can see everything on the field."

On His Ability to Make So Many Tackles:

"It's all because of the front five. They do such a good job that my job is a lot easier. I give them credit for my success. All of them are very aggressive and carry out their assignments without fail."

Ken Hatfield on Tim Jones:

"Tim Jones had an All-ACC year in 1992. He showed great progress over the course of the season and is ready to carry on our linebacker tradition of excellence. He led the team in tackles last year even though he missed two and a half games. He is very active and has adapted to the leadership role, even though he is only a junior."

Linebacker 6-1...220...*Jr. Rock Hill, SC Rock Hill

Overview: The leading tackler on the 1992 squad with 89 stops, 66 percent of those stops (59) were first hits or solo tackles...a second-team sophomore All-American according to Football News...ranked third on the 1992 squad in plays per tackle, he averaged a tackle every 5.79 plays...has averaged a stop every 5.86 plays for his career...had a team-best six double-figure tackle games in 1992.

LeJEUNE LOQUATIONS

On the Stacked Right Side of the OL:

"It gives us the benefit of experience on one side of the line for one thing. And instead of separating the veterans, it puts us side by side. I think Stacy (Seegars) and I make a pretty solid wall. Hopefully, people will have to key on us and that will open up the other side for our offense as well."

"Stacy and I take pride in our play. We take pride in seeing that running back burst through a hole. We take pride in ranking among the best teams in the nation in rushing."

On the Prototype Clemson Offensive Lineman:

"We are laid back and not too exciting. We don't like to be quoted because we are modest. As a group, we cut up and stuff, but not really in the open. We're not a bunch of individuals, in fact, I think we are the tightest group as far as position go because we have to be. An offensive lineman has to know what the person next to him is thinking because we have to know what he will do in certain situations. But we're around each other so much we can't help but know what the other is thinking."

Whitey Jordan on LeJeune:

"Brent LeJeune doesn't get the notoriety he deserves, but fundamentally he is a sound player who gives it his all, all the time. That is all you can ask for, be prepared and give your best on every play."

LeJeune Fact: Set a Clemson single game record for knockdown blocks by a tackle with 13 against Florida State in 1992.

Fall 1993 Depth Chart Position: First-team right offensive tackle

Best All-Around Game: Had a career-high 13 knockdowns in 69 plays versus Florida State in 1992.

Bowl Experience: In for 14 plays as a reserve in the 1992 Citrus Bowl versus California

Years Lettered: 1991, 1992

In 1992: Did a good job for the Tigers in his first year as a starter, his average grade of 77 percent tied for the best on the offensive line...is moving to the right side of the line in 1993 to team with Stacy Seegars...ranked third on the team in knockdown blocks with 72, he led the Tigers in knockdowns versus Florida State with a career-high total of 13...that mark set a Clemson single game record for knockdowns by an offensive tackle, breaking the previous high of 10 by All-American Stacy Long in 1989...had five or more KDs in nine games of 1992...played every offensive snap in the game at Maryland, he was graded for 101 plays in that contest...in for 788 plays for the season, he has played 992 snaps in his career...received his highest grade of the season in the win over North Carolina, earning an 86 percent for 81 plays...graded in the eighties in four contests...strong athlete whose 420-pound bench press is tied for third among all 1992 Tiger offensive linemen...boasts a 319-pound figure in the power clean, that mark is tied for second among all offensive players returning in 1993 and is one of the best marks on the entire team...has also done well academically, earning a 3.00 grade point average for the spring semester of 1993.

In 1991: Reserve offensive tackle who played in 10 games and 166 snaps that season behind second-team all-conference player Bruce Bratton...listed as the Tigers' starting left tackle heading into prefall workouts...in for a season-high 47 plays in the win over Wake Forest, he graded out at 75 percent and registered six knockdown blocks in that contest, also a season high in that category...graded out at 89 percent for 17 plays versus Virginia, that was the top grade for a Tiger offensive lineman all season who was in for more than 10 plays...recorded three knockdown blocks that day...earned an 84 percent coaches grade for 18 plays against N.C.State, he also had five knockdowns in the win over the nation's 12th-ranked team...had at least one knockdown block in all but one contest in which he played in 1991.

In 1990: Reserve offensive tackle who saw action in two games in 1990...played in the season opener with Long Beach State and in the Tigers' victory over Appalachian State...in for 32 plays in those two games, 12 against the 49ers and 20 versus the Mountaineers...did not make it to the Hall of Fame Bowl contest in Tampa, FL, he had appendicitis a week prior to the game and went home for recovery...LeJeune and Seegars both have had their appendix out during their Clemson career.

In 1989: Red-shirted the 1989 season at offensive tackle, he played on the same side as All-American Stacy Long.

In High School: Max Emfinger rated him as the nation's fifth best offensive guard and the 46th best prospect in the south...Lindy's Magazine named him to three different teams, including the Louisiana Blue Chips, the All-Louisiana, and second-team All-South...led his Barbe High team to State semifinals in 1986 and 1987...a Street & Smith honorable mention All-American...received that same honor from USA Today...the South's 27th-best player according to The Atlanta Constitution...an all-state selection at both offensive and defensive tackles...three-year all-state in track...threw the shot 60 feet and discus 165 feet...lettered four years in track, three in football...named to the New Orleans Time Picayune All-State team...recorded 73 tackles and 10 sacks as a junior...an all-conference performer at Barbe High School...coached by Jimmy Shaver...majoring in industrial education...last name is pronounced Le JURN...born 5-26-71 in Jennings, GA.

PATRICK'S PONDERINGS

On Not Being a Freshman Anymore:

"I think I will be more comfortable in the role of team leader this season. The quarterback has to be a leader, but it was hard when I was a freshman. There was a lot of pressure on me when I first got into the game, but as the year went on, I settled down and got more comfortable. I learned not to see it as a pressure situation. I knew I was a freshman and rookie mistakes are allowed...once. I think I learned from my mistakes and will be that much better this year because of them."

On His Strengths:

"A quarterback has to have the stuff it takes to be in control. He can't show that he's nervous because the team can sense it and won't see him as a true leader. I have picked up the ability to hide my own emotions and that is a strength."

"I think my size probably works to my advantage too, even though most defensive linemen are a lot bigger than I am! My height allows me to see a lot of things and my size allows me to take a lot of punishment."

On What He Needs to Improve:

"I need to work on my ability to run the ball effectively. I have been focussing on quickness drills to get my feet quicker. My speed is pretty good because I am lighter this year."

Overview: The biggest quarterback to start a game for Clemson at 6-4, 241 pounds last year, but he has slimmed down to 225...it showed with improved quickness in the spring...started the last four games of the season, he played every offensive snap in the Wake Forest, Maryland and South Carolina contests...led the team in total offense, he averaged 149.8 yards in every game he played and 201.3 yards in the games in which he was the starting signal caller...had his best game in terms of total offense at Maryland, when he passed for 273 yards on a 25-55 performance and rushed for five more yards...his 64 plays of total offense in that contest were a Clemson record, the previous high was 57 plays set by Rodney Williams against N.C. State in 1987...his 55 pass attempts in that contest also broke a record Williams set in that game...tied a single game record for completions with 25, equalling the total set by Tommy Kendrick versus Florida State in 1970...his 273 yards passing ranks third in Clemson history for a single game and his 278 yards in total offense was just 10 yards shy of the Clemson freshman record set by Willie Jordan in 1975...had 750 yards passing for the season, the second-best mark ever for a Clemson freshman (Rodney Williams passed for 772 yards in 1985), while his 899 yards in total offense is tied for fourth on the freshman records list.

In 1992: Named the ACC Rookie-of-the-Week for his performance in the Tigers' win over North Carolina, he passed for 205 yards and two TDs and his .565 completion percentage was his best of the season...also named the Exxon Tiger-of-the-Game and the state Freshman-of-the-Week for that contest...has set all-time bests for a Tiger quarterback in almost all of the strength categories, his 340-pound bench press, 840-pound leg sled, and 305-pound power clean marks are best by a Clemson field general since strength coaches began keeping stats in 1985...Clemson career leader in interception avoidance (2 percent) given a minimum of 100 attempts.

In High School: A SuperPrep and Max Emfinger

Sapp Fact: Tied a Clemson record for completions in a game with 25 at Maryland in 1992.

Best All-Around Game: Connected on 13-23 passes for 205 yards and two scores against North Carolina in 1992.

Career Bests: Rush Att. - 15 vs. Wake Forest, '92; Rush Yds - 53 vs. Wake Forest, '92; Pass Att. - 55 vs. Maryland, '92; Pass. Comp. - 25 vs. Maryland, '92; Pass Yds - 273 vs. Maryland, '92; Plays - 64 vs. Maryland, '92; Tot. Off. - 278 yds. vs. Maryland, '92; Pass. Pct. - .565 vs. UNC, '92; Pass. Efficiency - 152.1 vs. UNC, '92

Long Plays: Rush - 35 yds. vs. Wake Forest, '92; Pass - 77 yds. vs. UTC, '92

Play-of-the-Week against UNC, as he gained 23 yards on a guard-around play...has started every game of the last two seasons, 23 in all...one of the strongest players on the 1993 squad, his 1,140 mark in the leg sled is an all-time Clemson record...one of the leaders of the 1993 offensive linemen in the bench press with a mark of 425 pounds...has a 28-1/2" vertical

Overview: Second-team AP and UPI All-American for 1992...will be nearly a consensus preseason pick for 1993...Lombardi and Outland Award Candidate...Clemson has ranked in the top 10 in the nation in rushing each of his three seasons, including #6 last year....a first-team All-ACC selection according to the AP/ACSWA, he also won first-team all-conference honors from Football News...that publication also named him a third-team All-American...named to the Charlotte Observer's All-Carolina's team...tied the Clemson single season record for knockdown blocks with 103, John Phillips had that same total during his first-team All-America season in 1987...had an appendectomy in early March, he sat out spring drills...the surgery was extra complicated because doctors had so much muscle to cut through before they found the appendix...earned a 3.0 grade point average in parks, recreation and tourism management for the spring semester of 1993...largest starting offensive player in Clemson history at 320 pounds.

In 1992: Posted a career-high total of 15 knockdowns in the win over ACC rival North Carolina, that was the most by a Tiger since Phillips had 18 against Virginia Tech in 1987 and was the third-highest total by a Clemson offensive lineman in history...had 14 knockdowns versus Georgia Tech, that was the fourth-highest total ever for a Tiger offensive lineman...led the Tigers in knockdowns in seven games last season and had five double figure performances...in for every snap in the game at Maryland, he saw a career-high 96 snaps in that contest and earned a career-high 89 percent grade...played every snap in eight of the Tigers' 11 games in 1992...had 12 KDs versus Virginia and Wake Forest...named the ACC Offensive Lineman-of-the-Week versus UNC and Georgia Tech...he also had the Lowe's jump...has worked hard in the strength training facility, his bench press mark is a 70-pound improvement and his leg sled is up 140 pounds.

In 1991: The only returning starter on the Clemson offensive line in 1992, he did a good job for the Tigers in his first year as a starter...in for 808 plays to lead all 1991 Tiger offensive linemen.....in for 88 percent of the Tigers' total offensive plays that season, he played every offensive snap in the Georgia and North Carolina contests...in for a season-high 82 plays in the Virginia contest, he tallied five knockdown blocks...registered seven knockdowns in the win over 12th-ranked N.C.State and then had six in each of the next two games, the Tigers' victories

SEEGARS SPEAKS

On running the ball vs. North Carolina in 1992:

"I could have cut back to the middle of the field and picked up more yardage, but I didn't want to be remembered as the first player in Clemson history to fall down in the middle of the play from exhaustion. I just plowed into some one. That was fun, though, something a lineman dreams about. It is a shame they have outlawed the play. It will be a moment I will always remember and I am glad we did it before the rule came into existence."

On the Preseason Honors Being Bestowed on Him:

"I guess I appreciate being recognized like that, but the truth is it just doesn't mean a whole lot. You have to go out and prove yourself when the season starts."

Coach Hatfield on Seegars:

"Stacy Seegars is solid as a rock. He proved that when they couldn't find his appendix last spring (during an operation to have it removed). He is a tireless worker in the weight room and is one of the best offensive linemen I have coached. He has the quickness to play at the next level. That is something that sets him apart from the other top linemen in the nation."

Head Strength and Conditioning Coach Gary Wade on Seegars:

"Unlike some people, Stacy is one of those guys who is blessed with tremendous size and strength. Some guys come in and think they don't need to work. Stacy has never been that way. He has a philosophy that you can always get better. We've never had to motivate him. He's very self motivated."

Stacy Seegars

over Wake Forest and North Carolina...earned his best coaches grade of the season in the win over South Carolina, he graded out at 84 percent on 61 plays while playing just a few miles from his hometown of Kershaw....one of the main reasons Clemson led the ACC in rushing and total offense...

In 1990: Saw action in six games in 1990 and was in for 69 total plays...in for a season-high 29 plays in the season opener with Long Beach State...did not play the next two contests and then was in for 23 snaps in the win over Appalachian State...also saw action in the Tigers' victories over Georgia, Wake Forest and North Carolina.

In 1989: Red-shirted the 1989 season, he saw action on both the offensive and defensive lines during practice.

In High School: The Gatorade State Player-of-the-Year...a SuperPrep All-American and All-Midatlantic selection...that publication rated him as the 11th best prospect in the region and the nation's eighth best defensive lineman...an honorable mention All-America choice of Street & Smith...named one of the top 50 players in the East by Tom Lemming and one of the top 22 in the Atlantic Region by G&W Reports...Joe Terranova selected him as one of the top 20 linemen in the nation...a preseason and postseason all-state choice according to the Greenville News...also named to The (Columbia) State all-state team...part of the biggest offensive line in Shrine Bowl history...all-conference and all-state performer in track in the shot put and discus...attended Andrew Jackson High School and played for Coach Duane Dennie...majoring in parks, recreation and tourism management...born 4-26-71.

Hobbies: Fishing

My Sports Hero: Nolan Ryan

My Non-sports Hero: Duane Dennie

My most embarrassing moment was when: I got a whipping on my sixth birthday for getting my eight-year-old sister to sign a discipline slip from school.

My favorite thing to pretend as a child was: that I was GI Joe.

The most unusual thing about me is: I do what I choose, not what others do.

What makes (or can make) me a good football player is: if I don't lose perspective and keep working hard.

What makes (or can make) Clemson a good football team is: team unity.

How do I see myself? As no better than anyone else.

How do I want other people to see me? As a good, honest person.

The best thing about me is: I hardly ever get upset.

The worst thing about me is: I can be jealous at times.

My craziest ambition is: to go skydiving.

My ultimate goal in life is: to play in the NFL, have a nice wife and good kids.

Before a football game, I: try to stay as loose as possible by taking a chew of Copenhagen.

My advice to young people is: do what you know is right and not what the crowd is doing.

Meet the Tigers

IN TERRY'S TERMS

On Being a Member of the Perry, Jerry, and Terry Club:

"It's an honor for me to be recognized as the same status as Perry Tuttle and Jerry Butler and to have a chance to break their records. I have watched Clemson football for a long time and I will never forget watching Perry Tuttle catch that touchdown in the Orange Bowl. I knew right then that I wanted to be in that situation one day."

On the Smith-Blunt, 4,000-yard Combo:

"It's a good feeling to have success alongside Rodney. When we first got to Clemson, we would sit around and dream about what we wanted to accomplish and this is part of that dream come true. We have a great relationship and I think we are both non-vocal leaders on this team. We let our actions on the field speak for us, not our mouths."

On his job as a youth on Memorial Stadium clean-up crew:

"We would clean up Bowman Field and the fields where they park the cars and the stadium. We would have to go in as soon as the game was over and come back and finish on Sunday morning. We would usually get there late or get there after the game was over. But I will never forget the first time I got to a Clemson game early enough to see the team run down the hill. I knew then that I wanted to do that. I still never thought I would come in and play football here, I just wanted to go up to the top of that hill and run down it."

Terry Smith

TERRY SMITH

Smith Fact: Needs just 27 receptions and 630 yards to become Clemson's career leader in both areas.

Fall 1993 Depth Chart Position: First-team split end

Best All-Around Game: Had a career-high tying nine receptions for career high 126 yards at Maryland in 1992.

Career Bests: Receptions - 9 vs. Maryland, '90, '92; Rec. Yards - 126 vs. Maryland, '92; Rec. TDs - 2 vs. Duke, '91

Longest Plays: Reception - 77 yds. vs. UTC, '92

Bowl Experience: Gained 71 yards on seven receptions in 57 plays as a starter in the 1992 Citrus Bowl contest with California. Also started the 1991 Hall of Fame Bowl victory over Illinois, he had three catches for 43 yards in 33 plays in that contest.

ACC Stat Rankings: Ranked seventh in the ACC in receiving yards per game in 1992 (54.2), ninth in receptions per game (3.5). Led the ACC in receptions yards per game with 68.9 in 1991, his 4.1 receptions per game ranked second in the conference, first among wide receivers.

Highest Honor: First-team All-ACC in 1991. 1991 Honorable Mention All-American by Football News.

Overview: On his way to becoming the top receiver in Clemson history, he ranks third in the Tiger record book in career receptions (124) and reception yardage (1905) behind Perry Tuttle and Jerry Butler..had nine receptions for 126 yards against Maryland in 1992, that was the most receiving yards for a Tiger in eight years and tied his career-high for receptions in a game...his top two reception games have both been at Maryland, nine each in 1990 and 1992...has played in all 35 games of his career, he has been a starter in 32 contests and has at least one catch in 32 games...he has been the Tigers' starting wide receiver in every game of his career, the only games in which he was not credited with a start, the Tigers started two tight ends...will have started more games than any wide receiver in Clemson history with just four more starts, Perry Tuttle had 35 starts in his career and is the current leader...needs seven TD catches to tie Glenn Smith's career record.

In 1992: Had the longest reception of his career in the win over UT Chattanooga with a 77-yard touchdown grab...in for only 26 plays in that contest, he still had four receptions for 117 yards for his second-highest receiving yardage total of the year...won the ROTC Take-No-Prisoners Award for the performance...also shared AT&T Long Distance Award that day as it was the longest pass play in the nation that day...that was the 10th-longest pass play from scrimmage in Clemson history...made one of the most sensational plays of the season against Florida State when he made a leaping catch and streaked 35-yards for a Clemson touchdown...named Exxon Tiger-of-the-Game versus Florida State and Wake Forest, he led the team in receiving in both of those games...had only three touchdown receptions in 1992, he has 11 for his career...that mark is tied for fifth in Clemson history...had his second-best game of the season in terms of reception average against UNC, when he gained 93 yards on four grabs for a 23.2 average..in for a career-high 75 snaps in the Maryland contest...one of the strongest wide receivers in Clemson history, his 300-pound power clean mark is best for a Tiger wideout since strength coaches began keeping records in 1985...also has the best vertical jump (39-inch) and flexibility mark (+10-1/2") at his position during that time frame...has 21 receptions in his last four games, including eight against Wake Forest.

In 1991: A first-team All-ACC choice by AP/ACSWA who won honorable mention All-America honors from Football News...led the ACC in pass receptions by a wide receiver with 4.1 per game during the regular season, he ranked second overall in the conference in that category... tied for second in the league in touchdown receptions with six...had 52 receptions for 829 yards in 1991 to lead the team, the best single season mark for a Tiger since Perry Tuttle had 52-883 in 1981...ranked third on the team in scoring with 36 points from six TDs.. led the Tigers in receiving in nine games in 1991, he has done so 15 times in his career...ended the regular season on a high note, averaging 99 yards per game receiving in those four Tiger wins...had back-to-back 100-yard receiving games versus Maryland (4-120) and South Carolina (5-117), that feat had not been accomplished by a Clemson player since All-American Jerry Butler did it in 1978...those totals gave him two of the top four reception yardage games over the last 10 years for a Clemson player....named the Exxon Supreme Player-of-the-Game and was given the ROTC Take No Prisoners Award versus Maryland, his 120 yards receiving in that ACC title-clinching win were a career high...had a season-high seven receptions in the loss to Georgia, he was named the Exxon Supreme Player-of-the-Game...also had seven grabs versus California in the Citrus Bowl for a gain of 71 yards...scored a pair of touchdowns in the regular season finale with Duke when he had three grabs for 69 yards...averaged over 10 yards per reception in all but one game in 1991, and 27 times in his career.

In 1990: Set the Clemson freshman records for receptions and reception yardage in a season, he shattered both records by over 10 receptions and 100 yards...set freshman single game record with nine catches against Maryland, most receptions by a Clemson player in the last 10 seasons...had nine catches for 84 yards and also had four knockdown blocks in that game...finished 10th in the ACC in reception yards per game, he was 12th in total receptions...led Clemson in receiving in six of the 12 games, including three of the first four...had three receptions for 43 yards in the Hall of Fame Bowl...had at least one catch in every game but the Georgia Tech contest...had nine games in which he had multiple catches...had two TD catches, one a 20-yarder against Duke and one an 18-yarder against N.C. State...had five catches at N.C. State for 63 yards...had his longest reception of the season against Appalachian State, a 34-yarder...played at least 35 plays in 11 of 12 games.....two-time ACC Rookie-of-the-Week, he won the honor against Maryland and N.C. State...named Clemson Offensive Player-of-the-Game against Maryland...started nine of the 12 games, the only three games he did not start, Clemson started two tight ends...only the second native of Clemson to play for the Tigers in the last 13 years.

In 1989: Red-shirted the 1989 season at wide receiver...the leading receiver for the Tigers in 1990 spring workouts, he had 10 receptions for 161 yards...turned heads in the Orange and White game with five grabs for 100 yards...one was a 40-yarder from DeChane Cameron that set up the White team's winning touchdown on the final drive of that game.

In High School: The Player-of-the-Year in South Carolina according to USA Today...also a member of the Orlando Sentinel's Dixie Dozen and Athlon's Atlantic Coast Blue Chips...Max Emfinger rated him in the top 10 high school inside receivers in the nation...selected all-state by The Greenville News, The (Columbia) State, and the Associated Press...the leading vote-getter on the AP team and the Back-of-the-Year by The Greenville News...SuperPrep Magazine's All-Midatlantic team...an honorable mention All-America choice of Street & Smith's...a member of Joe Terranova's Who's Who...scored South Carolina's only touchdown in the Shrine Bowl...had an outstanding career at nearby Daniel High School...coached there by Dick Singleton...caught 56 passes for 1,168 yards and 12 TDs...also had seven interceptions for 123 return yards and one TD and one fumble recovery...returned 33 punts for 6.1 yard average and 25 kickoffs for 20.7 yard average...majoring in management...born 4/20/71.

#11 Louis Solomon

Meet the Tigers

Quarterback
5-10...168...*So.
Somerset, NJ
Franklin HS

THE WISDOM OF SOLOMON

On How He Became a QB:

"It was by accident. In high school, we had a Saturday practice and the quarterback didn't show up. We needed somebody to fill that spot, so I tried it. I think I got the job because they knew I would show up for practice every day. I guess I had stability. But the way I can compete at quarterback, in spite of my size, is because of my determination and pride. I hate to be beaten."

On Clemson's QB Competition:

"The battle keeps us all alert. It makes you want to work hard every snap because if you don't, the next person will step up and take your spot. It makes us all have confidence in ourselves and gives the team confidence in us. It makes us fearless."

On Leading Clemson to its Biggest Comeback in History versus Virginia in 1992:

"I wasn't really scared when I went in the game, I just didn't feel anything. I just wanted to prove that I could play at that level. I really didn't feel anything until after the game. Then I was so happy, I couldn't believe it. More than anything, I was happy that everybody came together and proved to themselves that we could win. I think knowing we can do that will help this year."

Solomon Fact: Only quarterback in Clemson history to record consecutive 100-yard rushing games.

Best All-Around Game: Completed 5-14 passes for 88 yards to lead the Tigers to victory over Virginia in 1992. He also rushed for 116 yards on 16 carries and a touchdown in that contest.

Career Bests: Rush Att. - 16 vs. Virginia, Duke, '92; Rush Yds. - 116 vs. Virginia, '92; Rush TDs - 1 vs. Virginia, Duke, '92; Pass Att. - 14 vs. Virginia, '92; Pass Comp. - 5 vs. Virginia, '92; Pass. Yds - 88 vs. Virginia, '92; Plays - 30 vs. Virginia, '92; Tot. Off - 204 yds. vs. Virginia, '92; Pass. Pct. - .600 vs. UTC, '92; Pass Efficiency - 105.4 vs. UTC, '92

Long Plays: Rush - 64 yds. vs. Virginia, '92; Pass - 45 yds. vs. Virginia, '92

Overview: Quick-footed quarterback who led the Tigers to three back-to-back wins at mid-season before his season ended with a knee injury...Clemson was 3-0 in games he played in 1992...did not play in the first three games of the season, but came in off the bench versus UTC and Virginia to lead the Tigers to victory...quarterbacked Clemson for 27 possessions in 1992, the Tigers scored on 13 of them, 11 TDs and two field goals...just the second QB in the last 11 years to pick up 100+ yards rushing in a game, he went over the century mark versus Virginia and Duke...only one other QB (DeChane Cameron) since the days of Homer Jordan had gone over the 100 yards in terms of rushing...in for 64 plays in the Virginia contest, he came on in the first half when Richard Moncrief left the game with an injury...led the Tigers back from a 28-0 deficit, Clemson's first score of the game came late in the second quarter when Solomon kept the ball on an option play and ran 64-yards for a touchdown...that was the second-longest TD run ever by a Tiger QB, only a 75-yard run by Steve Fuller in 1978 was longer...gained 204 yards in total offense in that contest with a season-high totals of 116 yards rushing and 88-yards passing...named the ACC Offensive Back-of-the-Week for his performance against the Cavaliers, he also was named the Exxon Tiger-of-the-Game...had his first career start versus Duke, he was in for 45 plays and led the Tigers in rushing with 104 yards...injured his knee in the fourth quarter of that contest and did not see action the rest of the season...his .750 completion mark for that Clemson win was the best for a Tiger all year...led the team in total offense on a per play basis, he averaged 6.9 yards...averaged 142.3 yards per game in total offense, that mark ranked second on the 1992 squad...the Tigers' fourth-leading rusher in 1992, even though he played in only three contests, he averaged 96 yards per game on the ground, the best per game average for a Tiger...at 5-10, 168, he is the smallest quarterback on the Clemson squad, but he boasts the highest power ratio (strength based on bodyweight) ever for a Tiger QB, his mark is 7.65...that is the best mark among 1993 Tigers who gain of 151 yards, he led all quarterbacks in rushing...scored the first touchdown of the day in the annual Orange & White game, he led the White team 80 yards down the field, rushing for 36 yards on the drive...had 68 yards rushing for the day, he was the top ground-gainer for the losing White team.

In High School: Became the first player to be named first-team all-state in New Jersey twice...chosen the state Player-of-the-Year in 1990...led his high school to the state championship in 1990...a SuperPrep All-American...that publication rated him as the nation's 14th-best quarterback and the 27th-best overall prospect in the Northeast...SuperPrep called him "perhaps the purest option quarterback to come out of New Jersey in 10 years"...Street & Smith's Honorable Mention All-American...as a senior, completed 167 of 314 passes (53.2 percent) for 1,997 yards and 15 TDs with only nine interceptions...he also rushed for 971 yards and 11 TDs as a senior...completed 144 of 278 passes for 2,900 yards and 29 touchdowns, and ran for 495 yards and 10 TDs as a junior...the 2,900 yards and 29 touchdowns set the New Jersey record...led his high school to the Central New Jersey Group Three state title that season...earned seven letters as a prepster, including three each in football and track and one in basketball...attended Franklin Township High School where he was coached by Joe Stinson...majoring in special education...born 7-22-72.

STEPHENS SPEAKS

On Moving to Outside Linebacker:

"I see the move as a big challenge. There are some differences in the position, but if I play hard and listen to what the coaches say, things will work out. This past spring, football practice was really a challenge, but I think I learned a lot. I am very competitive and I am going to do my best, regardless of what position I'm playing."

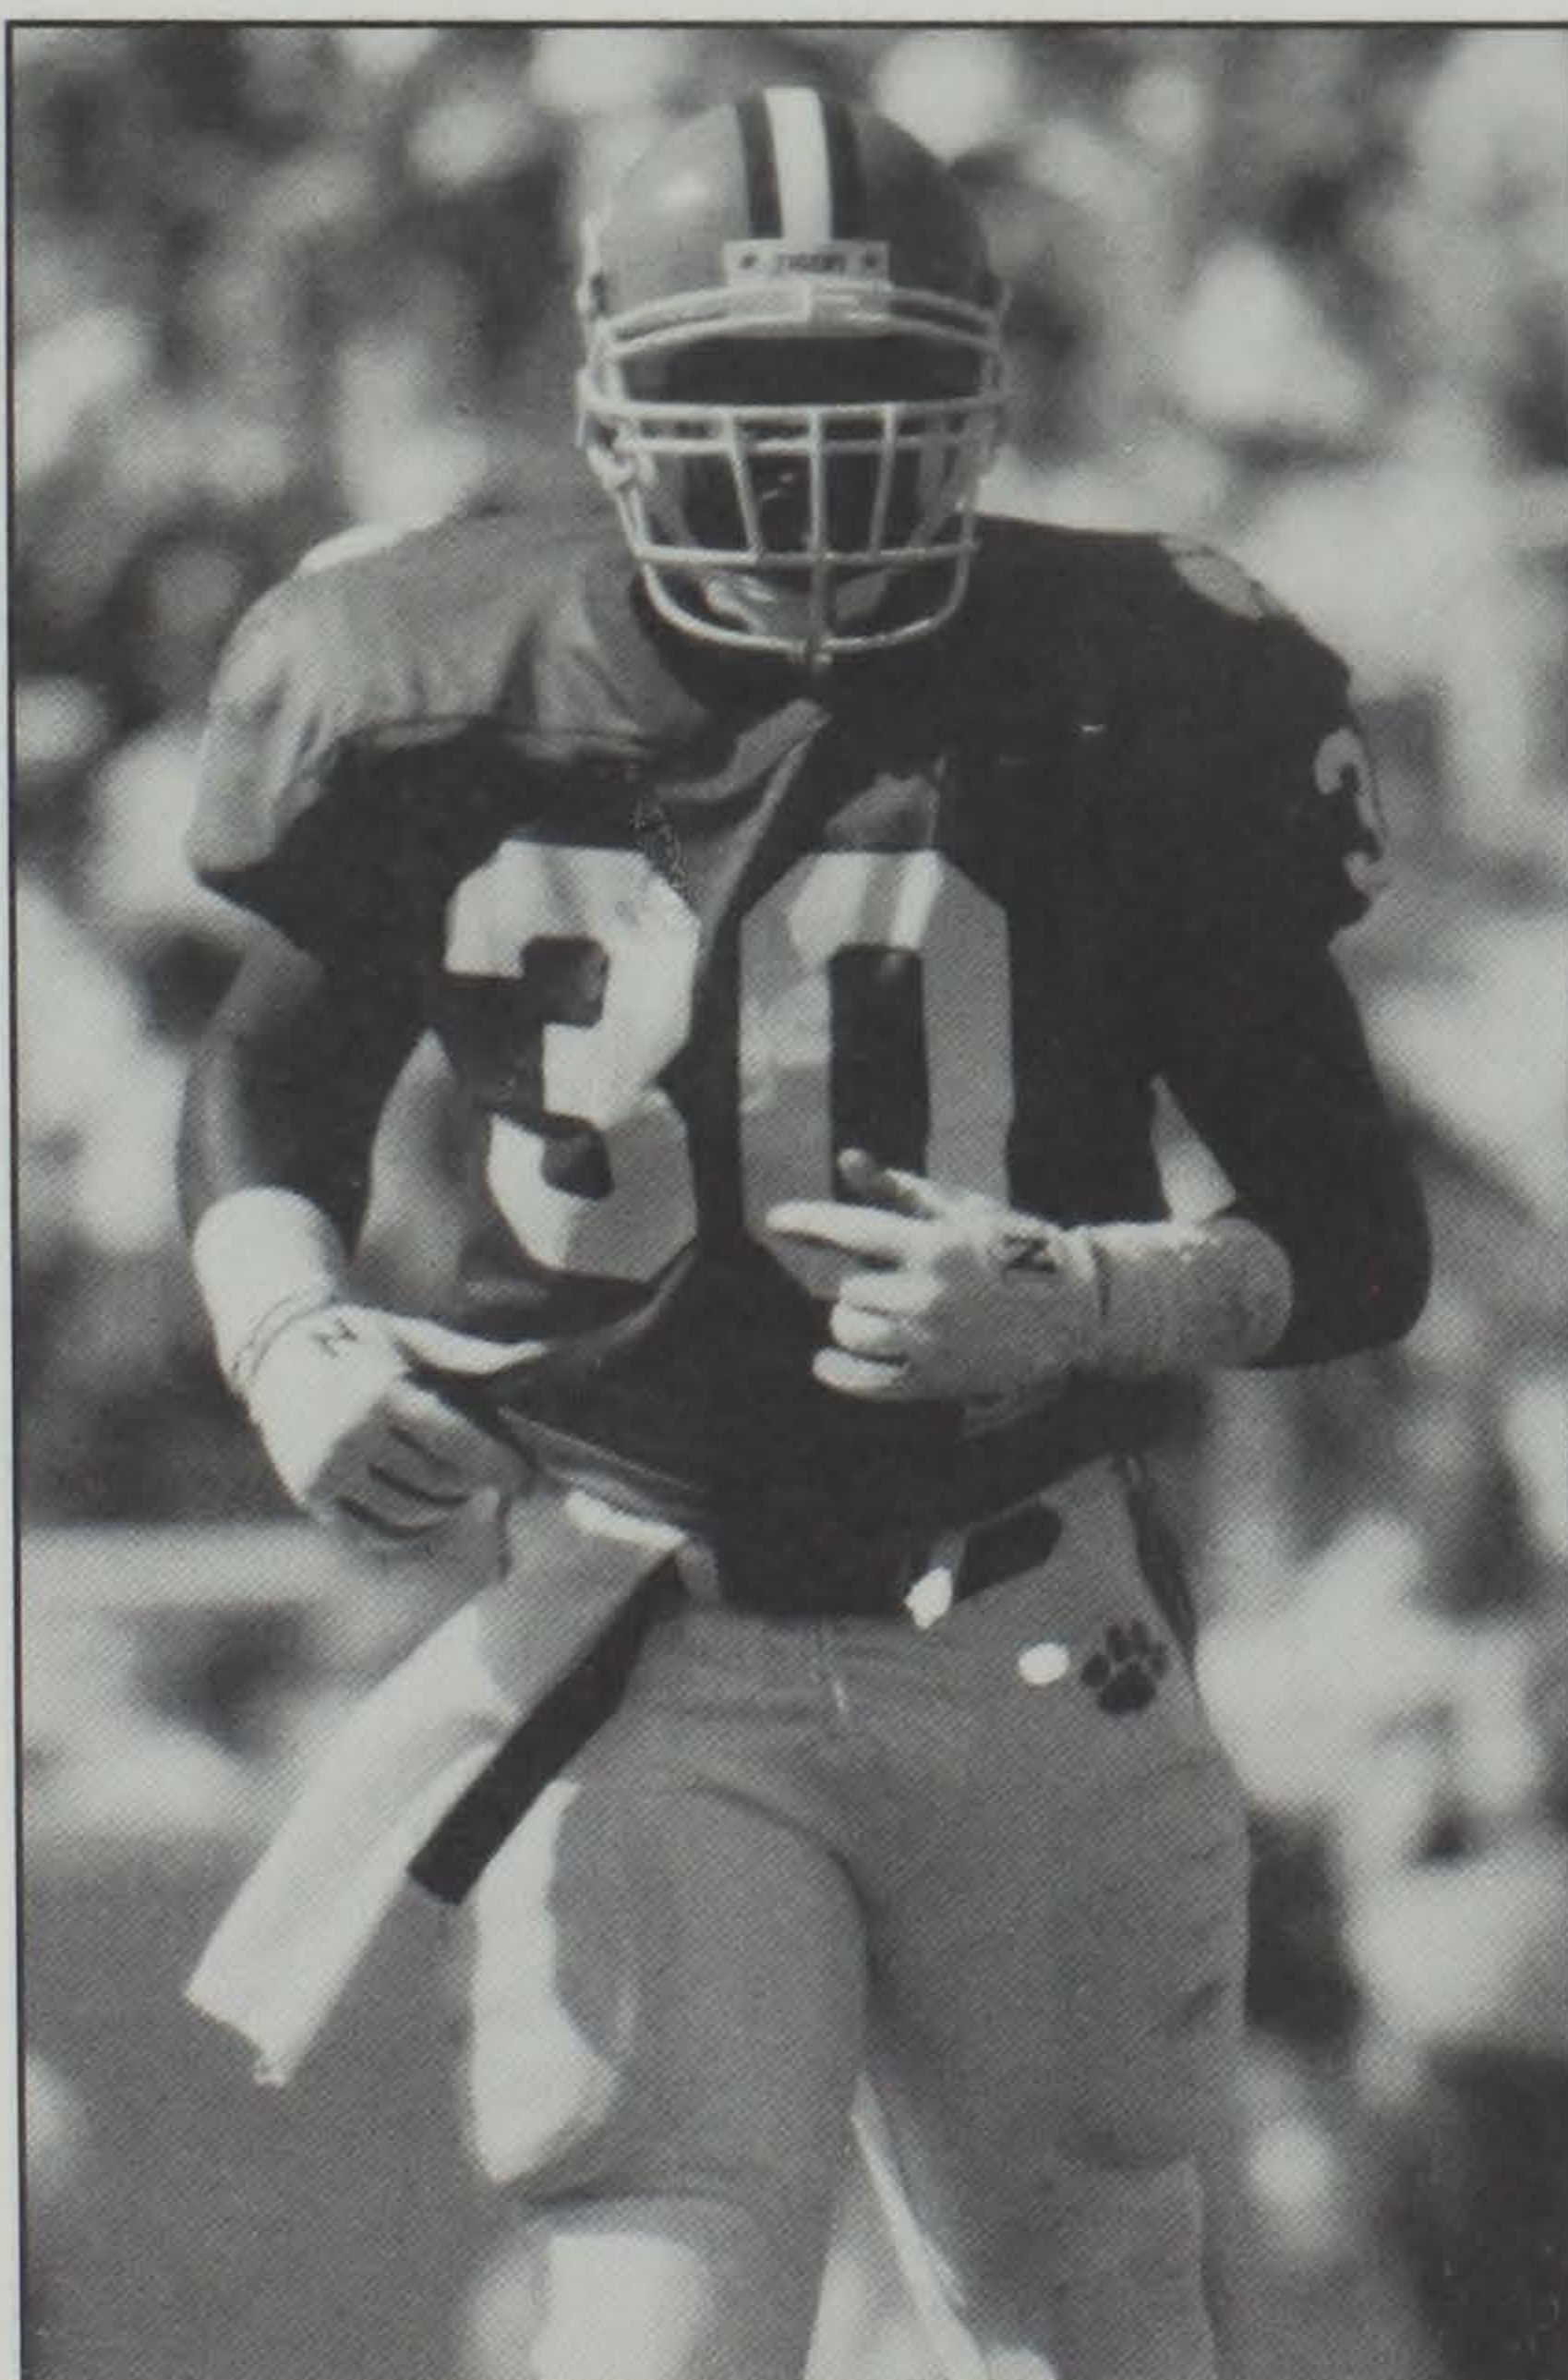

On What the Key to Clemson's Success will be in 1993:

"This team has a chance to be a good one. I know there are a lot of young players that will have to step up and contribute, but I think we have a chance to be very good. If everyone comes into pre-fall practice with a hard-working attitude, we will surprise a lot of people this year. Everyone seemed to have a great attitude this spring and I think that will carry over to the fall."

Coach Hatfield on Stephens:

"The outside linebacker position has been very key in the Clemson defense for a long time. There is a key role on every play. We need an experience player, one with football savvy and experience. Darnell Stephens fits the bill. We need him involved in every play."

Overview: A sophomore All-American at strong safety according to Football News in 1992, he moved over to the outside linebacker position for 1993 spring drills and is listed as a starter there heading into prefall drills...listed as the Tigers' starting strong safety heading into the fall of '92 after he started six games as a true freshman, he suffered a knee injury in prefall workouts and was forced to sit out the first two games...did not start the first three games in which he played last season, he was in for a total of 111 plays for the Georgia Tech, UTC and Virginia contests and had only six tackles...he did break up two passes versus Georgia Tech in his first game back...had his first start of the season versus Duke, that was his second-best game of the season...in for 62 plays in that contest, and posted a career-high eight tackles, five of which were first hits...also returned three punts for a total of 25 yards in that contest, a season-high in terms of yardage...in for 359 plays over the last six games of 1992, all of which he started...also

2 Nelson Welch

Meet the Tigers

IN WELCH'S WORDS

On What His Challenge will be for 1993:

"I want to try to get back on top of the conference and win All-ACC at placekicker again. I would also like to be an all-conference performer as a punter, like Chris (Gardocki) was. Now that I know I can do both, I think I can excel at both. This year I have confidence that I can handle both the punting and placekicking and that makes a big difference."

On Being a Third-Team All-American:

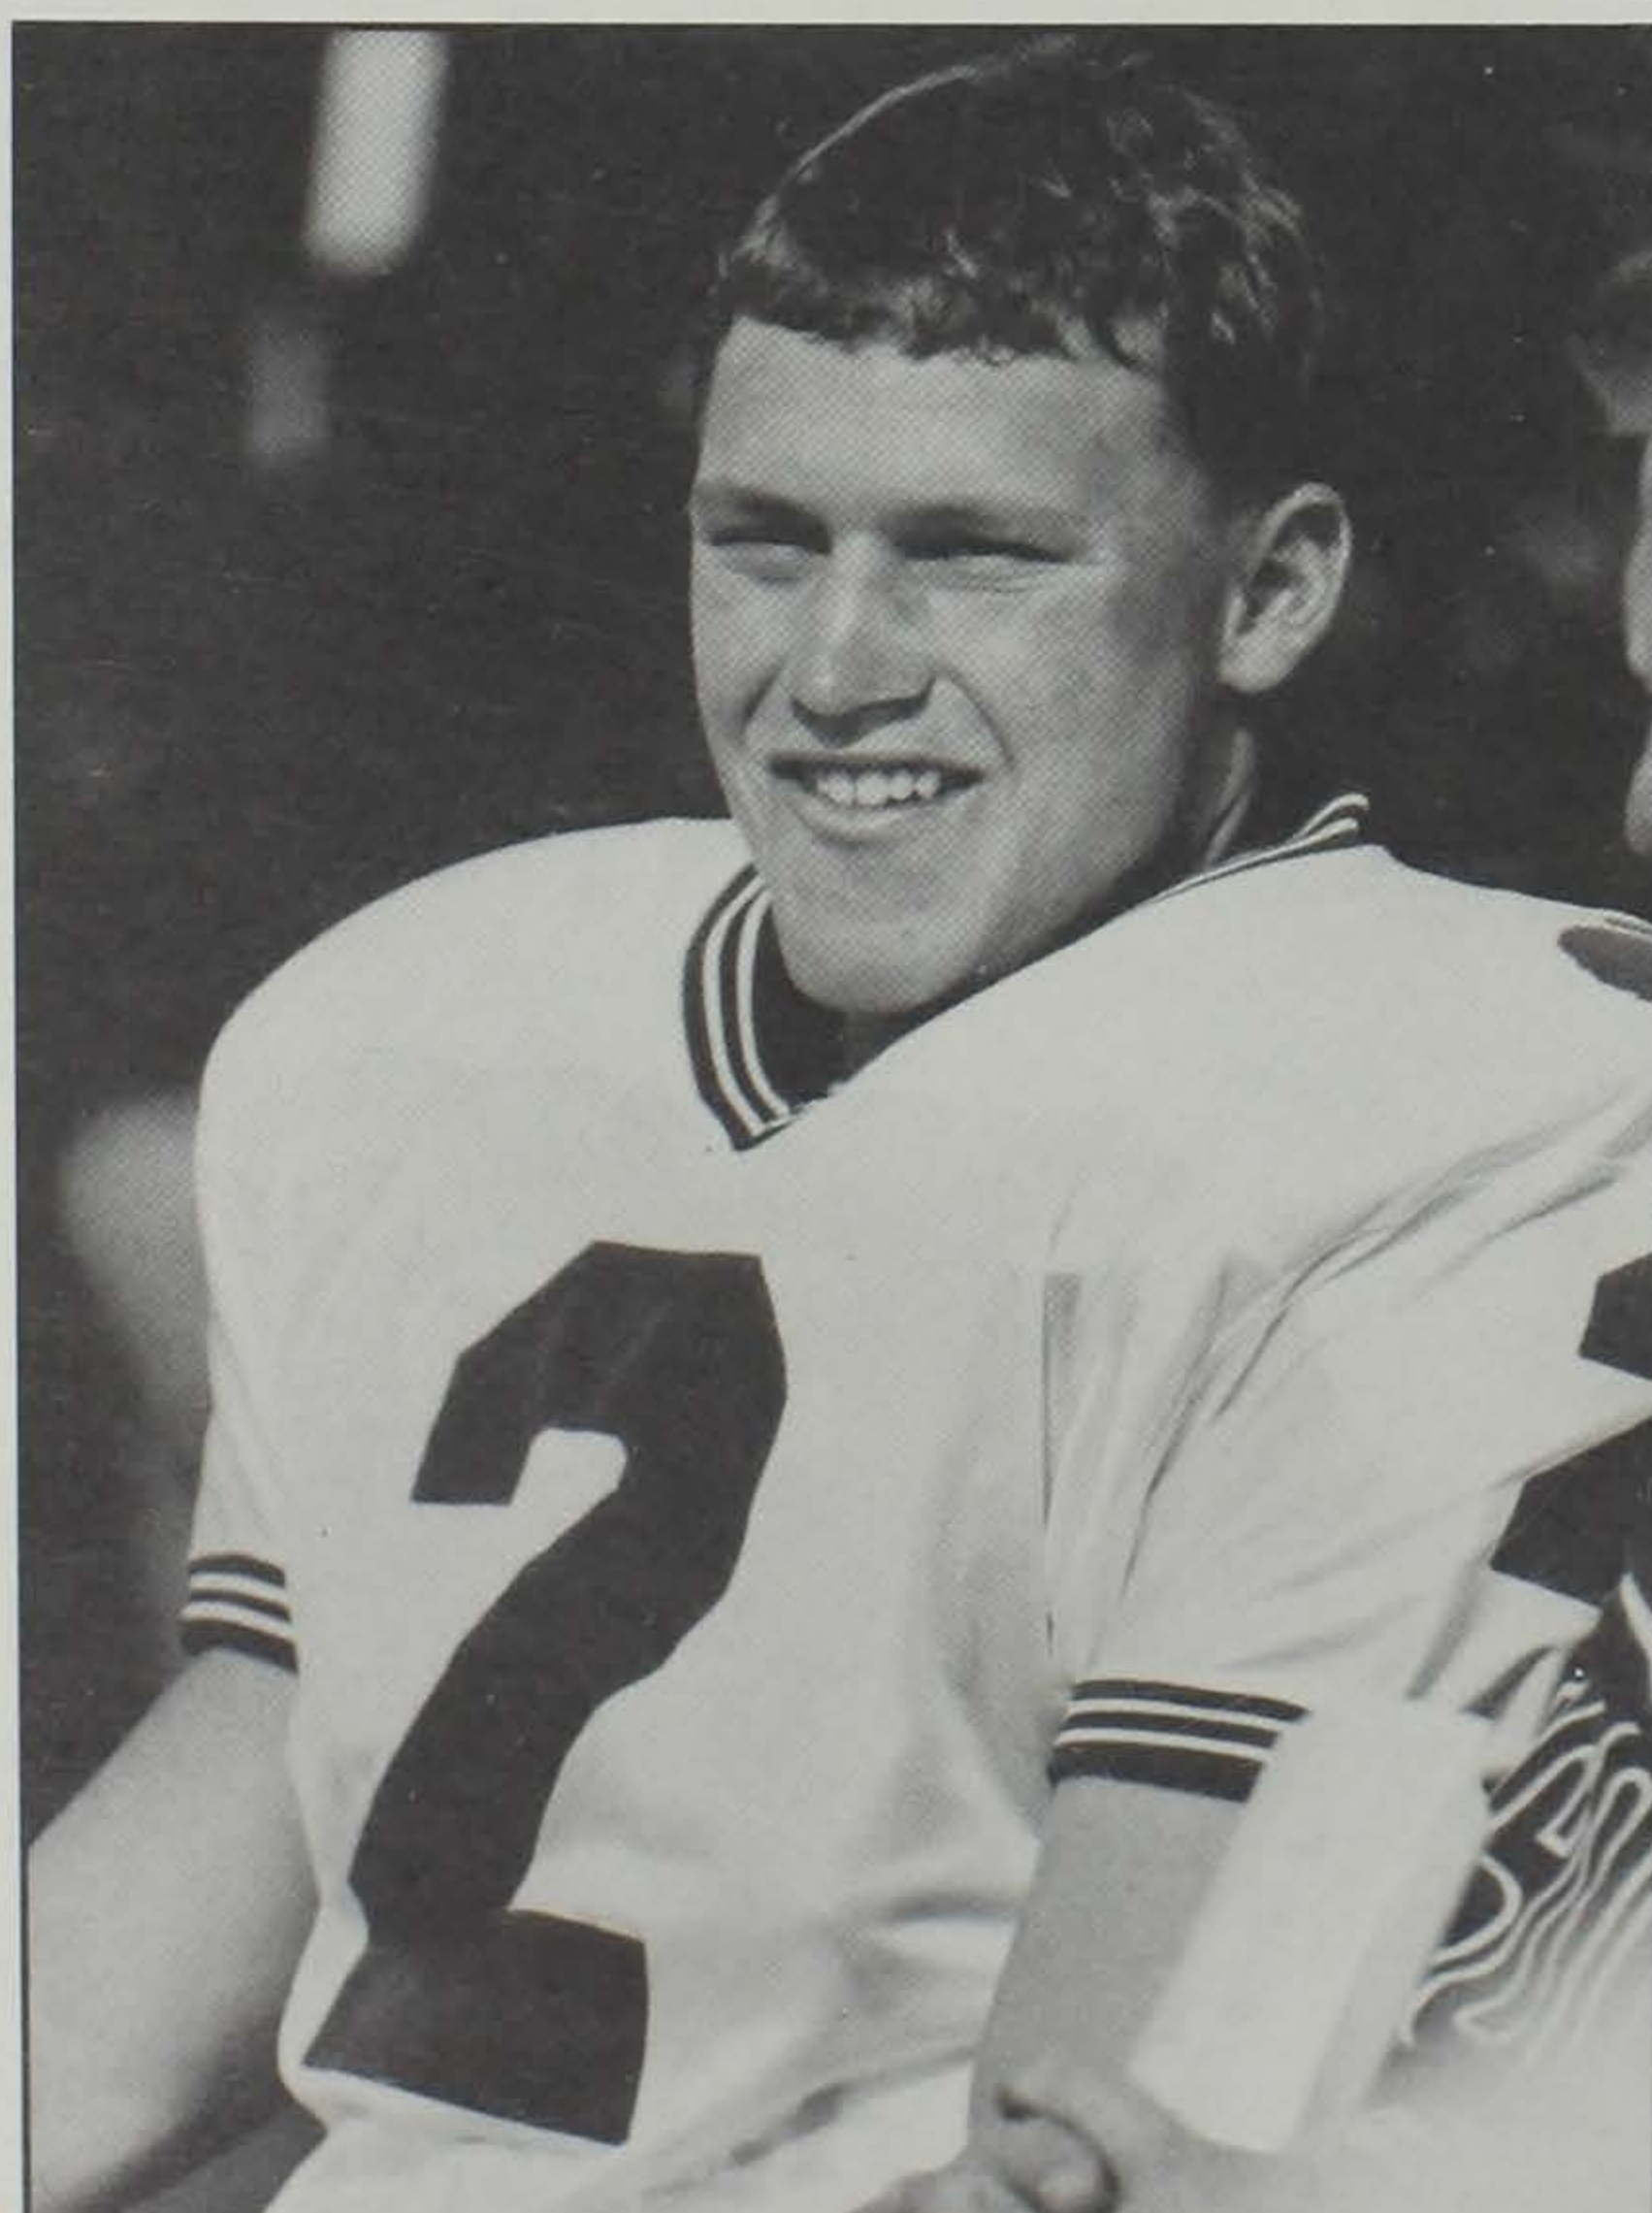

"It felt great to be among the best in the nation. It meant that I had done something that Gardocki and Treadwell and other great Clemson kickers have done. That was an unbelievable way for me to finish out of the season. It was a great reward."

On Battling a Learning Disability:

"Because I have dyslexia, I've had to overcome a lot since I've been at Clemson. There have been a lot of times that I just wanted to give up on my books, but my fiancée (I'm getting married next May) and my family have really supported me. I'm a senior now academically and I've got two more years to play football, so I'm in good shape. I am on-line to graduate in four years even though I have a learning disability and I'm very proud of that. Things that are simple for other people have been harder for me academically, but I've learned how to handle it. I've spoken about my learning disability to a lot of kids. I just tell kids to never give up and to ask for help. I went through a lot of years thinking I could do it all without help and that just makes people think you're dumb or you don't care."

1993 Football Bowl Coalition

The Orange, Sugar, Cotton and Fiesta Bowls (Tier One) have joined with the Atlantic Coast Conference, The Big East Football Conference and the University of Notre Dame in a partnership to provide the opportunity for the champions of the ACC and the Big East Football conferences and Notre Dame to appear in one of the aforementioned bowl games each year.

In addition, the ACC and The Big East Football champions are guaranteed a spot in the Orange, Sugar, or Cotton Bowl each year.

The current commitments of the conference champions of the Big East to the Orange Bowl, Southeastern to the Sugar Bowl and Southwest to the Cotton Bowl remain intact, leaving two additional paths open in the four Tier One coalition bowls.

These two spots will be filled from a pool of "at-large" teams which will include the next best team (as selected by the Tier One coalition bowls) from the following five conferences — Atlantic Coast, The Big East, Big Eight, PAC-10 (whose champion remains committed to the Rose Bowl) and Southwest.

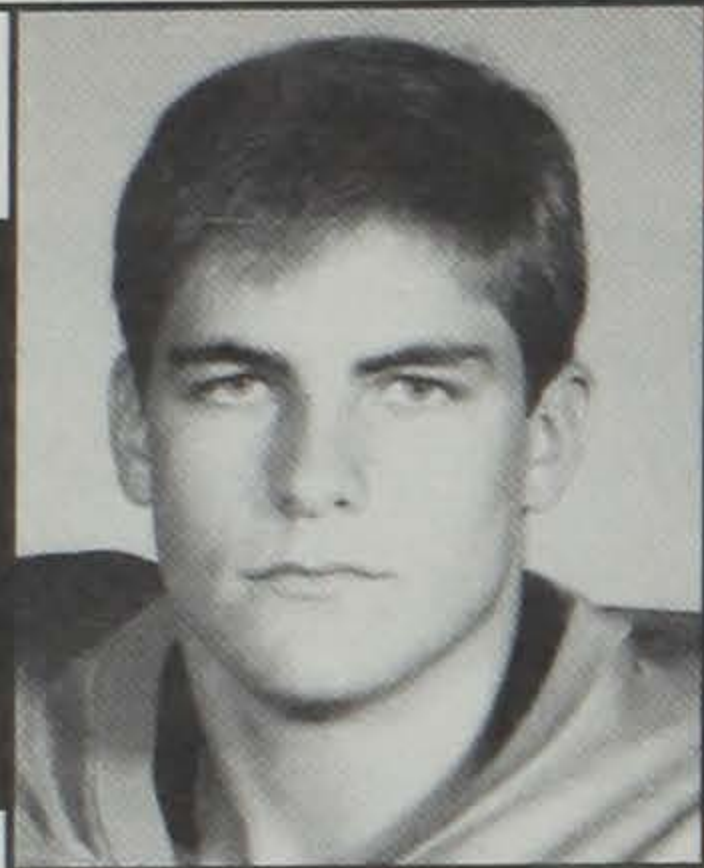

The three "at-large" teams not selected to the Tier One coalition bowls will then be available for selection to the Tier Two bowls (Gator and John Hancock) of the coalition. The team selection date for all the bowls involved in the coalition (Tier One & Two) will be following the completion of the regular season.

The selection process is as follows:

1. Whenever Notre Dame, the ACC and The Big East Football champions occupy the number one and two rankings in the combined final regular season polls of the Associated Press and USA Today/CNN Coaches, they must play the national championship game in the Fiesta Bowl.
2. Whenever the number one or two team in the combined final regular season polls of the Associated Press and USA Today/CNN Coaches come from among the ACC champion, The Big East Football champion or Notre Dame, and the host conference champion from among the Sugar, Cotton or Orange Bowl is ranked number one or two, these teams must play one another in the bowl of the host conference champion.
3. Barring the above circumstances, the Orange, Sugar and Cotton Bowls will select first in order of the final combined rankings of their respective host conference champions. Following that selection, the Fiesta Bowl will have two selections from the remaining pool of five teams.
4. Once these selections have been completed the remaining three "at-large" teams will be available to the Tier Two bowls. The Gator Bowl selects one team first and then the two remaining teams will be assigned to the John Hancock Bowl.
5. The ACC and Big East Football champions and Notre Dame have the right to pass a Tier One selection for a higher payout, to avoid a rematch of a regular season game or to avoid playing in a particular bowl game for a third consecutive year.
6. A team may pass a selection to a Tier Two bowl only to avoid a rematch of a regular season game or to avoid playing in a particular bowl game for a third consecutive year.

Years Lettered: 1990, 1991, 1992

In 1992: The Tigers' starting quarterback in six games of 1992 even though he battled a hip pointer throughout the season...the Tigers' first left-handed starter since Mike Eppley in 1984...had his best game of the season in the Florida State contest, when he was 13-24 for a gain of 109 yards in the passing department...connected with Terry Smith on a 35-yard touchdown strike to put the Tigers ahead in the fourth quarter before FSU came back and gained the victory...had his best game of the season in terms of rushing yardage at Georgia Tech, when he gained 60 yards and scored a touchdown on 20 carries...he was in for a career-high 84 plays in that contest, his 142 yards in total offense for that game was also a career-high...started the first five games of the season, he was forced to leave the Virginia contest after only 13 plays due to the hip problem and came off the bench for only 10 snaps the next week versus Duke...started the N.C. State contest but was forced to leave with the injury once again...missed three of the last four games of the season, he came in for 12 plays in the North Carolina contest...averaged 69.3 yards per game in total offense to rank fourth on the team in that category...did well in 1993 spring workouts, he was 15-29 in the passing department for a gain of 180 yards during five spring scrimmages...lined up at wide receiver in the last scrimmage of the spring on April 17, he caught a 27-yard pass...has clocked in at 4.57 in the 40-yard dash...has improved all of his strength stats since he came to Clemson in the summer of 1989, his 255-pound bench press mark is a 50-pound improvement, while his 710-pound leg sled figure is up 150 pounds...expected to earn his degree in August and will take graduate courses in the fall.

In 1991: Came on strong in the Tigers' last three regular season games of 1991, he was named the Offensive MVP in the Tigers' win over Duke in the Coca Cola Bowl...took over for an injured DeChane Cameron in that game and completed 3-6 passes for 51 yards and a touchdown...also ran the ball eight times for 46 yards and another TD in the win over the Blue Devils, his 97 yards of total offense that day were his second highest of the season...led Clemson to 26 fourth-quarter points and the come-from-behind win...posted a 118.89 passing efficiency mark that season...scored his first career touchdown on a 28-yard run in the ACC title-clinching win over Maryland, he carried the ball four times for 49 yards that afternoon...connected with wide receiver Terry Smith on a 25-yard touchdown pass in his first play off the bench in the win at South Carolina...in for a career-high 40 snaps in the Wake Forest contest, he was 5-9 for 42 yards passing and rushed for 60 yards on nine attempts to earn 102 yards in total offense, another career best...completed his only pass attempt in the Virginia game, he lined up at tailback, took the pitch from Cameron, and then threw it to Cameron for a 37-yard gain...completed 4 of 13 (.307) in the first five games of the season, and then completed 56 percent (10-18) of his attempts over the last five games...averaged 6.23 yards per play in terms of total offense, higher than Cameron's 5.83 mark...quick, shifty QB who has been effective running the option, his specialty is the late pitch...averaged 5.7 yards per rush that year, including a 7.4 average over his last 21 attempts.

In 1990: Hard-working second-team QB who saw action in eight games, his best game of the season was against Wake Forest when he stood behind center for 21 snaps...was 4-7 for a gain of 71 yards in the passing department and rushed twice for a gain of 10 yards in that contest...played 16 snaps in the Hall of Fame Bowl victory over Illinois, he was 2-4 passing and gained nine yards on three carries...in for a season-high 37 plays in the season opener with Long Beach State...averaged 3.2 yards per carry rushing in four spring scrimmages in 1991.

In 1989: Red-shirted the 1989 season at quarterback, he gained considerable experience as the field general for the Tiger scout team...turned heads with his on-field imitation of West Virginia's Major Harris during preparations for the Gator Bowl clash with the Mountaineers...chipped a bone on the thumb of his throwing hand during spring drills in 1990 so his progress was slowed.

In High School: Lindy's magazine selected him as an Alabama Blue Chip as a quarterback, a third-team All-South cornerback, and a first-team All-Alabama strong safety...Max Emfinger rated him as the 12th-best pass/run quarterback in the country and the 45th best prospect in the South...played on state championship baseball team in 1987...Metro Player-of-the-Year, All-Metro, Lindy's Super Dozen...Alabama all-state choice by Advertiser Journal...an honorable mention All-American according to Street & Smith...named to Joe Terranova's Who's Who list and Tom Lemming's All-Alabama team...ranked sixth on the Alabama Dynamite 12 prospect list...named Montgomery Touchdown Area Player-of-the-Year...connected on 67 of 120 passes for 1,183 yards and nine TDs as a senior...also rushed for 365 yards...enjoyed an outstanding junior campaign where he passed for 1,182 yards and ran for 587 yards and seven TDs...completed 81 of 172 passes as a junior...led his team to a 9-2 record in 1988...attended Jefferson Davis High School...his father, Richard, played football and ran track at Alabama State (1967-71)...coached by Charles Lee...majoring in sociology...a member of the Student Athlete Advisory Board...majoring in sociology...born 10-19-71 in Montgomery, AL.

The Clemson radio network is regarded as one of the most innovative networks in the country and keeps Clemson fans informed virtually from 10:00 AM to 6:00 PM on gamedays with a tailgate show, pregame show and scoreboard show. The day's programming features the voice of the Tigers, Hall of Famer Jim Phillips, who celebrated his silver anniversary with the Tigers in 1992.

The man synonymous with Clemson athletics since the late 1960s, Phillips is one of the reasons for the network's popularity. Phillips is one of the most respected play-by-play men in the nation. The native of Youngstown, OH has described 289 Clemson football games and 719 Clemson basketball games in his career. He is now the dean of all broadcasters in the ACC. The sports director for WFBC radio in Greenville, SC provides commentary on Clemson football, basketball and baseball.

Phillips has received numerous awards during his career. Five times he has been chosen South Carolina Sportscaster-of-the-year. Last year he was honored with The Master's Award, the highest honor awarded by the South Carolina Broadcaster's Association. The Master's Award is a lifetime achievement award and has been presented just twice previously in its six-year history. In addition to his radio career, Phillips also served as sports director for WFBC-TV between 1968 and 1980.

The former voice of the Greenville Braves (AA, Southern League) was inducted into the Clemson Athletic Hall of Fame last year for his outstanding service as voice of the Tigers. In addition to his accuracy and flair in broadcasting, Phillips's induction is also a result of his dedication, reliability and consistency. In many ways, he is the iron man of broadcasting.

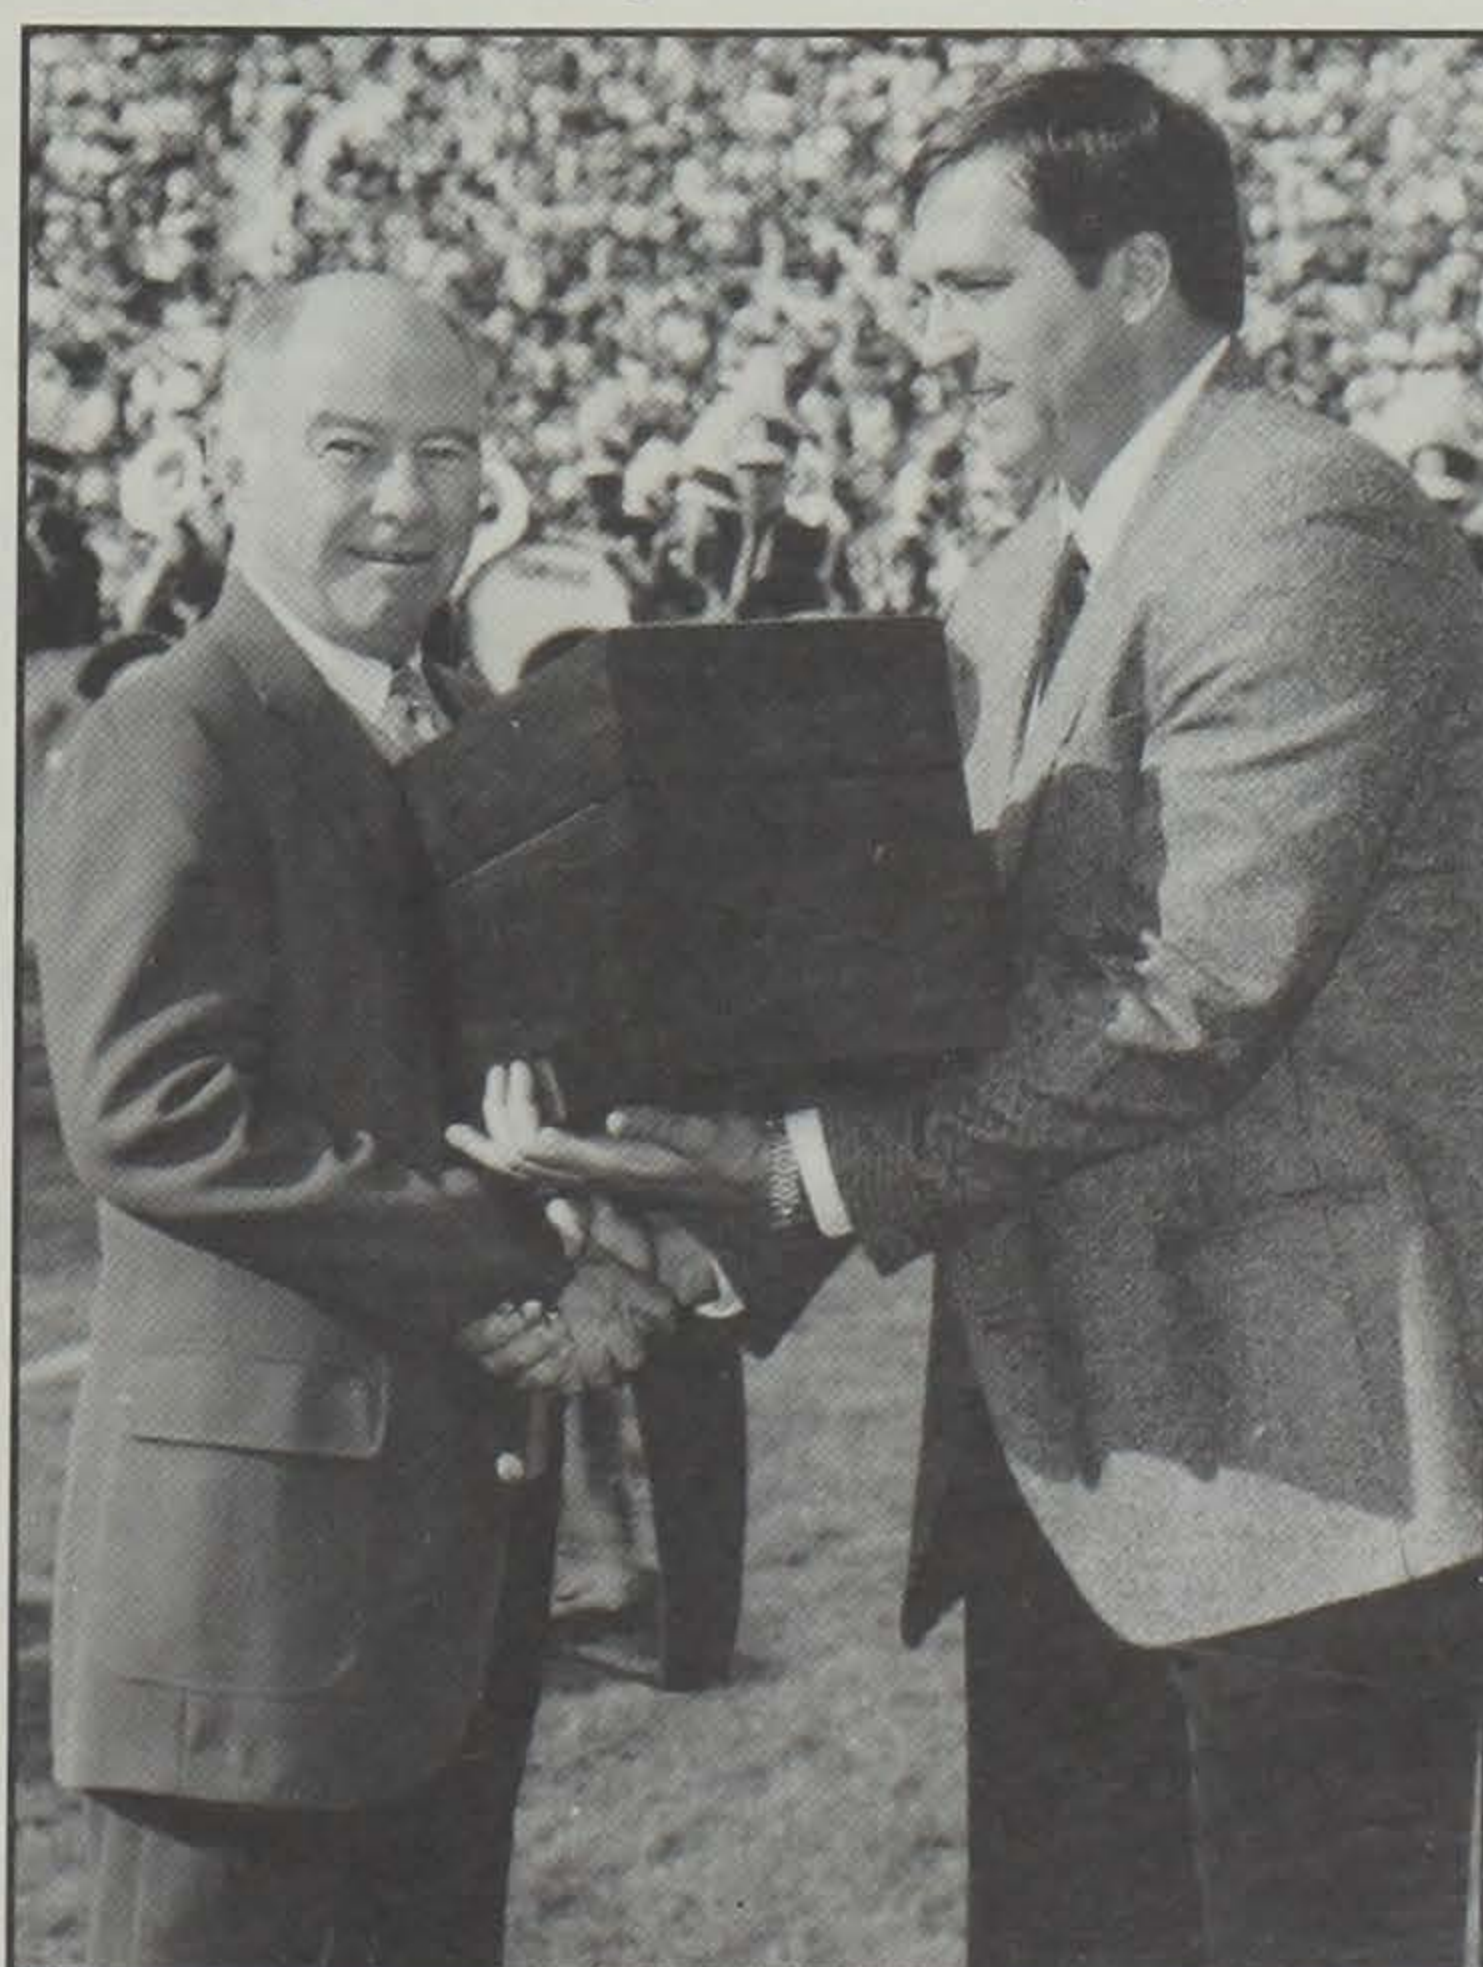

In 1982 Phillips saw his streak of consecutive basketball broadcasts snapped at an incredible 386. The streak was not snapped because of injury, however, it was stopped because he could not be in two places at the same time. The Clemson basketball team was in Alaska at the Great Alaskan Shootout and the Clemson football team was in Japan participating in the Mirage Bowl against Wake Forest trying to clinch an ACC championship. Phillips opted for the trip to the Orient and his basketball streak went by the boards. He has never missed the broadcast of a regular season football game (1968-present).

Mike Eppley joined the broadcast team five years ago as the color analyst on the Clemson radio network. The native of Charlotte, NC is Clemson's number-three ranked passer in terms of efficiency rating and he guided Clemson to 21 victories as the starting quarterback between 1982 and 1984. He is also the school record holder for touchdown passes with 28.

Eppley, who earned his MBA from the Clemson/Furman program, deals with strategical aspects of the game. Also a color analyst for many high school all-star games in North and South Carolina, Eppley is a heating and air conditioning vice president in Charlotte, NC.

One of the most popular aspects of the Clemson network is the Tiger Tailgate show, a program that gets Clemson fans ready for the action beginning three hours prior to kickoff. The show, hosted by Mike Gallagher and Joey Erwin, features interviews with players and coaches, a look at college football and the University in general, other sports at Clemson and highlights special activities taking place the day of the game. The program is heard home and away on many of the Clemson network stations.

Dr. Harold Vigodsky will serve as statistician for the fifth straight year, while Sack Bagley is in his third decade as spotter for the network. Jerry Massey serves as engineer.

The award-winning Fifth Quarter scoreboard show gives Clemson fans more than just scores of other games. Reporters from all over the nation give you a rundown of what went on in stadiums from Boston to South Bend to Seattle.

All correspondence concerning network clearances, advertising, and format should be directed to Mike Whitaker at Multimedia in Greenville.

The flagship station for Clemson football again will be WFBC-FM (93.7) in Greenville. Multimedia also owns the broadcast rights to Clemson football and basketball.

Coming into the game, the 13th-ranked Clemson Tigers had not lost a season opener since 1986, and had an overall mark of 71-17-8 when it came to the first contest of the new season. In fact, the Tigers had not been scored on in the opener since 1988 when Virginia Tech scored a touchdown in their losing effort.

The winning tradition continued in 1992 as Clemson defeated Ball State 24-10 in their first ever meeting on the football field. However, Ball State did surpass Clemson in some statistics.

Ball State passed for over 200 yards for the contest, with quarterback Mike Neu completing 25 of 48 pass attempts, as compared to the Tiger's 36 total passing yards. The Cardinals also surpassed Clemson in first downs for the game with 18, while Clemson only recorded 16.

However, the Tigers out-rushed Ball State 255-120 while averaging 4.47 yards per play. Clemson scored first on a one-yard run by Marrio Grier and then again in the second quarter with a Nelson Welch 43-yard field goal.

Ball State responded with a five-yard touchdown pass to Brian Oliver, with only 0:12 to go in the first half and headed into the locker room at halftime down 10-7.

The third quarter's only scoring action came from Ball State with a 22-yard field goal by Matt Swart. The score followed a Clemson fumble.

Clemson put the game away by scoring twice in the fourth quarter with touchdown runs by Howard Hall and Ronald Williams. Williams was questionable coming into the game due to his torn ACL suffered in 1991.

Defensively, the Tigers made up for the loss of three first-team All-Americans and another player to the NFL draft with outstanding performances by the linebacker corps.

Tim Jones led the team with 12 total tackles, an interception, and two tackles for loss. Ashley Sheppard and safety Robert O'Neal each had career-high marks recording eight and 11 tackles, respectively. O'Neal also added a PBU and an interception.

First-year freshman Derek Burnette made an impressive debut with 11 stops in the game. That is the highest total for any first-year freshman in his first game.

Tim Jones had a team-best 12 tackles and an interception in the season opening win over Ball State.

Clemson and Florida State met on September 12 in the eighth meeting between two top 20 teams in Death Valley. Clemson came into the game ranked 15th while Florida State was ranked fifth. For Clemson, it was also the first home night game since 1956 when they defeated Presbyterian College, 27-7.

The Clemson defense started the nationally televised game with the same pace they set in the previous contest with Ball State. On Florida State's first possession of the game the Tiger defender Ashley Sheppard recorded a tackle for loss and Norris Brown had an interception.

The Clemson offense did not materialize early and Florida State went on to score later in the first quarter on a one-yard run by William Floyd to take a 7-0 lead.

Clemson senior Norris Brown recorded his second interception of the game when he picked off a Charlie Ward pass and returned it for 32 yards. But again the Tigers could not capitalize off of Ward's misfortune and the Seminoles went on to score a 29-yard field goal on their next possession to take a 10-0 lead.

Clemson's only score of the first half came on a Nelson Welch 47-yard field goal with no time remaining on the clock.

The second half opened with another big Clemson defensive showing. Robert O'Neal intercepted a pass to set up a field goal, then James Trapp picked off another and returned it 39 yards for a touchdown, giving Clemson a 13-10 lead.

After stopping the Seminoles and taking over after a John Wimberly punt, the Tigers drove the ball to the Florida State 12-yard line and a potential scoring opportunity was at the door. A fumble took place on a running play exchange, and Clifton Abraham recovered for Florida State and returned it for 51 yards, a play which changed the momentum of the game.

Florida State responded with an 11-yard touchdown pass from Charlie Ward to Matt Frier, and the Seminoles headed into the final quarter with a 17-13 lead.

The Tigers took the lead again with a 35-yard touchdown pass from Richard Moncrief to Terry Smith with 11:11 to go in the game. But the Seminoles came back with another touchdown two possessions later, this time a nine-yard pass from Charlie Ward to Kevin Knox with 2:08 left to seal the win.

For the game, Clemson's secondary recorded a total of four interceptions for 109 return yards. It marks the highest total in both areas since Ken Hatfield has been at Clemson, and the interception return yardage was the eighth best in Clemson history.

Brent LeJeune set a Clemson record for knockdown blocks by an offensive tackle when he was credited with 13 for the game. The loss ended Clemson's home unbeaten streak at 16 games. It marked the second longest home unbeaten streak in Clemson history.

The 16th-ranked Clemson Tigers traveled to Atlanta to take on ACC foe Georgia Tech. The last time Clemson traveled to Atlanta, they suffered a defeat 21-19, as the Yellow Jackets went on to win the 1990 National Championship.

This trip south did not prove successful for the Tigers either. Georgia Tech took its opening drive 65 yards to score on a Shawn Jones' one-yard touchdown pass to Keenan Walker. It marked the third time that Jones had led the Yellow Jackets to victory over the Tigers.

Clemson's only score in the first half came midway through the first quarter on a Nelson Welch 52-yard field goal.

Tech responded with a pair of field goals and headed into the locker room with a 13-3 lead.

Clemson dominated the time of possession in the third quarter holding the ball for 12:58 as compared to Tech's 2:02. The Tigers managed to score twice, once off of a 25-yard field goal by Nelson Welch and on a Richard Moncrief seven-yard run.

The field goal by Nelson Welch ended one of Clemson's longest drives in history going 69 yards in 18 plays. The longest drive in terms of plays was in 1979 versus Georgia Tech when the Tigers put together a 19-play drive.

The Yellow Jackets did manage to score in that 2:02 time frame by driving 65 yards on four plays and scoring on a 36-yard touchdown pass from Shawn Jones to Bobby Rodriguez.

The last points put on the score board came from Clemson on a 32-yard field goal with 6:12 left to go in the game. But Georgia Tech sealed the win when their defense stopped Clemson four consecutive times on the Clemson 32-yard line and Tech took over on downs with :51 to go on the clock, and Clemson had its second straight four-point loss.

Clemson out gained Georgia Tech 252-101 on the ground, but Tech snapped a two-year tradition of the losing team out gaining the winner in terms of yardage. Georgia Tech gained a total of 322 offensive yards while Clemson compiled 304. Clemson, however, held the ball for 34:40 as compared to Tech's 25:20.

In the losing effort, offensive guard Stacy Seegars had a then career-high 14 knockdown blocks, double the knockdown total of any other Tigers during the game. Clemson lost the game even though it did not have a turnover.

It was the first meeting between Clemson and UT-Chattanooga on the football field and the Tigers had not lost to a Southern Conference football team since joining the ACC in 1953. Despite a 1-2 record, Clemson was still ranked (25th) in the AP poll.

The afternoon turned out to be a Clemson scoring fest as the Tigers put 54 points on the scoreboard and totaled 606 yards in offense for the contest. That mark was the third best in history and the most since the Tigers set the all-time record for most offensive yards with 756 against Wake Forest in 1981.

Eighty-six players hit the gridiron for Clemson, including 44 players on offense. Hatfield used four different quarterbacks, 10 wide receivers, and 14 players carried the ball.

UTC's only points of the game came on a 41-yard field goal by Rodney Allen to close out the first half.

Late in the third quarter sophomore linebacker Michael Barber set a Tiger all-time record when he recovered a UTC fumble and returned it 91 yards for a touchdown. The play set the record for longest Clemson fumble return and was also the fourth longest score by a Clemson defensive player. The touchdown by Barber was one of four touchdowns scored by Clemson in the second half of play.

The longest drive of the half was five plays for 54 yards and only consumed 1:54 off of the clock. The three other TD drives together were only four plays and ticked less than one minute off of the clock.

Two Clemson underclassmen quarterbacks, Louis Solomon and Patrick Sapp, received particular attention. Sapp, on just his second collegiate pass, hit receiver Terry Smith for a 77-yard touchdown pass, the 10th longest pass in Clemson history and the sixth longest ever by a Tiger in Death Valley. Louis Solomon made his mark on the ground, rushing for 69 yards including a 55-yard run, the longest by a Tiger so far this year.

Despite the great number of players participating in the game for Clemson, the Tigers did not commit a single turnover. In fact it was the second spotless game in a row and gave the Tigers 154 consecutive offensive plays without a miscue.

Clemson rushed for 440 yards, the fifth best figure in Clemson history. Ironically, a wide receiver and a quarterback were the top two rushers. Larry Ryans had 77 yards on a pair of end-arounds. Solomon ranked second with 69 yards. The Tigers averaged a season best 8.5 yards a play and the 440 yards rushing was the best by an ACC team all season.

Weather: Sunny and 71 Degrees Time: 3:31 (ACC TV)

October 10, 1992 was a landmark date in Clemson history. Clemson overcame a 28-point deficit in defeating #10 Virginia 29-28. It was just the third win over a top 10 team on the road in Clemson history.

Going into the game both Clemson and Virginia ranked in the nation's top 15 in rushing offense and defense. The Tigers ranked fifth in the nation in rushing offense and first in the ACC, while Virginia was second in the conference and sixth in the nation.

There was a battle on the other side of the ball as well, with Virginia ranking 11th in the nation and first in the ACC in rushing defense, while Clemson was 16th in the nation and third in the conference.

Despite the rushing statistics, Virginia scored four times in the first half, all on touchdown passes from quarterback Bobby Goodman. Tyrone Davis scored the first two touchdown passes a 33-yard pass and a 37-yard toss to make it 14-0 in the second quarter.

Patrick Jeffers scored on a 20-yard pass with 8:40 left in the first half, and then Jeff Tomlin scored on a four-yard pass after the Cavaliers drove 45 yards in just five plays. Goodman threw four TD passes, all in the first half.

The Tigers' only score of the half came with 1:53 remaining when quarterback Louis Solomon, who replaced the injured (hip) Richard Moncrief, took the ball for a 64-yard scoring rush.

Clemson started the second half with two rushing touchdowns from Rudy Harris and Rodney Blunt to cut Virginia's lead to 28-20 heading into the final period.

With just 5:31 left in the contest, Harris who had 12 carries for 96 yards and two touchdowns in the game, bulled his way for the score from 27 yards out. A two-point conversion failed, but the lead was now cut to 28-26.

A Darnell Stephens interception gave Clemson possession at the Virginia 35 with 3:53 left in the game. A 45-yard pass from Solomon to Larry Ryans put the ball at the Virginia nine. Three plays later Nelson Welch completed the comeback with a 32-yard field goal for a 29-28 Tiger win.

The comeback was the greatest in Clemson football history in terms of gaining victory after trailing by the largest deficit at any time in a game. In fact, it was just three points away from tying the national record for the greatest comeback in college football history. Maryland came back from 31 points down to win 42-40 at Miami in 1984.

Ironically, the previous Clemson record for the greatest point deficit overcome to gain victory also took place against Virginia. In 1966, Clemson trailed the Cavaliers 35-18. The Tigers came back to win that game 40-35.

The Tigers gained 402 yards on the ground, the second straight 400-yard game, a first in Clemson history. Two Tigers went over the 100-yard mark, Blunt and Solomon, and they nearly had a third as Rudy Harris gained 96. Terry Kirby had 132 yards rushing in the game, but suffered a shoulder injury on a hit by Robert O'Neal in the third period. The other UVA players

Nelson Welch's 32-yard field goal culminated Clemson's greatest comeback in history.

The 19th-ranked Clemson Tigers celebrated homecoming with the usual campus festivities and a solid performance against the Duke Blue Devils.

Still basking in the light of the greatest comeback in Clemson football history, quarterback Louis Solomon made his first career start and led the Tigers 89 yards in the first 2:46 of the game. Solomon scored on a 20-yard run, his second of the season to give Clemson the early lead, 7-0.

The Tigers responded again on a 38-yard run by tailback Rodney Blunt coming after a Brentson Buckner fumble recovery.

The Blue Devils came back at the end of the first quarter with a 25-yard field goal by Randy Gardner and then again with a 46-yard field goal to head into the locker room down, 14-6.

Clemson and Duke traded punts six times until finally in the fourth quarter Ronald Williams broke through with a 10-yard scoring run for the Tigers.

With Terry Smith's two receptions in the game he reached the 100-mark for his career in total receptions. It moved him to fourth place on the career reception chart behind Perry Tuttle, Jerry Butler and Phil Rogers.

The offensive performance by Louis Solomon put him in the record books again as well. With his 104 yards rushing, he became the first quarterback in Clemson history to rush for at least 100 yards in consecutive games. He totaled 116 rushing yards versus Virginia.

Louis Solomon became the first Tiger quarterback to rush for over 100 yards in consecutive games when he led the Tigers to the win over Duke.

As a team, the Tigers continued to move the ball extremely well on the ground. Coming into the contest Clemson was ranked second in the nation in rushing offense with an average of 294.6 yards per game. However the 241 yards gained on the ground by various Tigers wasn't good enough to continue the streak of 400+ yards rushing offense. Clemson gained over 400 yards against UT-Chattanooga and Virginia.

Freshman Derek Burnette led a Clemson defense that did not allow a touchdown. He had 12 tackles, most by a Clemson first-year freshman since 1976. The Clemson defense tied a school record for sacks with 10, and it was also the most by an ACC team all year. The win proved costly however, as Solomon suffered a knee injury and was lost for the season.

The 18th-ranked Clemson Tigers traveled to Raleigh, NC, to take on yet another top 25 team in the 23rd-ranked N.C. State Wolfpack. In fact, it was the fourth time in the last five years that Clemson had faced a ranked Wolfpack team.

N.C. State scored its first field goal after recovering a fumble on Clemson's 24-yard line, and then scored another in the second quarter with 7:15 to go in the half, a field goal that was set up by a 79-yard run by Anthony Barbour.

The Tigers got on the scoreboard with less than a minute to go in the first half on a Nelson Welch field goal from 24-yards out. Welch tied the score in the third quarter with another field goal and the two teams headed into the final period tied 6-6. Clemson almost didn't get on the board in the third quarter. The Tigers were on their own 13-yard line when a fourth-and-two rushing play failed and State took over on downs. But on the very next play, Carlos Curry recovered a Wolfpack fumble, and Clemson took over again on the 17-yardline, which led to Welch's field goal.

On just the second play of the quarter with the Tigers on the State 29 yard line, Mike Reid recovered a Rudy Harris fumble. In turn, the Wolfpack drove 82 yards and scored on a four-yard pass to Reggie Lawrence from Terry Jordan to take a 13-6 lead.

Another Tiger misfortune happened with 5:44 to go in the game when quarterback Patrick Sapp fumbled into the end zone and State's Damien Covington recovered for a touchdown.

The Tigers were hobbled by injuries at the quarterback position all day. Veteran Richard Moncrief re-injured his hip thus bringing on freshman Patrick Sapp. Senior Lance Easton also saw action on a scoring drive. In the third period, Sapp played 25 plays and the Tigers offense outgained the Wolfpack 111-0. However, Clemson could manage just a 3-0 advantage on the scoreboard.

Placekicker and punter Nelson Welch had another fine all-around game. Welch had two field goals, kicked off twice and both times the Wolfpack had to start at their own 20 or worse, and averaged a career best 42.8 on six punts. One of those punts was a 70-yarder, the seventh longest in Clemson history, the longest since 1990, and the longest in the ACC this year.

Linebacker Tim Jones led the Clemson tacklers with 11, while Ashley Sheppard had a career high 10 stops. The game turned out to be a true defensive battle with the two combining for just 24 first downs and 532 yards in total offense. The Tigers got a scare in the fourth period when top tackler Tim Jones received a neck injury and was taken from the field on a stretcher. But x-rays were negative and Jones returned two weeks later.

Clemson used three quarterbacks on the same scoring drive at N.C. State. Above, all-purpose player Lance Easton runs the attack.

The 25th-ranked (USA Today) Clemson Tigers traveled to Winston-Salem for a Halloween showdown against the Demon Deacons of Wake Forest. Wake Forest entered the game with an overall record of 4-3. It was the first time since 1988 that the Deacons had a winning record at the time of the Clemson game.

Clemson had won the last 15 games between the two schools and the Tigers were looking to rebound after falling to N.C. State the week before.

Wake Forest scored first, covering 64 yards in just three plays when Deacon quarterback Keith West hit Todd Dixon for a 32-yard touchdown pass.

The Tigers responded with a field goal by Nelson Welch with 4:20 left in the first quarter to round out the scoring for both teams in the first half.

Both teams traded field goals in the third quarter and Wake Forest led 10-6 going into the final quarter of play. The Tigers looked to be headed for the win when they scored on a Nelson Welch field goal, and then on a Greg Hood 15-yard run with 5:29 to go in the game.

Clemson now led the game 15-10 and decided to go for a two-point conversion, Sapp's pass to Terry Smith was successful but a penalty wiped out the play.

On their next possession, the Deacons drove 76 yards and scored on a 31-yard pass to Dixon from West. West's two-point conversion pass was complete to Travis Johns to take the lead and the win 18-15. The key play in the drive was a third-down pass to All-ACC tight end John Henry Mills, that gained 42 yards.

For the game, freshman quarterback Patrick Sapp compiled 211 in total offense, the most by a Clemson player this year and the most for a Clemson first-year freshman quarterback since Willie Jordan in 1975. His 15 completions also ranked as the most ever by a Clemson first-year freshman quarterback. In fact, with Sapp at the controls of the offense, the Tigers held the ball for over 20 minutes in the second half and did not turn over the ball.

Junior halfback Rodney Blunt carried the 23 times gaining 118 yards. Ironically, Blunt's first career 100-yard game came against Wake Forest last year when he gained 103 yards. Dixon was the top player for the Deacons as he caught two TD passes, including the game winner on a diving stab at the right sideline of the end zone.

At Clemson Memorial Stadium

November 7, 1992

Weather: Partly Cloudy and 45 Degrees Time: 2:51

The Tigers were looking to improve on their 6-0 record in the month of November under coach Ken Hatfield. In fact, Clemson had won the past 12 games in November dating back to November 21, 1987 when South Carolina defeated the Tigers 20-7.

But first the Tigers had to deal with 18th-ranked North Carolina.

Clemson came out in the first quarter and scored twice, once on a Nelson Welch 40-yard field goal and then again on a Terry Smith 48-yard pass from Patrick Sapp.

The Tiger defense got in on the act of scoring with a safety with 14:55 to go in the first half. Brentson Buckner rushed Tar Heel quarterback Mike Thomas and when he threw the ball away, he was called for a safety for intentional grounding. It was the first Clemson safety since the 1990 Maryland game.

North Carolina got on the score board on its second play from scrimmage in the third quarter when Curtis Johnson rushed 76 yards for a touchdown. That was the only scoring the Tar Heels would do that afternoon.

What followed were four Tiger touchdowns, three scored by Rodney Blunt and one by Marcus Hinton. Blunt's first touchdown came after a 76-yard scoring drive, culminating in his 10-yard touchdown rush. The Tigers scored again three minutes later on another Blunt rush, this time three yards for the touchdown.

A highlight of one of the scoring drives was a 23-yard run by 320-pound guard Stacy Seegars on a fumblerooskie. Patrick Sapp was right on target when he hit Marcus Hinton for a 51-yard touchdown pass to give the Tigers a 33-7 lead.

The final Clemson touchdown came after a Darnell Stephens interception, which he returned 37 yards. Rodney Blunt finished off the drive with a one-yard scoring run.

The 40-7 victory turned out to be the largest margin of victory by a Clemson team over an AP top 20 club in Tiger history. The previous record was 31 points in a 31-0 win over a 14th-ranked Wake Forest team in 1979. The win also marked the second 30-point win by the Tigers over a top 20 team under Ken Hatfield.

Brentson Buckner led a defense that allowed just 146 yards total offense, the best defense by an ACC team all year. He had nine tackles including three sacks in just 31 plays. North Carolina was 0-8 on third-down conversions.

Clemson ran 50 more plays than the Tar Heels and controlled the clock for nearly 43 minutes.

Clemson traveled to College Park for the first time since 1988 when they clinched the ACC championship. Actually Clemson had won five in a row against the Terrapins and was hoping to extend its November winning streak to 14 games.

The Tigers scored first on two Nelson Welch field goals. The first came in the first quarter from 30 yards out, and the second was a 53-yarder with 12:03 to go in the first half. That was the longest FG in the ACC in 1992.

Maryland took a 14-6 lead on a John Kaleo one-yard quarterback keeper, and then on a Kaleo touchdown pass to Jermaine Lewis for 69 yards.

Nelson Welch booted another field goal on Clemson's next possession from 43 yards out, however Maryland immediately returned the favor on a John Kaleo 38-yard TD pass to Marcus Badgett. The Terrapin two-point conversion failed. Seconds before the end of the half Nelson Welch kicked his fourth field goal of the first two periods and the Tigers cut Maryland's lead to 20-12 at half time.

On Clemson's second play of the third quarter Maryland scored again after recovering a Larry Ryans fumble, but the Tigers bounced back on a 32 yard field goal by Welch with 7:48 to go in the third. The Tigers added a safety when Terrapin punter David DeArmas couldn't handle a high snap and ran out of bounds in his own end zone.

The Tigers could not stop Maryland's momentum as the Terrapins drove 73 yards on their next possession for a touchdown and then intercepted a Patrick Sapp pass, which eventually led to another Maryland touchdown.

Patrick Sapp scored for the final time for Clemson with 12:27 to go in the game with a three-yard run, but the two-point conversion failed. Maryland would add two more touchdowns to put the final score at 53-23.

In the losing effort, Sapp set two records and tied another. The true freshman was in for 64 plays of total offense shattering the previous record of 57 plays. Sapp's 55 pass attempts for the game broke the record for most attempts in a game (53), and his 25 completions tied the record set by Tommy Kendrick set in 1970. His 273 yards of total offence was third best in Clemson history.

Nelson Welch also tied his own Clemson record with his five field goals, which accounted for over half of the Tiger scoring. Terry Smith led the receivers with 9-126. The nine catches tied his career high. Clemson ran a record 98 plays in the game that took 3:50 to play, the longest game in Clemson history.

At Clemson Memorial Stadium

Weather: Rain and 48 Degrees Time: 3:05 (ACC TV)

Clemson and the Tiger seniors took the field for their last home game of the 1992 season on a cold and rainy afternoon to face South Carolina.

South Carolina came into the game with a 2-7-1 record versus Clemson in the last 10 years having dropped the games by an average of 22.5 points.

Clemson, with this in mind, scored on its opening drive on a Nelson Welch field goal. But South Carolina scored on its opening possession as well, on a 21-yard touchdown pass from Steve Tanneyhill to Asim Penny to take the lead 7-3.

Both team's defenses took over forcing seven punts through the end of the first quarter and into the second until Clemson linebacker Tim Jones intercepted a Tanneyhill pass and returned it 26 yards for a touchdown.

South Carolina managed to drive 43 yards in 2:02 to tie the score 10-10 before going into the locker rooms at intermission.

The Gamecocks broke the tie on their first possession of the second half on a Tanneyhill 30-yard touchdown pass to Toby Cates.

Clemson came back with a 40-yard field goal by Nelson Welch with 1:26 to go in the third quarter. But, after that, the Clemson offense never got past its own 30-yard line.

South Carolina sealed the win on a Brandon Bennett four-yard run with 1:58 to go in the game.

The Gamecocks gained 424 yards of total offense as compared to Clemson's 257 for the game, and out passed the Tigers by 270 yards.

Clemson averaged six yards per rush and gained 242 yards for the game. Rodney Blunt went over 800 yards for the season with 95 yards, but Steve Tanneyhill won the battle of freshman QBs, hitting 19-29 for 296 yards.

Clemson senior Wayne Simmons ended a fine career recording seven tackles, one and one-half sacks and three tackles for loss. Simmons finished his four-year career with 19 total sacks, tied for fourth place on the career chart with Levon Kirkland. He also finished tied for seventh on the career chart for most tackles for loss with 36. Robert O'Neal had a career-high 12 tackles in his last game.

Offensive guard Stacy Seegars recorded nine knockdown block for the game which put him in a tie for the most knockdown blocks recorded in a season with 103. He stands at the top with former Tiger John Phillips who set the first mark during his All-America season in 1987.

1993 Spring Review

For the first time in Ken Hatfield's four years at Clemson, the Orange-White game did not end spring football practice. In fact, the team was just a little more than halfway through the 15 practice sessions when the annual contest was played on April 3rd. But the contest turned out to be one of the more exciting ones held in recent years, partially due to the scoring system devised by Coach Hatfield.

The two teams were broken up into offensive and defensive squads, with the offense wearing orange and the defense wearing white. The offensive scoring system was standard, while the defense was awarded one point every time it stopped the offense, two points for every forced fumble or interception, and six points for any touchdown.

Early in the game it appeared the the Orange would coast to the victory. Quarterback Patrick Sapp, who started the last four games at the signal caller position in 1992, led the offense to touchdowns on each of his first two drives. He moved the team 65 yards in 3:58 and scored on 1-yard keeper. The key play in that drive was a 31-yard bullet to Terry Smith.

Richard Moncrief, the Tigers starting QB in 1992 until injuries forced him to the sidelines, was not to be outdone. On the very next play the rising senior hit Dwayne Bryant for a 65-yard bomb. Sapp then followed with a 54-yard strike to Marcus Hinton for a score on a perfectly executed post pattern.

Leading 21-4, the Orange team appeared to be in control, until a key theft by rising sophomore free safety Leomont Evans. Evans picked off a a Dexter McCleon pass and raced 95 yards for the defensive score to turn the game in the White's favor.

Sapp would score on a 33-yard romp to give the Orange team a 31-16 halftime lead.

The Tiger defense proved to be the key in the second half, holding the offense to zero points and some exciting scores of its own. The star of the second half was Hammond, LA, native James Hemphill. The red-shirt freshman linebacker had two interceptions within the last 3:09 of the contest to give the White team a 41-31 win. Hemphill had a strong spring showing overall, finishing the five scrimmages with 21 tackles.

With seven home games in 1993 Head Coach Ken Hatfield felt it was important to give his young squad some ample practice time in Memorial Stadium during spring workouts. After the Orange-White game the squad would scrimmage four more times in Death Valley.

Youth proved to be a key for the spring on both sides of the ball. On offense, two of the top three rushers of spring practice red-shirted the 1992 season. Tarboro, NC, native Milt Shaw, a fullback, led the team in rushing yards. In the five scrimmages, Shaw carried the ball 30 times for 255 yards, an impresssive 8.5 yards per carry. He had four rushing touchdowns in the spring, including a 65-yard jaunt. Emory Smith, brother of Dallah Cowboy star Emmitt Smith, was the third leading rusher in the spring with 169 yards on 30 attempts. Two senior running backs also performed well during the spring. Sumter, SC, native Derrick Witherspoon was the second leading rusher with 241 yards on 51 carries. Rodney Blunt, Clemson's leading rusher in 1992 with 812 yards, had 166 yards on 31 carries in four scrimmages.

The three quarterbacks who saw action in 1992, plus red-shirt freshman Dexter McCleon, all showed signs of improvement during spring workouts. Patrick Sapp, the Clemson starter for the last four games of 1992, was 23-41 in the passing department for the five scrimmages. He threw for 401 yards with three touchdown passes and only two interceptions. Senior Richard Moncrief was 15-29 passing for 180 yards and one touchdown pass. Moncrief also saw action at the wide receiver position in the spring, catching one pass for 27 yards.

Darnell Stephens' move from strong safety to OLB was one of the newsworthy events of spring practice.

Hamilton MVP Offense:	Rodney Blunt
Morrow MVP Defense:	Robert O'Neal
Renwick-Flanders
Most Improved:	Warren Forney
Offensive MVP vs. USC:	Les Hall
Defensive MVP vs. USC:	Tim Jones
Joe Francis Leadership:	Ashley Sheppard

Louis Solomon, who directed the greatest comeback in Clemson history over Virginia in 1992, was in action for four scrimmages, passing 12 times with six completions and one touchdown pass. Dexter McCleon, who directed the scout team squad while red-shirting 1992, participated in all five scrimmages. His best scrimmage came on April 17, the Tigers last of the spring, as the Meridian, MS, native was 9-16 passing with 116 yards. He directed two touchdown drives and one field goal drive during the scrimmage.

With Brentson Buckner and Warren Forney limited in the spring due to minor injuries (both participated in just one full-scale scrimmage), several underclassmen had the opportunity to make an impact. In fact, the 1993 Clemson defense will be the youngest since 1951, as the Tigers will have only one senior starting on the defensive side of the ball.

Junior Tim Jones, who led the Tigers in tackles in 1992, picked up where he left off during the season, tying for the team lead in tackles with 28. Linebacker Thad Ridgley also had 28 tackles including four for negative yardage. Wardell Rouse, who entered Clemson in January from Itawamba Junior College made a quick adjustment to the Clemson system, notching 24 tackles, including 19 first hits, in the five scrimmages. Linebacker Derek Burnette continued his success from his rookie year, a season that saw him named first-team freshman All-American by Football News, and was in on 22 tackles in the spring, 15 of which were first hits. Darnell Stephens was moved from strong safety to OLB this spring and played well at his new position.

Leomont Evans and Andre Humphrey, two players who saw action as freshmen in 1992, proved to be bright spots in the defensive backfield. Evans, an Abbeville, SC, native, finished the spring with 20 tackles, two tackles for loss, a pass broken up, and an interception return for a touchdown. Humphrey, who saw action in all 11 games as a freshman, finished the five scrimmages with 18 tackles, two tackles for loss and one caused fumble.

Chronological History

Sept. 30, 1896—A small crowd gathered in one of the barrack's rooms and discussed the advisability of organizing a football association and to devise some means of getting a coach. The organization known as the Clemson College Football Association was perfected and the following officers elected: President F.G. Tompkins, Secretary and Treasurer C.W. Gentry, Manager T.R. Vogel, Temporary Captain R.G. Hamilton. A committee of three was appointed to consult professor Walter Riggs as to management of a football team and to ask his aid as coach.

October 5, 1896—Practice began on the Clemson College campus on a 50x200 foot field in front of the college.

October 28, 1896—Clemson played its first intercollegiate football game, defeating Furman, 14-6, at Greenville, SC. This was the first time that many of the Clemson players had seen a full sized football gridiron. Charlie Gentry scored Clemson's first touchdown.

November 10, 1897—Clemson defeated South Carolina for the first time and won the school's first state championship.

October 20, 1898—The Tigers played their first home game against Bingham. Clemson won 55-0, as W.C. Forsythe kicked every point after touchdown (11). R.T.V. Bowman, the man for whom the field at Clemson is named, was an assistant coach at that time with Clemson and helped referee the game.

November 10, 1899—The football association stood on a very weak financial basis. The organization could not even afford to hire a coach. W.M. Riggs agreed to coach the Tigers for free.

November 18, 1899—Clemson defeated N.C. State, 24-0. The game was called early because many of the State men were injured and they requested that the game be called.

December 8, 1899—John Heisman was hired as head coach.

October 22, 1900—The Tigers defeated Wofford, 21-0. Actually, Clemson scored many more points, but a pre-game agreement between the teams stated that every point Clemson scored after the first four touchdowns would not count.

November 29, 1900—Clemson's 35-0 win over Alabama allowed Heisman's team to finish the season undefeated with a 6-0 record. This was Clemson's first undefeated team and was the only team to win all of the games in a season until the 1948 squad went 11-0.

October 5, 1901—Clemson opened the season with a 122-0 win over Guilford. The Tigers averaged 30 yards per play and a touchdown every minute and 26 seconds. The first half lasted 20 minutes while the second half lasted only 10 minutes. Legend has it that every man on the Clemson team scored a touchdown in this game.

October 30, 1902—Col. Charles S. Roller Jr., who was football coach of Furman, was the only referee for the Clemson-USC game. Bronco Armstrong, a famous Yale player and official, was to be the umpire but was in a railroad wreck on the way down and it was impossible for him to get to the game in time. Not a single penalty was called in the game. A riot between Clemson and USC fans broke out the night after the game. Officials at both colleges called off the football series between the two schools. Clemson and USC did not meet again in football until 1909.

November 27, 1902—Clemson played in the snow for the first time in a game against Tennessee. The Tigers won the game, 11-0, and claimed the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association crown.

October 17, 1903—Clemson defeated Georgia Tech 73-0. Clemson rushed the ball 35 times for 450 yards, while Tech ran the ball 25 times and collected 18 yards.

November 26, 1903—One day after Tech's deadline for its offer had expired, Heisman wired Georgia Tech's president Lyman Hall, that he would accept the institute's offer of $2,250 per year plus 30 percent of net receipts to coach its athletic teams.

November 11, 1905—The Clemson-Auburn game was called on account of darkness. Clemson won, 6-0.

November 29, 1906—Clemson's first forward pass occurred in a 10-0 win over Georgia Tech. Powell Lykes dropped back to kick, but instead made a "pretty" forward pass of 30 yards to George Warren.

November 4-9, 1907—Clemson played three games within a week's time. Clemson lost to Auburn 12-0 on November 4, and lost to Georgia in Augusta, GA on November 7. The Tigers barely made it back in time to play Davidson at Clemson on November 9, and lost 10-6.

April 1, 1908—Tiger football hopes of the 1908 season were shattered on this day, not by what happened in spring practice, but what 300 students did as a college prank on April Fool's Day. The cadets were expelled for removing a Civil War cannon from the town square of Pendleton, four miles down the road from campus, and bringing the cannon back to Clemson. Many of the football stars, as well as many future star players, were among those who were expelled.

October 13, 1917—Clemson downed Furman 38-0, as the Tigers' Stumpy Banks scored five touchdowns.

Oct. 4, 1926—Bud Saunders, Clemson head football coach, resigned in the middle of the season. Cul Richards and Frank Padgett were put in charge of the squad.

October 15, 1926—Bob Williams was named advisory coach.

December 27, 1926—Josh Cody was named head football coach at Clemson.

September 19, 1928—Clemson began this season with new uniforms. The Tigers wore a brilliant orange jersey for the first time, with black composition cloth strips on the front with purple numbers.

September 20, 1929—Clemson announced the completion of its first press box which would accommodate about 30 writers. The glass enclosed box was completed with heaters and electric fans for ventilation.

October 17, 1930—Maxcey Welch scored five touchdowns (all rushing) in Clemson's 75-0 win over Newberry.

March 13, 1930—Josh Cody signed a three-year contract to stay at Clemson.

November 26, 1930—Josh Cody resigned as head football coach.

January 17, 1931—Jess Neely was named head football coach at Clemson.

Clemson first flew to a football game in 1947 when it chartered an Eastern Airlines flight to Boston.

October 14, 1933—Clemson played at George Washington in a 0-0 tie. This was the first time Clemson had ever played under the lights. Fans witnessed the game on a grid graph in Tillman Hall at the Clemson chapel. A grid was an electrical machine that was marked off like a football field. Lights were so arranged on the graph that every possible play was flashed on the board. The lineups of both teams were written on the sides and the man carrying the ball on each play had a light flashed by his name. Another light representing the runner moved along the board in the same direction and for the same distance as the runner.

August 20, 1934—IPTAY was founded.

November 19, 1935—First night time practice. Two powerful floodlights were installed on one of Clemson's practice fields enabling the Tigers to get in more practice time.

September 23, 1939—Banks McFadden ran 90 yards for a touchdown in Clemson's 18-0 win over Presbyterian.

November 13, 1939—Clemson was ranked in the Associated Press poll for the first time. Clemson claimed the number-16 spot in the poll.

December 8, 1939—Clemson accepted a bid to play in the Cotton Bowl.

December 15, 1939—Banks McFadden was named Clemson's first All-American in football.

January 1, 1940—In Clemson's first bowl appearance, it defeated Boston College 6-3. Charlie Timmons scored the game's lone touchdown from two yards out.

January 10, 1940—Jess Neely resigned as athletic director and football coach to accept the head football coaching job at Rice University. Neely inherited a $47,000 deficit when he arrived in 1931 and earned Clemson $100,000 during his tenure and left Clemson with $57,000 in the treasury. His overall record at Clemson was 43-35-7.

January 11, 1940—Frank Howard was named head football coach.

May 30, 1940—Banks McFadden was named Nation's Most Versatile Athlete.

July 25, 1940—Banks McFadden accepted a bid to play in the College All-Star game against the Green Bay Packers on August 29.

September 1, 1940—Banks McFadden signed a one-year contract to play with the Brooklyn Dodgers professional football team.

September 2, 1940—Frank Howard opened his first fall practice.

September 21, 1940—In Frank Howard's first game as head coach, Clemson scored on the first play as George Floyd reversed around left end and raced 18 yards across untouched for a Clemson touchdown.

November 23, 1940—Clemson won the Southern Conference football title with a 13-7 victory over Furman.

October 6, 1941—Work began on Memorial Stadium. The work of cleaning, digging and leveling the site as well as cutting large trees and clearing underbrush was supervised by Frank Howard. A pipe was also installed for drainage under the field.

October 11, 1941—Clemson defeated Boston College at Fenway Park, 26-13.

November 15, 1941—Clemson defeated Wake Forest, 29-0, in the last game at Riggs Field.

September 19, 1942—Clemson ran down the hill for the first time. Butch Butler gained 192 yards, as the Tigers opened the new stadium in front of 5,500 with a 32-13 win over Presbyterian. High school students were admitted for 25 cents, while servicemen were allowed in for 50 cents.

October 22, 1942—Clemson defeated South Carolina, 18-6. Autographed balls were auctioned off at the game. For a minimum of $1,000 a fan could bid on one of the balls. The fan's money would then be used to buy war bonds.

October 19, 1944—First rain at a Clemson-USC game since 1896.

September 22, 1945—Fourteen Clemson backs netted 516 yards in a 76-0 win over Presbyterian. Bobby Gage led the Tigers with 144 yards.

September 23, 1947—Clemson flew to Boston College on an Eastern Airline DC-4. This marked the first time that a state football team had flown to a football game.

November 8, 1947—Clemson began a 15-game winning streak, the longest in school history, with a win over Furman, 35-7.

November 22, 1947—Bobby Gage ran for 141 yards and passed for 233 as he led Clemson to a 34-18 win over Auburn. Gage threw four touchdown passes and had 374 yards total offense to his credit, both still Clemson records.

September 25, 1948—Clemson defeated Presbyterian 53-0 in the first night game at Clemson.

November 27, 1948—Clemson accepted a bid to play in the Gator Bowl.

January 1, 1949—The Tigers won the Gator Bowl by a 24-23 score over Missouri. Jack Miller's 32-yard field goal in the fourth quarter proved to be the winning margin.

November 28, 1950—Clemson accepted a bid to play in the Orange Bowl.

January 1, 1951—Clemson appeared in the Orange Bowl for the first time and squeaked out a 15-14 win over Miami. Sterling Smith's tackle of Frank Smith in the end zone gave Clemson a safety with under six minutes left in the game and gave the Tigers the victory.

November 27, 1951—Clemson accepted a bid to play in the Gator Bowl.

May 8, 1953—Clemson joined the Atlantic Coast Conference.

June 22, 1956—Joel Wells was the cover boy of the 1956 Official NCAA Guide. The Guide is compiled by the NCAA and contains data on all major college teams in the nation.

November 16, 1956—Vice President Richard Nixon was in attendance at the Clemson-Miami football game on this date. Surrounded by security from various agencies, a loud explosion sounded and alarmed the body guard along with the Vice President. To everyone's relief, it was discovered that it was just the cannon fired off by a Clemson cheerleader when Clemson kicked off. The eighth-ranked Hurricanes defeated the Tigers 21-0 in the game played at Miami, FL.

December 1, 1956—Clemson clinched an Orange Bowl berth with a 28-7 win over Furman at Clemson.

March 25, 1957—It was announced that Clemson and South Carolina would play at Clemson on November 12, 1960 ending the 61-year old state classic, Big Thursday.

September 20, 1958—Clemson ran down the hill on a rug for the first time. The rug was officially given to Clemson on this date before the Clemson-Virginia game by W.W.Pate, Sr., president of Wunda Weave Company. It measured 104 feet long and was 13 feet wide. Also at this game, Clemson's recent expansion of Memorial Stadium was used for the first time.

Memorial Stadium was expanded from 20,000 to 38,000 seats.

September 27, 1958—Clemson defeated North Carolina, 26-21, as Frank Howard picked up his 100th collegiate coaching win. Also the scoreboard at the east of the stadium was used for the first time. The scoreboard had an added feature, as the Tiger above the scoreboard still wags his tail after each Clemson touchdown.

October 6, 1958—Clemson was ranked eighth in the country, the highest ranking in Clemson history, at that time.

November 19, 1958—Clemson defeated N.C. State 13-6 and won its second ACC title in three years.

November 29, 1958—Clemson accepted a Sugar Bowl bid to face the number-one team in the nation, LSU.

December 24, 1958—It was announced that Clemson would take the rug the Tigers used to run down the hill with them to the Sugar Bowl. The rug weighed 527 pounds.

December 27, 1958—Clemson announced it would wear navy blue jerseys with wide numerals front and back. Orange helmets with a white stripe from back to front in the center would also be worn to give a contrasting color for the nationwide television coverage of the game.

January 1, 1959—Number-one ranked LSU defeated Clemson 7-0 in the Sugar Bowl.

November 21, 1959—Clemson defeated Wake Forest 33-31 for Clemson's second ACC title in a row.

January 2, 1989—Clemson became the first ACC team to defeat Oklahoma in a 13-6 Florida Citrus Bowl victory. Clemson held the Oklahoma offense without a touchdown for just the second time in the decade of the eighties. Clemson closed the season with a #9 ranking and became the only school in the nation to win a conference title, a bowl game and rank in the final Top 20 for three straight years.

September 9, 1989—Clemson earned a landmark victory at Florida State, 34-23. The Tigers jumped out to a 21-0 lead behind a 73-yard interception return by Wayne Simmons and a 73-yard touchdown run by Terry Allen. The victory moved Clemson to number-seven in the AP poll and it was the last loss of the season for Florida State, who eventually ended the season ranked third in the nation.

November 18, 1989—Clemson slaughtered South Carolina 45-0, the largest margin of victory for Clemson in the series in 89 years. Clemson outgained the Gamecocks 466-155, and picked up 355 yards rushing. Clemson's fifth-ranked defense forced five turnovers.

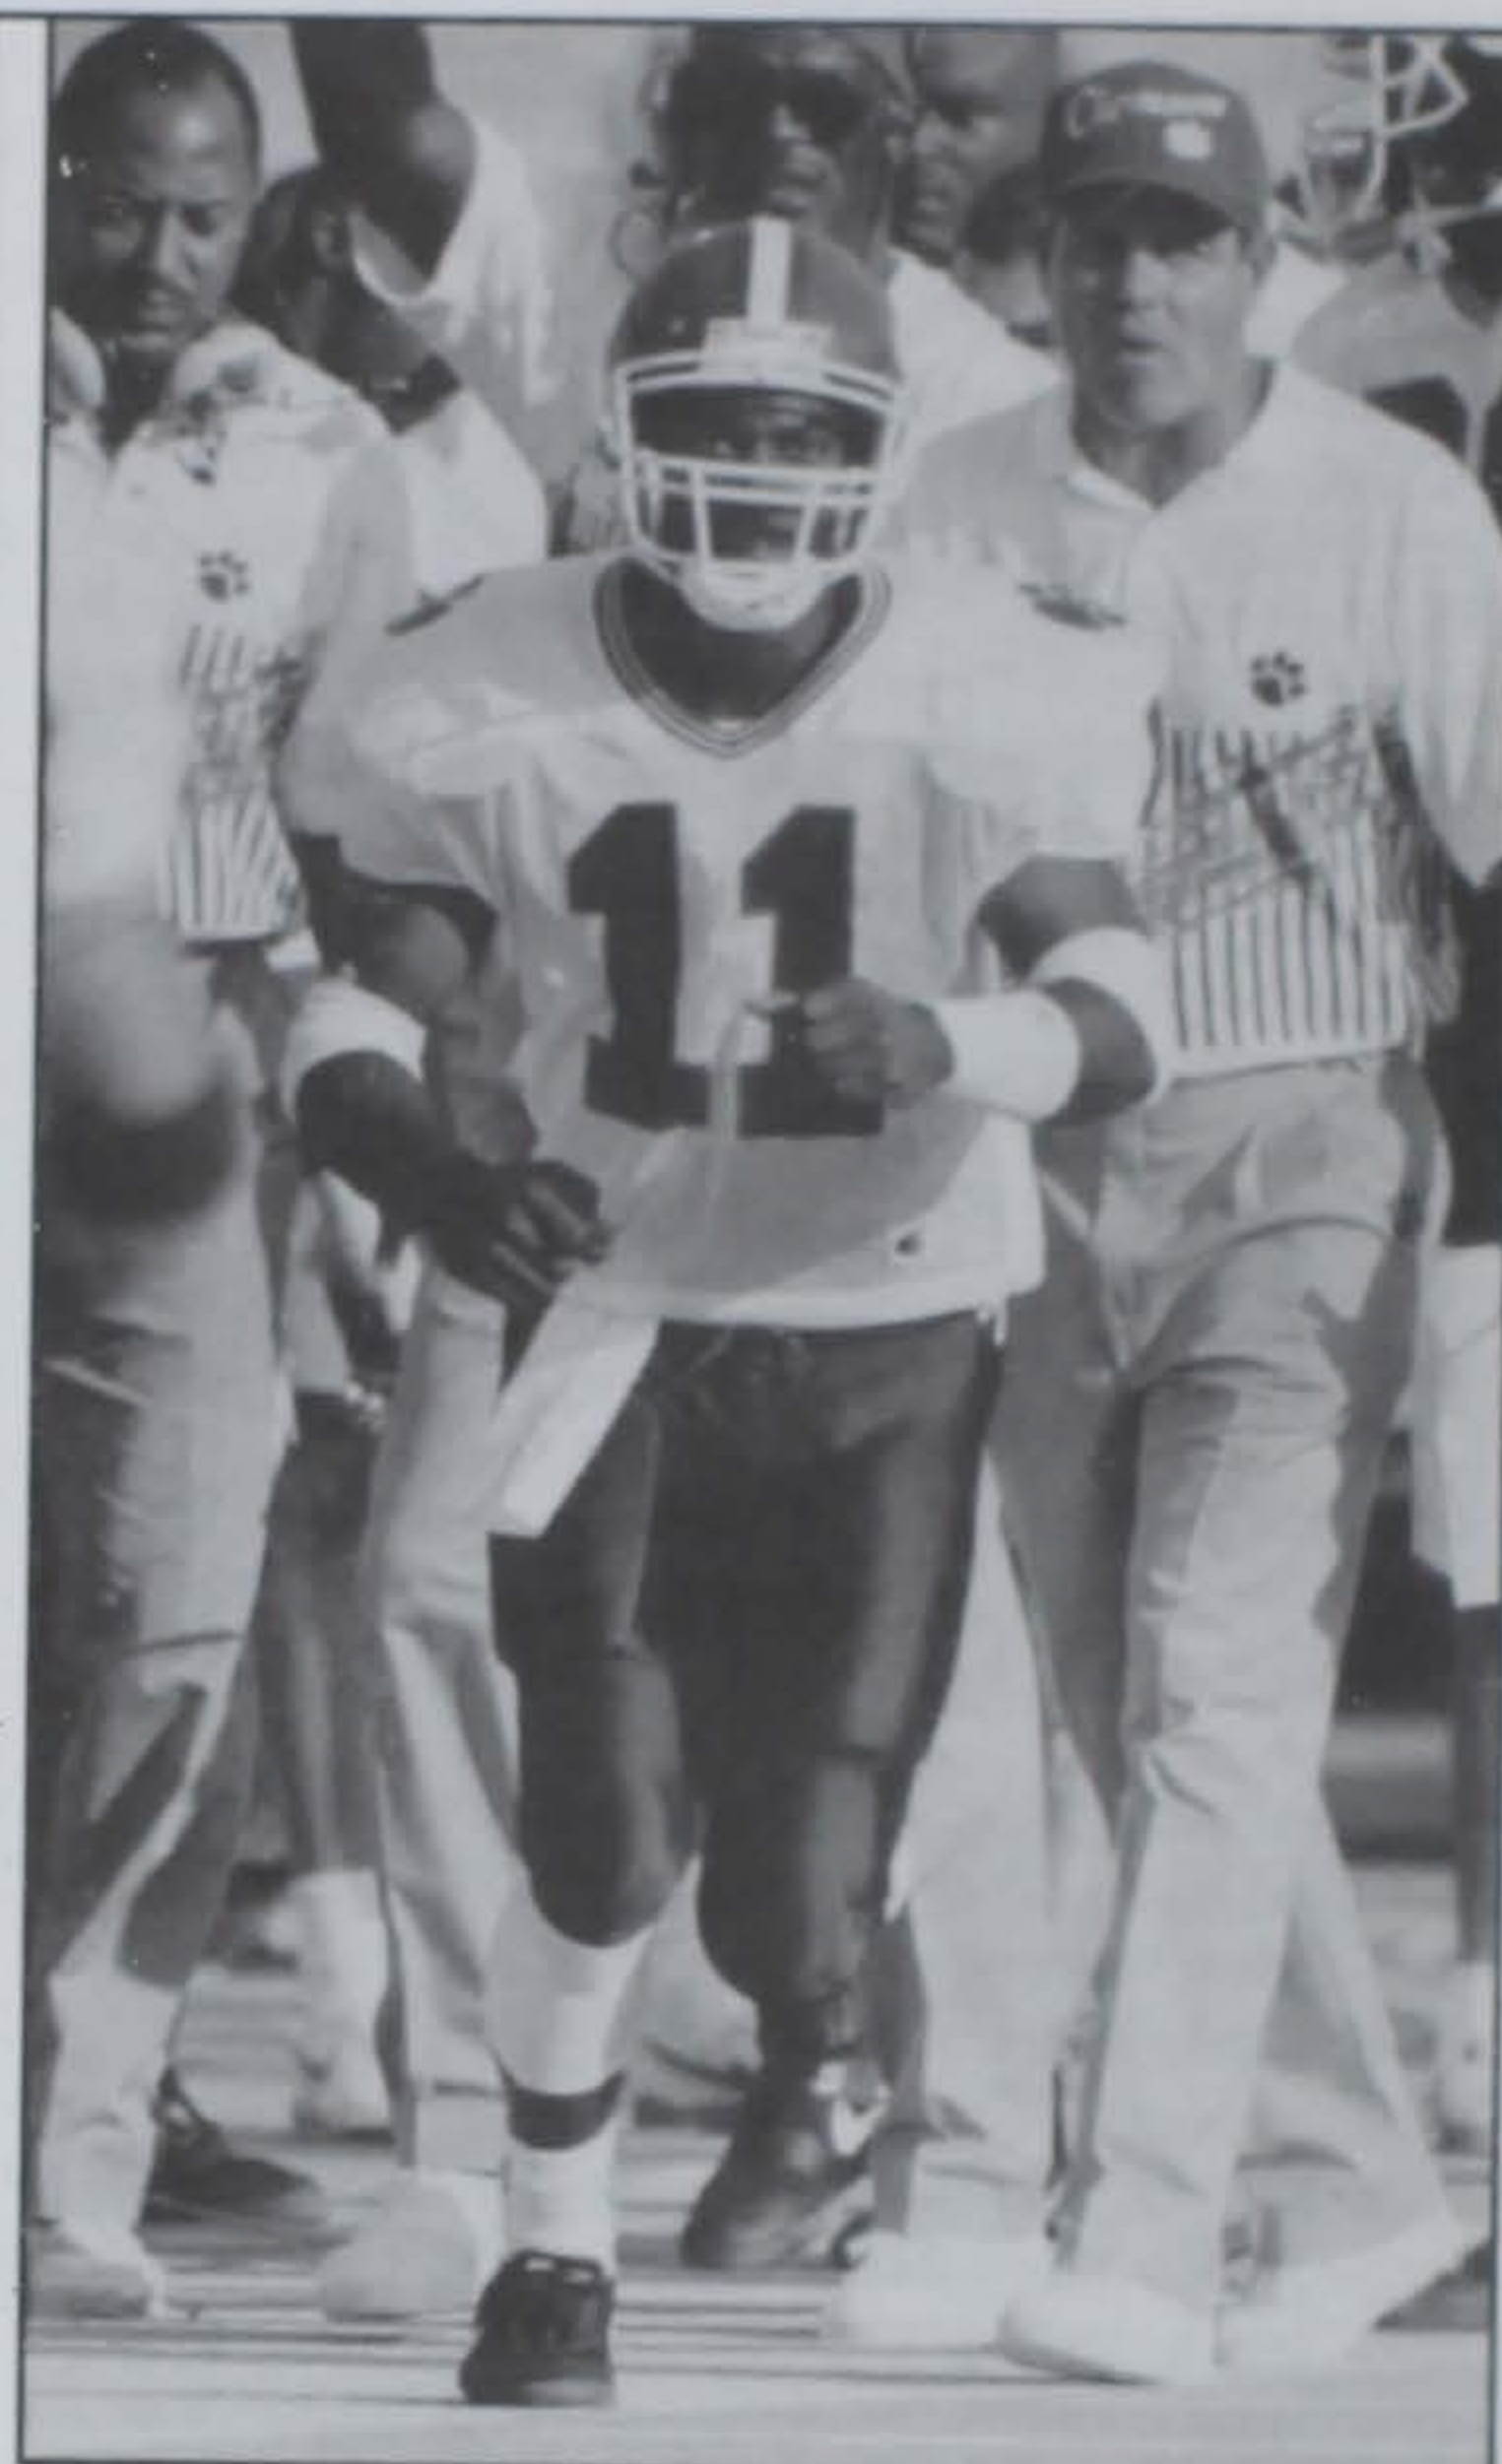

December 30, 1989—The Tigers defeated West Virginia 27-7 in the Gator Bowl. It was Clemson's fourth straight bowl victory and the fourth straight year Clemson concluded the season ranked in the national top 20. The Tigers held West Virginia to just 119 yards passing and forced Heisman Trophy runner up Major Harris into three fumbles. The win gave Clemson 38 wins in a four-year period, an all-time ACC record.

January 18, 1990—Danny Ford resigned as head coach after 11 full seasons. He finished his career tied for first in ACC history in career victories with 96 and he was second in winning percentage. He had a 96-29-4 overall record and 76 percent winning mark. He was the third winningest active coach at the time of his resignation.

January 21, 1990—Ken Hatfield became Clemson's 22nd head coach. Hatfield had been the head coach at Arkansas since 1984 and took his alma mater to bowl games each of his six seasons.

January 1, 1991—Clemson shut out Illinois 30-0 in its first Hall of Fame Bowl appearance. It was Clemson's largest margin of victory in a bowl game. The win elevated Clemson to #9 in the final AP poll and gave Clemson a Top 10 ranking in Ken Hatfield's first year. He was the first ACC coach ever to take a team to a Top 10 ranking in his first year. It was a record 40th win for Clemson's seniors.

October 26, 1991—Clemson wore purple jerseys for the first time since the 1930s in a 29-19 victory over 10th-ranked (USA Today) N.C. State. The 18th-ranked (AP) Tigers were led by freshman Nelson Welch, who kicked a Clemson record five field goals. Clemson scored its first touchdown on a fake field goal as Rudy Harris ran three yards for a score.

November 16, 1991—The Tigers clinched their 12th ACC Championship, first under Ken Hatfield, with a 40-7 win over Maryland at Death Valley. DeChane Cameron was 13-23 for 213 yards in leading Clemson to victory in his final home game.

November 30, 1991—Clemson ran its overseas record to 2-0 with a 33-21 win over Duke in the Coca Cola Bowl in Tokyo, Japan. Clemson had to score 26 points in the fourth period to register the victory.

September 12, 1992—Florida State defeated Clemson 24-20 in the first night game at Clemson since 1956. The contest was televised by ESPN. The Seminoles led by quarterback Charlie Ward, scored the winning TD in the two final minutes.

October 10, 1992—Clemson overcame a 28-0 deficit to defeat Virginia in Charlottesville 29-28. Nelson Welch kicked a 32-yard field goal with 52 seconds left to cap the comeback. Quarterback Louis Solomon came off the bench with the score 28-0 and led the comeback. His 64-yard scoring run just before the half changed the course of the game. The victory over the 10th-ranked Cavaliers was just the third in Clemson history over a top-10 team on the road.

November 7, 1992—Clemson soundly defeated #18 North Carolina 40-7 at Death Valley, the largest margin of victory for the Tigers over a top 20 team in history. History

Former Head Coaches

Walter Riggs

WALTER RIGGS, 1896, 1899

Walter Riggs could easily be called the father of Clemson Football. He coached the football program at Clemson, not only because he had football experience, but he was also one of only two people on the Clemson campus to have ever seen a football game when the sport started in 1896. (The other person was Frank Thompkins who played in the backfield on Clemson's first team in 1896).

On September 30, 1896, a small crowd gathered in one of the barrack's rooms and the group discussed the feasibility of organizing a football association. A committee of three was appointed to consult Professor Riggs as to management of a football team and to ask his aid as coach.

When the Tigers traveled to Furman for their first game on October 28, 1896, it was the first time that many of the players had ever seen a full-sized regulation football field.

Riggs stepped down as football coach after the first season because the players wanted him to devote all of his time to being a professor in the engineering department.

Clemson athletics and Riggs, however, could not be split. Although not given the title, Riggs also was the equivalent of an athletic director, managing money and making contracts with other teams.

Riggs could easily be called a loyal man, as he answered the need of the Clemson football team again in 1899. The Clemson Athletic Association was low on money and could not afford to hire a coach. So Riggs once again answered the call of the school and became the coach of the 1899 team for free.

Riggs originally came to Clemson from Auburn. He graduated with top honors in 1892 with a B.S. degree in electrical and mechanical engineering. At Auburn, he was captain and catcher of the baseball team as well as the manager and left end of the football team. He also served as class president and was the director of the Glee Club.

Upon his graduation at Auburn, he was assistant to the president of the college until 1896, then he made his trek to Clemson.

Riggs later became president of Clemson on March 7, 1911 and in 1915, a new football stadium with other athletic facilities was named in his honor as Riggs Field. It is currently the home of the Tiger soccer team. In two years of coaching, Riggs guided the Tigers to a career record of 6-3 overall.

W. M. WILLIAMS, 1897

Clemson's second coach, W.M. William, was a native of West Point, GA. He played at Auburn on the teams of '94, '95, and '96, under the coaching of John Heisman. He was considered the best blocking halfback in the south.

Williams led Clemson to the state championship and to a 2-2 season. During his time as coach, Clemson played two games in a matter of three days. Clemson was victorious over the Charlotte Y on October 23, but lost to North Carolina 28-0, on October 25.

JOHN PENTON, 1898

The Tigers' third coach, J.A. Penton of Alabama, was captain and starting guard on the University of Virginia teams of '93, '94, and '95. Penton also played fullback at Auburn in '97 under Heisman's coaching. Under Penton, Clemson won 55-0 over Bingham in its first home game, as W.C. Forsythe kicked every point after touchdown (11). In his only season at Clemson, Penton guided Clemson to a 3-1 record and the state championship.

JOHN HEISMAN, 1900-1903

Probably one of the most famous football coaches in America, John Heisman, coached at Clemson from 1900 to 1903. Heisman turned Clemson from virtually an unknown college to a southern powerhouse at the turn of the century.

Heisman attended Brown University, taking the two-year law course offered at that time, and was a center on the football team. In the fall of 1889, he transferred to the University of Pennsylvania. He lettered in football at both schools and graduated from Pennsylvania in 1893.

In the spring of 1894, Walter Riggs was a graduate manager for the football team at Auburn. It fell on his shoulders to find a coach for the season of 1895. Riggs wrote to Carl Williams, the Pennsylvania captain of 1894, asking him to suggest a suitable coach. He replied recommending J.W. Heisman, an ex-Penn player, and his coach at Oberlin.

After several weeks, Riggs finally found Heisman in Texas, where he was engaged in raising tomatoes. Having sunk about all of his capital into the tomato venture, he was glad to go back to his old love and he readily went to coach at Auburn for $500.00 a year.

His coaching career began at Oberlin in 1892 and lasted 36 years. It included positions at Akron, Auburn, Clemson, Georgia Tech, Penn, Washington and Jefferson, and Rice University. He had an overall career record of 185 wins, 70 losses, and 17 ties.

John Heisman invented the hidden ball trick, the handoff, the double lateral, and the "flea flicker." He pioneered the forward pass, arguing that it would scatter the mob. Coach Heisman also originated the center snap and the word hike (previously the center used to roll the ball on the ground to the quarterback).

Heisman guided Clemson to its first "bowl game" in 1904, when Clemson and Cumberland met on November 26, for the championship of the South. Cumberland, who had earlier defeated Auburn, Alabama, and Vanderbilt, was considered to be champion of the southern states of Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, and Kentucky. The game was played on a neutral site, Montgomery, Al. Cumberland and Clemson fought to an 11-11 tie. After the news got back to Clemson that the game ended in a tie, the students and the local townspeople built a bonfire and paraded around the campus.

Overall, Heisman took Clemson to a 19-3-2 record in his four seasons at Clemson. His .833 winning percentage is still the best in Clemson history. He was also the Clemson baseball coach in 1901-1904.

SHACK SHEALY, 1904

Shack Shealy holds the distinction of being the only Clemson player to have coached his alma mater. Shealy lettered at Clemson in 1896, 97, 98, and 99 and later played two years at Iowa State. Shealy was a four-year starter playing right guard, end, and in his senior year, he played in the backfield. Shealy only coached Clemson one year in 1904, and guided the Tigers to a 3-3-1 record overall, which included wins over Alabama, Georgia, and Tennessee.

ED COCHEMS, 1905

Ed Cochems lettered at the University of Wisconsin in 1899, 1900, and 1901. Cochems was described as a great halfback or end on the strong Wisconsin teams at the turn of the century, including the undefeated team of 1901. During his playing career, he had a 100-yard kickoff return in a 35-0 win over Chicago in 1901, and had four touchdowns in a game against Notre Dame in 1900. After his playing days, he immediately went into coaching. He was the head coach of North Dakota in 1902 and 1903 and served briefly as an assistant with former teammate, Art Curtis at Wisconsin in 1904.

Cochems led Clemson to a 3-2-1 record overall, including wins over Georgia and Auburn. After his Clemson career, he was head coach and athletic director at St. Louis University in 1906. After the forward pass was legalized in 1906, Cochems did something with the pass at once in his first year at St. Louis, while other coaches stuck with the running game. He taught his players not to throw the ball end-over-end, but instead like a projectile - a spiral. He called this new weapon a projectile pass.

In 1906, St. Louis went undefeated rolling up 407 points while allowing its opponents only 11.

Historians credit Cochems as being the first coach to use and perfect the first legal pass in a game. The first studied refinements in throwing the ball, which led to the spiral, occurred in 1906 under Cochems. Brad Robinson of St. Louis University threw the first forward pass to Jack Schneider in a game played Sept. 5, 1906 in Waukensha against Carroll College.

BOB WILLIAMS, 1906, 1909, 1913-1915

Williams coached football at both Clemson and South Carolina. Before coming to Clemson, he coached at Davidson in 1905. He coached at South Carolina for two years and guided the Gamecocks to a 6-1 record in 1902 and an 8-2 slate in 1903.

During his South Carolina career, he administered the most unexpected defeat of Clemson, as he beat a heavily favored John Heisman team, 12-6 in 1902.

Williams served the Tigers as head coach a total of three terms 1906, 1909, and 1913-15. Between the years of 1915 and 1926, Williams practiced law in Roanoke, VA, and was the city's mayor.

One of the highlights of his Clemson career included leading the 1906 Tigers to an undefeated season (4-0-3), which included wins over Georgia, Auburn, Tennessee, and a Heisman-coached Georgia Tech team.

FRANK SHAUGHNESSY, 1907

Frank Shaughnessy was known for his ability as an administrator in sports as he served many positions, from a professional hockey coach to the commissioner of the International Baseball (Triple A) League.

A graduate in law at Notre Dame, he was captain of the baseball and football teams his junior and senior seasons. After his graduation in 1905, he coached baseball at Notre Dame. The summer before coming to Clemson he played for Ottawa of the Eastern League. That summer, he played left field and had a .352 batting average. He also played with Washington and the Philadelphia A's.

At Clemson he coached the baseball teams in 1907 and 1908, and was head football mentor in 1907, posting a 4-4 record.

During his lifetime, Shaughnessy made his name in baseball, but he took part in many other sports. Besides being a sports legend at Notre Dame, he managed the Ottawa Senators of a professional hockey league and coached football teams at Clemson, Washington and Lee and McGill University. He retired as the president of the International Baseball league.

During his football playing days, in a game against Kansas, Shaughnessy raced 107 yards for the only Irish touchdown as Kansas won, 24-5. Football fields were 110 yards back then and touchdowns were five points. This is still a Notre Dame record.

JOHN STONE, 1908

John Stone is one of three coaches to have graduated from Vanderbilt and later become a Clemson head football coach. At Vanderbilt, he was a member of the All-Southern Football team for four seasons. He was a big man for his time, standing 6'2". Clemson was 1-6 in 1908, but the Tigers lost many of their star players and substitutes from 1907 due to a college prank that saw as many as 306 students expelled from school.

FRANK DOBSON, 1910-12

Frank Dobson was a professional baseball player before coming to Clemson as he was the property of the Pittsburgh Nationals. Walter Riggs, President of the Clemson Athletic Association, thought it was unfair to keep shuffling coaches year after year. Riggs offered Dobson a three-year contract, which was the first contract offered and signed by a Clemson coach.

At Clemson, he coached football, basketball and baseball. He was Clemson's first basketball coach, leading Clemson to its only undefeated season in history in the inaugural season 1911-12, (4-0). In 1912-13, Clemson finished the basketball season with a 9-5 record. He was head baseball coach in 1911-1913.

WAYNE HART, 1916

Wayne Hart coached Clemson in 1916 and led Clemson to a 3-6 finish. Under Hart, the Tigers defeated state rivals Furman and South Carolina.

Hart played three years at tackle for Georgetown. He also played one year at George Washington. He was a member of the All-South Atlantic team for four years. He was also an assistant coach at Georgetown. In 1913, he coached the Washington Vigilants, a professional football team, and did not lose a game. The last two seasons before arriving at Clemson, he coached various sports at Technical High School in Washington, D. C.

EDWARD DONAHUE, 1917-20

Edward Donahue had to be one of the most organized men in the country. During the 1918-19 school year, Donahue was head coach of four Clemson sports: football, basketball, baseball, and track. During his four-year career at Clemson, he was basketball and baseball coach for two seasons, and head track coach for one season.

Donahue was an outstanding athlete at Washington and Lee as he played in the backfield on the football team and played catcher on the baseball team. Upon graduation, Donahue was an assistant coach in football and was the head coach in baseball and basketball.

E. J. STEWART, 1921-22

E. J. Stewart was head football coach for two years at Clemson, 1921-22. However, he coached more than one sport during his stay at Tigertown. In the spring of 1921, Stewart coached the baseball and track teams while conducting spring football practice. In the fall, Stewart's football team went 1-6-2, but he improved to a 5-4 slate in 1922. He went on to coach the track teams in 1922 and 1923.

Stewart played football, baseball, basketball and ran track at Western Reserve University in Ohio. Upon his graduation, he played, organized and served as head coach in Ohio of the Massillon, Ohio Professional football team.

He also coached at Nebraska and the University of Texas. At Nebraska, he led the Cornhuskers to a combined record of 11-4 in 1916-1917. They also won the Missouri Valley Conference title both seasons. After leaving the University of Nebraska, he entered the automobile business as President and Treasurer of the Stewart Motor Co. Because of the economic conditions at the time, he decided to go back into coaching.

BUD SAUNDERS, 1923-26

Bud Saunders graduated from Missouri in 1911, with a bachelors degree in Law. At Missouri, he played football and basketball. He wanted to play two other sports, but a conference rule at the time forbid an athlete from participating in more than two sports.

Saunders was football coach at Knox College before coming to Clemson. In football, Saunders coached for four seasons, 1923-1926. He also coached the basketball teams in 1924 and 1925. His best season in football came in 1923, as he led the Tigers to a 5-2-1 slate.

JOSH CODY, 1927-1930

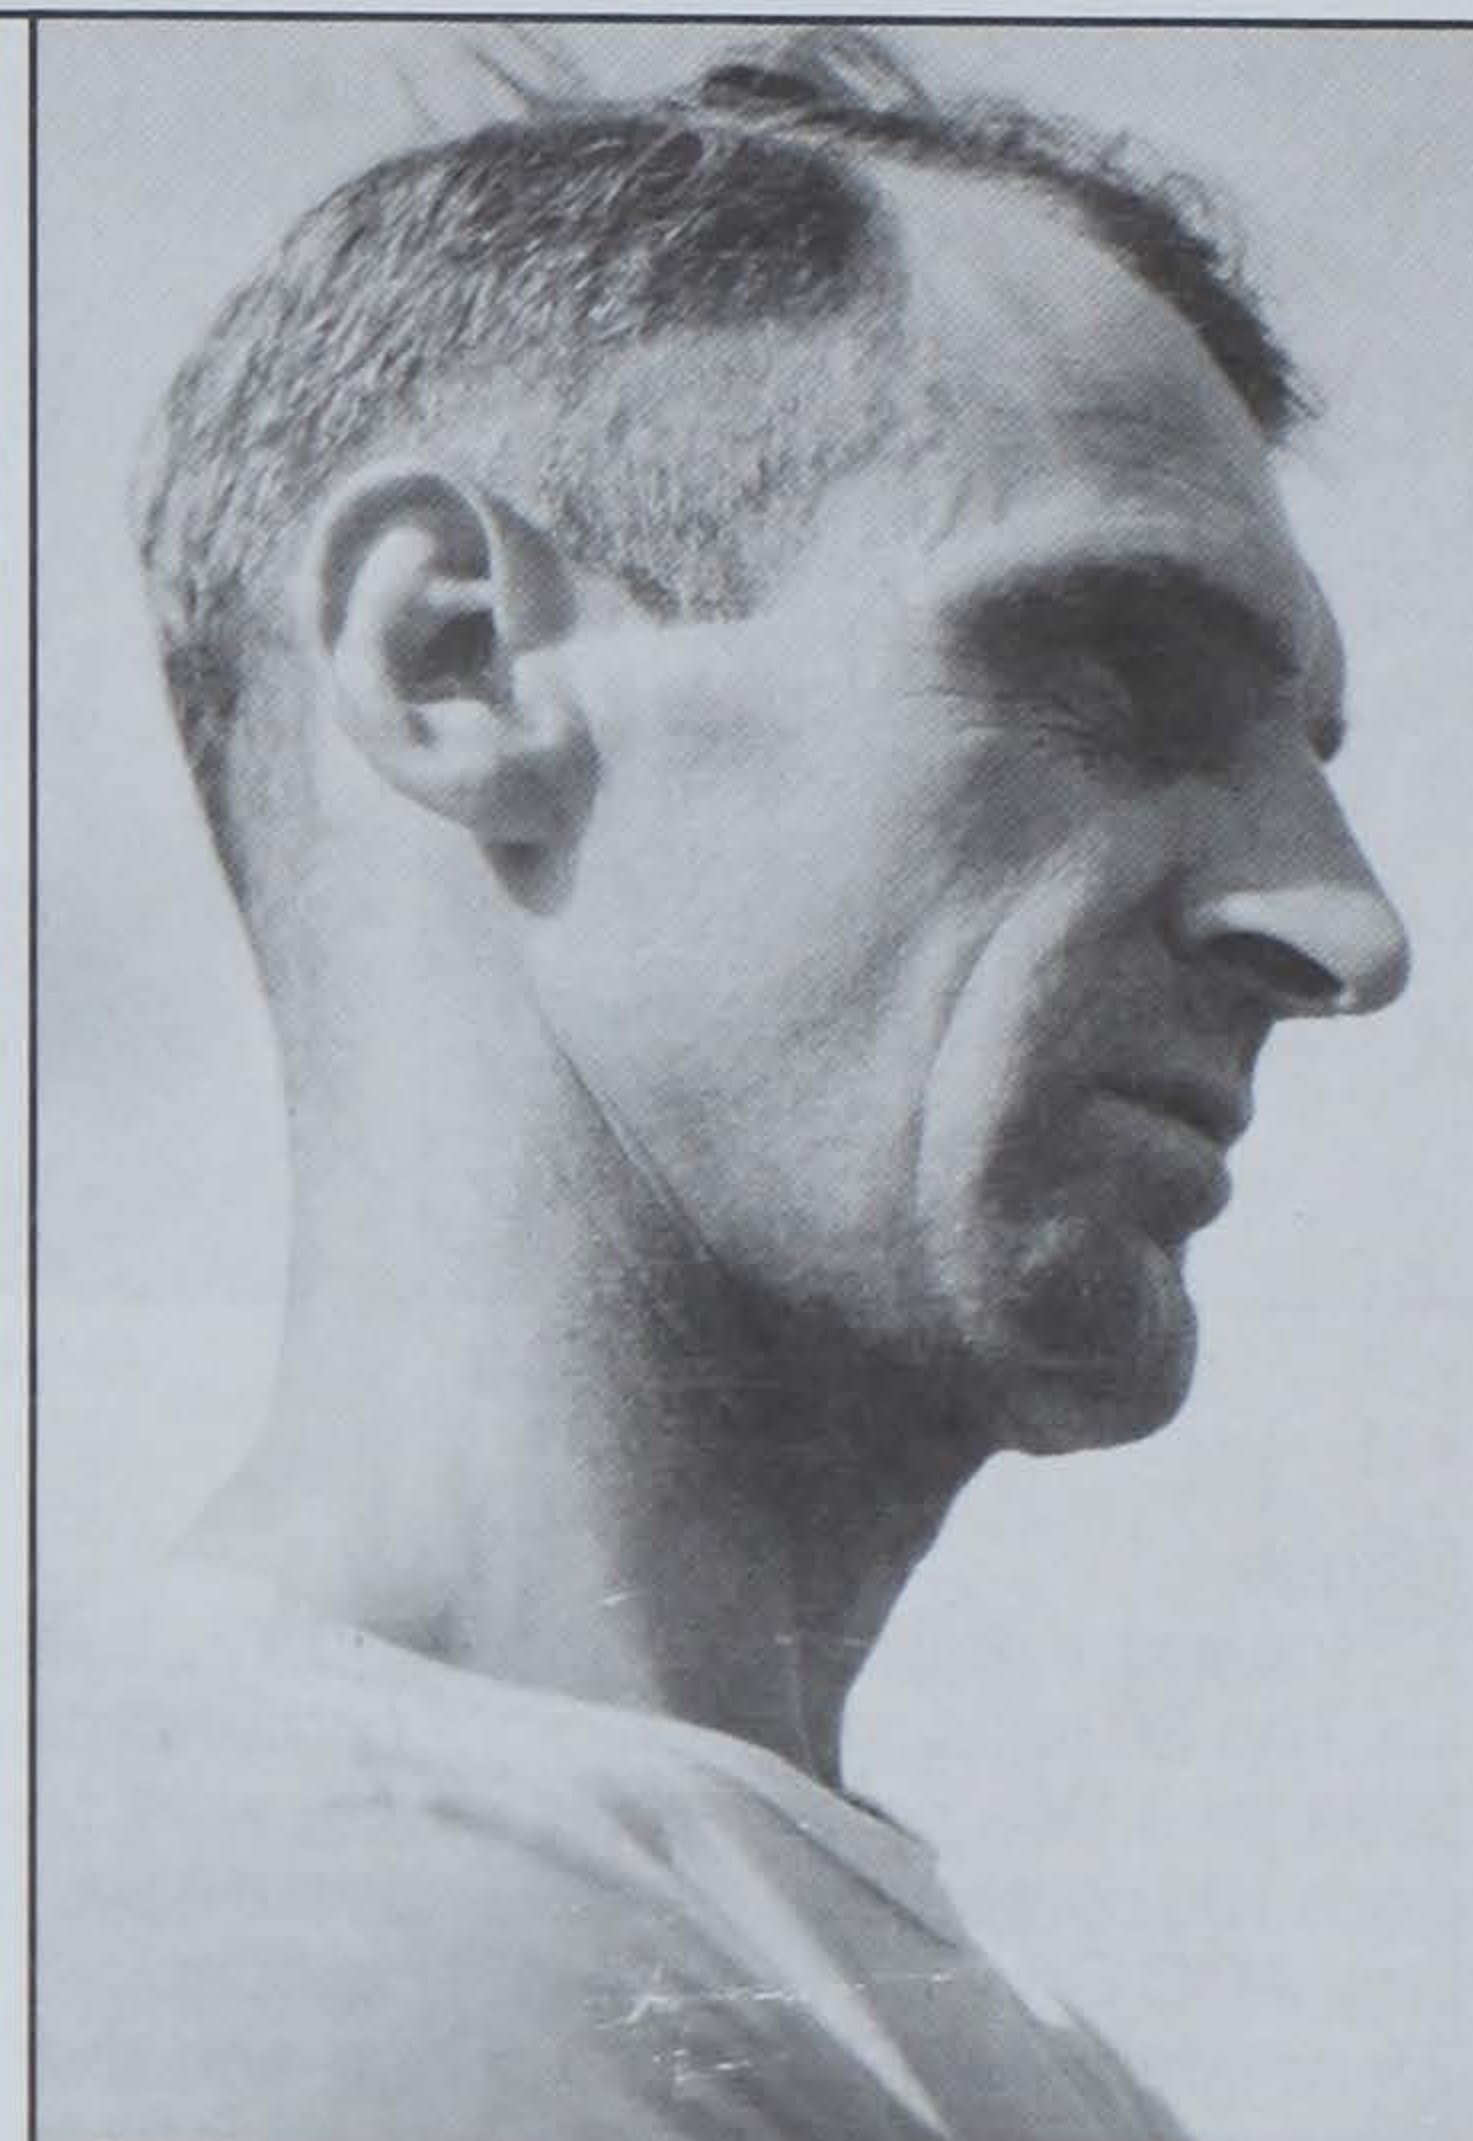

Josh Cody, fondly known as "big man," will always be a favorite to Clemson fans. Cody, a big man in stature at 6-2, 220 pounds, led Clemson to victories over South Carolina for four straight years. He is the only coach in Clemson history who has been around more than two years who never lost a football game to South Carolina. He also defeated Furman three straight years. Cody had a 13-0-1 record in home games and had a 72 percent winning mark overall, fourth best in Clemson history.

After a 5-3-1 start in 1927, Cody guided Clemson to two 8-3 seasons in 1928 and 1929. On May 6, 1929, to show appreciation to Cody, he was presented with a new buick by the alumni, student body and faculty. This presentation took place in front of Tillman Hall.

In his final season, 1930, the Tigers finished with an 8-2 record. Cody also coached basketball at Clemson for five years and guided Clemson to a 16-9 slate in 1930. During the 1928-30 seasons, he guided Clemson to a 22-4 mark at home.

JESS NEELY, 1931-39

Clemson played in its first bowl game under Jess Neely in the 1940 Cotton Bowl. The Tigers, unknown at the time, became a household word after beating heavily-favored Boston College 6-3 in the Cotton Bowl Classic. Neely came to Clemson in 1931 and his recruitment of Banks McFadden brought Clemson to another level of competition. In 1938, Neely had Clemson at second place in the Southern Conference with a 7-1-1 record. In 1939, Banks McFadden became Clemson's first All-American, and the team concluded the season with a trip to Dallas for the Cotton Bowl. Neely left Clemson that spring and moved on to Rice, where he took that school to new heights. Neely is a member of the College Football Hall of Fame.

Jess Neely

FRANK HOWARD, 1940-69

Frank Howard succeeded Jess Neely in 1940 when Neely moved on to Rice. Howard got the job when he seconded his own nomination during a meeting of the president and athletic council. Howard signed a one-year contract, then lost the document, and never had another in his 30 years as head coach.

Howard graduated from Alabama in 1931 where he was a football star lineman. He played in the 1930 Rose Bowl, then started his coaching career under Neely at Clemson in 1931, and was a part of a rebirth of Clemson football in the late 1930s. He was an assistant coach on Clemson's 1939 team that posted a 9-1 mark and beat Boston College 6-3 in the Tigers' first bowl game.

In 1940, he began his head coaching career with a bang as he won the Southern Conference championship, the first of eight conference titles Howard won in his coaching career.

Howard had his most successful season in 1948 when he took Clemson to an 11-0 record, the Tigers' first perfect season since 1900. The campaign included a Southern Conference championship, a Gator Bowl win over Missouri, and a number-11 final ranking. He nearly duplicated the feat in 1950 when he guided Clemson to a number-10 AP final ranking, a 9-0-1 finish and a 15-14 win over Miami (FL) in the Orange Bowl.

When he retired in 1969, Howard was the fifth winningest coach in the nation with 165 victories. He had 96 wins as an ACC coach, tying the ACC record for coaching victories, and he captured six (five outright and one co-championship) ACC titles, more than any other coach. His teams appeared in six bowl games, 63 of his players were drafted by the NFL and 37 played in the league.

Howard, a native of Barlow Bend, AL, had six Top 20 seasons, won eight conference titles (two Southern and six ACC), won an even 100 conference games and was a two-time ACC Coach-of-the-Year. He coached 25 academic All-ACC selections and five Academic All-Americans. Eleven of his players were chosen on-the-field All-Americans. Howard was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1989.

HOOTIE INGRAM, 1970-1972

Hottie Ingram will be best remembered as the coach that made the Tiger Paw famous. Before his first year as head coach in the summer of 1970, Clemson introduced the Tiger Paw as the official logo of Clemson University's Athletic teams.

Ingram graduated from the University of Alabama in 1955. He also received his master's in school administration from Alabama and is now athletic director for the Crimson Tide program.

The native of Tuscaloosa, AL was an All-Southeastern Conference defensive back for the Crimson Tide his senior year.

Ingram had his best year at Clemson during the 1971 campaign with a 5-6 overall record. He also finished second in the ACC with a 4-2 league mark in 1971.

RED PARKER, 1973-76

Red Parker coached at Clemson for four years. His 1974 team lived up to the theme "Excitement Galore, Clemson Football '74." It finished the season with a 7-4 record (6-0 at home), with wins over Georgia, Georgia Tech and South Carolina.

Before arriving at Clemson, Red Parker spent seven years at The Citadel from 1966 through 1972. During this time, he guided the Bulldogs to a fine 8-3 finish in 1971.

Parker earned a BA degree in Physical Education from Arkansas A&M in 1953. Prior to his graduation, he earned three letters each in football, basketball and track, as a running back-defensive back, second baseman-shortstop, and sprinter.

CHARLEY PELL, 1977-78

Charley Pell authored college football's Cinderella story in 1977.

The Albertville, AL product took a Clemson team that was 3-6-2 in 1976, and led the '77 Tigers to a sparkling 8-2-1 regular season mark and a berth in the Gator Bowl. It was Clemson's first final Top 20 season since 1959. He coached Clemson to a 10-1 regular season in 1978 before he left to become head coach at Florida. Clemson's 1978 team beat Ohio State in the Gator Bowl and finished sixth in the final AP poll in only his second year as head coach of Clemson.

He was a near unanimous choice as ACC Coach-of-the-Year. A two-way starter and three-year letterwinner at Alabama, Pell was a member of the Crimson Tide's 1961 National Championship team and played in the Orange, Sugar and Bluebonnet Bowls during his Alabama career.

He came to Clemson in 1976 and served as assistant head coach and defensive coordinator that year.

DANNY FORD, 1979-89

Danny Ford had an auspicious beginning to his head coaching career. He gained a 17-15 win over Ohio State in the 1978 Gator Bowl in a game shown on national television. The 30-year-old coach, youngest in Division I at the time, also defeated a college football legend in a contest that truly put Clemson football on the map as he beat Woody Hayes in the latter's last game. Ford had taken over the coaching reigns on December 10, 1978 when Charley Pell resigned to become head coach at Florida.

Ford kept things going in 1979 with wins over Georgia and Notre Dame and another trip to a bowl, this time the Peach Bowl. In 1981, he helped Clemson reach the summit of college football by winning the National Championship. His Tigers downed three top 10 teams during the course of the 12-0 season that concluded with a 22-15 victory over Nebraska in the Orange Bowl. Ford was named National Coach-of-the-Year.

The victories continued in 1982 and 1983 as Clemson had consecutive 9-1-1 seasons. The Tigers finished in the top 12 in both seasons, and thus had a 30-2-2 record over a three-year period, best in the nation.

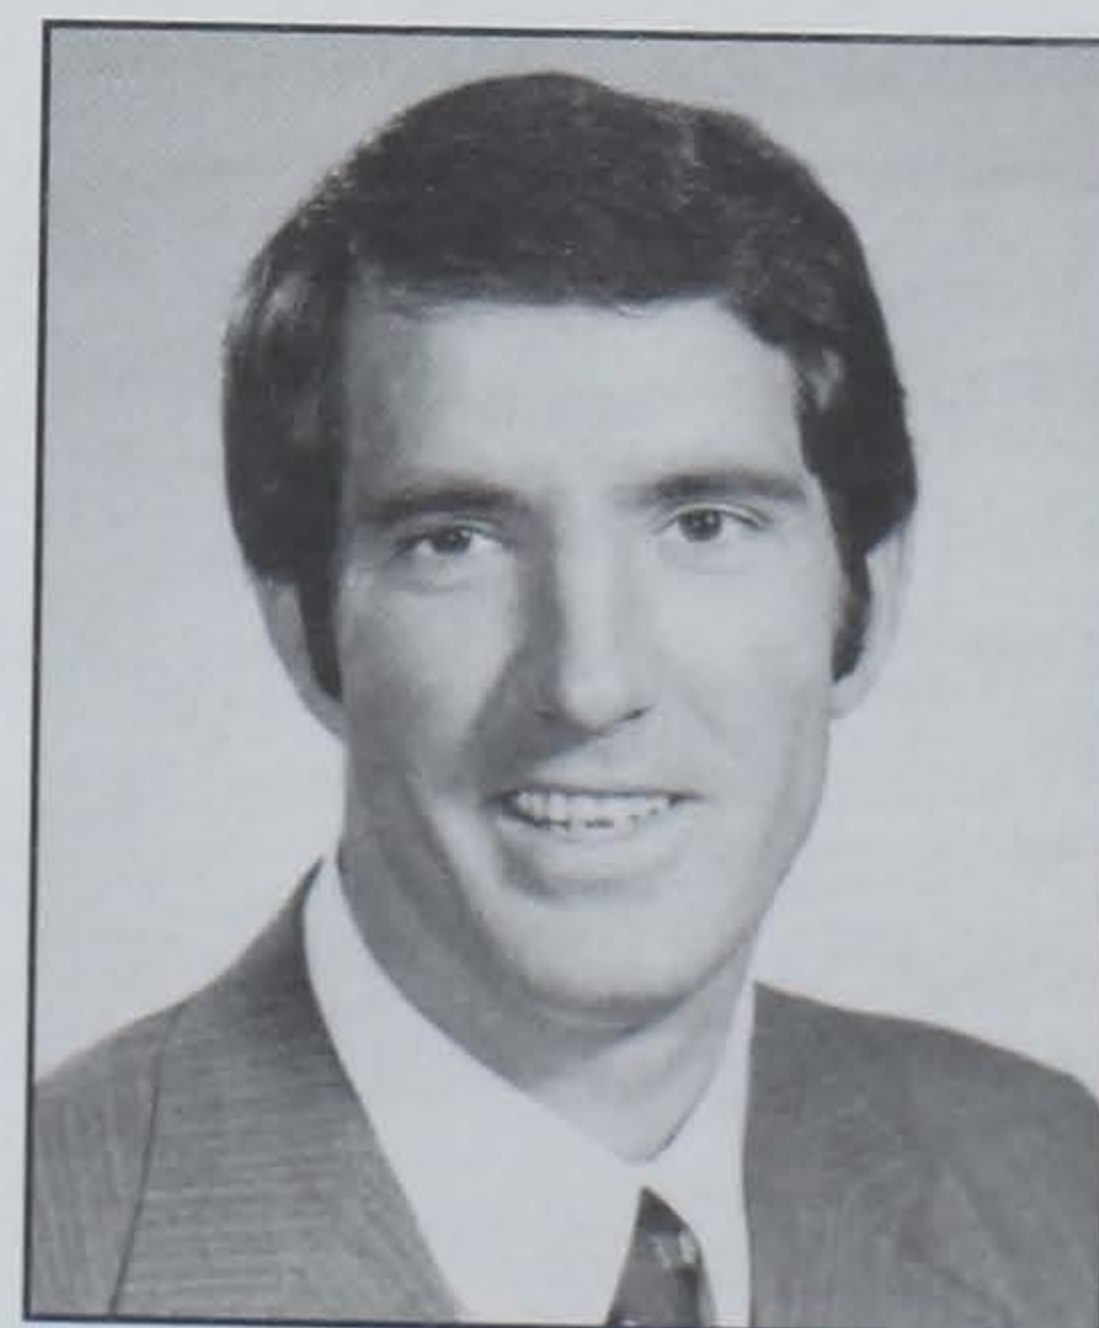

Clemson won three straight ACC titles under his guidance between 1986 and 1988. In 1989, Clemson registered a 10-2 season and top 12 national ranking, the fourth straight season Clemson finished in the final AP top 20. He closed his career with a 27-7 win over West Virginia in the Gator Bowl, his sixth bowl win in eight tries and his fourth in succession. Clemson and Florida State were the only teams in the nation to win four straight bowl games between 1986 and 1989.

Ford was the third winningest active coach in the nation on a percentage basis at the end of the 1989 season. He finished with a 96-29-4 career ledger at Clemson and remains the only coach in ACC history with over a 70 percent winning mark (min. four years). He finished with a 76 percent winning percentage and five ACC titles, second only to Frank Howard's six crowns.

The 1969 Alabama graduate is still the youngest coach to win the national title, as he was just 33-years-old when the Tigers shocked the college football world in 1981. He coached 71 first-team All-ACC selections and 26 All-Americans. Forty-six of his former Tigers were drafted by the NFL, and he earned 18 wins over Associated Press top 20 teams during his career, more than any other ACC coach. Additionally, eight of his former players won Super Bowl Championship rings. At one stretch his teams were ranked in the AP top 20 for 41 consecutive polls, a Clemson record.

Ford was an All-SEC selection and was also an All-SEC Academic choice at Alabama. He attended Alabama initially on a basketball/football scholarship but played only football after his freshman year. He played in three bowl games for Alabama.

Frank Howard, Legend

History

An era at Clemson University ended June 30, 1974, when Frank Howard officially retired from the payroll. But instead of crawling back in his shell as some do at this stage, Howard sluffed off the retirement bit and still comes to his office regularly in the Jervy Athletic Center answering a pretty good stack of mail which arrives daily, or accepting another speaking engagement, or lining up some advertisers for the Kickoff Publishing Company.

Howard retired from coaching December 10, 1969, after 39 years on the Clemson coaching staff, 30 of which were as head coach. He was also athletic director during this time and he kept this position until February 4, 1971, when he was named assistant to the vice president at the university, the post he held when the mandatory retirement age of 65 rolled around.

Shortly after his retirement the Clemson Board of Trustees named the playing surface of Memorial Stadium as "Frank Howard Field" in honor of his long service to the university. It was only the third time that a building or installation had been named by the trustees for a living person. Over the years, Howard has been inducted into the South Carolina Athletic Hall of Fame and the Clemson Hall of Fame (charter member in both), as well as the Helms Athletic Hall of Fame and the State of Alabama Hall of Fame. On December 5, 1989 he joined an elite group in the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame. The ceremonies took place in the Waldorf-Astoria in New York City. He joined former Clemson mentors John Heisman and Jess Neely in the membership.

Howard was also honored in December, 1981, when he was inducted into the Orange Bowl Hall of Honor, along with former Alabama coach, Paul "Bear" Bryant, and Tommy McDonald, a former Oklahoma star. In the summer of 1990 he was inducted into the Gator Bowl Hall of Fame.

Howard stepped onto the rolling hills of Clemson in 1931 fresh from the varsity football ranks at the University of Alabama where he was a first stringer on Wallace Wade's 1930 team that drubbed Washington State, 24-0, in the 1931 Rose Bowl. Howard was known as the "Little Giant" of the Tide's "Herd of Red Elephants."

The bald veteran came to his first coaching post under Jess Neely as a line tutor. "At least that was my title," Howard recalls. "Actually, I also coached track, was ticket manager, recruited players and had charge of football equipment. In my spare time I cut grass, lined tennis courts and operated the canteen while the regular man was out to lunch." Howard was not only track coach from 1931-39, but served as baseball coach in 1943 and his 12-3 record that year is still among the best percentages for a season in Clemson history.

Howard held the line coaching post until Neely went to Rice University as head coach in 1940. When the Clemson Athletic Council met to name a successor to Neely, Prof. Sam Rhodes, a council member, nominated Howard to be the new head coach. Howard, standing in the back of the room listening to the discussion, said: "I second the nomination." He got the job and never left. Altogether, he served Clemson 43 years.

When he retired as head coach following the 1969 season, he was the nation's dean of coaches, having been a head football coach at a major institution longer than anyone else in the United States. When he retired, he was one of five active coaches with 150 or more victories.

While line coach in 1939, the Tigers' record (8-1) was good enough to merit a trip to Dallas where Clemson met undefeated Boston College under the late Frank Leahy in the 1940 Cotton Bowl. The 1948 mark of 10-0 carried Clemson to the 1949 Gator Bowl and two years later, a 9-0-1 record sent the Tigers to Miami's Orange Bowl (1950). The Country Gentlemen were champions on their first three bowl ventures. Boston College fell, 6-3, Missouri was nipped in the Gator, 24-23 (Howard says this is the best football game he ever witnessed), and Miami felt the Tiger claws, 15-14. The total point spread in these three bowl wins was five points.

The Gator Bowl beckoned the Tigers again in January, 1952, and by being conference champions in 1956, Clemson played in the '57 Orange Bowl classic again. Miami downed Clemson, 14-0 in the second Gator Bowl trip and Colorado led Clemson, 20-0, then trailed 21-20, before finally defeating the Tigers, 27-21, in the second Orange Bowl. The Tigers then played in the 1959 Sugar Bowl and held No. 1-ranked Louisiana State to a standstill before losing, 7-0.

The invitation to play in the first Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston in December, 1959, was the eighth bowl that Howard had been a part of either as a player, assistant coach or head coach. It was the seventh bowl trip for a Clemson team and the sixth in 12 years. Howard says that Clemson's 23-7 triumph over Texas Christian in the Bluebonnet Bowl was the best performance he had ever witnessed by a Clemson team.

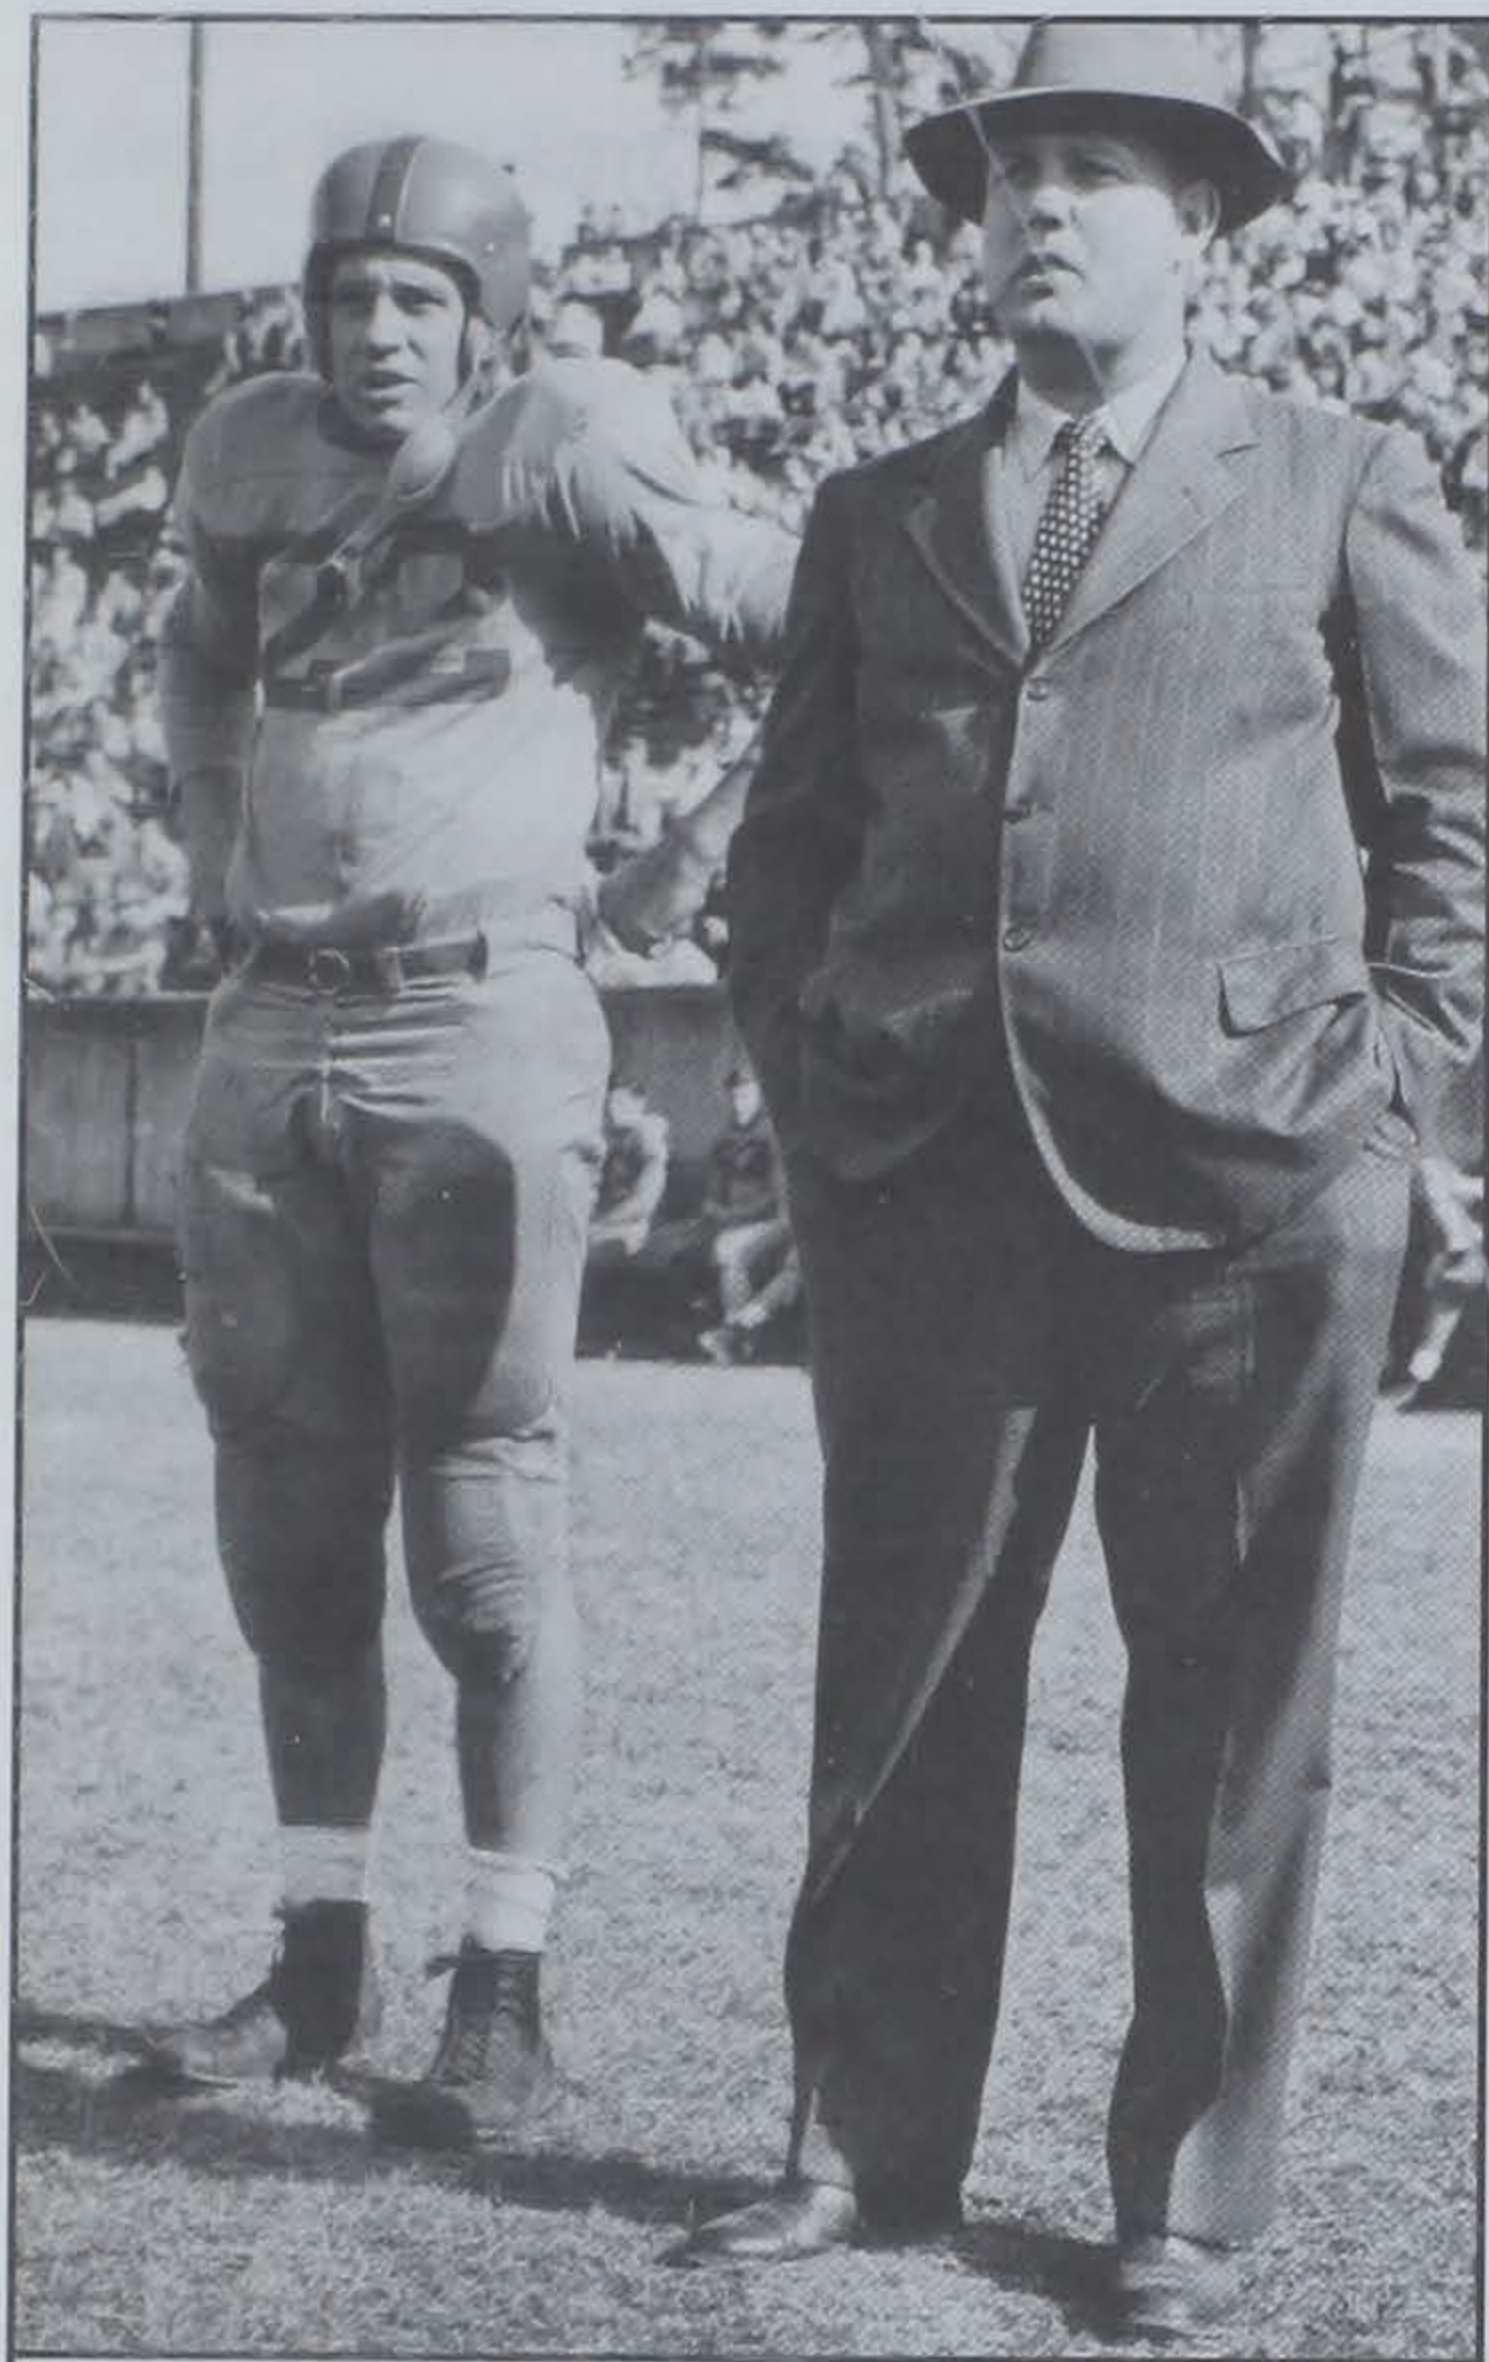

The Tigers' victory over TCU was their fourth success in seven post-season appearances. In all seven Clemson was the established underdog.

Frank Howard, Legend

of the Blue-Gray game in Montgomery, Ala., in 1941, 1952, 1959, and 1966; was on the East staff of the annual East-West Game in San Francisco, CA, in December, 1960, and again in December, 1962; and was named coach of the South squad in Miami's 1961 and 1969 North-South game. He coached in the 1970 Hula Bowl, which was his ninth postseason all-star game. While still in active coaching Howard served as one of the important rules committee members for a period of three years.

A single wing expert for 22 seasons (including nine as line a coach), Howard changed to the T-formation and its many variations in 1953. Still another major change in the offense was installed in 1965 with the "I" and pro-type set. In his 13 seasons as head coach using the single wing, Clemson won 69, lost 47 and tied 7. In 12 years of "T" teams, the Tigers won 71, lost 47 and tied 4. While using the "I" in his last five years of coaching, Clemson recorded a 25-24-1 record.

In his 30 years of coaching Howard won 165, lost 118 and tied 12. That victory total is still among the top 40 coaches in the history of the game.

In addition to heading up the Clemson football program, Howard also had the job of directing Clemson's entire athletic program, and at the same time, raising all the required scholarship funds. The athletic department was always on a sound financial footing under the guidance of Howard.

The year 1958 was a red letter one for Howard. During the halftime of the Spring Game, Howard, his staff and secretaries were given an appreciation day. Howard received a 1958 car while other staff members were presented gifts. That summer Howard and three members of his staff were given a trip to Europe by the Department of Defense to conduct clinics for the Armed Forces in Germany.

Then came the football season and the Tigers presented Howard an 8-2 season, which led to the Sugar Bowl invitation. One of these 1958 wins was the 100th of Howard's coaching career. That came against the late Jim Tatum of North Carolina, a coach Howard had never beaten. And, the Tigers had to come from behind three times to win, 26-21.

Howard was named Southern Conference Coach-of-the-Year in 1948. In 1959 he was named Atlantic Coast Conference Coach-of-the-Year and was accorded the honor again in 1966. His teams won ACC championships six times (1956-58-59-65-66-67) in the first 15 years of the conference. The Tigers were co-champions in 1965. He guided Clemson to the Southern Conference crown in 1940 and 1948.

Howard was born at Barlow Bend, Ala. (three wagon greasin's from Mobile), March 25, 1909. He spent his early days on the farm playing mostly cow pasture baseball because there were not enough boys around the community for a football team. Howard says he left Barlow Bend walking barefoot on a barbed wire fence with a wildcat under each arm.

He graduated from Murphy High School in Mobile where he played football, baseball and basketball and served as president of both the junior and senior classes.

After finishing at Murphy, Howard entered the University of Alabama on an academic scholarship provided by the Birmingham News in the fall of 1927, and the 185 pounder played reserve guard his sophomore year. During his junior year he started every game but two, as an ankle injury sidelined him for the two games he missed. Again his senior year he was a regular.

Howard was president of the freshman class at Alabama, was member of Blue Key and president of the "A" Club.

After coming to Clemson, he married the former Anna Tribble of Anderson, S.C., August 23, 1933. They are the parents of a daughter Alice (Mrs. Bobby McClure of St. Paul's, N.C.) and a son, Jimmy. The Howards also have three grandchildren.

Jimmy followed in his dad's footsteps as a football player, only at a different position. The son was regular fullback on the local high school (Daniel) team for three years and was a halfback-fullback for three years on the Clemson varsity. Jimmy gained over 1,400 yards his senior year in high school and scored over 100 points. He graduated from Clemson in June, 1964 with honors, and earned his masters degree in horticulture from Clemson in 1967. Today he is district entomologist with the Plant

Pest Regulatory Service at Clemson.

For over three decades Howard has been in great demand both as a banquet speaker and a clinic lecturer. Few states have escaped his homespun oratory, which has brought the house down on many occasions.

Since his retirement, Howard has become active in other endeavors. He has served as state chairman of the South Carolina Heart Fund drive, has been roasted several times on behalf of the Multiple Sclerosis Society, and is active in selling the Kickoff Publication out of Knoxville, TN.

Howard still has his hands in football as he serves as the chief recruiter for the Gray squad in the annual Blue-Gray game in Montgomery, AL., The Blue squad recruiter is Don Faurot, who opposed Howard in the 1949 Gator Bowl.

Howard has also been inducted into the Helms Foundation Hall of Fame in San Francisco, CA., is an honorary member of the National Athletic Trainers Association, and is a member of the Hall of Fame of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics. Clemson University has also honored Howard once more with the presentation of the Clemson Medallion, which is the highest public honor bestowed by the university to a living person who exemplifies the dedication and foresight of its founders.

Howard kissed Big Thursday goodbye after Clemson's win over South Carolina in 1959. Howard is a member of the College Football Hall of Fame. He coached Clemson to eight conference championships in his celebrated career.

LONGEST PUNT RETURN

72 by Brian Treggs of California, 1992 Citrus

Defense dominated Clemson's first bowl win ever as the two teams combined for just 20 first downs and 110 yards passing. Banks McFadden averaged 45 yards a punt on nine boots in his final game as a Tiger.

Clemson 6 Boston College 3

Jess Neely's last Clemson team won eight games in the regular season with just one loss to Tulane. The 8-1 Tigers were rewarded with an invitation to play Boston College in the fourth Cotton Bowl, but Clemson first had to get permission from the Southern Conference, which they immediately granted. The 1939 season not only resulted in Clemson's first bowl appearance, but also the Tigers' first first-team All-American, Banks McFadden.

On the last play of the first quarter, Bru Trexler punted to BC's Charlie O'Rourke, who fielded the punt on the Clemson 40 and returned it to the 13. Two running plays lost 10 yards, but on third down Frank Davis gained six. Alex Lukachik then kicked a 34-yard field goal to put the Eagles up, 3-0.

Clemson's scoring drive began when McFadden returned an Eagle punt to the 33. Charlie Timmons rushed for 15 yards in two plays, and two plays after that, McFadden hit Wister Jackson with a 16-yard pass to the Eagle 20. Timmons ran the final 20 yards in three carries, but Shad Bryant missed the extra point.

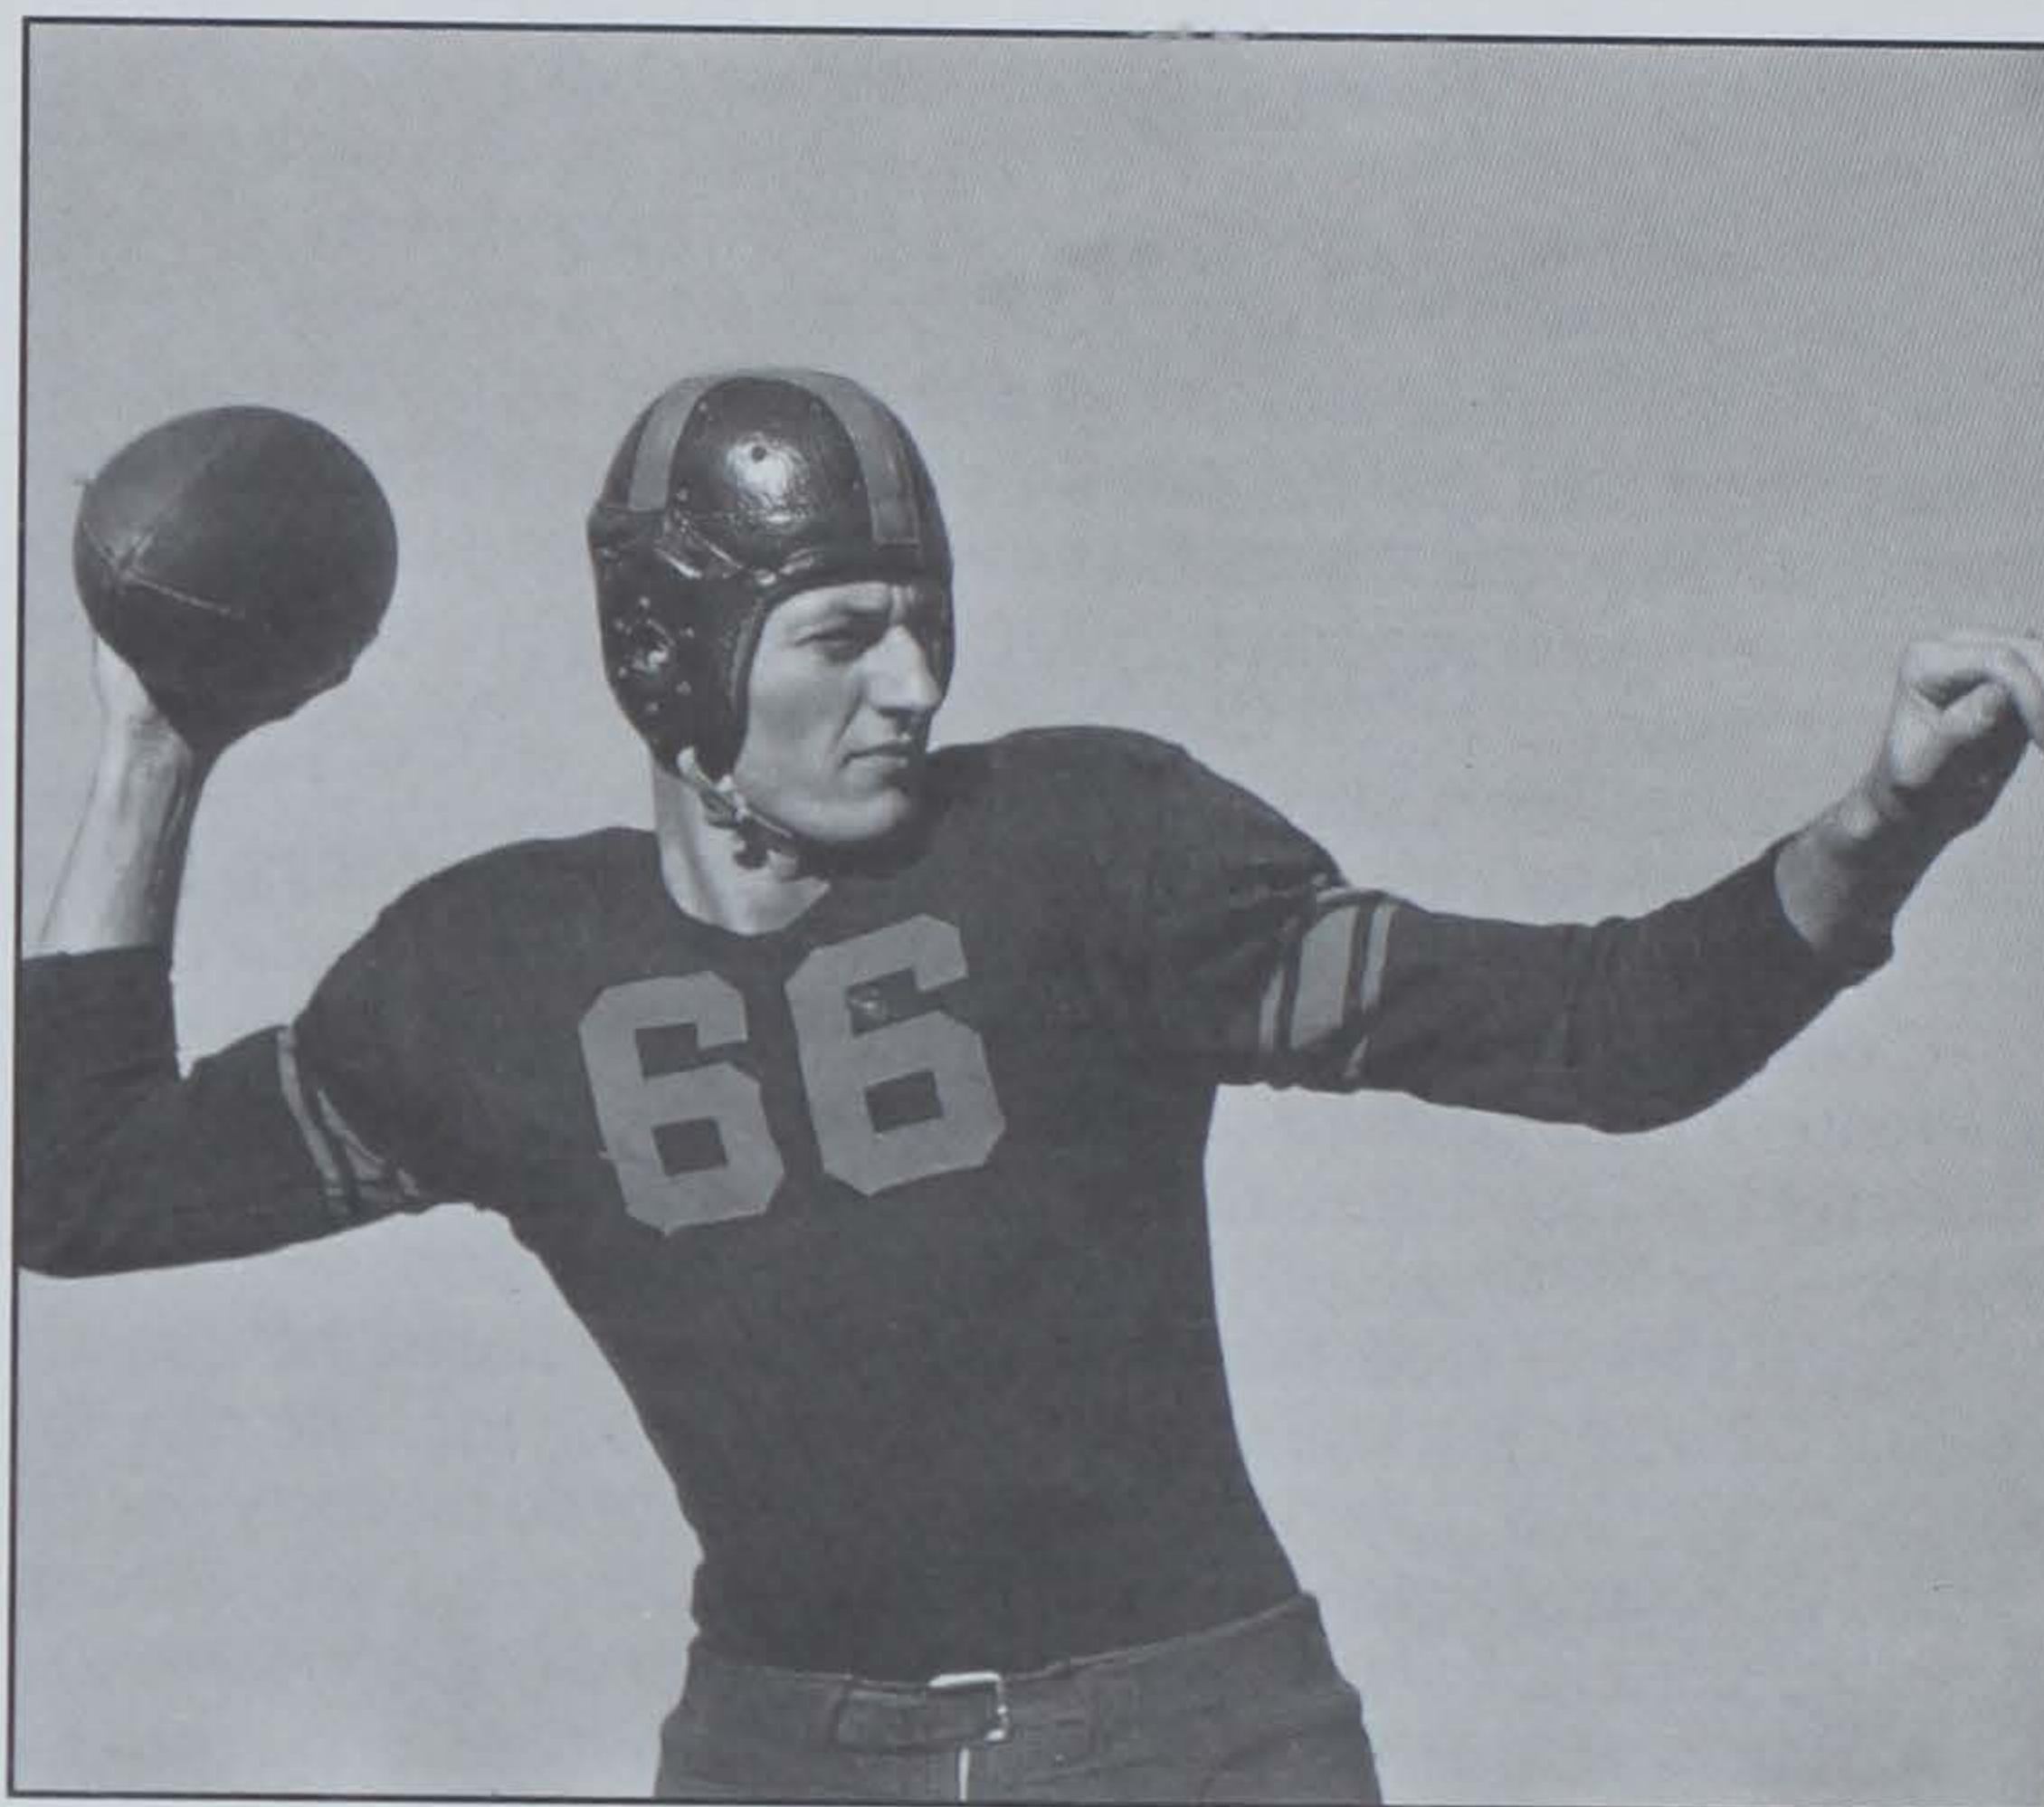

A 51-yard punt by McFadden started Boston College at its 20. The Eagles fumbled on first down and Clemson's George Fritts recovered at the 24. The Tigers could do nothing with the gift, however, as Joe Blalock fumbled after a short pass.

The game turned into a defensive struggle in the second half, although Boston College did penetrate deep into Clemson territory on two occasions. The Eagles took the opening kickoff to the Clemson 19, but a holding penalty and an incomplete pass ended the threat and BC was forced to punt.

Timmons rushed for 115 yards and the game's only touchdown.

1940 Cotton Bowl

McFadden averaged 45 yards a punt, had four pass deflections and quarterbacked the Tigers in their first bowl game.

Late in the game, the Eagles drove to the Clemson 11, but Bryant and McFadden each broke up two passes and Clemson took over on downs.

McFadden effectively bottled up the Eagles other than those drives with his punting. His 45-yard average on nine kicks, including two boots for 51 and 55 yards in the second half, prevented Boston College from getting good field position, and the Clemson defense made the 6-3 score stand.

1949 Gator Bowl

Missouri 23

Clemson opened the 1948 season with a 53-0 shutout of Presbyterian in the Tigers' first-ever night home game and they closed the regular season with a 20-0 blanking of The Citadel in the first game played at the Bulldogs' Johnson Hagood Stadium. In between, the Tigers shut out three more opponents and beat five others on the way to a 10-0 record, a ninth-place ranking in the polls, and an invitation to play Missouri in the fourth Gator Bowl.

Clemson kicked off, but three plays later Missouri fumbled and Clemson's Bob Martin recovered at the 19. A pass interference call gave the Tigers the ball at the one, and Fred Cone scored from there. Jack Miller added the point after and Clemson led, 7-0.

Ray Mathews recovered a Missouri fumble later in the quarter to give Clemson the ball at its 35. Mathews took the next play for 26 yards and five plays later Bobby Gage passed to Martin for 19 more. Cone scored for the second time from the one, and Miller's conversion gave the Southern Conference champs a 14-0 lead.

After a kickoff, Missouri launched an 80-yard drive to score its first touchdown. Harold Entsminger capped the 13-play march with a quarterback sneak from the two. Robertson Dawson added the seventh point.

Gage was intercepted on the next Clemson drive and Wilbur Volz returned the theft to the Missouri 46. Missouri kept the ball on the ground and Entsminger carried over from the one for the score. Dawson added his second point after and the game was tied up at 14.

Clemson took the second-half kickoff and used up six minutes of clock on the way to its third touchdown. Gage ran and passed for 19 yards on two separate plays and the Tigers scored on a flea-flicker pass from Cone to Gage to John Poulos in the end zone. Miller completed the 80-yard drive with his third PAT.

A Missouri punt rolled dead at the Clemson one, and after an incomplete pass, Gage threw a pass that hit the ground in the end zone and was ruled a safety. Clemson's lead was then cut to 21-16.

Clemson then launched a 11-play surge to the Missouri 12. With fourth-and-10, Miller kicked a 32-yard field goal that would prove to be the winning points.

Dave Ashley returned the kickoff to the Missouri 40, and seven plays later, halfback Richard Braznell passed to Kenneth Bounds for a 20-yard touchdown. Dawson added the point to bring Clemson concluded its first perfect season under Frank Howard in a battle between two balanced offenses. Fred Cone and Ray Mathews combined for 155 yards and two TDs in a game in which both teams gained exactly 298 yards total offense.

John Poulos caught a nine-yard TD pass from Bobby Gage, Clemson's only TD of the second half.

Jack Miller won the 1949 Gator Bowl with this 32-yard field goal, his only field goal of the 1948 season.

Rarely does a safety win a game, but it happened in the 1951 Orange Bowl. Sterling Smith of Clemson won the game on defense, while Billy Hair hit 9-16 passes for 178 yards to lead the offense.

Miami (FL) 14

Clemson's bid for a repeat of the 1948 perfect season ended when the Tigers had to rely on the toe of Charlie Radcliff to tie South Carolina after three season-opening shutouts. Clemson regrouped, however, with a 13-12 win at Wake Forest and then won the remaining four games by convincing margins. The Tigers' 8-0-1 mark and second-place finish in the Southern Conference earned them a bid to play Miami, who was also undefeated at 9-0-1, in the 17th Orange Bowl.

After a scoreless first quarter, Clemson got on track with a 45-yard pass from Billy Hair to Bob Hudson that put the Tigers at the Miami one. Fred Cone capped the 76-yard drive on third down with a sweep for the score and Radcliff tacked on the extra point.

Clemson mounted a six-play, 70-yard drive in the third quarter for its second touchdown. Hair threw a 31-yard pass to Ray Mathews, who, as the papers said, "made a circus catch with two men on his back" to move the Tigers to the Miami 28. Hair tossed a pass to Glenn Smith at the Miami seven and Smith scrambled in for the score. Radcliff's extra point try was blocked.

Miami caught fire two minutes later when Jack Delbello intercepted a pass in the Clemson end zone and returned it to the 40, and then a 10-yard penalty was assessed the Tigers for unnecessary roughness. On the next play, Frank Smith ran a reverse for 45 yards to move to the Clemson five. Harry Mallios took a pitch from quarterback Bob Schneidenbach in for the score and Gordon Watson added the conversion.

Miami went 95 yards in five plays for its second score. Ed Lutes caught a pass at midfield and rambled down to the Clemson 17 before he was stopped. On fourth down, Jack Hackett threw to Frank Smith for the score and Watson's point put Miami in the lead for the first time, 14-13.

1951 Orange Bowl

Mallios' 80-yard punt return was called back and two clipping infractions and one unnecessary roughness penalty put Miami in a deep hole with six minutes left in the game. Frank Smith took a pitch-out from Hackett, but before Smith could get out of the end zone, Sterling Smith, a second-team defensive guard for Clemson, tripped him up for a safety, and Clemson led 15-14. Don Wade ended the last Miami threat with an interception, his second of the game, and Clemson ran out the clock for the win.

Sterling Smith's timely tackle of Miami's Frank Smith saved the day for Clemson as the Tigers won a bowl game for the third straight time.

1952 Gator Bowl

Clemson 0

Clemson won the first three games of the 1951 season as well as the last four. In between, however, the Tigers dropped games to Pacific and South Carolina on the road. The Gator Bowl Committee invited Clemson with its 7-2 record to play Miami (FL) in a rematch of the 1951 Orange Bowl, but the Southern Conference had decided to ban its teams from any bowl competition that season. Clemson and Maryland accepted bowl bids anyway, and were prohibited from playing any other conference team except each other the next year.

The Tigers opened the game with a bang as Billy Hair took Elmer Tremont's kickoff and returned it 72 yards to the Miami 26, but Clemson could only make six yards in four downs and the Tigers turned the ball over.

After an exchange of punts, Miami mounted an 82-yard drive to score the game's first touchdown. The drive was highlighted by quarterback Jack Hackett's only two passes of the game - a 15-yarder to Frank McDonald and a 40-yard throw to Ed Lutes. Two plays later, fullback Harry Mallios took the pitch and ran 11 yards for the score. Tremont added the extra point and Miami led, 7-0.

Miami defensive back Jim Dooley intercepted the first of four passes to kill the Clemson drive at the Miami 15. Clemson got the ball back after a punt, but on fourth down, defensive end Leo Martin blocked Hair's punt at the Clemson 32. Mallios converted twice on fourth down to keep the drive going, and he scored from two yards out. Tremont converted again and Miami had all the points it needed.

The Clemson defense turned stingy in the second half, as the Tigers did not allow Miami to penetrate their 35 and the Hurricanes did not gain another first down. The Clemson offense moved well, but a fumble at the Miami 18 and three Dooley interceptions inside the 20 kept Clemson off the scoreboard as Miami handed the Tigers their first bowl loss in four tries.

Miami defensive back Jim Dooley intercepted four passes, still a record for a Clemson opponent, in Miami's win in Jacksonville. Three of the thefts were inside the Miami 20, contributing to the Hurricane shutout.

Billy Hair (from two vantage points on the same play) runs around right end vs. Miami in 1952 Gator Bowl. He took the opening kickoff 72 yards for Clemson, but the Tigers were shut down.

With Clemson trailing 20-0 at the half, Frank Howard threatened to quit if his team did not improve. The Tigers stormed back to take a 21-20 lead in the fourth, only to see the Buffs score with 7:13 to go to win the game.

Colorado 27
Clemson 21

Clemson claimed its first Atlantic Coast Conference championship in 1956 on the strength of a 4-0-1 league mark. The Tigers were 7-1-2 overall and were a surprise choice to participate in the 22nd Orange Bowl, as only three weeks before their selection, the Tigers had been shut out by Miami, 21-0, in the same stadium. Colorado, which was 7-2-1 and the Big-Seven runnerup, was chosen as Clemson's opponent.

After a scoreless first quarter, Colorado got on track with a seven-play, 75-yard drive. The Buffaloes' catalyst was a 26-yard run by Bob Stransky that moved the ball to the Clemson 23. Four plays later, John "The Beast" Bayuk scored from the two. Ellwin Indorf added the point after.

Stransky intercepted an errant Charlie Bussey pass at the Clemson 46 and returned it to the 10 to spark Colorado's second score. Boyd Dowler, who later starred with the Packers, scored from six yards out two plays later. Howard Cook added the conversion and Colorado led 14-0.

Colorado's Frank Clarke partially blocked Horace Turbeville's punt on the next Clemson drive and the Buffaloes recovered on the Clemson 26. Cook then went wide right and scored on the next play, but he missed the extra point.

Clemson came out of the locker room and marched 69 yards in 15 plays to score on Joel Wells's three-yard run. Bussey's extra point try was good.

After a Colorado punt, Clemson moved to the 29 on Bob Spooner's two runs. Three plays later, Wells ran 58 yards on a counter trap off the belly series for the Tigers' second score. Bussey's point after made the score 20-14 Colorado.

Clemson recovered the onside kick, but the Tigers were forced to punt four plays later. Colorado then fumbled at its 11 and Tommy Sease recovered for the Tigers at the 10. Spooner, who had been the workhorse on the first scoring drive, carried the ball over from the one, and with Bussey's third extra point, Clemson led for the first time at 21-20, with 11:22 to go.

Although leading, Bussey attempted a second onside kick. Colorado recovered and marched 53 yards in eight plays to go ahead for good on Bayuk's one-yard plunge. Indorf kicked the extra point and the Buffaloes led, 27-21. The two teams traded turnovers, and Colorado ran out the clock.

Frank Howard's threatened resignation during intermission inspired Clemson's comeback in the second half.

"I told them I was going to resign if they didn't play better in the second half. I told them I didn't want to be associated with any team that played like they did in the first half."

When Howard met Dal Ward, Colorado's Head Coach, at midfield, Ward asked him what was the matter with his team. Howard replied "I just don't know."

Later Howard explained that the Tigers just refused to block in the first half, but in the second half they got down to business. He had words of praise for John Bayuk, Colorado's big fullback, and said he was as good as any fullback that Clemson had faced all year.

1959 Sugar Bowl

Clemson 0

South Carolina, who had been shut out by Clemson the previous two years, scored 20 second half points to take a 26-6 win over Frank Howard's 1958 team. The only other blemish on the ACC Champions' 8-2 regular season record was a 13-0 loss at Georgia Tech. For their efforts, the Tigers were invited to play the nation's number-one team, Louisiana State, in the 25th Sugar Bowl.

LSU drove deep into Clemson territory three times in the first half, but two fumbles and a thwarted fake field goal killed the drives. Clemson could do no better, though, as none of its first six drives went past midfield.

Clemson moved to the LSU 27 on its first drive of the second half, but a fumble gave the ball back to the other set of Tigers. On Clemson's next possession, however, LSU got the break it had been looking for. On fourth down, the ball slipped out of snapper Paul Snyder's hands and hit up-man Doug Cline in the leg and Duane Leopard recovered for LSU at the Clemson 11.

LSU picked up two yards on its first three tries, but on fourth down halfback Billy Cannon hit tight end Mickey Mangham in the corner of the end zone for the only score of the game. Cannon kicked the extra point and LSU led 7-0.

Clemson had one last chance late in the fourth quarter. The Tigers started at their 17 and 17 plays later were on the LSU 28, but Harvey White's fourth-down pass to George Usry was incomplete. LSU took over on downs and ran out the clock.

In his usual relaxed way, Coach Frank Howard of Clemson said he was well pleased with his team.

"Hell! I think we'd have beat them if that boy had held onto that little screen pass," Howard said. "I was going for those two points and beat them."

Other than not winning, he said, "I was pretty well pleased with my team."

Howard paid special tribute to Bo Strange.

"I didn't think we would hold them to one touchdown, but I didn't think they would shut us out, either."

"LSU has a good team, they rate the No. 1 spot in the nation.

"Cannon is quite a boy. Deserves his All-American rating."

"It was a wonderful victory. They're just as fine when you win 'em, 7-0 as 30-0. I'm very happy that we won," said LSU Coach Paul Dietzel.

"That was a perfect strike Cannon threw on that pass for the touchdown.

"Losing Rabb hurt us in this respect. He had been working with the White backfield all season, but Durel Matherne, our No. 2 quarterback, did a fine job, though, both on offense and defense.

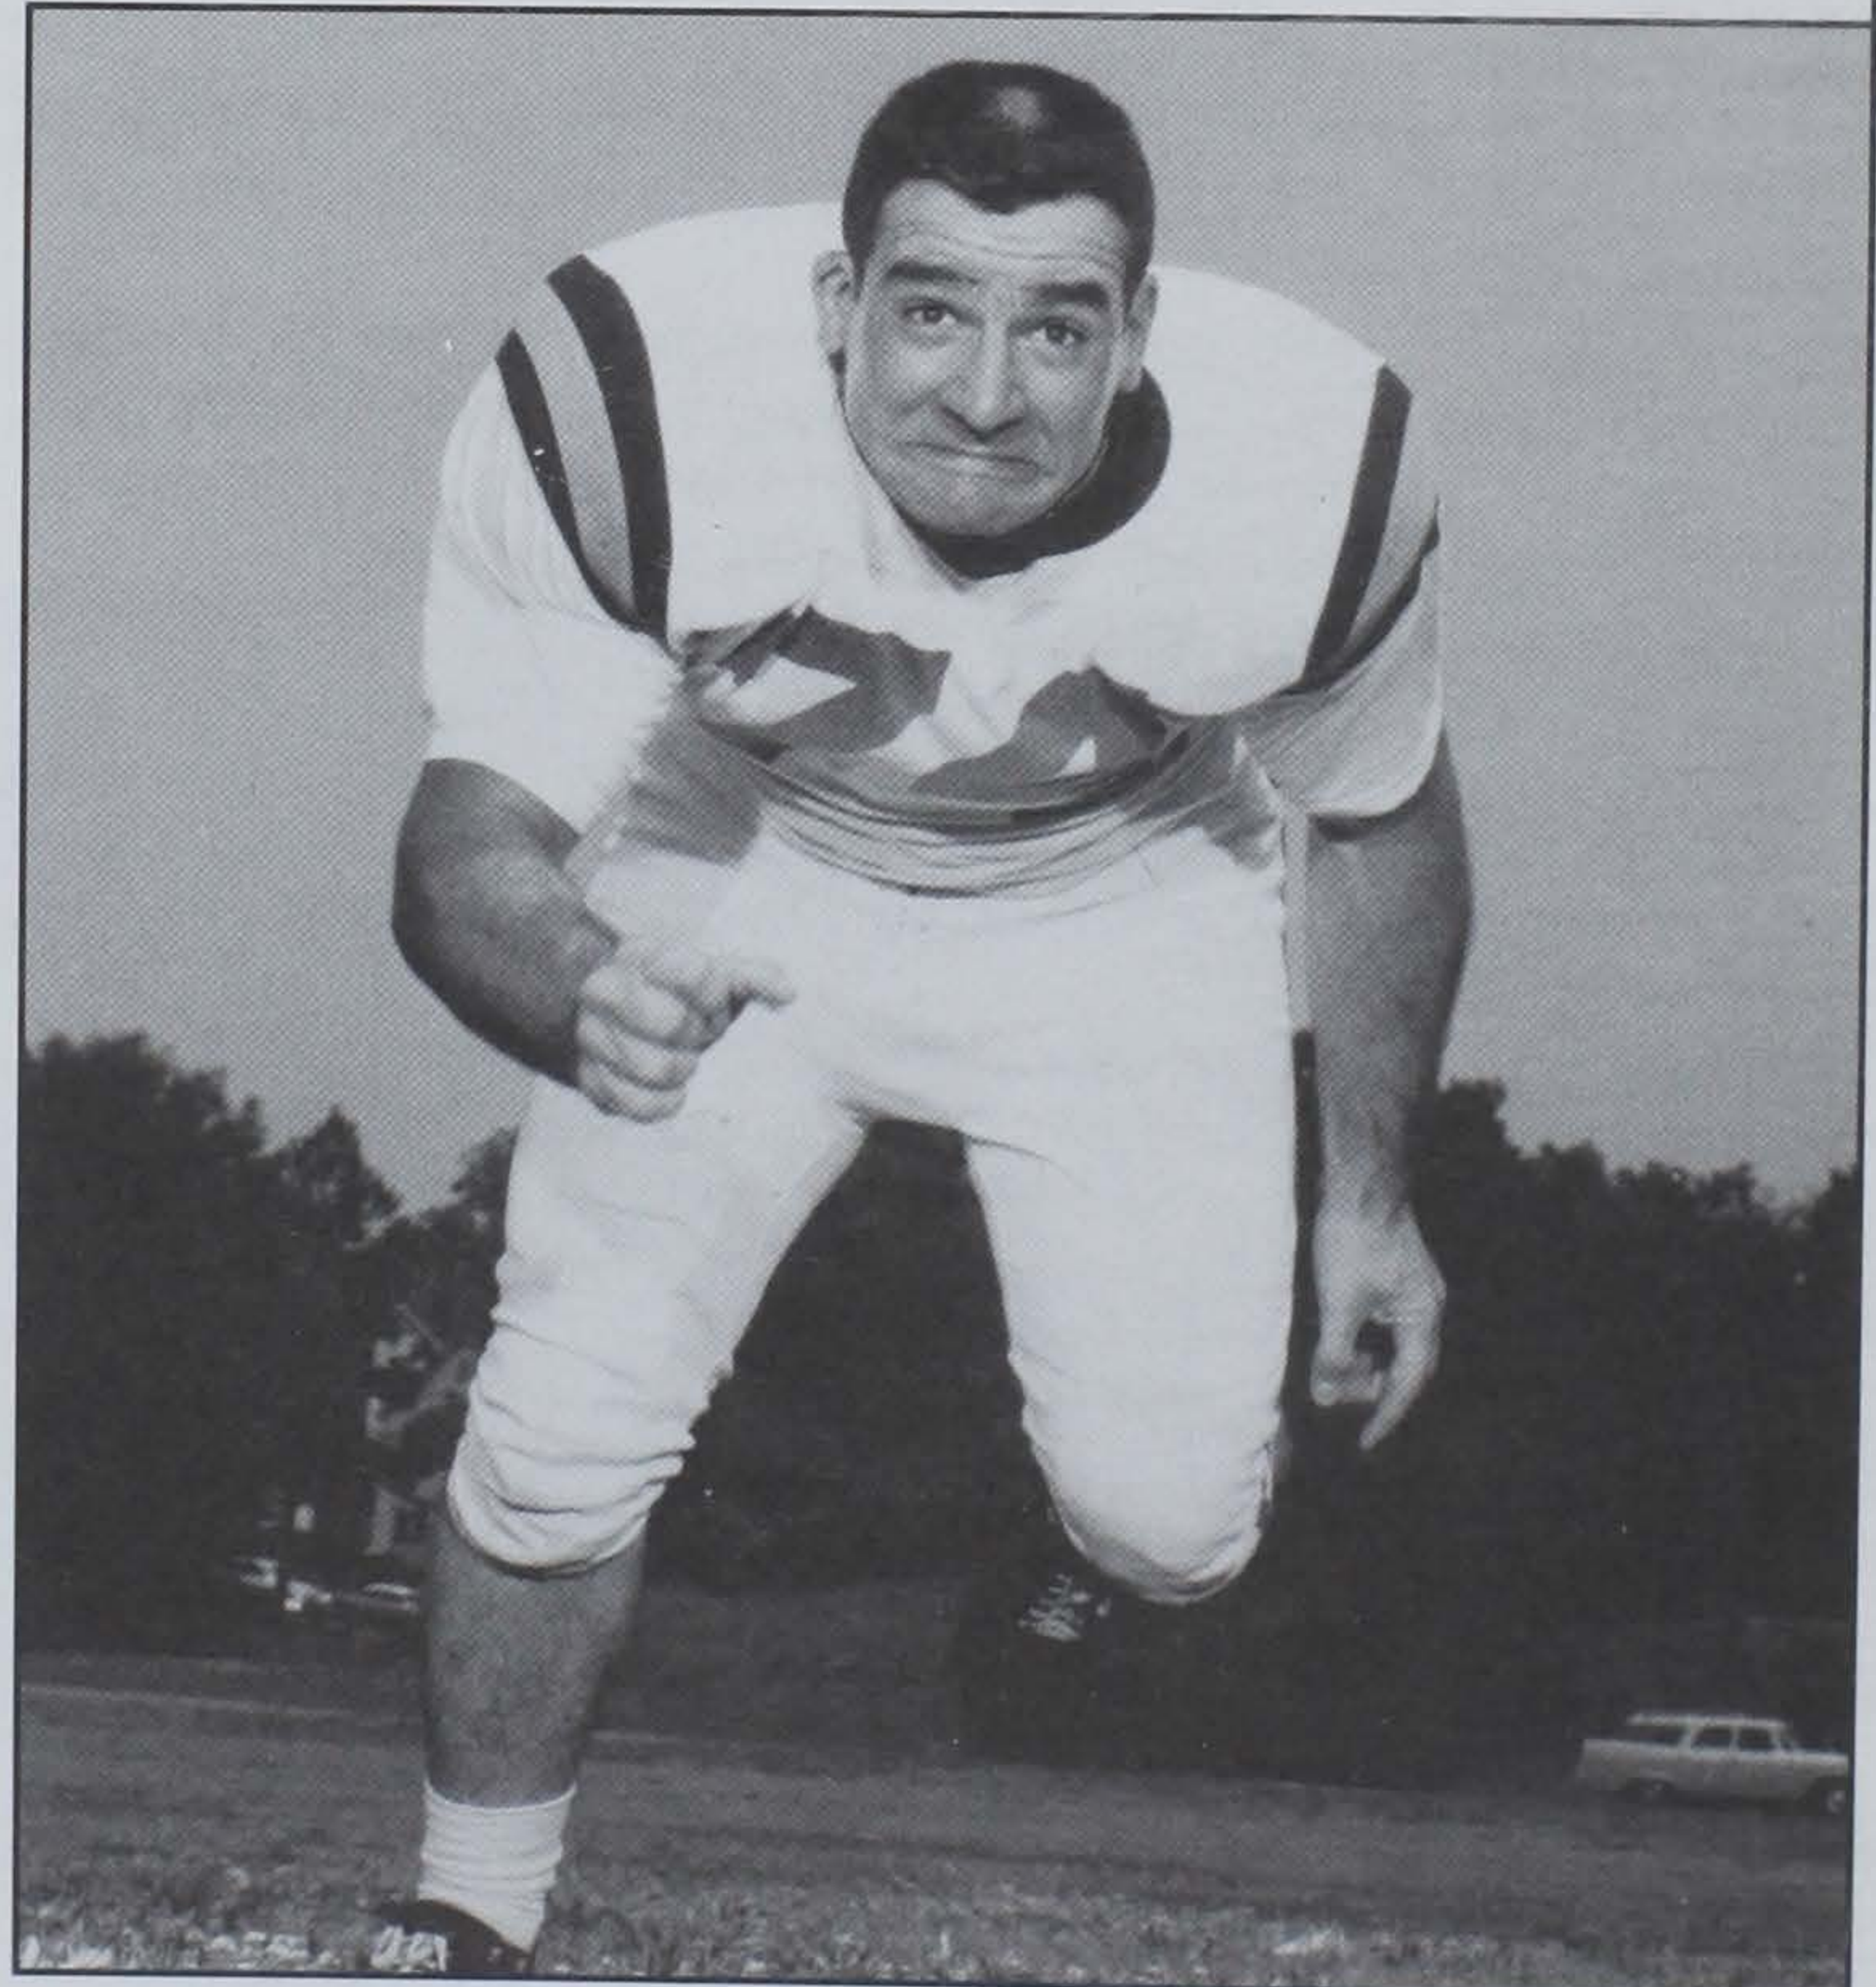

"Clemson proved tougher than most people figured. But we knew we would have to play at our top peak to beat them. They were a good team."

LSU clinched the national championship with a 7-0 victory over Clemson. A fourth-down halfback option pass from Heisman Trophy winner Billy Cannon did in the Tigers, who were considerable underdogs heading into the game. Seldom has Clemson gained so much respect from a loss.

Lou Cordileone and his abandoned style led a Clemson defense that held #1 ranked Louisiana State and Heisman Trophy winner Billy Cannon to just 182 total yards.

Clemson hit the 300-mark in terms of victories with the 23-7 win in the first Bluebonnet Bowl. Clemson had to score 20 points in the final period to erase a 7-3 lead by TCU.

TCU 7

The 1959 season was one of firsts, lasts, and other milestones. Clemson won the last "Big Thursday" game with archrival South Carolina, 27-0, one of five opponents the Tigers would whitewash, the second-highest shutout total in a Clemson season. The 9-2 team was Clemson's third ACC Championship unit, and Frank Howard's last bowl team. After the season-ending win over Furman, Clemson was invited to play Texas Christian in the inaugural Bluebonnet Bowl, which would be the Tigers' second post-season appearance in the calendar year of 1959. The 23-7 win over the Horned Frogs was Clemson's 300th football victory.

Alternate quarterback Lowndes Shingler guided Clemson on a 12-play, 63-yard drive to the TCU five, but the Tigers stalled. Lon Armstrong hit on a 22-yard field goal as the second quarter started, to put Clemson up, 3-0.

Not to be outdone, TCU second-stringer Donald George moved his team on a 12-play, 63-yard drive to the Clemson end zone. The Horned Frogs scored the go-ahead touchdown on a 19-yard halfback pass from Jack Reding to Harry Moreland.

Neither team scored in the third quarter, but Clemson did drive to the TCU 29 midway through the period. Harvey White's fourth-down pass to George Usry was just one yard short of the needed first down and TCU took over.

Clemson got pass-happy in the final 15 minutes and scored two touchdowns to put the Tigers ahead. With a third-and-18 situation at the Clemson 32, White threw to end Gary Barnes who caught the ball at midfield and sprinted in for a score. After an interception, Shingler threw to Tommy King coming across the middle for a 23-yard touchdown, but Shingler's point after was wide, and Clemson led, 16-7.

Clemson returned to its running game for its final scoring drive late in the quarter. Shingler, Doug Daigneault, and Ron Scrudato moved the Tigers from their 37 to the TCU one and Scrudato ran off right tackle for the score. Armstrong's kick put the game out of TCU's reach and it capped a 20-point fourth quarter for the Tigers.

Clemson resurfaced in the national spotlight in 1977 after winning eight games and making its first bowl appearance in 18 years. First-year coach Charley Pell guided his team to a 7-6 win at Georgia, a near-upset of eventual National Champion Notre Dame at home, and had come within an extra point of claiming the ACC Championship. After Jerry Butler's twisting, diving catch in the end zone beat South Carolina, Clemson accepted the invitation to play defending National Champion Pittsburgh in the 33rd annual Gator Bowl.

Clemson won the opening coin toss, but that was to be the only thing the Tigers would win that night as the Matt Cavanaugh-led Panthers scored six of the 12 times they had the ball, set seven Gator Bowl records, and handed the Tigers one of their 25 worst defeats in history with a 34-3 score.

Cavanaugh threw four touchdown passes (three to fullback Elliott Walker), passed for a Clemson opponent record 387 yards and accounted for 402 yards in total offense. Pitt set a Gator team record for passing yards and first downs, while Cavanaugh set the individual mark for passing yardage. If that was not enough, the Pitt defense stymied the Clemson offense all night by keeping Steve Fuller & Company bottled up or causing turnovers when the Tigers' offense did get on track.

Pitt was leading 17-0 when the Tigers began their only scoring drive early in the second quarter. Fuller mixed passes to Anthony King and Butler with runs by Ken Callicutt to move to the Pitt 32. The drive bogged down and Obed Ariri hit on a 49-yard field goal which set the Gator Bowl record for distance.

Matt Cavanaugh passed for 387 yards, still the best performance ever against Clemson, in a bowl game in Pittsburgh's victory. It was Clemson's first bowl game in 18 years. Randy Scott and Mark Heniford had 13 stops apiece for Clemson's defense.

Although the Tigers were out-classed by Pittsburgh, the 1977 appearance in the Gator Bowl was the start of a new era of football pride for Clemson.

Ariri set the Gator Bowl field goal record, but it was the only bright spot for the Tigers.

Danny Ford won his first game as a head coach and Woody Hayes lost his last contest in Clemson's 17-15 win. Cliff Austin, a freshman who had scored just three TDs all year, scored the game winner for the Tigers.

Ohio State 15

The Clemson team of 1978 was notable for many reasons, and not the least of which was a 17-15 victory over Ohio State in the Gator Bowl. The '78 team won 11 games (eight by convincing margins), had the nation's longest winning streak after the bowl game, changed head coaches 19 days before the Gator Bowl, and ended the coaching career of Woody Hayes.

The first quarter of new Clemson coach Danny Ford's first game was scoreless, although Ohio State had been stopped at the Clemson one-yard line on a fourth-down play.

The second quarter was unusual in that there were four possessions in the stanza and each team scored twice. Ohio State drove to the Clemson nine on the passing of Art Schlichter, but the Buckeyes had to settle for Bob Atha's 27-yard field goal.

Clemson quarterback Steve Fuller engineered an impressive 80-yard, 15-play drive after the kickoff. Staying mostly on the ground, Fuller himself ran around left end from four yards out to give Clemson the lead. Obed Ariri's point after made the score 7-3.

Schlichter duplicated Fuller's feat nine plays later, but Clemson right end Steve Gibbs blocked Vlade Janakiewski's extra point try, leaving Ohio State in the lead, 9-7.

Clemson got the ball back with 1:15 remaining in the quarter and Fuller passed his way to the Buckeye 30. With only five seconds left, Ariri hit a 47-yard field goal that gave the Tigers a 10-9 lead at halftime.

Clemson scored the only points of the third quarter as the running combination of Fuller, Marvin Sims, and Warren Ratchford ground out 83 yards in 18 plays. Cliff Austin went the final yard for the score, and Ariri's conversion gave Clemson a 17-9 cushion.

With 8:11 left in the game, Schlichter scored his second touchdown to bring Ohio State within two points. Jim Stuckey tackled Schlichter on a sweep to prevent the two-point play, and Clemson still led at 17-15.

Ohio State mounted one final drive. Faced with third-and-five at the Clemson 24, an interception by second-team middle guard Charlie Bauman (the only theft of his four-year career) killed the drive. Bauman was run out-of-bounds on the Ohio State sideline, and Buckeye coach Woody Hayes swung at the Clemson player. Consecutive unsportsmanlike conduct penalties gave Clemson excellent field position, and Fuller was able to run out the clock, giving Clemson its first win over a Big Ten team.

Clemson made its third consecutive bowl appearance in 1979 after an 8-3 season. The year included a 19-10 win over Gator Bowl-bound North Carolina and a dramatic, come-from-behind 16-10 victory at Notre Dame. The 1979 season was also Danny Ford's first full campaign as head coach.

The Tigers got on the board first with an eight-play, 66-yard drive highlighted by Billy Lott's 27-yard pass to Lester Brown. Brown scored two plays later on a one-yard dive over the middle and Obed Ariri's point after made the score 7-0 midway through the first period.

Baylor took the lead on two second-quarter touchdown passes from Mike Brannon to Bo Taylor and Robert Holt. Robert Bledsoe converted after both scores and the Southwest Conference representatives led 14-7 at intermission.

Clemson took the second half kickoff and a combination of runs by Lott, Brown, and Tracy Perry took the Tigers to the Baylor 22. The drive stalled there and Ariri's 40-yard field goal narrowed the margin to 14-10.

Quarterback Mickey Elam led Baylor on a 64-yard field goal drive after the kickoff, and he later threw a seven-yard touchdown to Raymond Cockrell to push the Bears' lead to 24-10.

Mike Singletary (future All-Pro with the Chicago Bears), led the Baylor defense with 20 tackles. He was a major reason Clemson gained a season low 67 yards rushing in 51 attempts.

Andy Headen began Clemson's furious comeback with a blocked punt that was recovered by James Robinson at the Baylor one. Chuck McSwain scored with 20 seconds left in the game and Lott passed to Jeff McCall for the two-point conversion. Headen recovered the ensuing onside kick, and Lott completed a 30-yard pass to Perry Tuttle to move the Tigers to the Baylor 33. An interception killed the winning touchdown drive, however, and Baylor ran out the remaining seconds for the win.

Despite this direct hit by Mike Singletary, Lester Brown scored from a yard out to give Clemson a 7-0 first quarter lead.

Clemson claimed its first ever national title in any sport with a 22-15 win over Nebraska. Homer Jordan was the offensive MVP, while Jeff Davis, playing in his final game at Clemson, was the defensive MVP.

Nebraska 15

After 86 years of playing football, Clemson claimed its first National Championship with a 22-15 win over perennial Big Eight power Nebraska in the 48th Orange Bowl. After a 13-3 win over 1980 National Champion Georgia at home, the Tigers worked their way to the number-one ranking in both wire service polls by season's end. The win over the Cornhuskers gave Clemson the national title and its third perfect season in history.

Nebraska took the kickoff, but three plays later, Tiger middle guard William Devane recovered a Mark Mauer fumble at the Nebraska 33. Quarterback Homer Jordan drove Clemson to the Nebraska 27 before the drive stalled, and Donald Igwebuike drilled a 41-yard field goal to put the ACC Champions up, 3-0.

Nebraska came right back, however, as the Big Eight title holder drove 69 yards in eight plays to score on a 25-yard halfback pass from Mike Rozier to Anthony Steels. Kevin Seibel's extra point gave Nebraska the lead at 7-3 with 6:43 to go in the first quarter.

After an exchange of punts, the Clemson offense moved from the Nebraska 42 to the 21 to set up Igwebuike's second field goal. The 37-yard boot narrowed the score to 7-6.

A second-quarter Phil Bates fumble gave Clemson the ball at the Nebraska 27, and the running combination of Jordan, Kevin Mack, and Cliff Austin moved the ball to the Cornhusker two. Austin, who had been stuck in the hotel elevator for two hours earlier in the day, scampered in for the score that gave Clemson a lead it would not relinquish.

On its second possession of the second half, Clemson drove 75 yards in 12 plays to score its final touchdown of the night, a 13-yard pass from Jordan to All-American receiver Perry Tuttle in the corner of the end zone. For Tuttle, it was his eighth touchdown grab of the season, which set a school record. Bob Paulling's extra point put the Tigers ahead, 19-7.

After Billy Davis's 47-yard punt return, Jordan moved the Tigers to the Nebraska 20, where Igwebuike kicked a 36-yard field goal, his third of the evening, to put Clemson ahead 22-7 with two-and-a-half minutes left in the third stanza.

Nebraska was down but not out, though. After a near-interception by Johnny Rembert, Mauer engineered an eight-play, 69-yard drive that was capped by a 26-yard run by Roger Craig. After a penalty, Craig ran in the two-point conversion from eight yards out to close the gap to 22-15 with nine minutes to play.

The Clemson defense shut down the Big Red on their final drive and the Clemson offense held on to the ball for nearly five-and-a-half minutes to run down the clock to six seconds. Andy Headen deflected Mauer's desperation pass to preserve the win and the championship for Clemson.

Clemson met a Big 10 school for only the second time in history when it faced Minnesota in the Independence Bowl. It was an interesting matchup of teams that enjoyed moving the ball on the ground, as both clubs gained over 200 rushing yards in the contest. The team with the higher rushing total prevailed, a fact that was easily predictable, as the Gophers churned out 257 yards rushing in a 20-13 Minnesota win.

Clemson held a 13-10 lead heading into the fourth quarter, but for the fifth time in the last 13 games the Tigers could not hold the fourth-period lead. Valdez Baylor scored on a one-yard run with 4:56 left to give Minnesota a final ledger of 7-5. Clemson mounted a final drive in the last few minutes and advanced to the Minnesota 31, but a fourth-down pass for Ray Williams was overthrown.

Kenny Flowers had another outstanding day for the Tigers with a career high 148 yards, including a 32-yard run. It was his seventh 100-yard day of the year, his sixth century game in the last seven contests. Ray Williams caught five passes for 58 yards, while Terrance Roulhac had 63 yards in receptions and 90 yards in kickoff returns. Another wide receiver, Keith Jennings, scored Clemson's only touchdown when he caught a three-yard pass from Stacey Driver in the third period.

Henry Walls led Clemson defensively with 13 tackles, while A.J. Johnson was outstanding in the secondary with seven stops. Dwayne Meadows established a new career high with 13 stops from his defensive line position.

Stanford	21

Christmas came two days late for the Tigers as they won their first bowl since the 1982 Orange Bowl. After a brilliant first half display of offense and defense, Clemson managed to hold off a second-half Stanford rally and go on to defeat the 17th-ranked Cardinal, 27-21. Before a Gator Bowl crowd of 80,104, the Tigers scored 27 unanswered points in the first half and appeared to be on the way to a rout. But the second half was a different ball game as Stanford came out strong and put up 21 unanswered points of its own.

Gator Bowl MVP Rodney Williams completed 8 of 11 passes in the first half for the Tigers, but it was his execution of the option that helped Clemson gain a 27-0 halftime lead. After punting on their first possession, the Tigers scored on their next five. With the score 17-0 in the second quarter, Reggie Harris knocked the ball loose on a Stanford kickoff return and the Tigers recovered on Stanford's 16-yard line. Two plays later, Ray Williams took a reverse in for a 14 yard touchdown, his first of the season. David Treadwell added his longest field goal of the year on Clemson's next possession, putting the Tigers up 27-0 at the intermission.

But the Cardinal came back from halftime a different team. Kodak All-American tailback Brad Muster rushed for a touchdown and caught two scoring passes while the Clemson offense came to a standstill. With 1:43 left to play in the game Clemson was forced to punt to the Cardinal with only a touchdown's lead. But the Tiger defense rose to the occasion, as Stanford gained only six yards on the next four downs. The offense fell on the ball to run the clock out and the Tigers emerged victorious.

1986 Gator Bowl

Tailbacks Terrence Flagler and Kenny Flowers combined for 149 yards. Sophomore Ricardo Hooper led the receiving corps with two catches for 44 yards. Terrance Roulhac and Flagler each had three catches with 22 and 23 yards, respectively. Rodney Williams rushed 16 times for 18 yards and one touchdown.

Defensively, the Tigers were led by linebacker Henry Carter who recorded a career high 13 tackles. Gene Beasley added seven tackles and broke up two passes. The game also marked Michael Dean Perry's offensive debut, as he was put in as a blocking back on a goal-line situation in the first half.

1988 Citrus Bowl

Penn State 10

Everything went the Tigers way in sunny Florida as Clemson soundly defeated Joe Paterno's Penn State team, 35-10. Rodney Williams was selected the Citrus Bowl's Most Valuable Player as he led the Tigers in a brilliant air attack that took the Nittany Lions by complete surprise, and complemented it with a solid ground game,

The win was Danny Ford's fourth bowl victory in only nine seasons as Clemson's head coach. It also marked Rodney Williams' second bowl victory in his three-year playing career at Clemson and the second consecutive year that he was named the MVP of a postseason bowl. In 1986, Williams won the honor as the Tigers defeated Stanford in the Gator Bowl.

Williams, who was also named the Offensive Player-of-the-Game, completed 14 of 24 passes for 214 yards. His primary target was wide receiver Keith Jennings who hauled in seven passes for 110 yards, his best career performance. Gary Cooper also had four receptions for 56 yards against Penn State.

The Tigers rushed for 285 yards against Penn State. Terry Allen was the leading rusher with 105 yards and one touchdown. Fullback Tracy Johnson ran for 88 yards and three touchdowns. Joe Henderson added 54 yards and another touchdown.

Defensively, Clemson was led by cornerback James Lott's eight tackles. Safety Richard Smith also had seven tackles and one pass broken up. Strong safety Gene Beasley and linebacker Doug Brewster both had six tackles. Linebacker Dorian Mariable was selected the Citrus Bowl's Defensive Player-of-the-Game with his five tackles, including one for a loss. He also intercepted a pass in the endzone and returned it 46 yards in the third quarter.

Tracy Johnson scored three touchdowns in Clemson's 35-10 win over Penn State, the worst bowl loss in Nittany Lion history.

Clemson downed Oklahoma in a battle of two of the top five winningest active coaches in college football. Jesse Hatcher made his final games as a Tiger memorable with nine tackles, two PBUs, an 18-yard sack, and a caused fumble.

Oklahoma 6

The Tigers rang in the New Year in fine fashion with a 13-6 victory over the Oklahoma Sooners, moving into the top-10 of the final AP poll for the first time since 1982 with a ninth-place ranking. The victory also gave Danny Ford a victory over the winningest active coach in Division I, Barry Switzer. Ford defeated the top-three winningest active coaches this decade with wins over Switzer, Tom Osborne of Nebraska and Joe Paterno of Penn State.

Although the Tigers faced a wishbone offense for the first time since Ford became head coach, the Clemson defense came through with flying colors, holding the Sooners to only 116 yards, and zero touchdowns.

The first five series of the first quarter ended in punts for both teams. Late in the period, the Sooners drove down to the Clemson one-yardline, and the Tigers defense faced a first-and-goal situation. Outside linebacker Levon Kirkland stopped the ballcarrier for no gain on first down. On second down Jesse Hatcher sacked Jamelle Holieway at the 19. After an incomplete pass, the Sooners were forced to settle on a field goal and moved up 3-0.

Doug Brewster intercepted a Holieway pass early in the second quarter to set up the Tigers' first score, a 20-yard field goal by Chris Gardocki. With time running out in the first half, Gardocki put the Tigers up with another kick, this time a 46-yarder.

A Clemson fumble in the third quarter gave the Sooners the opportunity to take the lead, but the Clemson defense held and R.D. Lashar hit again from 30 yards. The Tigers responded on the next series, driving 80 yards in 15 plays for the game's only touchdown, as Terry Allen scored on a four-yard run. Allen, the game's Most Valuable Player, rushed for 25 yards and caught two passes for 17 yards on the drive.

Defensive MVP Jesse Hatcher caused and recovered a fumble on the Sooners' next drive, but the Sooners would have one more opportunity to score before the final horn sounded. After the Tigers punted, Oklahoma drove from its own 20 to the Clemson 14, as Holieway put the Tiger secondary to the test by putting the ball in the air. On the last play of the game, freshman Dexter Davis knocked down a pass in the endzone to seal the Tiger victory.

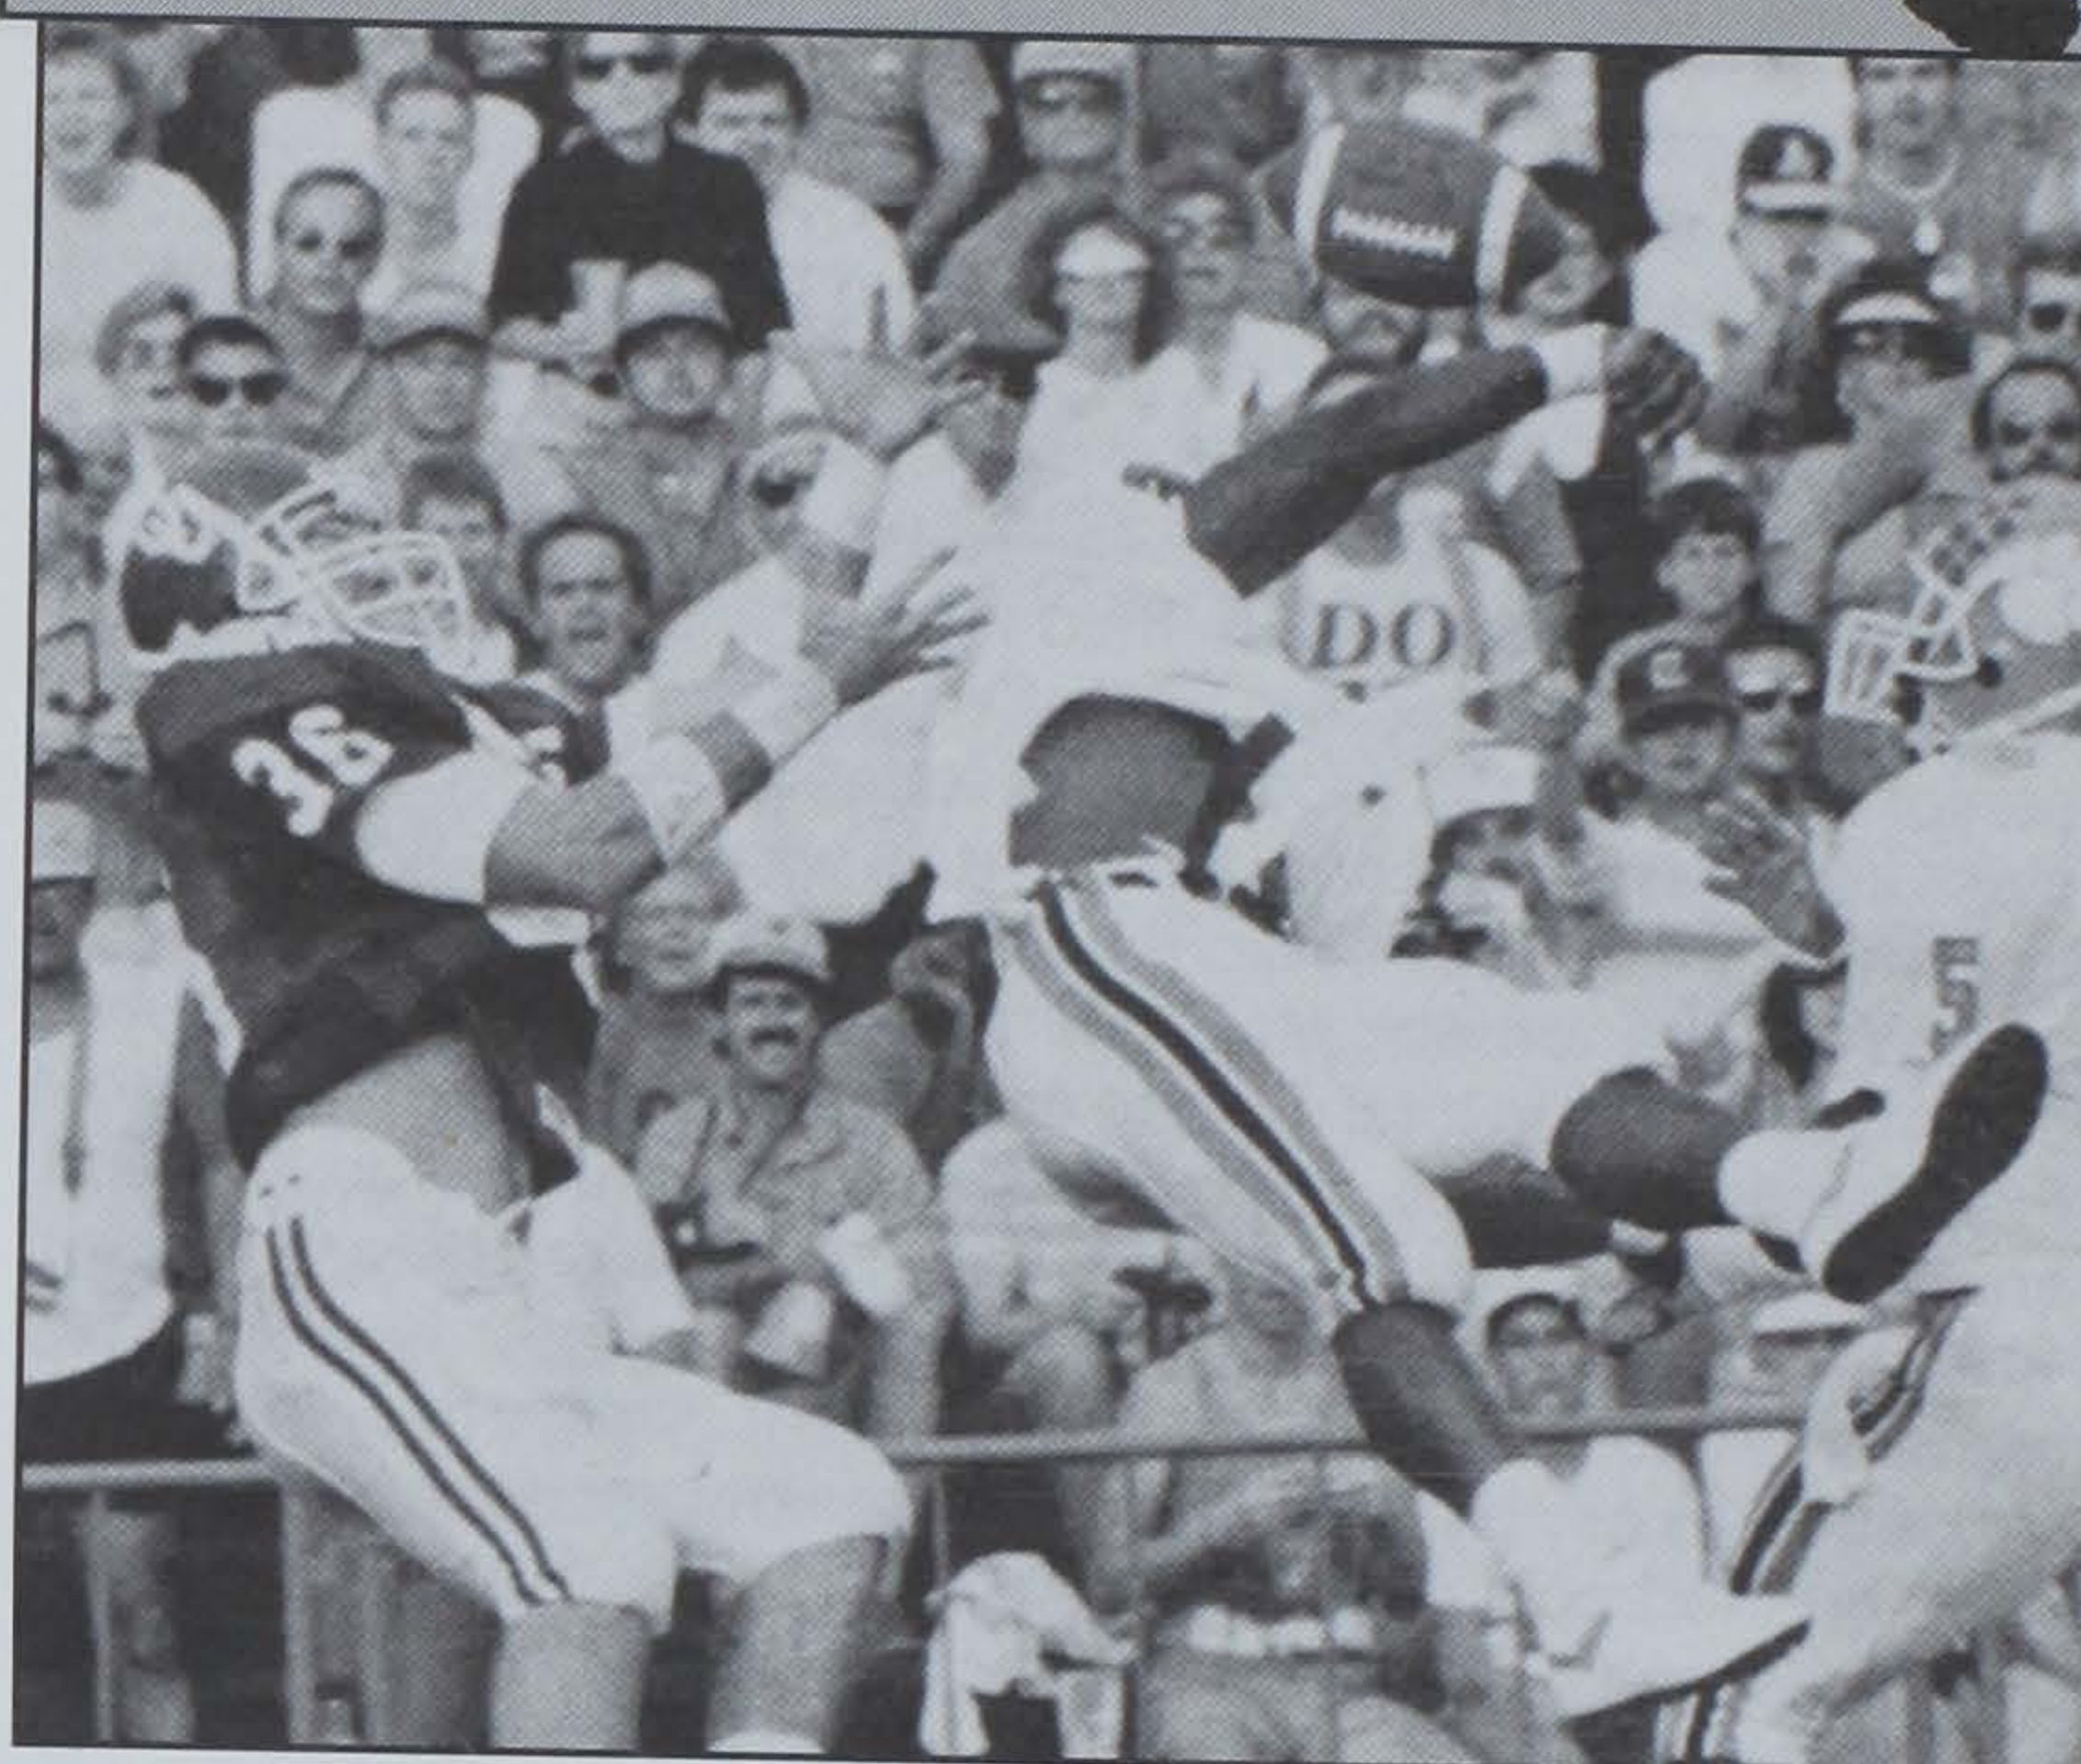

Terry Allen was named the Citrus Bowl MVP for his performance. Allen rushed for only 53 yards, his season low, but scored the game's only touchdown and caught four passes to lead all Clemson receivers. Bandit end Jesse Hatcher was named Defensive MVP for what was his best career performance as he racked up nine tackles, had two tackles for a loss of 33 yards, including an 18-yard sack, broke up two passes, caused and recovered a fumble, and had four quarterback pressures.

1989 Gator Bowl

West Virginia 7

The Tigers closed out the 1989 season with a stylish victory over West Virginia and Heisman Trophy finalist Major Harris, as a dominant Clemson defense held the high-powered Mountaineer offense to only 237 yards in total offense. The win gave Clemson's senior class the ACC record for victories as they became the first class in conference history to record 38 wins and the first Clemson team ever to win four straight bowl games.

WVU quarterback Major Harris came into the game ranked eighth nationally in total offense and ninth in passing efficiency but the Clemson defense, led by outside linebacker Levon Kirkland, enabled the shifty Harris to gain only 17 yards on the ground and 119 yards in the air on an 11-21 passing effort. Kirkland was named MVP for his efforts, as he had nine tackles, a five-yard sack, caused a key fumble, broke up a Mountaineer pass, and recorded three quarterback pressures.

The fourth quarter was all Clemson, as the Tigers moved the ball 47 yards on the ground to set up a four-yard Joe Henderson touchdown. Vince Taylor recovered a second Harris fumble and after a Clemson punt, freshman defensive tackle Chester McGlockton, the ACC sack leader, knocked the ball loose from Harris once again and fell on it in the endzone for a Tiger touchdown, upping the score to 24-7 in favor of Clemson. As the final seconds ticked off the clock, DeChane Cameron came in at quarterback for the Tigers and hit Rodney Fletcher over the middle for a 34-yard gain to set up a 24-yard Gardocki field goal, putting the final score at 27-7.

Senior tailback Joe Henderson led the Tigers in rushing with 92 yards on 22 carries and one touchdown, while Chris Morocco, who was shaken up late in the game, gained 65 yards on 11 carries. Rodney Fletcher was the leading receiver as he pulled down three catches for 66 yards.

Levon Kirkland was the MVP of Clemson's Gator Bowl win over West Virginia.

Clemson allowed Major Harris and West Virginia just 237 yards total offense in a 27-7 victory. Clemson's defense forced three Harris fumbles in the second half, and had four sacks.

Chris Gardocki kept the Tigers in excellent field position as he posted a 46-yard average on four punts, including a long kick of 63 yards. Defensively, inside linebacker Doug Brewster led the team in tackles with 10, followed by Kirkland's nine and strong safety Arlington Nunn and inside linebacker Ed McDaniel, who had seven stops each.

Clemson scored 24 points in the first 21 minutes in registering its largest margin of victory ever in a bowl game. DeChane Cameron hit 14 of 19 passes and Arlington Nunn had his third interception return for a TD in 1990.

Illinois 0

After a separation of 22 years, two coaches found themselves once again on the same football field. This time, however, they were on opposite sidelines. Ken Hatfield and John Mackovic, who had been graduate assistants together at Army in the 1960's, were reunited in the 1991 Hall of Fame Bowl. But this game was much more than a reunion. Both head coaches were looking for a first win over the opposing team and Ken Hatfield was hoping to maintain Clemson's four-game bowl winning streak.

The Clemson defense dominated the line by holding them to 247 yards, 150 yards under their season average. The Clemson offense surprised the Illini defense with an unexpected aerial assault. Tiger quarterback and game MVP DeChane Cameron, who was less than a 50 percent passer in the regular season, completed 14 of 19 passes for a Hall of Fame Bowl record 73 percent.

Cameron's passing yardage totalled 141 yards and he completed TD passes to Doug Thomas and Howard Hall. It was the first TD reception for both players in their respective careers. Thomas caught five passes on the day for 57 yards, career highs for both categories for the senior in his last game as a Tiger.

Clemson took its opening possession 71 yards to the Illinois two where Chris Gardocki tapped in any easy three. After Illinois fumbled on its first offensive play of the game, Clemson scored a touchdown with a 14-yard pass from Cameron to Thomas. Clemson had not scored a passing touchdown in any of its four previous bowl victories.

In the second quarter, the Tigers would score two more touchdowns. The first was the result of a 17-yard Cameron pass to fullback Howard Hall. It was just the third TD pass to a Clemson fullback in the last 18 years. Clemson then put the contest out of reach just three plays later when Arlington Nunn scored on a 34-yard interception return. It was the senior's third TD on an interception return in 1990, a Clemson record. It was especially gratifying for the Tiger senior playing his last game at Clemson because Nunn is a native of nearby Clearwater, FL.

The Clemson defense continued to hold Illinois throughout the remainder of the game. John Johnson led the Tiger pass defense as he picked up two sacks to lead a Clemson point prevention unit that had five sacks on the day. Illinois reached the Ashley Sheppard and Clemson's #1 ranked defense held Illinois to just 59 yards rushing and zero points.

1991 Hall of Fame Bowl

Clemson eight-yard line in the fourth quarter, but the Tiger defense forced a fumble which Ed McDaniel picked up. Illinois had the ball in Clemson territory just three times all day.

The Clemson defense earned its third shutout of the year. This was the first shutout at a Hall of Fame Bowl game and Clemson's third bowl shutout in 17 bowl appearances. The 30-0 triumph was a Tiger record for victory margin in a bowl game.

The Tiger defense allowed an opposing running back to rush for over 100 yards for the first time in three seasons, as Cal's Russell White's 103 yards helped the Golden Bears end Clemson's bowl game victory streak at five.

Clemson's bowl game victory streak ended at five as the Tigers left the state of Florida with their first bowl loss since 1985, and their worst defeat since 1986, when the 14th-ranked Golden Bears of California defeated 13th-ranked Clemson 37-13 in the Florida Citrus Bowl. Also, for the first time since the 1988 season, the Clemson defense, which led the nation in rushing defense in 1991, allowed an opposing running back to rush for over 100 yards, as Cal's Russell White crossed the century mark with 103 yards.

The Golden Bears scored early and often in the first half, taking the opening kickoff 76 yards for a touchdown and adding a 31 yard field goal on their third possession. The Tigers were unable to gain a first down after the ensuing kickoff and were forced to punt. Although Chuck Lynch hit a 49-yard boot, California's Brian Treggs eluded the Tiger special forces unit and went the distance for a 72-yard touchdown. Clemson got on the boards for the first time with time running out in the first quarter as Nelson Welch connected on a 32 yard field goal on a drive highlighted by a 43-yard run by fullback Rudy Harris.

The highlight of the game for the Tigers came with just under five minutes remaining in the first half as quarterback DeChane Cameron broke loose for a 62-yard scoring romp. That play marked the longest run from scrimmage for a Clemson quarterback in 13 years, but also marked the only touchdown that Clemson would score that afternoon.

The only score for Clemson in the second half was a 36-yard field goal by Welch in the third period, while the Golden Bears would add a field goal and a touchdown on a 23-yard pass play. The Tiger defense managed to hold Cal scoreless through the fourth quarter, but Clemson could not put up any points, as they turned the ball over three times on interceptions and once on downs.

Two Tigers who were playing in their last game in Clemson uniform were named team MVPs in the loss. Defensive tackle Chester McGlockton, who had six tackles for the game, including three tackles for loss and one-and-a-half sacks, was named the Tigers' defensive MVP, while quarterback DeChane Cameron, was named the offense's Most Valuable Performer, after he scored Clemson's only touchdown and had 189 yards in total offense.
